IS IT RIGHT TO ADVERTISE COCA COLA?

Men who play the wily game of politics have discovered that the best way to distract the attention of the public from their own shortcomings is to make a loud-mouthed sensational attack upon someone else. As the cuttle-fish eludes its pursuer by clouding the surrounding water with the contents of its ink sac, so the political adventurer takes advantage of the ignorance and prejudices of the people to escape from his indefensible position by muddying the waters of public opinion.

A case in point is the recent attack made upon the religious press for carrying Coca-Cola advertising This attack was made by a politician who was supposed to be an expert in chemistry but who, having brought a suit against the Coca-Cola Company, was humiliated by having to acknowledge that he could not qualify as an expert. The court decided in favor of the Coca-Cola Company as it was clearly shown that the only essential difference between Coca-Cola and coffee or tea is that the former contains only about half as much caffeine as the latter and that the flavor is different.

The question as to whether it is right to advertise Coca-Cola seems to resolve itself therefore into the question as to whether it is right to advertise coffee, tea, chocolate, cocoa and other beverages of the caffeine group.—Adv.

Solved the Mystery.

Comrade Bill Thompson tells a story of bad writing that ranks with the Greeley classics. When he worked on a Philadelphia paper Julius Kaufman, a Dane, wrote very clever, forceful, pungent editorials. Kaufman's English was impeccable, but his writing was impossible. It seemed to have been done with a bent pin and an asphalt mixture. George Kennedy was the only man on the copy desk who could read it. One day Kennedy came to Thompson, shaking his head.

"It's all off," said he. "I've lost my punch. I read this thing of Kaufman's with perfect ease until I got half way through—and then I stuck. I don't know why. The second half of his stuff looks just like the first half, but I can't read it."

Thompson took that manuscript over to a corner. By and by Thompson came back with lines of strain around his mouth.

"Put it up to Kaufman," said he. "Either he's gone flooey or we have." So when Kaufman came in they gave him his manuscript and told him to go away somewhere and find out what it meant. By and by he came back, smiling.

"It was easy,' said he. "The second part I haf yoost wrote in Danish." —Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

A HIDDEN DANGER

It is a duty of the kidneys to rid the blood of uric acid, an irritating poison that is constantly forming inside.
When the kidneys fail, uric acid causes rheumatic attacks, headaches, dizziness, gravel, urinary troubles, weak eyes, dropsy or heart disease.
Doan's Kidney Pills help the kidneys fight off uric acid—bringing new strength to weak kidneys and relief from backache and urinary ills.

A Kentucky Case

Miss A. G. Packham, nurse, Lakeland, Ky., says: "I had such pain through my kidneys that when I stooped it seemed as if my back would break. My head ached, specks floated before my eyes and my limbs were swollen. The kidney secretions were badly disordered and caused great discomfort. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me from the first and a short use entirely cured me."

SOME REMINDERS FOR THE ORCHARDIST

A New Seedling Peach—Unusual Variety.

(By BESSIE L. PUTNAM.)

Whenever we see a farmer, particularly in the peach belts, buying peaches, we feel that one part of his education has been neglected.

There are scores of communities in which about one-half of the residents grow their own peaches and the other half buy from them and then emit a wail that they cannot grow peaches themselves.

Peaches perhaps do best on sandy soil, but a good clay soil, thoroughly enriched and cultivated is now growing in many part of the country excellent fruit.

No matter how thrifty our peach orchard may be constant planting is necessary to keep it thoroughly up to the mark because they develop and mature rapidly and are, therefore, short-lived. Peach trees decay more than any other fruit tree.

No reason now why fruit should not go to market packed in the most attractive manner. Boxes and hampers are now being made of paper and are just as cheap as wood.

There is almost as much in the selling of the fruit as in raising it and fruit that is well packed in attractive packages always brings the best prices.

It is a sad mistake to plant young trees in the midst of old and wormeaten trees, particularly when no attention is paid to the eradication of insects.

It is permissable to allow a saw in the orchard occasionally, but it becomes pretty nearly being a crime to take an axe among the trees.

Not much use to spray for leaf curl after the buds break. We tried to convince a man of this fact when we saw him spraying along the middle of June. He said he was spraying to prevent leaf curl, but did not know what caused it. Do you?

How many fine orchards we have seen ruined by allowing a top-heavy growth. The way some people treat their orchards one would imagine that they gave their trees credit for possessing human intelligence and the power to protect themselves from enemies and to rid themselves of disease.

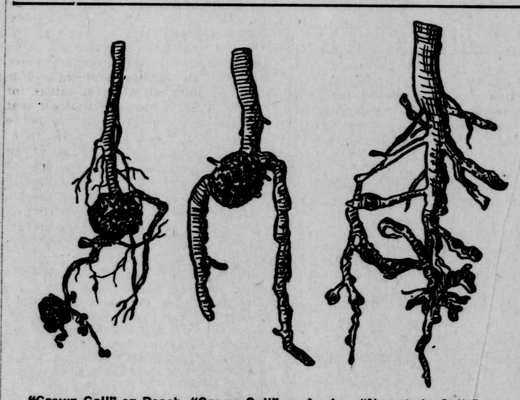

The ground newly set trees should be firmed frequently for at least a year as otherwise they are apt to be blown out of line by the strong winds.

Do not be afraid to thin the fruit on the trees. Rub off the apples and peaches until one is left every five or six inches. It takes grit to do this, but you will have better and larger fruit if you will follow the plan.

Orchard soil must be rich in organic matter and for that purpose if for no other clover crops are valuable.

Orchard ground should not be cultivated later than August first because cultivation keeps the sap running and the trees must have time to stop growing and harden before winter comes on.

"CROWN GALL" DESTROYS MANY TREES

"Crown Gall" on Peach Roots. "Crown Gall" on Apple Roots. "Nematode Galls" on Peach Roots.

(By F. W. CARD.)

There is a mysterious disease becoming very prevalent throughout the country at large of which as yet comparatively little is known. Its effects are apparent and familiar in many sections, but its cause has not been definitely determined. The name "root knot" would be the most natural one by which to designate it, but in using the term it is liable to be confused with another disease due to an entirely different cause. The name "Crown Gall" has been applied to it in California and hence will probably be retained though the knotty growths are not confined to the crown of the plant. It is characterized by a rough, knotty growth at the surface of the ground. This growth usually encircles the entire stem or main root at this point, and smaller knots frequently appear on the lateral roots deeper in the ground.

It is known to be more or less common in Europe. In Germany it is believed to be the result of injury to the roots received in cultivation or in some other way. In our own country it is more or less commonly known in many sections, and doubtless occurs throughout the greater portion of the United States.

The only treatment that can be recommended at present is to vigorously exclude all affected plants when setting. No one can afford to plant such trees under any circumstances. The risk is too great and the chance of ever getting any profitable return from them far too small. Of course it is always desirable that the trees or plants should be obtained from nurseries where the disease does not exist, but it is not always possible to do this. The next best thing to do is to burn every tree in the orchard found to be affected.

Humus Is Essential.

Our old friend Humus does not stand much of a show with some farmers. They have not yet learned that in order to make material to last through the crop rotation, we must plow under grass sod and other crops of that kind. It takes a little nerve to plow under your crop of clover, for instance, but it must be done if we are to keep up with the procession.

Guinea Pigs as Food.

The guinea pig market is at present furnished largely by the demand for pets and for animals for scientific laboratories, but there is no reason why the animal should not be used as food in this country as it is in South America

Easy to Grow.

The trailing nasturtiums are among the easiest annuals to grow and will give a supply of flowers the whole season.

Salt for Cows.

A lump of rock salt where the cows can get to it is better than the occasional salting whenever we happen to think of it.

Laying Up Trouble.

Letting weeds get started now is one way of laying up trouble for all summer long.

Bath Tub Is Popular.

Not too late to put a bath tub in the house. It will be the most popular thing in the house.

Sheepy Taste.

The sheepy taste often found in mutton does not come from contact of the flesh with the wool but from some peculiar flavor in the inner or secondary skin which is released by cooking.

The Tunis sheep is entirely relieved from objectionable flavor as are all breeds of fat-tailed sheep.

Planting Corn.

It takes from 15 to 20 ears of corn to plant an acre. If one ear fails to grow, about six per cent. of the stand is lost. About 15 minutes of time are required to test enough corn, by the ear method, to plant an acre.

Encourage the Boys.

The ownership of a handsome colt or a half dozen well bred calves is often sufficient to keep a boy on the farm. Pretty cheap price and it's a pity that more farmers do not take advantage of the opportunity.

High Price for Sheep.

The highest price sheep ever sold in England was a Lincoln ram which brought $7,250.

The Lincoln is very popular in England, and is also coming into great favor in this country.

Profitable Stock.

Fowls require very little investment, not much time, and if the food products for the table are credited to them, they are the most profitable stock on the farm when the cost of production is considered.

CURRENCY BILL IS IN CONGRESS

Administration Measure Introduced in Both Houses.

BANKERS' APPEAL UNHEEDED

While a Number of Amendments Suggested From Different Sources Had Been Made, the One Most Desired Turned Down.

Washington. — The administration currency bill was launched on the troubled seas of legislative consideration, when it was introduced in the Senate by Senator Owen and in the House by Representative Glass, the Banking and Currency Committee chairman. The House immediately referred the measure to the Banking and Currency Committee.

Several changes had been made in the bill as the result of the numerous conferences, in which President Wilson, Democrats of the House and Senate committee, Treasury Department officials and committees of bankers took part, following the publication of the proposed measure several days ago. The changes embodied some of the suggestions made by those interested in the legislation.

However, despite earnest appeals that the federal reserve board to control the proposed new currency system be increased and that the bankers be given representation, no change in this provision was made. The board will consist of seven men, to be appointed by the President. In the Senate, Senator Cummins contemplates proposing an amendment which would make the board an elective body.

Retiring Bank Notes.

Reinserted in the bill was the original proposition for retiring the present bank notes within 20 years and the substitution of additional federal reserve notes for them. This eliminated the proposed limit of $500,000,000 in reserve notes contained in the bill as originally made public. In replacing the bank notes the government 2 per cent. bonds upon which they are now issues would be refunded by 3 per cent. bonds without the circulation privilege.

Chairman Glass made preparations for the speedy consideration of the bill by the House committee. He secured the passage through the House of two resolutions to facilitate the work. One provided for the printing and distribution of 25,000 copies of the new bill. The other, which passed after a partisan discussion, provided $5,000 for the payment of experts to be employed by the committee.

PROTECTION FOR BIRDS.

New Regulations Will Go Into Effect About October 1.

Washington. — Regulations for the protection of migratory birds in the United States have just been completed by the Department of Agriculture and will become effective October 1, or as soon thereafter as President Wilson approves them. A bill to protect such birds was passed March 4. A closed season of almost five years, until September 1, 1918, has been established on certain game birds, "which have been hunted beyond the margin of safety."

PULLED FROM ROOF BY KITE.

Boy of 11 Years Falls Six Stories And Is Killed.

New York.—James Kossina, 11 years old, is probably the youngest victim in the long list of fatal aviation accidents. He was carried to death while flying a kite. James was on the roof of a six-story tenement in the East Side when a gale from the East river caught his kite and pulled him to the edge of the roof. He did not think of letting go of his kite string until too late to save himself, and he fell six stories to the ground, being instantly killed.

SNAKE ATE CHINA EGG.

Farmer Wondered Why Reptile Seemed Indisposed to Fight.

Newton, N. J.—While hunting for eggs at her home at East Swartwood Mrs. Jackson Rose found a blacksnake coiled in a hen's nest. She told her husband, who armed himself with a rake and killed the snake, which appeared disconsolate and failed to show fight. Rose saw a large lump in the snake's throat. He performed a surgical operation with his penknife and found a china egg lodged in his snakeship just back of the head.

FOULQUIER, AIR-MAN, KILLED.

Frenchman Falls 250 Feet While Testing a Monoplane.

Chalons-Sur-Marne, France. — The French aviator, Maurice L. Foulquier, while testing a monoplane for the first time, fell from a height of 250 feet and was killed. Foulquier had been accustomed to a biplane and the accident is attributed to the fact that he failed to realize that a monoplane required different methods of handling.

TACKLE SUFFRAGE.

Mayors of Illinois Cities Discussing Women's Recent Victory.

Springfield, Ill.—The effect of the recent suffrage victory on the cities of Illinois was the important subject discussed when the Mayors of Illinois cities met in annual convention The Legislature gave the women the right to vote in municipal elections as well as for Presidential electors, and the women have already started a campaign to "educate the new voters and bring out the vote."

COMMERCIAL

Weekly Review of Trade and Market Reports.

Dunn's Review says:

"Increased activity in retail distribution of seasonable merchandise due to the favorable weather is reflected in a slightly improved demand in wholesale markets. The winter wheat harvest is now under way in most sections of the belt and is equaling expectations of a heavy production.

"Further Supreme Court decisions in railroad rate cases, confirming those of a week ago, produced little or no effect on speculative markets. In iron and steel a slight increase in activity is reported, although demand continued quiet and price concessions to secure new orders are made by some producers. Dry goods jobbing houses are still operating conservatively.

"It is estimated that July interest and dividend disbursements will exceed $263,000,000, as compared with $252,000,000 a year ago.

"Failures numbered 264 in the United States, against 253 last year and 20 in Canada."

EARLY GREECE HAD RECALL

When Man Rose to High Power He Was Considered a Menace to State and Was Exiled.

In the palmy days of the Greek republics, many centuries ago, as historians tell us, when a man rose to such a height of power or affluence that he became a possible menace to the state, the citizens took a vote on his case as "undesirable," says the Christian Herald. This was sent to the senate and, if the vote was sufficiently large and representative, that body passed a resolution in which the too distinguished citizen was invited, in polite diplomatic terms, to take a few years of retirement abroad—in other words, he was officially exiled for the good of the state. This was "ostracism," so called from the fact, it is explained, that the voting citizens wrote their names on oyster shells, and it was instituted as a measure of security to the commonwealth. Any citizen of great wealth or influence, or who had a large personal following which might, in an emergency, be used to the detriment of the state, was liable to receive this distinguished mark of public consideration. It was a kind of primitive "recall," which had the advantage of being equally applicable to "ins" and "outs." Those early Greeks were wonderful fellows, and knew how to deal with the knotty problems of their day, which doubtless included grafting and other human peculiarities not unknown in our time. If an election did not suit them, or if any man swelled too far above his fellows, there was always the leveling oyster as a wholesome corrective in reserve.

Ideas Are Old.

In 1644 the possibilites of the submarine were first propounded, while from the very earliest times men have conceived the idea of flying with wings like birds. There is no reason whatever to doubt the fact that Archytas of Tartentum, about 894 years before the Christian era, constructed an automaton pigeon that would fly. Turning to other latter day inventions, as they are generally regarded, it might be mentioned that switchback railways were constructed more than a hundred years ago, and looping the loop was a sensation in Paris in 1833, while roller skating, which came up as a new invention about forty years ago, was being indulged in by our forefathers as far back as 1829.

Mail Boxes on Street Cars.

Letter boxes on street cars may be found in Des Moines and Burlington, Ia., and Grand Rapids, Mich.

Passengers may post letters on the cars or mail may be put in the box while passengers are getting on and off the cars. The conductors are not prohibited from taking mail from people while the cars are moving, as it is easy to slip it into the box nearby at the back of the car. If one signals the car to stop for the purpose, one gives the conductor the minimum car fare, and he punches a ticket for it as though for a regular fare.

The people in the outlying districts are greatly benefited, as they can send a letter to the central postoffice every hour as easily as those living in the center of the city.

Bismarck's "Mot."

As might be expected of a man of iron, Bismarck's wit was of the sledge-hammer sort. In 1862, according to "Intimate Memoirs of Napoleon III." by Baron d'Ambes, he went to Paris as Prussian ambassador.

"I have never heard a German speak French as you do," complimented the emperor on the occasion of their first meeting.

"Thanks, sire," returned Bismarck. "I have never heard a Frenchman speak French as you do."

The emperor spoke with a perceptible German accent.
