Efforts are being made to have Secretary of State Wm. J. Bryan deliver the address at Barratt's Chapel, the "cradle of Methodism." The anniversary is celebrated either in September or October, as both months contained dates whereon meetings of the big Methodist Churchmen were held laying all the plans for the John Street Conference, Baltimore, at which the Methodist Episcopal Church was established.

With a view to making it more convenient for passengers to redeem unused railroad tickets the Pennsylvania Railroad has established a rule which provides that if a ticket wholly unused is presented by the original purchaser at the ticket office at which it was sold it may be redeemed for the fare at which it was sold. As a result of the decision of the Adams Express Company to carry liquor from points outside of Delaware into Kent and Sussex counties, the "dry" sections of the State, arrests are expected to follow, as the deputy Attorney Generals have said that any official or agent of the express company receiving liquor shipment for distribution to persons would be arrested, as they do not propose to have the express companies or a Kentucky Court interpret the laws for Delaware.

Fire at Hobbs.

The large storehouse, postoffice and stock of goods at Hobbs, belonging to Mr. Roland Chaffinch was burned about half past three o'clock on Sunday morning. The entire building was burned to the ground and several residences were in danger. Mr. Chaffinch was the last to leave the store on Saturday night and can give no reason for the fire. Mrs. T. H. Towers was the first to discover the fire and called her husband who gave the alarm and also notified Andersontown. There are only theories regarding the cause of the fire. A dropped match ignited by a mouse; burglars looting the store and setting it on fire to cover their tracks and other surmises. By the use of ropes and ladders and a good bucket brigade other property was saved, although the home of Mrs. Holbrook had a close call. The building was insured and there was some insurance on the stock. The store is greatly missed because of being the leading store in town. Mr. Chaffinch has the sympathy of the entire community in his loss.

Church Dynamited.

The campmeeting being conducted under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal Church, at Parsonsburg, Md., a small village five miles from Salisbury, was thrown into a panic Monday night of last week by a fight in which about fifty young men participated. The church, about fifty yards from the grounds, was dynamited.

Just as the services were being concluded by the Rev. Mr. Nutter, a disturbance was noticed, and in less than a minute Edward Taylor, of Rock-a-Walkin, was lying on the ground bleeding profusely from cuts inflicted by a man named Truitt, of Willards. He is now in the Salisbury hospital in a critical condition, while many of the other young men are at their homes under the care of doctors.

Immediately after the fracus, which occurred on the edge of the camp ground, some of the gang put a charge of dynamite under the church; it exploding, tearing away the side and demolishing the roof.

Robert Bishop, who was driving by, noticed a flame leading to the church. He started to investigate, and when within a few feet it exploded knocking him unconscious, and probably rendering him permanently deaf. The affair is being investigated by the authorities and arrests are expected soon.

Governor For Local Option.

Governor Goldsborough has declared for local option. His statement was made in response to questions asked by the Anti-Saloon League. The Governor declares in favor of the passage of a State-wide local option bill. He says that while parties should not declare for or against the saloons, yet it may be proper for them to declare for submitting social questions to the direct vote of the people for determination. He says that while he would not have drafted the local option bill in the form in which the Anti-Saloon League has it, yet it evidently based on a careful study of the laws of Maryland and of other states and that there is a presumption in favor of it because in the long time it has been before the people no other bill has been proposed, and that the amendments to safeguard manufacturers and protect the personal rights of individuals which have been incorporated by the League since the last session go far toward removing the valid objections to it. And he says finally that it is better to pass a local option bill than to exasperate the people into passing a State-wide prohibition amendment before public sentiment in the city of Baltimore is ripe for it.

The program provides for some very pertinent topics, among the instructors being Miss Roxana Steele, of New York, and Dr. Heck, of the University of Virginia, both of national reputation; Miss Mary Burnite, of New York, and now of Denton: Professor Huffington, of Denton; Prof. Handy and Professor Hook, of the Ridgely Agricultural High School. One of the features will be a demonstration class in selected subjects. The sessions will close on September 11.

Turpentine is a sure preventative against moths. By dropping a trifle in drawers, trunks and cupboards it will render the garments secure from injury during the summer months. It will also keep ants from closets and storerooms if a few drops are put in the corners and upon shelves. It is sure destruction to all sorts of vermin, and will drive them away from various articles of furniture. It does not injure either furniture or clothing. One tablespoonful added to a bucket of warm water is excellent for cleaning painted woodwork.

Big Money for Early Crops.

A Wilmington financial institution will next year, at the suggestion of the publicity bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, and through the State Fair Association, offer $300 for the earliest shipments of cantaloupes from the Delmarvia Peninsula, being divided among the three sections of the Peninsula—Delaware, Eastern Shore of Maryland and Eastern Shore of Virginia. There is great appreciation of this sort of encouragement for those engaged in the agricultural and business development of the peninsula.

These prizes are offered to attract attention to the alluring bounties which are beckoning to those who realize and work for the advantage of an early market. A man drove into Penn's Grove, N. J., on Saturday, with a two-horse load of tomatoes, which he immediately disposed of and departed with a check for $188, which check was good at the bank.

Up at Swedesboro, N. J., the farmers who raise tomatoes are reaping a golden harvest on tomatoes and sweet peppers. The lowest price for tomatoes up to this time has been $2.25 the crate, containing six half pecks. The son-in-law of a Swedesboro farmer told the writer that his wife's father would "clean up" $2,000 on his tomato crop this year.

These facts, for they are facts have vital significance for Delmarvia farmers. South of the Delaware and Chesapeake Canal, Peninsula lands are "earlier" than Salem county lands. In Sussex it is ten days or two weeks earlier and this two weeks is the cream of the markets. This means about $40 a ton.

The bounties and the wealth which have come from raising strawberries are only a hint of greater bounties and wealth which will come from raising, and raising as early as possible, other varities of vegetables for the markets of the 84 principal cities

Sleeping Out-doors.

This modern idea of sleeping out-of-doors has its points, but like every other "ism" it sould be treated with judgment. A certain recent graduate from one of our great colleges for women remarked rather lightly, "I am going to call upon one of my classmates. She is one of the few to whom I do not have to telephone beforehand to see if she will be at home, for she has been in bed with rheumatic fever ever since last fall." The modern smart and flippant style seemed rather misplaced when applied to such a terrible affliction as rheumatic fever, thought one who heard her.

"Don't speak so of such torture as rheumatic fever!" she cried. "How could a girl of twenty-one get rheumatic fever?"

"Oh," answered the girl nonchalantly, "sleeping out of doors. We didn't have any roof except the starry sky,—there were a half dozen of us who went into it,—and morning after morning in senior year we woke up with the snow deep on our counterpanes. Most of us escaped with our hygiene and physiology unimpaired. Two or three had little attacks of one thing or another, but this poor girl has had mastoiditis, and a whole bunch of other troubles, until at last settled down last fall into rheumatic fever." We all rejoice in the grand liberty of the college girl,—but, really, somebody ought to see that such folly as this is stopped. Of what use is an education to a girl if she is going to lose her health?
