IN THE REALM OF POESY.

Goin' Fishing'.

If you're waking in the morning, call me early, mother, dear,
For Peanuts Fink, and Spider Brown, and Bricktop will be here,
And we know where the fishes swim and where the shade is cool,
And where's a dandy diving place beside the swimming pool.

I've brung the kindlings in, mother, you wanted me to chop;
I've filled the woodbox till the wood is spilling o'er the top;
I've curried all the horses as my father bade me do;
I've milked the cows, and slopped the pigs, and fed the chickens, too.

I've weeded out the onion bed and banked the celery,
And I've transplanted cabbage plants and propped the apple tree,
And I have salted all the sheep, and fixed the chicken coop,
And run all the errands, mother, till I felt my spirits droop.

So, if you're waking early, call me early, mother, dear,
For I know where the grayling play and where the pools are clear,
And I've dug all the worms I want, and cut an alder pole,
And corks will bob to-morrow morn in that old fishin' hole.

—J. M. Lewis, in Houston Post.

Cui Bono.

Thou foolish one!
To live and strive alone with earthly store,
Until each teeming garner runneth o'er—
Unheeding the chill stream's portentous roar,

Thou foolish one!
Yea, "fool"—to think thy evil deeds to hide,
Lost in the splendor of thy borders wide.
Concealed, forgot, whatever should betide.

Thou foolish one!
To hope at last felicity to view,
With hands yet stained with unrepented sin,
Unchallenged 'mid the awful day's dread din.

Thou foolish one!
With ears so dull and eyes that do not see,
The end approacheth; whither wilt thou flee?
"This night thy soul shall be required of thee!"

Thou foolish one!
Edicts inexorable 'gainst such as thou
From high Heaven hurled, defenseless thou must bow
Sore and ashamed at the adjustment now.
—D. A. Kellogg, in Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

Reverie.

When clouds of darkness gather fast around me,
When, through long hours of weariness and pain,
I find no rest, no dawn, no day of brightness,
And shadowy fancies fill the tired brain;

Whence come those voices, distant, faint and tender?
Like the sweet sound of far-off floating bells,
Their whispering echoes softly fall and linger,
Till o'er my soul a mystic slumber dwells.

In tranquil dreams come thoughts of sunny hours,
Visions of beauty that my spirit thrill,
Fair form, sweet memories gleam with magic power,
Lost in deep sleep the restless heart is still.

As through the clouds, the moon comes in her brightness,
And throws o'er all the earth her peaceful light,
So, o'er the darkened soul, a voice with touch of lightness
Breaks through the gloom and hallows all the night.
—H. G. T., in Boston Budget.

The Singing of the Toiler.

He toiled in the vineyard
'Neath bright skies and gray,
Singing: "Rest will be sweeter
For toiling some day!"
And thanked God for Winter,
And blessed Him for May,
And looked to the Light of the Morning!

He sang with the reapers
That reaped through the years
The thorns with the roses,
The hopes with the fears,
And Light—it was bright
In the rain of his tears—
The Light of the Joy of Morning!

He toiled in Life's vineyard—
Keen thorns at the breast,
But still thrilled that singing
Of toil that was blest
With the roses of Love
And the lilies of Rest—
And the Light of a beautiful Morning!
—F. L. Stanton, in Atlanta Constitution.

Rolling On.

Some folks dey stops foh to fret an' scold,
But de world keeps rollin' on—
'Twill keep a-travelin', I've been told,
When all dem folks is gone—
Dey sees so much dat's a-goin' wrong
Dat dey ain' got time for to sing a song—
An' dey keeps a'kickin' good an' strong,
But de world keeps rollin' on.

You might as well jes' clear de track,
'Cause de world keeps rollin' on.
Dar ain' no use o' hangin' back;
You's lucky to be bawn.
It's gwinter keep a-goin' on dishere plan
Jes' like it's been a-goin' since it fus' began—
So jes' stick on de bes' you can,
While de world keeps rollin' on.
—Washington Star.

The Optimist.

It's well to meet the man of whom they say
He hears good news with him where'er he goes,
Whether it be upon the world's highway,
Or just beside a poor man's garden-close,
It's good, I say, to meet with such a man,
For he can set things right, if any can.

A man of wholesome greetings anywhere
Who brings with him good wishes and good will
Finds steadfast friends enough—the sort that care
And stand by him through good report and ill.
It's well to meet with such a man—to know
The world is not all bad, come weal or woe.
—Frank Walcott Hutt, in Ram's Horn.

Where God Still Reigns.

Come to the woods, O weary one,
For faith and hope are there;
Under the leaves God's will is done,
His glory fills the air:
There is joy in the piping from the pond,
There is triumph in the velvet frond.
Come to the woods, O doubting heart,
And learn that earth is fair;
The city and heaven are far apart,
But God is near, out there.
Where all is obedient to His will—
The woods are His, as He made them, still.
—S. E. Kiser, in Chicago Record-Herald.

The Dignity of Labor.

The man who has money might rest if he would,
And the man who has none, he might rest if he could,
But never, till manhood has gone out of style,
Will the man who's a man want to rest all the while.
—W. H. Wilson, in Four-Track News.

The Usual Programme.

Lady—My foot seems to be swelled.

Shoe Dealers—These No. 2 shoes have been in stock so long that they have shrunk.

"I really believe my joints are enlarged.

Dealer—Most likely these shoes are wrongly marked. They may be No. 1's.

Lady—I certainly can't get them on.

Dealer—Your instep is high. I will get another pair with a higher instep. All persons of noble ancestry have high insteps.

Dealer (back part of the store, two minuts later)—Quick, George, rub the marks off those number sixes, and give them to that woman in front.—N. Y. Weekly.

"Replied the little fellow, with

THE WORLD OF BEAUTY.

The Starseff collection of Chinese porcelains, sold at the American Art galleries, in New York, brought $18,839.

A gold trophy, designed by Burr C. Miller, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., is to be given each year to the United States vessel which makes the best gunnery record in her class.

George Frederick Watts is the only English painter who can boast of having been an exhibitor at the Royal academy for 67 years. Two portraits which he sent there in 1837 were shown in the gallery recently.

For the past year or so the work of Otto J. Schneider, a young Chicago artist, has attracted much favorable attention. He has been particularly successful in his dry point etchings and drawings in chalk.

Twenty-one pictures by the late A. H. Wynant are on view in New York. Wynant was, perhaps, the best interpreter of the American northern woods, and this collection shows his wonderful versatility. The exhibit is well worth attention and study.

G. F. Watts, the Royal Academician, one of the most famous of British artists, has passed his eighty-seventh birthday. From early childhood Mr. Watts has been sickly, and attributes his long life to the fact that he never smoked or drank stimulants. "In fact," he says, "I am a very negative sort of person. Never did anything but live—except my work, of course." He rises and goes to bed with the sun, being often at work by 3:30 of a summer morning.

Following upon the gift of the Malmaison chateau to the state by M. Osiris, it has now been decided, according to a Paris writer, to bring together all the articles of furniture which, according to the inventories of the period, were arranged in the various apartments in 1806, when the Empress Josephine had the place. This furniture is, for the most part, now distributed in various national palaces, notably those at Compiegne and at Trianon. To meet the necessary expenses the chamber of deputies will be asked to grant a sum of from 500 to 1,000 francs.

SCHOLARS OF REPUTE.

Prof. Villari, whose books on Savonarola and Machiavelli are so highly valuable to students of Italian history, is the head of a literary family. His wife is a writer, and now it is announced that a son has written a history which is attracting considerable attention.

To escape onerous congratulations on the occasion of his seventieth birthday Prof. Ernest Haeckel has been spending the winter at Rapallo, in the "French Riviera. He is as active as a man of 40. In a recent letter Haeckel protests against being called a savant. Germany, he says, "is full of professors who are more learned, who have read more books than I have. My lifelong aim has been particularly to study one big book—Nature."

Dr. Edward A. Steiner, professor of applied Christianity at Iowa college, Grinnell, who wrote the authorized American biography of Count Lyof Tolstoi, is credited with knowing more about Russia and the Slavic world generally than any other living American. He is a native of Vienna, where he began his education. Later he was at Leipsic and Heidelberg, receiving from the latter the degree of doctor of philosophy. In this country he put in a term at Oberlin and filled several pastorates before going to Oberlin.

Prof. W. W. Campbell, director of the Lick observatory in California, has been elected a foreign member of the Societa degli Spettroscopisti Italiani. This society consists of 30 Italian members and 20 foreigners. Prof. Campbell has been requested to serve on an honorary committee, presided over by the minister of public instruction for France, whose purpose is to forward the project for erecting a monument to the eminent astronomer, Jerome Lelande, at Bourg the place of his birth, and has also been invited by the British Association for the Advancement of Science to attend its annual meeting, to be held at Cambridge, England, in August, as the guest of the local committee of Cambridge university.

CAUGHT IN THE CURRENT.

One in 16 of the inhabitants of the United States has a direct interest in the pension disbursements.

In order to protect workmen going to and from logging camps from professional gamblers the Duluth & Iron Range railroad has forbidden any and all card playing on trains of the company.

The city budget of New York is greater than the combined budgets of any five other cities in the country. New York pays salaries to more than 46,000 persons, amounting to about $55,000,000 a year.

Irrigation or navigation? To which of these uses certain streams shall be reserved is becoming a serious question in not a few regions. Some rivers can easily serve both purposes, but man must choose whether to put others "before his plow or under his saddle."

Baltimore has pretty well cleared away the wreckage which its recent fire produced. Rebuilding has been somewhat delayed by discussion over plans for street widening, which present many difficulties, even after fire has removed the buildings along the line. Wide streets are most economically laid out when a city is new.

Fines collected from automobile owners for driving their machines faster than the law allows are turned over to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in New York. The appropriateness of this is evident, for it is cruel, indeed, to startle the horses by whizzing past them on the street at the rate of 30 miles an hour.

Miami, Fla., was for a long time the southern terminus of the southernmost railroad in the United States. It no longer enjoys that distinction, for the railroad has been extended 15 miles farther south, to Perine, a town consisting of a single store; and the right of way has been graded for a railroad round the southeastern end of the state to Cape Sable.

CURIOUS CONDENSATIONS.

The heart of a Greenland whale is a yard in diameter.

Canada is an Indian word, meaning "collection of huts."

A New Jersey court has held that one boy is worth as much as two girls.

The highest inhabited place in the world is the Buddhist monastery of Hlaine, in Thibet, which is situated about 17,000 feet above sea level.

Consumption is four times as frequent in families whose annual income is less than $300 as it is in families receiving more than $1,200.

The letter which Prince Pu brought to President Roosevelt from the emperor of China was written on a strip of woven silk four feet long and two feet wide.

To Napoleon III. belongs the credit of being the first to have ships plated with iron, the first seaworthy craft of this description being the French vessel Gloire, launched in 1859.

An extraordinary incident occurred during the races at Gatwick when Happy Bird was found fast asleep at the end of his run for a two-mile hurdle race. Efforts were made to rouse him and he opened his eyes for a second or two, but promptly relapsed into slumber.

In this country there are nearly 400,000 more boys than girls of 14 years of age; at 16 years of age, there are 6,000 more girls than boys; at 18 there are 24,000 more girls than boys. At 24 and 25 the sexes are about equal, then the women begin to grow less with great rapidity. At 30, there are 78,000 more men than women, and at 40, 82,000.

INDUSTRIAL ITEMS.

The southern states are producing half the lumber cut in America.

While the consumption of Belgian cast-iron shows an increase of 199,487 tons, the production increased only 147,450 tons.

The production of steel ingots in Havre, France, in 1903, was 1,854,620 tons, against 1,568,302 tons in 1902, an increase of 286,317.

A recent United States labor bureau bulletin states that trade unionism in England is 25 years in advance of that of this country in its methods, and that sympathetic strikes are becoming unknown in England.

The De Beers company has decided to to advance the price of diamonds five per cent., the fourth advance in a year. The output of stones is smaller and there is no immediate likelihood of an end of the cutters' strike in Amsterdam.

Within the past three years the export of pig iron from Germany to the United States has jumped from 5,969 tons in 1901 to 125,989 tons in 1903. Excepting Belgium, the United States is Germany's best customer in this line.

An official document has just been issued by the Italian government dissuading skilled mechanics from emigrating to the United States, as it is expected that the industrial prospect of this country will be much depressed in the near future and the number of unemployed enormously increased.

Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach.
For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach caused indigestion and dyspepsia, but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes catarrh. Repeated attacks of indigestion inflames the mucous membranes lining the stomach and exposes the nerves of the stomach, thus causing the glands to secrete mucin instead the juices of natural digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.
Kodol Dyspepsia Cure
relieves all inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the stomach, protects the nerves, and cures bad breath, sour risings, sense of fullness after eating, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles.

DRIFTING TOWARDS BRIGHT'S DISEASE
Many people who are neglecting symptoms of kidney trouble, hoping "it will wear away," are drifting towards Bright's Disease, which is kidney trouble in one of its worst forms.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE
stops irregularities, strengthens the urinary organs and builds up the worn-out tissues of the kidneys so they will perform their functions properly. Healthy kidneys strain out the impurities from the blood as it passes through them. Diseased kidneys do not, and the poisonous waste matter is carried by the circulation to every part of the body, causing dizziness, backache, stomach trouble, sluggish liver, irregular heart action, etc.
If you have any signs of Kidney or Bladder Trouble commence taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE at once, as it will cure a slight disorder in a few days and prevent a fatal malady. It is pleasant to take and benefits the whole system.
How to Find Out.
You can easily determine if your kidneys are out of order by setting aside for 24 hours a bottle of the urine passed upon arising. If upon examination it is cloudy or milky or has a brick-dust sediment or small particles float about in it, your kidneys are diseased, and FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE should be taken at once.
G. B. Burhans Testifies After Four Years.
G. B. Burhans of Carlisle Center, N. Y., writes:
"About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick-dust sediment and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed, and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble."
Two Sizes, 50 Cents and $1.00.
