Seaford Wants Houses.

There is a scarcity of dwelling houses for rent in Seaford. The population seems to be growing considerably faster than houses can be built. Within the past two weeks several traveling men have endeavored to secure homes in Seaford, but so far have not been able to get one. Seaford is at a most convenient point on the Peninsula for traveling men and quite a number make their homes there.

House rent is very low, and the cost of living being considerably lower than in the city makes it attractive to all who live there.—Ex.

Great Athletic Meet.

The Field Day for Caroline county schools on Saturday last was attended by people from all sections of the county, and each event throughout the day was watched with keen interest. As noted last week in the UNION, the students were divided into three classes A. B. and C. The credits for the four first in any event were 7, 5, 3 and 1 respectively.

The events in class C., the High School division, with the four first were as follows:

Boys 100 yard dash, Chas. Beaumont, Greensboro; John Noble, Preston; James Clark, Ridgely; Roy Young, Federalsburg. Quarter mile, Beaumont, 1st; H. Williamson, Federalsburg, 2nd; Fred Bailey, Denton 3rd; Geo. Beck, Denton 4th. One mile Lewis Trice. There was so much controversy over this race that the judges score failed to show any second or third man. The race was neatly won by Bonwill Dukes, of Denton, by two yards, and Shawn of Denton was right at Trice's heels or in third place. Federalsburg claimed Dukes was disqualified by being touched as he went under the wire by a gentleman standing at the side of the track, and the claim was allowed. Dukes won however in the handsomest manner possible, Trice having set the pace from the first which proved to be too hot,and when the final spurt came on he was all in. Running high jump, C. Brower, Federalsburg; G. Mitchell, Greensboro; James Clark, Wilbur Corkran, Preston.

Standing high, Henry Hollingsworth, Bradford Shawn, Denton; Ranald Lane, Ridgely; Harlan Blades Denton.

Running Broad, Beaumont, Greensboro; Hollingsworth, Wilbur Beer, Kingsley Mercer, Denton.

Standing broad, Henry Hollingsworth; Houston Noble, Federalsburg; Alex. McKnett, Greensboro; Luther Short, Ridgely.

Three-legged race, Frank Wright, Roland Handy, Federalsburg; William Davis, R E. Smith, Ridgely; Kenneth Douglass, Purnell Dennis, Preston; Lewis Knotts, Willie Turner, Ridgely.

Tennis, Kingsley Mercer, Bates Lucas, Denton, 1st; John Noble, Phillips Douglass, Preston, 2nd; Chas. Beaumont, Fred Rickards, Greensboro 3rd.

For girls in this same class we record the following result: 50 yards, Evelyn Davis, Federalsburg; Alice Seeders, Denton; Marjorie Todd, Preston; Emily Pendleton, Ridgely.

100 yards, Marjorie Todd, Alice Seeders, Miriam Wrightson, Preston; Florence Seeders, Denton.

Walking ½ mile, Dorothy Rawlings Greensboro; Helen Hagadone, Denton; Iva Christopher, Preston; Mildred Davis, Federalsburg.

Potato race, Andusia Reynolds, Preston; Mildred Davis, Cora Mudge Preston; Lona Griffith, Denton

Tennis, Florence Coursey, Alzera Downes, Greensboro; Frances Tubbs, Roberta Everngam, Denton· Dorothy Haymaker, Emily Thawley, Ridgely.

The sum total of points was as follows; Denton 67. Greensboro 53, Federalsburg 49, Preston 40, Ridgely 20.

The championship banner for the high schools was won by Denton, for the primary grades of town schools by Federalsburg, which won 76 points against Denton's 43 in this class. The rural school banner was won by Central School.

The high school student having the greatest number of points to his credit is Chas. Beaumont of Greensboro; 2nd Henry Hollingsworth, of Denton.

Probably nothing serves to stimulate a school spirit among the pupils better than do these athletic and literary contests. While we have had them somewhat in a broken fashion for many years, their organization into a County system has been brought about within the last three years.

Seems Like a Good Proposition.

The proposition of a New Jersey contractor to collect and remove household rubbish — exclusive of ashes–from the busines places and dwellings of Wilmington and pay $3,500 a year seems like a good one. It would at least give to the city a revenue for work that is now done at an expense of the people.

Under the prevailing arrangement household rubbish is collected by the same agencies that collect the ashes, and frequently it is deposited with the ashes· The result is such a pulling and mauling of the receptacles when placed at the curb, in search of articles of value, that the streets in many instances are littered with bits of rubbish making them very unsightly.

It would be worth something to have this nuisance stopped. To realize $3,500 a year in addition, from the change, seems like good business.—Every Evening.

Assistance was called at once but when the physician arrived he was dead.

Dr. Noble was born in Caroline about 54 years ago, and grew to manhood upon his fathers farm. "Missing Link" Surely Exists.

Col. Pierson was in charge of the Sanger expedition to equatorial Africa, and he relates the following:

In the far depths of the equatorial forest they were very much astonished on several occasions to hear voices apparently of men conversing in outlandish gibberish. Whatever it was it kept out of sight, disappearing into the jungle at their approach.

One day, however, they dashed ahead and came upon a tribe of giant apes, which immediately took to the tree tops with the most incredible speed and agility. From their lofty perch they broke off limbs and hurled them at the invaders with dangerous force and accuracy, all the time "talking" to each other in a strange, hoarse voice, sounding for all the world like a man with a bad cold.

Efforts were made to capture some specimens, but they were too cunning and wary for the most ingenious traps and baits. Their senses were so acute that they would not approach within many yards of any object that had ever been touched by human hands.

Col. Pierson shot two or three, which he has had stuffed and placed on exhibition. He is firmly convinced that this is the much sought-for missing link that connects man with the monkey.

Sanger's Greater European Shows will exhibit many specimens of strange and rare beasts when they exhibit here on Wednesday May 7.

Protective Tariff 97 Years Old.

Tariff tinkering began in this country 97 years ago April 27. The first tariff act of the Republic, passed in 1789, was designed principally to raise national revenue and was only nominally protective.

The restrictive actions of France and Great Britan after the War of 1812 made this country more dependent upon itself for manufactures. On April 27, 1816, a new tariff was adopted, showing the influence of manufacturing interests. This was really the first of the tariff tinkering.

Increased duties in the case of cotton reached 25 per cent. By 1824 when another act was passed, the movement towards protection was clear, and the average rate was 37 per cent. A few years later protection became a Whig doctrine, and, following a gradual reduction in the preceeding decade high protection was revived in 1842, when the duties averaged 33 per cent.

In 1846 the Democrats passed the low Walker tariff act, and from that year until 1861 there was an approach to a revenue tariff. The tariff pendulum went up and down until the Cleveland Administration, when protection became the issue of the Republican party. Since then the tariff has been one of the greatest of partisan issues in the United States.

AUTOMOBILES PAY STATE.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, Harry A. Roe, a few days ago gave out a statement from his office, showing receipts from licenses and other items for the year ending April 1 1913:

For the fiscal year, ended April 1st, the receipts were $144,930.25, as compared with $63,000 for the prior fiscal year, under the old law. The professional chauffeur feature of the law, which was not in the old law, yielded over $11,000. The increase in the number of licenses over the prior fiscal year was nearly 30 per cent but the bulk of the increased receipts was caused by the increased fees for the heavy powered machines–from 30 to 50 horse power on which the license was largely increased. The increase in license-fees on smaller machines–up to 30 horsepower–such as are in general use in the country, was not proportionately large as compared with the heavy-powered which are more destructive to roads. This fund, after deducting 20 per cent. for Baltimore, goes to maintenance of State Aid roads, distributed pro-rata according to miles of such roads in the Counties and will greatly simplify the perplexing problem heretofore confronting the State Roads Commission of enforcing maintenance of this type of roads in the Counties.

The spring months often find a woman tired out, with pain in back, hips and head, nervous and sleepless. Gold Medal For Road Essay.

A gold medal to the school boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 15 who writes the best composition, not to exceed 800 words, on the repair and maintenance of earth roads, is to be awarded by Logan Waller Page, director, Office of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. All compositions must be submitted to Mr. Page before May 5, 1913, and the medal will be awarded as soon there after as the compositions may be graded. The composition may be based on knowledge gained from books or other sources, but no quotations should be made. After many years' experience in dealing with the public road situation of the country, it is Mr. Page's belief that ignorance on the subject of repair and maintenance of roads is as much the cause of their condition as any other one factor. It is expected that the competition will bring about a better understanding of the subject of repair and maintenance in the rural districts.

Many children living in the rura districts have experienced the disadvantages of roads made impassable through a lack of proper maintenance and it is expected that their interest in the competition will stimulate greater interest among the parents. Bad roads have prevented many children from obtaining a proper education and have even prevented doctors from reaching the side of rural patients in time to save their lives.

Any child between the ages mentioned, attending a country school, may compete. Only one side of the paper must be written on, each page should be numbered; the name, age and address of the writer, and the name and location of the school which he or she is attending must be plainly written at the top of the first page The announcement of the competition has been sent to the superintendents of schools in the rural districts. No further information can be obtained from the Office of Public Roads. This announcement should be plain to everyone, and all children will thus start on a basis of equality.

Peaches in Delaware.

Prof. Harry Hayward of the Experiment Station at Delaware College, in a letter to the Philadelphia Ledger, said the college orchard at Newark has been pronounced the finest in the State and that its crop last year was such as to attract much attention. Professor McCue, he added, "is firm in his belief that the peach can be grown satisfactorily in Delaware when modern methods are used, and in order to demonstrate the correctness of his opinion has undertaken to recommend the methods to be used in caring for an old orchard near Odessa. His plan is to employ different fertilizers, to ascertain the fertilizer requirements for that particular soil, and then, by proper spraying, worming, pruning and tilling, see if a profitable crop cannot be grown."

This subject is of great importance and interest. Odessa is situated in what was the heart of the peach district of Delaware half a century ago Middletown was then the great shipping station for peaches in this State.

Now the peach belt has moved to the lower end of the State and the Maryland Peninsula. Perhaps the growers of former times were neglectful and failed to give proper attention to their orchards, which then produced prolifically with splendid results.

It would be a great accomplishment to restore the peach crop to upper Delaware in all its former glory. —Every Evening.
