Rural Carriers' Salaries.

The new salary schedule for rural mail carriers has been completed. The new schedule applies from July 1st. The last Congress raised the maximum salary from $600 to $720 a year. It was found that the maximum route was 24 miles long, and to carriers on routes of this length, numbering about 12,000, the maximum salary will be paid. The salaries of carriers on routes shorter than the maximum was fixed by deduction of $18 for each mile less than 24. The net result has been that slightly over two-thirds of the whole force of 24,500 rural carriers have recived increases of $100 a year in their salaries. The remaining carriers have received increases of less than this amount.

This schedule takes into consideration the expense for equipment and makes what is stated to be a liberal allowance for such expense to carriers on routes less than the maximum length. It leaves about the same appropriation available for new service during the coming year that the department had during the last fiscal year.

Points on the New Road Laws.

The timely and instructive pamphlet compiled by the highway Division of the Maryland Geological survey as a comprehensive explanation of the principal features of State aid to road building, and which has in part been described in previous issues of this paper, was ready for distribution last Tuesday and is now being sent to Boards of County Commissioners and residents of all sections of the State. An edition of 5,000 copies has been printed, of which 2,300 will be sent at once to organizations and individuals known to be interested, and the remainder will be distributed to persons making application for them to the Maryland Geological Survey at the Johns Hopkins University.

Two principal features of the pamphlet have already been described in these columns—namely, the table compiled by the Maryland Geological Survey showing the amount of State funds available for each county, and the method of procedure to be followed by the people in the counties in order to obtain this money. There remains to be explained in this article the part the Maryland Geological Survey will take in co-operating with the people of the counties to assist the work as much as possible.

As this State Road Law does not become operative until January 1, 1905, there is an opportunity in the meantime for the various boards of County Commissioners to take up the preliminary work in connection with the selection of the road to be first built. There will also be required, plans of the road in order to make proper estimates of the cost. All of these preliminary arrangements take much time and if they are delayed until the first of the year, much valuable time will be lost and but little progress will be made the first season.

It is with a view to saving much of this time that the Highway Division of the Maryland Geological Survey proposes to make for the various Boards of County Commissioners such surveys and plans as may be necessary to draw up a correct estimate of the cost of construction and so have everything in readiness to begin at the first available moment the actual construction of roads under the State Aid Law.

Any county applying in season to have its surveys made during the present year will gain the advantage of having the full cost of the surveys paid by the State in the end while one half of the cost of the surveys made after January 1, 1905, must be borne permanently by the county as stated in sections 5 and 10 of the act.

An important feature of the pamphlet is a detachable page bearing a form of request to the Highway division of the Maryland Geological Survey, to make the required surveys for plans and estimates of the cost of any piece of road. This form is expected to be filled in by the Boards of County Commissioners who thereby signify their intention to petition for State aid under the provisions of the new law as soon as it becomes operative.

The pamphlet is published in an attractive form, similar to the reports of the Maryland Geological Survey, and will be sent upon request to all persons interested.

Paid $30,000,000.

The general loss committee, composed of expert insurance men, which was organized shortly after the great Baltimore fire of February 7, made its final formal report today through Chairman Paul Turner.

The report states that 3,778 separate claims were handled by the committee and that the amount of insurances paid on these claims was 29,074,358.51. There are still eleven claims unsettled, and in addition there were probably about 1,000 or 1,200 smaller claims, which were settled directly by the companies. The amount involved in these small claims will not exceed $1,500,000, so that the total insurance paid to those who lost in the fire will be about $30,500,000.
