Someone has figured out just how far a farmer has to walk in tilling and harvesting 40 acres of corn. To plow the ground with a sixteen-inch plow, he walks 350 miles; to harrow it thoroughly, 50 miles more, and to cultivate it afterward, 50 miles, making a total of 750 miles in addition to husking it, when he walks 150 miles more.

T. J. Slaughter, Jr., who lives at Kingston, while cutting hay, ran into a partridge nest, killing the old bird and breaking several eggs. Gathering thirteen unbroken eggs he took them to the house and put them under Mrs. Bantam, and shortly after twelve little partridges were hatched. They can be seen at any time going about with the hen. Mr. Slaughter prizes the brood of birds very highly.—Easton Star.

This summer has been marked by several peculiar wind, rain and hail storms in other sections of the peninsula. As luck has it our fruit growers have escaped serious damage, being more fortunate than their fellows of New Jersey and other localities in and out of this State where the wind has played such havoc, in some instances destroying large crops. The crops are never safe and the farmers anxiety is never relieved until they are actually harvested.

National Magazine for August.

The patriotic note is struck in the National Magazine for August, in recognition of the August encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic in Boston, the National's home. Captain S H Beckwith, known in the Union army as "Grant's Shadow," writes a score or more of fascinating brief character studies of the famous Union generals whom he knew during his four years with Grant as chief cipher operator. Mary C. Crawford tells the stories of the seven famous American composers of patriotic songs whose names were recently commemorated on a tablet in the Boston Public Library, and William G. Kirchbaum writes a genial chapter on "The Best of the Union Bands."

Mr. Chapple's "Affairs at Washington" range from the capitol to convention halls and the World's Fair and is illustrated with many portraits of current celebrities—men and women.

The National's August fiction includes stories that are keen studies of femininity by two western young women who are just now publishing for the first time—Jeanne Olive Loizeaux of Des Moines and Christobelle van Asmus Bunting of Chicago. Edwin L. Sabin tells a very funny boy story, "The Old Muzzle Loader."

A SWEET BREATH

is a never failing sign of a healthy stomach. When the breath is bad the stomach is out of order. There is no remedy in the world equal to Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for curing indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders. Mrs. Mary S. Crick, of White Plains Ky., writes: "I have been a dyspeptic for years; tried all kinds of remedies but continued to grow worse. Pet Ostrich a Trotter.

W. W. Ford, a former Dover citizen, who arrived there for a stay of two weeks among relatives, created a sensation by bringing with him a trotting ostrich which he drives to a four wheel pneumatic wagon. This newest and latest turnout attracted more attention than all the automobiles or motor vehicles in the country. The bird is 9 feet, 4 inches tall, weighs 335 pounds and is ten years old. Its strength, endurance and fleetness of foot are really incalculable.

A trotting horse was entered to race against the trotting ostrich, Black Diamond, at Smyrna on Saturday afternoon, but when it came time for the race the horse did not put in an appearance. The ostrich performed on the track before a large crowd which became greatly interested in the work of the mammoth bird as it pulled Mr. Ford and his bicycle wagon around the track at a 2 40 gait. The first heat was unsatisfactory as the bridle broke twice and it was necessary for Mr. Ford to shoot out over the shafts and grasp the rubber neck after a leap in the air. When once the ostrich is held firmly by the throat, just back of the head, it is like the serpent, powerless to resist. Mr. Ford drove his trotting bird on the baseball grounds at Milford this afternoon and one week from today, August 8th, he will by special engagement, go to Philadelphia where the bird will be driven to tune on the East Suffolk Driving Track.

Hicks Forecast for August.

After heavy storm and bluster about the 3rd, 4th and 5th, look for rising barometer, westerly winds and cooler.

On and touching the 8th and 9th, under the influence of reactionary storm forces, intensified by the Moon's extreme north declination and conjunctions with Sun, the temperature will rise to some of the highest readings of the summer, the barometer will fall and severe storms and bluster will visit many localities in their sweep from west to east.

This heated spell will not break down until after the new moon on 11th, with strong probabilities that it will last into the regular storm period extending from the 12 to the 17.

Vicious thunder storms and high gales will centre about Sunday the 14th. If equatorial hurricanes or cyclones should make their presence felt about our southern coasts at this time, the storms that visit interior States a few days later will be followed by unseasonably cool weather. Otherwise the heated term will not be broken effectually until after the storms of a subsequent period.

Reactionary storm conditions will return on and next to the 19 and 20th.

Change to rising barometer and very much cooler, especially at night will follow for some days the reactionary storms centering about the 18th and 19th

The last regular storm period for August is centered on the 26th, extending from the 24 to the 29.

The indications are that the general disturbances of this period will be followed by a general high barometer with fierce high winds and unseasonable cold weather out of the northwest. If frosts make their appearance over the northern to middle regions of the country during the last few days of August our readers need not be taken wholly by surprise.

The dates upon which volcanic and earthquake disturbances are most likely to reach a maximum, generally over the globe, will be on the 9th to the 13 and the 24 to the 28th of August. We will name Thursday the 11th and Thursday the 25th as central days of these probable seismic periods of disturbances.

DEWITT IS THE NAME.

When you go to buy Witch Hazel Salve look for the name DEWITT on every box. The pure, unadulterated Witch Hazel is used in making DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, which is the best Salve in the world for cuts, burns, bruises, boils, eczema and piles. The popularity of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, due to its many cures, has caused numerous worthless counterfeits to be placed on the market. The genuine bears the name E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. Sold by A. L. Duffey, Hillsboro.

Crusade Against Profanity.

Officers in some of the lower Delaware towns have begun a campaign against profanity in public places. This means one day in jail for each oath in default of the payment of fine.

Policeman Trice, of Milford, made the first arrest. He swooped down upon a negro who was making the air blue with his oaths. Alderman Truitt fined the offender $2.50.

TAKEN WITH CRAMPS

Wm. Kirmse, a member of the bridge gang working near Littleport was taken suddenly ill Thursday night with cramps and kind of cholera. His case was so severe that he had to have the members of the crew wait upon him and Mr. Gifford was called and consulted. He told them he had a medicine in the form of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy that he thought would help him out and accordingly several doses were administered with the result that the fellow was able to be around next day. The incident speaks quite highly of Mr. Gifford's medicines. —Elkader, Iowa, Argus.

Children Drown.

At Warren's wharf near Laurel, on Saturday, Henry Willie and Nettie Melson and their two cousins, Joe and Wolfe Scott, all children under fifteen, were playing in a cat boat when Nettie Melson and Wolfe Scott, aged 5 and 6, fell into the water. The three children either fell or jumped overboard in their eagerness to rescue their kin.

A shepherd dog heard their cries and began howling, thus attracting two fishermen who were around a cove. They rushed to the scene in time to see the dog, which had plunged into the water, land the little girl on shore and rush back after another, all the time howling.

He caught the younger Scott child and, holding its head above water had nearly reached shore when he sank with his human freight.

Two hours later when the bodies were recovered, the faithful dog still held the child's clothing between his teeth. The fishermen rescued three of the children, but Willie Melson sank before they could reach him.

At about the same time that this tragedy was being enacted Willie, the 14-year-old son of Captain James Furness was drowned at Bethel, three miles down the Laurel river from here. The lad was wading around the shore with a sling-shot shooting at a snake, when he fell backward into the rapidly-running current and drowned before those standing near him could reach him. An hour later the body was recovered.
