REPUBICAN NOMINEES.

For President,
THEODORE ROOSEVELT,
OF NEW YORK.

For Vice-President,
CHARLES W. FAIRBANKS,
OF INDIANA.

For 59th Congress:
HON. WILLIAM H. JACKSON,
OF WICOMICO COUNTY.
Election—Tuesday, November 8.

DEMOCRATIC Congressman are always ready with beautiful theories of government, but the country has always suffered when an attempt is made to apply them.

DEMOCRATIC candidates for Congress in the Middle West are making most discouraging reports. Democrats never get very far in a campaign against one-dollar wheat.

THE Baltic squadron of the Czar has started for the East. When it reaches its destination and has a few rounds with the Japs they may be more anxious to return than they were to leave home.

BROTHER MELVIN, of the Journal, was one among the delegation of editors who last week visited Judge Parker, the Democratic nominee for President, at his country home Esopus. We understand the editors shook the apple trees in the Judge's orchard and ate of the fruit at his invitation. Should the unexpected happen the Judge will find these same gentlemen shaking the Presidential plum tree without any invitation.

BRIGHT PROMISES OR WORK DONE.

There are some questions upon which the American people apparently have made up their minds, yet it seems almost impossible for the Democratic party to realize that fact. Is it not reasonable to think that the common run of American citizens, the everyday business, professional, industrial, agricultural citizen has made up his mind about the Philippine question? Was not that settled by the endorsement given to McKinley's program, in the Congressional election of 1898, the Presidential election of 1900, and the Congressional election of 1902?

Did not the American people in effect say to the Republican party "Your Republican administration has done the best that could be done with this question. We did not seek the Philippines, they were thrust upon us by the fortunes of war, but once we had them we were bound to make a good job and do the best we could with them."

And that best did not mean turning them back to Aguinaldo and his little group of mercenary, educated revolutionists. It must be remembered that the great bulk of the inhabitants are uneducated, [illegible]titious, fanatical. They form [illegible]ass of material which [illegible] and unscrupulous [illegible] upon to their own [illegible] what was best for them, [illegible] the average sensible man would admit it. We started in first to establish peace. That had to be accomplished by a show of force, but it was soon brought about. The next step was to educate and improve them. We sent Yankee school teachers over there, we built railroads for them; we cleaned their towns and taught them how to keep them free from cholera and small pox; we established municipal governments, in which the Filipinos shared; we gave them advantageous tariff terms, so that they could find a market for their goods.

We taught them cardinal principles of American life, namely: That a man must work, must behave himself, must improve himself, if he wants to get along. When they have advanced far enough in these simple principles, which are as yet an unopened book to most of them, we will give them such meed of self government as their condition warrants.

What does Judge Parker and the Democrats want to do? It is easy to answer. They want to promisee the Filipinos "Freedom" and as soon as they come into power to pull up stakes and let the Filipinos enjoy their "freedom." How long do you think they would have it?

They would have it just long enough to permit Aguinaldo and his crowd of educated Filipinos to seize the Government; seize the arsenals, guns and stores, enthrall the masses of the population and then sell them out to the highest bidder or keep them under a form of tributary government which would grind them finer than ever Spain ground them.

Fortunately, this is a proposition so simple that even the most thoughtless voter, the man who has given the question the least concern can understand. The plan will not be approved by the American people in the next election.

We are in the Philippines, doing a good work in a sensible manner. Democratic success would mean the overturning of all we have done to date, all the blood we have spilled, all the treasure we have expended The American people will not allow that sacrifice to go for naught. But under Democratic rule it would go for naught.

Judge Parker informs the 6,000,000 Democrats, with whom he voted for silver in two campaigns, that the gold standard is irrevocablyfixed, and he tells the delegates who declared that "protection is a robbery" that he favors a "reasonable revision of the tariff." There is room for overtime in the Democratic explanation department.

Democrats refuse to enthuse over Judge Parker's letter to Erving Winslow, endorsing a scuttle policy in the Philippines. The American people come mighty near being nonpartisan when a proposition is made to haul down the flag.

There would probably be some real Democratic enthusiasm in the campaign if Mr. Hill would retire now, instead of on January 1st, and quit hoodooing the candidate.

Some of the Southern Democrats still insist that the race question is a burning issue.

TWO KINDS OF ECONOMY.

It was a Democrat, no doubt, who wrote to the New York World suggesting that the collection of all burnt matches for kindling would prove a wise enonomy in this wasteful age. There was once an old adage about seeing a pin and picking it up, and the boys of half a century ago were advised to save all the pieces of string they found for tops and kites. Those old economic saws were all right in their day, for pins and strings were not as cheap then as now. The man who would go about picking up pins or collecting burnt matches for kindling would possibly earn five cents a day and find it very unprofitable employment.

Economy is not to be despised, but there always has been two kinds of economy, one of miserly saving and the other of economic and wise expenditures of one's talents. The Scriptures condemned the servant who saved his talent without putting it to use and commended the servant who invested his and multiplied it ten-fold.

The criticisms of Republican extravagance by the Democratic orators are on a par with those of the man who lectured the people on not saving burnt matches. Economy is a watch-word with the Democratic party, and for forty years it has been promising to economize in expenditures if entrusted with power. They tried it twelve years ago and the result was not a happy one. They expended less but it was more than their income. Their economies compelled the people to pick up matches or any other old thing and patronize the public soup kitchens. The Cleveland Administration expended more than its income every year and sold bonds to secure money to pay the ordinary expenses.

The Republican party has not followed that economic policy. It has not despised burnt matches, but it has not had the people to pick them up because it has given them more profitable employment. It has followed business principles and encouraged the earning of more money that more might be spent for the comforts and even the luxuries of life. The Republican party has not looked upon the workingman as one who should be compelled to drudge and slave and save by picking up pins and collecting burnt matches. It has tried to so conduct the business of the Government as to encourage enterprise as well as economy and create work and wages that would enable the people to live in comfort. It has been successful enough to keep wages on the increase and ever gaining on the cost of living. The policy of protection has shut out the pin picking and burnt match collecting labor of Europe and enable our workingmen to give their attention to better things. It is the better kind of economy. The last Cleveland Administration was a good example of Democratic economy and in four years increased the interest bearing debt from $585,000,000 where Harrison left it, to $847,000,000, or more than $262,000,000. This was in four years of peace. The McKinley Administration had to deal with a foreign war and the insular questions which followed that war, but it only increased the interest-bearing debt $198,000,000, and the Roosevelt Administration has made a reduction of $131,500,000, even with the increased cost of the army and navy. This is the kind of economy which is in harmony with business methods.

With a negative candidate and a cause that does not appeal to any considerable number of public spirited persons, the Democratic prospect is hopeless as it was in 1900.

It would be interesting to have a list of the Democratic Congressmen who are seeking re-election in the Middle and Western States on their argument that the "gold standard is irrevocably established."

Judge Parker's statement that the Republican Senate would prevent the Democrats from doing any damage for the next four years was probably just his way of reassuring the American voters.

West Virginia, a manufacturing State, is not ready to get into the freak class by supporting a platform which declares that "protection is the robbery of the many to enrich the few."

The ignorance as to Judge Parker's views on national issues is exceeded only by the indifference to them.

The sectional issue will not profit the Democratic party any more this year than it did in 1896 and 1900 when Mr. Bryan sought to array the East against the West.

Vermont and Maine Elections.

There has been unusual interest in both parties for several weeks as to the outcome of the elections in Vermont and Maine, it being claimed that these elections would indicate how the nation would go in November. There was never any doubt of a Republican victory in Vermont, but the size of the victory has surprised even the Republicans. The result was a plurality of more than 30,000, an overwhelming Republican victory.

On Tuesday came the news from Maine which is equally encouraging to the Republicans, the majority being very near 30,000, which has only been exceed twice in the history of the state. These notable instances were the campaigns when Mckinley and Blaine were the candidates of the Republicans for President.

Heretofore it has been noted that when the Republicans carry Vermont by a majority of over 25,000 they have won in the national election, but when their majority has fallen below 25,000 the Democrats have been successful. Only one exception to this rule has occurred in 25 years.

The people are satisfied to let well enough alone. The election of the Democratic candidates will disturb business in almost all branches and and the business men have had a lesson along that line. The farmers are more prosperous than they have been for 20 years. Their products are bringing good prices and prices are still advancing, therefore there is very little dissatisfaction with present state of affairs except with the politicians who are out and would like to get in. In proof of this fact look at the returns from the Arkansas election of last week In their State election the Democrats lost over 30,000 of their usual plurality, and several democratic counties have gone Republican. It might be claimed that it was caused by the stay at-homes, but it has been found that the total vote this year was increased 10,000 over the vote of two years ago. These old hard-headed farmers are not shouting for "Free Silver" or "Free Trade" but he is figuring how many dollars worth 100 cents he will get for that $1.25 wheat, if nothing occurs to disturb the market.

"IF"
"If" is most commonly the word of the doubter—and, too, the excuse of the shiftless.
"If you can prove it to me"—says the one.
"If such-and-such had gone as I expected it to"—says the other.
The Duke of Wellington saw a very different "if" before Waterloo—"If I can fight hard enough and long enough I can vanquish Napoleon." And Napoleon was vanquished.
General George Washington, after a repulse by the British, said to his troops: "If we can cross the Delaware to Trenton in the night and surprise them sleeping, we can conquer them." And the British were conquered, a few after-steps leading to American independence.
Do you trade at Baltimore's Best Store?
There isn't a single "if" to prevent you.
There are many "ifs" that should impel you to trade here.
If you do, you will always get fashionable, reliable things—the kind that satisfy all the way along from the time they're bought until they naturally wear out.
If you do, you will save money—no store anywhere sells merchandise of equal merit as cheaply as we do.
If you do, and you should happen to feel that anything you have bought does not just suit your purpose—your money back without argument.

MR. HARVEY:
Dear Sir:—I want to say a few words in behalf of the Quick Meal Steel Range which I purchased of you a few weeks ago. It is a No. 1 baker, a quick heater, and draws nicely. It is even a nice stove to sit by. It will when done cooking in the oven, heat the room as well as a set stove. It burns wet, green wood better than any stove I ever saw. In fact, it gives perfect satisfaction in every respect. I find it all you told us it was. I can hardly tell you how well pleased we are with it. If I knew I could not get another, no price anywhere in reason, could buy this one.
Yours respectfully,

March 7, 1903
Mr. T. Harvey:
The Quick Meal Range I bought of you some time ago gives entire satisfaction. It is a good burner and a splendid baker. It is a "quick meal range" indeed. I don't see how a range could work better. Your stove is all you claim it to be and it is indeed a wood saver. I don't see how any stove could give better satisfaction.
