Heat Lightning.

Heat lightning is ascribed to distant lightning flashes which are below the horizon, but illuminate the higher strata of clouds, so that their brightness is visible at great distances; they produce no sound, probably in consequence of the fact of their being so far off that the rolling of thunder cannot reach the ear of the observer.

ERADICATION OF INJURIOUS PESTS IN ORCHARD IS OF MUCH IMPORTANCE

Fall Webworm Is Most Conspicuous Insect During Months of August and September—Trees Should Be Carefully Examined at Least Once a Week and Nests Destroyed —Look for Borers.

(By CLARENCE M. WEED.)

The Fall Webworm is the most conspicuous orchard insect in August and September. These insects hatch about midsummer and begin feeding on the green surface of the leaves. As they move about they spin a filmy silken web under which they always remain. As they grow they extend the web, carrying it over all the leaves they attack, so that the whole branch will be webbed up by a single colony before the caterpillars mature.

There is generally, however, some one part of the branch where the insects retire between meals and during periods of molting. Here the web becomes thicker and when in autumn the leaves fall, taking with them most of the gauzy web this shelter tent generally remains on the leafless branches.

The webworm shelter is very different from that made by the common Tent Caterpillar in spring. There are probably various reasons for this. In the first place the webworms are born during the hottest season of the year so they do not need to huddle together in a narrow room to keep warm as the Tent Caterpillars do in early spring. In the second place it seems probable that a caterpillar that eats only the green surface of the leaves as webworms do must take a longer time getting its meals than does a caterpillar that devours the whole leaf, so the period of exposure to natural enemies during eating would be greater in the case of the webworm. And in the third place, the webworms are developing at a period when parasites and predaceous insects are most abundant. The overhead web must save the lives of many webworms that otherwise would be destroyed by their enemies.

But if the web protects the worms from these insect foes it makes them easy to see by the orchardist, so that the only excuse for leaving the pests to defoliate the tree is dire neglect.

Young Fruit Trees Protected.

By looking over the trees once a week one can easily find the nests. Each should be cut off, taking the branch when necessary and burned. Do not try to burn out the nests on the tree with a torch. It hurts the bark and a large majority of the worms fall unharmed to the ground, and crawl up again and continue feeding.

Several other caterpillers live in colonies on apple trees late in summer without making a conspicuous web. The large striped-called Yellow-necked Apple Caterpillars are common. These hatch from eggs laid during June or July by a good-sized brown moth. The caterpillars feed in colonies, taking the leaves clean as they go. They reach full size in about six weeks and then burrow into the soil a few inches and change to the pupa state.

The Red-humped Apple Caterpillar is often more abundant than the yellow-necked form. It is easy known by its reddish appearance and the hump back of the head. It feeds in colonies also, giving the branch a bare appearance that is very noticeable.

Whenever a colony of either of these pests is found it should of course be destroyed. Cut the twig off and burn or crush the caterpillars.

During these weeks of late summer the large white-striped beetles of round-headed apple tree borer are busy laying their eggs. If you see a beetle looking like the drawing herewith, with nearly cylindrical body and long feelers, kill it, for it is capable of much mischief. To prevent egg-laying, clear away all weedy growth from around the base of apple trees so as leave the bark freely exposed to sunshine.

Other boring insects are also busy now laying eggs for grubs that will work havoc with fruit trees. The peach tree borer moth is one of the worst of these. This is a small day flying moth that lays its eggs about the base of the trees. The eggs soon hatch into grubs that bore into root and bark and often kill the tree. It is a good plan to wrap paper around the base of the trunks and then cover the paper with tanglefoot. This has a tendency to prevent the moths from laying eggs. Another way is to place a lot of refuse tobacco stems around the base of the tree. Still another is to mound up the tree with loose soil to a height of six or eight inches, so if any eggs are laid the grubs will be easier to dig out.

All of these methods are to be supplemented in fall by careful examination and digging out of any borers found.

OATS RECOGNIZED AS ANIMAL FOOD

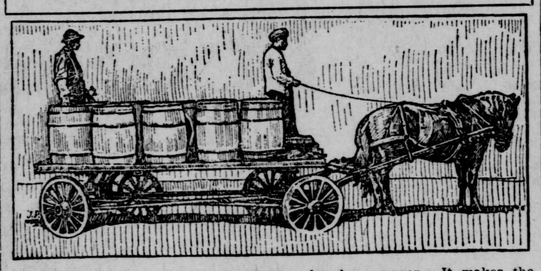

Plant, Like Wheat, Seems First to Have Been Domesticated in Europe or Asia Minor.

The oat plant, like wheat, seems first to have been domesticated in Europe or Asia Minor. The Greeks knew it and evidence is not lacking that it was plentiful in the south of Italy during the time of Roman Empire. It has been found in the Swiss lake dwellings of the Bronze Age. It seems that the Hebrews and Egyptians did not cultivate the oat plant but that its ancient domestication was largely confined to the country north of Italy and Greece.

This plant has not been found in a wild state and indications point to its origin from a single prehistoric form, a native of eastern temperate Europe and of Tartary.

Oats have always been recognized as a feed for domesticated animals, and in times of scarcity as good food for man. While the crop is still largely grown for horse feed, its use as human food has largely increased in recent years.

HANDY LOW WAGON FOR USE IN ORCHARDS

No orchard man should be without a low-down wagon. It makes the handling of boxes, barrels, fertilizers, etc., so much easier, says the Orange Judd Farmer. A ton load can be drawn by one horse in the average orchard, if wide tires are provided. Pictured is the type of wagon which has given great satisfaction wherever used and it is becoming more popular every year. One great advantage in this type is the fact that it can be turned around very short. This is due to the movable double X arrangement, which is under the reach, between the front and back axles. Another fine thing is to provide bolster springs; these latter can be used on an ordinary wagon, transforming it to a spring wagon.

Busy Cabbage Louse.

Lice on the cabbage make appearance in the early summer and remain on the plant until late in the fall. Clean culture in the garden and along the fences is necessary. See that there are no stumps or other refuse from last year's crop, before planting the new. Kerosene emulsion is the most effective spray, but cannot be used on a cabbage, as the taste of the oil would be noticed. Whale-oil soap solution as well as pyrethrum, may be applied. The destructive work of these insects may be checked by the use of water forcibly applied through a spray pump. In order for the above remedies to be effective, prompt and often repeated action is important.

Feed for Young Ducks.

Feed young ducks green food every day. It is a cheaper and better ration than grains only. Lettuce is cheap, and is one of the best of green foods for either chicks or ducks. If the leaves are cut off the roots will send up new growth.

MAKE CHANGE IN MENU

DISHES WITHOUT MEAT AFFORD VARIETY TO DIET.

Imported Recipes Economical and Unusual—Italian Methods of Combining Macaroni and Eggs in Appetizing Manner.

Although meat furnishes heat for the body, and therefore is necessary in cold countries and cold seasons, a relief from a meat diet is welcomed by every one and affords a variety to a diet that gives beneficial results.

The combination dishes fit in very well, furnishing in their double and triple form a more appetizing and nourishing fare. These allow the housewife to ring the changes on one dish and to use left-overs in an attractive form.

We can resort to European countries for inspiration. France, Italy, Germany give countless recipes that are economical and unusual. They are good to eat, too, a very important fact to be considered.

In Italy there is a wealth of cheap, nourishing dishes which every housekeeper gives when meat is not required. One of the favorite dishes of the Italian is macaroni and eggs combined in numerous clever ways.

Italian Maigre Dishes.—The macaroni, boiled until creamy and thick, and never hardened in the oven until the uppermost layer resembles pieces of bark instead of flour paste, is mixed with sliced, hard boiled eggs and cheese, with tomatoes deliciously fried in butter, with poached eggs sprinkled with grated cheese, with fish or with chestnuts in many different ways.

Macaroni and Chestnuts.—Take 20 chestnuts. Grill them. Then remove the skins, and cut the kernels in halves. Cook some macaroni in salted water, add the chestnuts and when cooked, drain and add butter, salt, pepper and grated cheese. Turn into a buttered fireproof dish, and place in the oven, after sprinkling the top with fine breadcrumbs and melted butter. Serve when brown.

Patate Alla Provenzale.—A favorite potato dish—to be served as a dish by itself—is known as "patate alla provenzale." The Italian cook places a large lump of butter in a saucepan. She adds to it a few spoonfuls of the best cooking oil, finely pared lemon peel, finely chopped shallots, a little grated nutmeg, salt, pepper and minced parsley. She then peels and slices some potatoes, and turns them into the frying pan. She cooks them until nicely brown, but not hard. The fire is not too quick. Finally, she sprinkles lemon juice over them, and hands slices of lemon with the dish.

Rice-Spinach.—They make, besides, another maigre dish in Germany of spinach and rice. While the spinach is cooking, a quarter of a pound of rice is boiled in milk—nicely seasoned—the spinach being then strained and finely minced. A beaten egg is added to the rice with a spoonful of thick, sour cream, butter, salt and pepper. Rice and spinach are then alternately placed in a buttered pie dish and vegetable stock—some of the spinach water—poured over the top. The whole is covered with breadcrumbs and melted butter and browned in the oven.

Pineapple Pie.

Juice from one can of 10 or 15 cent pineapple (sliced), about half a cup, add one tablespoonful lemon juice, fill cup with water, add three more cupfuls of water, one cupful sugar (white), and a pinch of salt. Bring to a boil. Add four round tablespoonfuls of corn starch wet in a little more water; cook three minutes. Add beaten yolks of three eggs, cook two minutes more. Pour into two baked pie crusts that have been baked in jelly tins. Let cool three minutes, put small bits of pineapple on top. When cold, add meringue. Use remaining pineapple in salad with apples and bananas.

Turpentine In the House.

Turpentine is a sure preventive against moths. By dropping a trifle in drawers, trunks, and cupboards it will render the garments secure from injury during the summer months. It will also keep ants from closets and storerooms if a few drops are put in the corners and upon shelves. It is sure destruction to all sorts of vermin, and will drive them away from the various articles of furniture. It does not injure either furniture or clothing. One tablespoonful added to a bucket of warm water is excellent for cleaning painted woodwork.

Asparagus With Cheese.

Tie the asparagus stalks together in bunches of six, trim them to an even length, set upright in a saucepan, and cook in rapidly boiling water for ten minutes.

Then put in layers in a buttered pudding dish, with rich white sauce and grated cheese between. Lightly brown one tablespoonful of chopped onion in two tablespoonful of hot butter, and pour over the top layer. Sprinkle with grated cheese and brown in a hot oven.

Summer Plum Pudding.

Press rich stewed plums through a coarse sieve and measure the pulp. To each pint allow one and one-half tablespoons of corn starch. Mix the corn starch smoothly with a little cold water. Bring the plums, pulp and juice to a boil, stir in the corn starch, and boil for 15 minutes, stirring constantly. Pour it into a wet mold, and set away until cold and firm. When time to serve, turn it out carefully, and pour rich yellow, ice-cold custard around it.

Stewed Cucumbers.

Peel and cut into two-inch lengths four ripe cucumbers. Cover with a teaspoonful of oil, vinegar and salt for two hours. Into a skillet melt two tablespoonfuls butter, a teaspoonful salt and grated nutmeg. Simmer cucumbers in this sauce about twenty minutes, or until tender. Add a tablespoonful flour and one-half cup of cream to the butter in pan and the beaten yolks of two eggs. Simmer, but do not boil, for another ten minutes. Serve very hot, adding the juice of half a lemon and a pinch of chopped parsley.

MEAT AND VEGETABLE SALAD

"Left-Overs" May Be Used to Advantage in This Appetizing and Seasonable Dish.

Free the meat from skin and bone, and cut into small dice. For each pint make a French dressing with four tablespoonfuls of olive oil, one tablespoonful of salt and one-quarter of a teaspoonful of plain or tarragon vinegar, one-half of a teaspoonful of salt and one-quarter of a teaspoonful of white pepper, and with it thoroughly marinate the meat. Set aside in a cold place for an hour or more, that it may be thoroughly impregnated with dressing, drain and marinate separately with French dressing. Arrange a bed of lettuce or other green salad on a platter, pour on it the meat and garnish it with vegetables. A few nasturtium leaves will add piquancy to the salad, or a little watercress may be used with the lettuce, the combination depending largely upon the meat on hand and in the way in which it was cooked. Boiled meat usually needs more in the way of seasoning than roast meat; a few drops of onion juice or a teaspoonful of finely chopped chives is frequently a decided addition.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

A delicious sandwich is made of cream cheese and dates.

Castor oil rubbed thoroughly into boots and shoes will make them soft.

When curtains are hung up to dry they should be hung double over the line.

Cold slaw served in green pepper shells is a dainty bit for luncheon.

The old-fashioned Shetland shawl should be washed in bran and warm water—no soap!

When making sandwiches, it is best to butter the end of the loaf before cutting off the slice.

If a piece of sugar is put into the water that flowers stand in, they will keep fresh quite a long time.

Wet shoes should be stuffed with paper before they are put away; they will dry more quickly and not be so hard.

Finger marks on the doors will clean off easily if the cloth is first dipped in kerosene; then wash in the usual way.

In preparing eggplant, press it under water instead of just salting it. This prevents the vegetable from turning black.

Wall paper can be cleaned by making a paste of whitening. Lay it thick on the marks, allow it to dry, then brush off.

Boiled Onions in White Sauce.

Peel the onions and cut off the roots, dropping into cold water as fast as they are peeled. Drain from the cold water and put in a stewpan with boiling water to cover generously. Add a teaspoonful of salt for each quart of water. Boil rapidly for ten minutes, with the cover partially off the saucepan. Drain off the water and cover the onions with hot sweet milk (a quart of onions will require a pint of milk). Simmer for half an hour. Add one teaspoonful of white pepper. Gradually beat in about half a cupful of milk in which the onions are cooking. When smooth stir the mixture into the onions and milk. Let the dish cook ten minutes longer and serve.

Poor Man's Pudding.

Butter a pudding dish. Over the bottom of dish scatter one-half cup well washed raw rice, one-half cup sugar, a pinch of salt, a sprinkle of nutmeg. Then pour in one quart of milk. Bake in a medium oven an hour and a half. Do not stir at all, neither before nor after it goes into the oven. The time of baking may vary, but bake until the rice shows above the milk and it is done. Every grain is separate. The milk is like heavy cream and it is delicious, hot or cold. If the oven is too hot the milk evaporates and the pudding is too stiff.

Victoria Fans.

Mix two cups of flour and one-half cup brown sugar, then sift. Wash three-quarters cup butter and work into the mixture, using the hands. Toss on a floured board and roll to one-third inch in thickness. Shape with a large, round, fluted cutter, first dipped in flour. Cut each round in quarters and crease to represent an open fan. Brush over with yolk of egg slightly beaten and diluted with milk. Bake in a moderate oven until delicately browned.

Velveteen Polishing Cloths.

When a velveteen dress, or blouse, or hat trimmings are done with as wearing apparel, the material is still valuable, as it makes excellent polishing cloths for mahogany and other woods with a high finish. It is good for use on silver and plated ware also. When soiled the velveteen may be cleaned by washing in a soapy water.

Japanese Floor Polish.

To one pint of linseed oil add one pint of cold tea, two ounces of spirits of salts and the whites of two eggs. Mix thoroughly and bottle. Rub the floor with a piece of old silk dipped in the polish, and with another piece of silk polish the floor. Before using the polish be sure to shake it well.

Jelly Roll.

Three eggs beaten two minutes, one and a half cups sugar, one and a half cups flour, one-half cup sweet milk, one teaspoonful cream tartar, one-half of soda; beat all 15 minutes. Spread with jelly while warm and roll. Turn the cake out on to a damp cloth and it will roll much nicer.

To Remove Grease.

Pour cold water, with a little lemon juice, on the grease marks immediately after spilling the grease. This, you will find, hardens it quickly and you can remove it with the aid of a knife without leaving a mark.

Potato Soup.

Four large potatoes, one onion. Boil in two quarts of water until soft. Press through a sieve, and add one pint of sweet milk, one tablespoon butter, a little salt and pepper. Let it boil up again and serve.

STARTED WITH WRONG IDEA

Author Realizes That He Missed Much of Life by Failure to Be His Natural Self.

David Grayson, writing a new Adventure in Contentment in the American Magazine, says:

"It's a great thing to wear shabby clothes and an old hat! Some of the best things I have ever known, like those experiences of the streets, have resulted from coming up to life from underneath; of being taken for less than I am, rather than for more than I am.

"I did not always believe in this doctrine. For many years—the years before I was rightly born into this alluring world—I tried quite the opposite course. I was constantly attempting to come down to life from above. Instead of being content to carry through life a sufficiently wonderful being named David Grayson, I tried desperately to set up and support a sort of dummy creature which so clad, so housed, so fed, should appear to be what I thought David Grayson ought to appear in the eyes of the world. Oh I spent quite a lifetime trying to satisfy other people!"

At first the eczema did not bother, but finally the pimples began itching and burning and then there came little raised places. I suffered untold misery. I scratched them until they bled and I could not sleep at night. I was ashamed of my face and I could not bear to touch it.

"I tried different remedies without result until I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in six weeks they completely cured my face. That was nine months ago, and no sign has appeared since." (Signed) Mrs. Leola Stennett, Dec. 14, 1912.

Somersault by Aeroplane.

Capt. Aubry of the French army is said to have accomplished a complete somersault while aboard an aeroplane high above the earth. "I was returning after a thirty-five minute flight," the captain says, "facing a wind of about twenty-two miles per hour. My altitude was about 2,500 feet. At the moment of descent a series of violent gusts struck the machine. As I dipped the nose of the machine a couple of quick gusts struck the top of the main plane and placed me in a veritical position. While endeavoring to manipulate the elevator, I found the machine had taken me in a perfectly vertical chute to less than 1,500 feet. It here adopted a horizontal attitude upside down and proceeded to effect a tail first volplane." Continuing, he says: "The machine then gradually took up the vertical position again, describing a gigantic 'S' while doing so. Flattening out, I flew to a spot about two miles distant."

Right-Handed Plants.

That there are right-handed plants and left-handed plants has been reported to the Cambridge (England) Philosophical society by R. H. Compton. In an examination of eight varieties of two-rowed barley the first leaf was found to twist to the left in 58 per cent. of more than 12,000 seedlings, and an excess of left-handed growth was found also in millet and in oats. In corn there seemed to be no marked tendency either way. No evidence of hereditary peculiarity appears to have been obtained and no special significance of the results is pointed out.
