Election—Tuesday, November 8.

November 8 is among the things that the Democrats view with alarm.

The music of the telegraph instrument on election is the Democracy's annual elegy of grief.

The Republican party seeks to convince the people. The Democratic party seeks to scare them.

One of the peculiarities noticeable in insane asylums is that every inmate always insists that he is "sane."

Every time Democratic platform makers yield to their desire to be honest, they endorse some Republican policy.

The country will not be slow in making its choice between Roosevelt and a Record and Parker and a Promise.

The Democratic plank on the Philippine question is an expression of regret that the American policy there has not been met by disaster.

The Republican party tells of the things it has done. The Democrats tell us what they will do, if they get into power and don't go insane again.

It will take better testimony than that of Drs. Tillman and Bryan to convince the voters of the country that the Democratic party has regained its sanity.

The Republican motto, according to Speaker Cannon, is "We Move On." The best the Democrats can do is to inscribe their banners with "Safe, Sane and Sacred."

Having admitted that they were insane in 1896 and in 1900, the Democrats practically join in the chorus of rejoicing that their candidate was not successful in those years.

Having denounced the adoption of the gold standard as the crime of the century the Democratic party now comes in and asks the privilege of being adjudged guilty as an accessory after the fact.

The Democrats demand a prosecution of the unlawful trusts, and show how to do it by pointing to the trail already blazed by a Republican Attorney-General, under a Republican administaation.

The Republican platform for 1904 was the logical result of a consistent record of fifty years of enlightened thought. The Democrats were all at sea until Dave Hill told them what they might believe this year.

The Democratic party has entered a plea of "guilty', to the charge of having been unsafe and insane for at least eight years. It is not altogether satisfied with its present symptoms, but is more hopeful since it has taken the Republican gold cure.

THE Worcester Advocate is now edited and published by Frank H Gibson, lately connected with the National Newspaper Syndicate, of Washington, D. C. Mr. A. P. Barnes, who has successfully managed the paper for many years still retains the ownership, but retires from the editorial and business management.

WITH all peace negociations broken off and with all the Allied Trades unions employed at the different plants, with the exception of the teamsters and the stationary engineers, ont on strike in sympathy with the butcher workmen who quit work two weeks ago, the Beef Trust strike settled down to what promises to be a long, bitter fight. The number of men who have quit work at the stockyards in Chicago alone is estimated at nearly 30,000 persons

BRYAN'S OPINION OF PARKER.

"I have nothing to take back. I have nothing to withdraw of the things that I have said against the methods pursued to advance his (Parker's) candidacy. It was a plain and deliberate attempt to deceive the party. The New York platform was vague and meaningless, and purposely so, because the advocates of Judge Parker were trying to secure votes from among the people who would have opposed his views had they known them. If he had sent to the Albany convention the telegram that he sent to St. Louis convention he would have had very few instructed delegates from the south, and no possible chance for the nomination. But he and his managers adroitly and purposely concealed his position until the delegates had been corralled and the nomination assured. Then his friends attempted to secure a gold plank, which was overwhelmingly defeated in the committee. After the party had rejoiced over the harmony secured by the omission of the question, and after he had secured the nomination, he injected his views upon the subject at a time when he could not be taken from the ticket without great demoralization. The nomination was secured, therefore, by crooked and indefensible methods."

"I think it is a manly thing for a man to express his opinion before the convention adjourns. It would have been manlier to have expressed it before the convention met. It is a manly thing to express his opinion before the delegates act finally upon his position, but it would have been a manlier thing had he expressed his opinion before the voters throughout this country went to their caucauses and their primaries and sent instructed delegates here."

The Parker Chronology.

In 1896 and 1900 Judge Parker voted for Bryan and Free Silver.

The Democratic State Convention held at Albany, N. Y., on Apr. 18, 1904, instructed the New York delegation to support Judge Parker's candidacy for the presidency. It adopted unanimously a platform which contained ten planks, including a demand for "reasonable revision of the tariff.', On the question of the gold standard it was silent. The platform had Judge Parker's approval in advance.

For two months and twenty days, the candidate stood on that platform and said nothing, while his friends hunted for delegates.

On the morning of Friday July 8, the resolutions committee of the Democratic National Convention agreed unanimously, after a sixteen hours wrangle, on a platform which omitted all reference to the gold standard.

Dispatches received at Esopus during the day and evening contained this information and brought the news that the convention had adopted the platform as reported from the committee.

Judge Parker remained silent.

Judge Parker was nominated on the morning of Saturday July 9. Martin W. Littleton, in presenting his name to the convention, referred to him as a man whose policy "will be that policy which finds expression in the platform of his party."

Norman E. Mack, the New York member of the Democratic National Committee and one of Judge Parker's supporters at St. Louis, made statement over his own signature on Friday morning, after the nomination, as follows:

"The real simple truth of the failure to put a gold plank in the platform is this: It would have resulted in a minority report being presented to the convention and if that had been done we would have been beaten and Judge Parker would not have been nominated."

On Saturday morning, July 9, the three leading Eastern Democratic newspapers, the New York Times, the New York World, and the New York Sun, contained editorials fiercely denouncing the cowardice of the convention, demanding that the candidate should make known his position in regard to the gold standard, predicting Parker's defeat, unless this was done, and threatening to bolt the ticket.

After reading these editorials Judge Parker, acording to a statement given out at Esopus, sent the dispatch to Mr. Sheehan. It was then too late for the convention to name another candidate.

Four years ago at Kansas City Convention when Mr. Bryan was the candidate for nomination, the resolutions committee was sharply divided upon the question of excluding the money plank. "Instead of waiting until after the platform had been adopted and the nomination of himself had been made," says the Springfield (Mass.) Republican (Ind.), "Mr. Bryan promptly sent word to the convention before any action whatever had been taken, that he must not be considered a candidate for the nomination in case the money question were ignored in the resolution. That was straightforward and it was dealing fairly with all wings and branches of the Democratic party."

"It is a manly thing," said Mr. Bryan in his speech at St. Louis, after the reading of Judge Parker's dispatch, "for a man to express his opinion before the convention adjourns. It would have been manlier to have expressed it before the convention met."

Traditions of Malays.

You can scarcely ever get your money from a Malay on Friday, because they believe that if they pay their creditors on a Friday they will be overtaken by penury. Malays never shave or cut their nails on Saturday or Tuesday, because these are unlucky days, and if they do part with their hair or nails on these days they believe that they will always be in trouble or will die quickly. The Malay never sleeps in the afternoan, for such an action shortens life. When a rat bites a Malay,s clothes it signifies ill luck, and usually the rat-bitten clothes are given away to the poor.

There is a kind bird called by the Malays Rowk-rowk which does not build a nest, and lives in the fields. The Malays say that whoever finds a Rowk-rowk's nest will become invisible as soon as he puts the nest on his head. Of course the Malays believe that there is such a nest, despite the fact that the bird never builds one.

If a Malay feels that his right hand is itchy, he is glad because he will receive a large sum of money, and if he feels that the right eye moves, he knows that he will see a foreign friend. If tears issue from either eye, he understands that a relative of his will die, and if he too often forgets his promises to his many friends he is aware that he will die and will shed tears rather profusely.

When there is an eclipse of the moon or sun the Malays abstain from taking food and perform their ablutions, in order that no contagious disease may attack them. Crows are an ill omen, and whenever a crow caw-caws near a Malay habitation it means death to some one of the inmates. Supposing a Malay walks along a road and suddenly a black cat crosses before him, he will at once turn back and walk along another path. The crossing of the black cat signifies danger involving the loss of life.

You seldom see Malays bite the nails, because this action is likely to lead the doer into poverty. If a Malay sees a pig or a Chinese funeral before the sun rises say at 5.30 a. m., he knows that he is lucky, and whatever he does on this day he is sure to meet with success. Dreaming of jumping a brooklet assures the dreamer that death will ensue in a short time, and in this case the unhappy man generally distributes alms to the poor so that his life may be prolonged. To see a monkey in the morning is an ill omen and signifief that the seer will lose money heavily in trade.

Wye Camp Notes.

Refused to Take Mr. Morgans Check.

Mrs. C. E. Wright, sister-in-law of the late Wm. C. Whitney, who returned on the St. Louis, brought to this coutry goods upon which the Treasury officials imposed a tax of $500. Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan who went to the dock to meet Mrs. Wright, tendered his check in settlement of the duties. The Treasury cashier refused to take the check of Mr. Morgan, explaining that the law states specifically that the duty must be paid in the currency of the country.

The red-tape proceedings angered Mr. Morgan, though it was not doubted that his check for $500 was good. In fact, that was proved at hour later, when a boy who had been sent to the bank by Mr Morgan returned witn the cash. The financier was compelled to wait just one hour.

Estimating his time at $1,000 a minute, which he said to a London interviewer was its worth, it cost Mr. Morgan just $60,000 to get the lady's baggage through the New York Customhouse, not to mention the strain upon his temper.

Situation at Millington

Millington is gradually recovering from the effects of the recent fire.

G. B. Taylor, clerk of the board of Town Commissioners of Millington, telephoned to W. H Baker, general manager of the Diamond State Telephone Co., of Dover, asking him to notify the authorities of cities and towns which have so generously helped the fire sufferers, that clothing and provisions are no longer needed. While not soliciting funds Mr. Taylor stated that money could be used to advantage by the residents who have lost their all. President Ahern and the other officials of Millington are extremely grateful for the aid which has been given so liberally to the stricken community.

The report of the sub committee showed that 161 persons were affected by the recent fire, 90 of whom were practically destitute.

IF YOU WANT STEEL RANGES,

THE BEST THAT ARE MADE

T. HARVEY
BURRSVILLE, MD.
ALWAYS HAS THEM.

I have one extra heavy STEELE Range. The body of it will last about twice as long as any other steel range made because it is about twice as thick, and my Quick Meal Steel Range is the best medium weight steel Range made Prices of steel Ranges $18 to $50.

Federalsburg, Md., Dec 27, 1902.
Mr. T. Harvey, Burrsville, Md.

Dear Sir—My wife is well pleased with the Quick Meal Range. We think it is all and really more than you claimed it to be. We are using the short pipe reduced to six inches, and the range draws finely; will burn green wood without any trouble. We would not exchange it for a Home Comfort.

Yours truly, F. P. COVEY.

Vernon, Del., November, 14, 1901.
Mr. Harvey:

The Quick Meal Steel Range that you sold me gives entire satisfaction. I like it better than the Home Comfort Range that I traded you. It is larger size, heavier and better made and bakes fully as well or better and costs one-third less in price. JESSE D. WARD.

Goldsboro, Md., Dec. 20, 1902.
Mr. Harvey:

Dear Sir—We find that the Born Range gives us perfect satisfaction, and can recommend it to any one. It is a fine baker, and saves wood.

Yours respectfully, W. F. ELLIOTT.

Mr. T. Harvey:

The Quick Meal Steel Range I bought of you gives entire satisfaction, and we are very much pleased with it.

Yours respectfully,
(Mrs.) MAGGIE COLE.

Burrsville, Md.

To Mr. Harvey:

Sir—Have given the Quick Meal Range bought of you a thorough trial, and am well satisfied with it. Being quick to heat it saves much in fuel, and yet bakes evenly at bottom and top. I could not ask a better cooking stove.

(Mrs.) H. L. SAULSBURY.
Denton, Md.

Mr. T. Harvey:

Dear Sir—In reply to yours of 5th will say that the Quick Meal Range purchased of you is all you said it was. In regard to heating and saving of fuel we have no fault to find with it.

W. D. TAYLOR.

HARRINGTON, DEL., Jan. 7, 1903.

Mr. Harvey:

Dear Sir—I want to say a few words in behalf of the Quick Meal Steel Range which I purchased of you a few weeks ago. It is a No. 1. baker, a quick heater, and draws nicely. It is even a nice stove to sit by. It will when done cooking in the oven, heat the room as well as a set stove. It burns wet, green wood better than any stove I ever saw. In fact, it gives perfect satisfaction in every respect. I find it all you told us it was. I can hardly tell you how well pleased we are with it. If I knew I could not get another, no price anywhere in reason, could buy this one.

Yours respectfully,
(MRS.) JAS. H. OUTTEN.

Burrsvelle, Md. Nov. 22 1903.

Mr. T. Harvey:

The Quick Meal Steel Range I bought of you last year gives entire satisfaction. I don't see how a range could be made to work any better.

F. A. PORTER.

Hillsboro, Md., Noy. 12, 1903.

Mr. T. Harvey:

We are more than pleased with our Quick Meal Range we bought of you. It bakes beautifully and is a perfect charm in every way. Truly yours,

(Mrs.) WILBUR PENNINGTON.
Denton, Md., Feb. 6, 1903.

Mr. Tilghman Harvey:

Dear Sir—The (Quick Meal) Steel Range that we got of you proved to be all right. We don't ask for anything better. Yours, Mrs. JAS. E. WRIGHT.

March 7, 1903.

Mr. T. Harvey:

The Quick Meal Range I bought of you some time ago gives entire satisfaction. It is a good burner and a splendid baker. It is a "quick meal range" indeed. I don't see how a range could work better. Your stove is all you claim it to be and it is indeed a wood saver. I don't see how any stove could give better satisfaction.
