One Safe Way to Increase Your Profits

is to cut down the Unnecessary Expenses. Money saved is money earned—an old proverb which we are only too apt to forget. Most of us pay out considerable money each year, which upon analysis would be found to contain numerous items that could well be eliminated.

These are the Items which keep gnawing away at your resources and eating up your biggest profits just like the little insects which slowly but surely destroy the finest trees in the orchard. There are positive remedies for both cases: In business, the best protection against the evils of the superfluous expense account is the check book which enables you to keep accurate account of every penny expended and shows in a compact way just where the leak occurs.

LOWERING THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

The New York Railways company of New York city has just opened a store at Eighth avenue and Fiftieth street for the accommodation of all its employes, in which all groceries and meats can be bought at a wholesale price and at a saving to the buyer of more than 33 1-3 per cent. The upper photograph shows a group of motormen and conductors in the grocery department, buying groceries for which cash must be paid. Below is the meats and provision section of the store.

THREE RULES FOR HAPPINESS

Celebrated Neurologist Tells Students to "Play Ball, Get Busy and Saw Wood."

Dr. George L. Walton, the neurologist, lectured recently at the Harvard Medical school on how to live through a life of happiness rather than one of fret and fears.

He said the present time was a less emotional period than that of fifty years ago, but that there was still much nervousness. If there were less of argument, swearing and fretting, and more willingness to listen to criticism in a sane manner, there would be few cases of nervous prostration, he said.

The workingman should come home each day tired and happy, instead of tired and cross, Dr. Walton declared. He thought that the pooling of enormous wealth was a forerunner of the doom of civilization. The child of today, he said, after crawling in its crib, has discarded the "Now I lay me down to sleep" in favor of "Don't mention death to me or I will lie awake all night."

Three rules for happiness laid down by the doctor were: "Don't harbor a grouch," "Don't live in the past" and "Don't play the martyr." His favored rules for a life of almost unalloyed bliss are: "Play ball, get busy and saw wood."

BOY TICKLED CONAN DOYLE

Is Rewarded for Instance of Sherlock Holmes Talent and Then Pulls Newspaper.

The following story is told by the French weekly, L'Opinion:

"As Sir Conan Doyle was entering the Carlton hotel a boy said to him:

"'The chalk dust on your clothes shows you have been playing billiards; the fact of its not having been removed shows you were tired after a long game; your frown shows that you lost; one of your boots is stained with Soho mud; yet you do not bend your legs in walking like billiard professionals.

"'Therefore I conclude that you disputed the amateur billiards championship at the Orme rooms this afternoon, and that you lost.'

"The novelist," continues the French paper, "was so pleased with this instance of Sherlock Holmes talent that he gave the boy a sovereign. Thereupon the youngster pulled out of his pocket a copy of an evening paper giving Sir Arthur's photograph and a full description of the match."

HAS COFFIN FOR SALE.

A mistake of a word has caused a Kilkenny (Ireland) philanthropist to find himself with a coffin on his hands. He ordered it at the earnest request of the relatives of a poor old body reported to have died in the workhouse, to save her the indignity of a pauper's burial. When it was taken to the workhouse, however, the supposed corpse was found smoking a pipe and quite convalescent. The doctor, it seems, had written "acids" after the old woman's name for the guidance of the nurse, and the nearest the workhouse master could come to deciphering the professional calligraphy was "dead." Hence the notification of the grave, and the other funeral arrangements—all of which were countermanded except the coffin.

PUZZLED BOY.

Willie—Pa, what are ancestors?

Father—Well, I am one of yours. Your grandpa is another.

Willie—Oh! Then why is it that folks brag about them?—London Opinion.

STATUS QUO.

Maud—Does Kitty love Jack well enough to marry him?

Marie—Oh, yes; but Jack believes in letting well enough alone.

COULD BUT DID NOT WANT TO.

"Tired? And you said you could die dancing!"

"I could. And I would, if I danced with you much longer."

DRAWBACK.

"I have, alas! a sunny lot."

"Why do you repine about that?"

"Because most suburbanites want shady ones."

THE RIVALS.

"What will the horse say now to the cry that the auto is king?"

"I think his say is likely to be neigh, neigh."

HEARD AT THE CLUB.

Griggs—I'm sorry about Brown's failure. He's a brick if ever there was one.

Briggs—Then it is not unnatural that he should go to the wall.—

PART OF IT.

"That cook's temper will break up our home."

"Its already started in on the crockery."

NO WALKING FOR HIM.

"What walk in life has your son attempted?"

"No walk at all; he's in the auto business."

HIS RIGHT.

"That speaker says he has a right to have the floor."

"Why so?"

"Because he is a carpet dealer."

The Kind of Man Mr. Morgan Was.

To very few men of this country has been accorded the meed of praise that has been bestowed upon J. Pierpont Morgan.

One of the finest tributes to Mr. Morgan was that paid by Mr. Joseph H. Choate of New York City, eminent lawyer and ex-Ambassador to Great Britain, who said to a reporter of the New York Evening Post:

Mr. Morgan was one of the noblest men living, and the greatest power for good in America. His influence was always in favor of right and honesty. He was a giant in mind and body, and his financial achievements in the last 50 years are almost without a parallel. He was always trying to determine what was right, honest and just, and to support his conclusions with all his might.

His independence of mind and judgement was wonderful, and the secret of his influence in the community, not only in the financial community, but in the whole country, was his superb and never-failing honesty.

The reason why he towered above all others was that his associates and all who had dealings with him, and the whole community, had absolute faith in his unfailing honor, as well as the soundness of his judgemet.

Mr. Morgan has been the object of foul attacks by men who ought to have known much better. He had a never-failing instinct for charity and for public usefulness, and his munificence in those directions were the natural fruit of his infinite warmness and largeness of heart.

I deplore his loss as that of a brother, and am sure that the world has lost one of its greatest men and noblest influences. The people of New York have as yet no conception of the munificent endowment in the way of art that he had brought to them.

Delaware's New Road Law.

The new road law of Delaware is a lengthy instrument but briefly stated it provides for:

1—A County Engineer.

2—Ten supervisors, instead of the present overseers. Such supervisors to keep the roads in repair.

3—The borrowing of $100,000, which, with all road taxes above $10,000, all special good road moneys raised by taxes and appropriated by the State and assessments of land owners, make up a good roads fund.

4—60 per cent. of the land owners on any section of road not less than two miles long, may petition the Levy Court for improvement of such road, and if it is built they pay according to their frontage, 10 per cent. of the cost, or 5 per cent. on each side.

5—All moneys are apportioned among the districts to be spent on roads petitioned for in 1913, 1914 and 1915, and after that to be spent by the Levy Court and the County Engineer as they see fit.

6—All bridges costing over $100 to be built according to plans of the County Engineer and by contract and all roads to be built the same way.

7—The County Road Engineer gets a salary of $1,500 and the Supervisors each $200.

8—Special attention is to be paid to draining, straightening, opening, and widening of roads and the cost of a mile of road cannot exceed $2,000.

When Gingerbread Was Up.

In speaking of the high cost of living an old army officer tells his experience when the Union army was before Richmond:

We got our pay one day, and each man started out to discover how he might spend it. An enterprising baker had set up a portable bake oven near the camp, and he was turning out a full line of his gimcracks to tempt the soldiers. I found the odor from a big slab of gingerbread irresistible, so I ordered two dollars' worth. The baker took my greenback, placed it on the corner of the gingerbread slab, and with a cleaver he cut off for me the retangle that the bill covered!

Better Than Spanking

Spanking will not cure children of wetting the bed, because it is not a habit but a dangerous disease. The C. H. Rowan Drug Co., Dept. 2525, Chicago, Ill., have discovered a strictly harmless remedy for this distressing disease and to make known its merits they will send a 50c package securely wrapped and prepaid Absolutely Free to any reader of The UNION. This remedy also cures frequent desire to urinate and inability to control urine during the night or day in old or young. The C. H. Rowan Drug Co., is an Old Reliable House, write to day for the free medicine. Cure the afflicted members of your family, then tell your neighbors and friends about this remedy.

A WINTER COAT

not only keeps cold out, but conserves body-warmth; body-fat serves the same purpose, it enables us to resist unsettled elements and serves as the great source of our body-heat. Greater body-warmth means richer blood, more fat, not obesity but fat which the body consumes for warmth, vitality, resistance-power—as a furnace consumes coal for heat—Scott's Emulsion does this.

A teaspoonful after each meal makes body-warmth—healthy, active blood—sharpens the appetite and makes all good food do good.

It drives out and keeps out colds by raising endurance-power and creating strength.

White Muscovy Ducks.

Eggs $1.00 per Dozen

White Muscovy Ducks are best for table use. They are large and dress away but very little. The flesh has flavor equal to wild duck. They are becoming very popular. Are easy to raise and, unlike other varieties, make no noise. They are good layers and splendid setters. Drakes weigh from 12 to 15 pounds, according to age. It takes five weeks to hatch white muscovy duck eggs. They require about half the amount of feed as other varieties of ducks. Will thrive well in small enclosures and need but little water. Give them a trial.

LICENSES TO OWNERS AND KEEPERS OF STALLIONS AND JACKS.

The owner and keeper of every Stallion or Jack shall, before being permitted to stand or station such animal, pay to the Clerk of the Circuit Court of some one of the counties of this State the highest sum which he intends to ask or receive for the season for one mare, and the receipt of the said Clerk, with the seal of the court attached thereto, for said sum shall be the license for stationing or standing such Stallion or Jack for one year from the date thereof; provided that in no case shall the sum directed to be paid by this section for license be less than $10, and that every Stallion or Jack upon which the said tax is paid shall be exempt from all other tax.

ESPECIAL ATTENTION OF OWNERS OF STALLIONS IS CALLED TO THE ACT OF 1892, CHAPTER 419, SECTIONS 1 and 2, WHICH READ AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That every owner or agent who may have the custody or control of any stallion, who shall charge a fee for the services of such stallion, shall, before advertising or offering such services to the public for any fee, reward or compensation, file with the Clerk of the Circuit Court of the county in which such owner or owners, agent or agents reside, or in which such stallion shall be kept for service, or if such services shall be offered in the city of Baltimore, then with the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas, a written statement giving the name, age, pedigree and record, if it is known, and if not known then that the same is not known, the description, terms and conditions upon which such stallion will serve. Upon filing such statement the Clerk for the Circuit Court for the county, or for the Court of Common Pleas of Baltimore, as the case may be, shall issue a certificate or license to the owner or owners, agent or agents having the custody and control of such stallion, that such statement has been filed in his office; they shall then post a written or printed copy of the statement so filed with such clerk in a conspicuous place in each locality in which said stallion shall be kept for service.

SEC. 2. Every owner or agent who shall proclaim or publish a false or fraudulent pedigree or record or statement of any kind regarding any stallion, or shall neglect or refuse to comply with the provisions of section one of this act shall forfeit all fees for services of such stallion, and the person or persons who may be deceived or defrauded by such false or fraudulent pedigree or record or statement may sue and recover in any court of competent jurisdiction such damage as may be shown to have been sustained by reason of such false and fraudulent representations.
