The steamer Maggie, for many years considered one of the most palatial steamers which plied the Chesapeake, and one of the first of the large sidewheel steamers running out of Baltimore, has passed out of existence and is being wrecked by junk dealers in the lower harbor of Baltimore. For many years the Maggie plied between that city and Eastern Shore points and was one of the pioneer vessels in the service of the Eastern Shore Steamship Company. Having served its many years of usefulness, the ancient craft has been relegated to the junkheap, as she is no longer fit to breast the waves of the Chesapeake.

Rescued From Drowning.

Caught in the suction set up when the sluice gates of Idlewild Mills were opened, Councilman James C. Gambrill, his crippled son, Charles F., and Leon Davis, were on the point of drowning when rescued by mill men on Wednesday, of last week. The three were on the lake fishing from a boat when the experience took place. There was a full head of water on, and unnoticed by them, the mill men hoisted the gates. The boat was at once swept along in the current and tossed against a pile of temporary bridge where it was shattered and the men tossed into the rushing water. Their cries for help were heard just in time to permit their rescue.

Inducing Settlers to This State.

The Maryland State Bureau of Immigration, in its efforts to induce settlers to this State, has met with remarkable success. At present the State Bureau is working toward the realization of several colonization projects. Farmers who left this country to go to Canada are coming to Maryland to escape the hardships of the severe climate there. Settlers from the West seeking cheap land and good conditions in the East have found, in a good many instances, just what they wanted in this State.

The only obstacle now confronting the bureau is the small number of properties listed in its office to make suitable offers to prospective settlers. The board of directors of the bureau, therefore, recently concluded to advertise for farms for sale. Farm owners throughout the State should avail themselves of this opportunity to have their farms advertised and probably sold at the expense of the State.

It is declared by the bureau that the State needs settlers who will bring in new ideas and will restore the idle and outworn lands of this State to fertility.

THE CONFERENCES.

For the next two weeks there will be a lively interest in the sessions of the two Conferences, the M. E. to be held at Crisfield and the M. P., which will convene April 2, at Lynchburg, Va. Rev. Mr. Westerfield left on Tuesday morning for Crisfield, and he will probably be returned, as his work, we understand is quite satisfactory both to himself and the official board. Mr. Westerfield and family are highly esteemed by the people of the town.

Rev. Mr. Ward, of the M. P. Church, will not return. This was settled some time ago by his appointment as vice-president of Western Maryland College at Westminister. It is rumored that Rev. Thomas R. Woodford, agent of the Methodist Protestant Book Concern has resigned and may be sent to Denton. Rev. Mr. Woodford who for the past 10 years has been acting in the capacity of agent for that concern, has tendered his resignation to the board of directors to take effect May 1. Mr. Woodford, who is one of the best-known ministers of the denomination has become restless over his close confinement to the business over which he has had supervision during his incumbency, and states that his resignation is merely an expression of his desire to again enter the active itineracy.

Rev. A. Norman Ward, who is expected to go to the college, as stated above, has been in Denton for the past three years and previous to that time he was pastor for several years of an independent Methodist Protestapt Chuerh in Seattle, Wash., and was loaned to that charge by the Maryland Annual Conference. While there he was instrumental in the erection of a handsome church edifice. Mr. Ward was also pastor of North Carolina Avenue Methodist Protestant Church, Washington, for a number of years. He was succeeded at Seattle by Rev. J. M. Gill, who for 10 years was pastor of Rhode Island Avenue Church, Washington, D. C.

There are several other changes to be made, some of the pastors having already notified their congregations that they do not expect to return. Among the latter are Rev. B. A. Bryan, of Bethany Church; Rev. C. P. Nowlin, of Hampden Church, Rev. J. A. Gaar, of Calvary Church, all of Baltimore. Rev. H. L. Schlincke, of Belair, Md., has signified his intention of moving this spring, and has so notified his congregation. It is also expected that there will be a change of pastors at Seaford, Del., as it is understood that the pastor, Rev. W. H. Litsinger, expects to be removed.
