More Honors for Dentonian.

The Baltimore Sun of Friday last made the announcement that Mr. Albert G. Towers, of this county, would probably succeed Dr. Herring as a member of the Public Service Commission, Dr. Herring's health having for some time prevented him from attending to his duties, his resignation is expected at any time.

The Sun says: "By those close to Governor Goldsborough the appointment of Mr. Towers at the earliest opportunity is regarded as already having been practically settled."

"Mr. Towers is one of the best known Republicans on the Eastern Shore and his personal as well as political relations with the Governor have been close for a number of years. He has been for quite a while the undisputed party leader in Caroline county and in Republican State councils has been and is a considerable factor. He was a delegate to the last Republican National Convention in Chicago and was a staunch Taft man. Four years ago he was appointed naval officer by President Taft and still holds that position."

"Under the Goldsborough administration in the State Mr. Towers has wielded a considerable power and in the distribution of patronage, particularly on the Eastern Shore has much to say."

"His appointment to succeed Dr. Herring will give the Republican party a majority on the Public Service Commission. When it was first created it was composed entirely of Democrats."

"Mr. Towers is young and vigorous. He is a lawyer of ability and is popular in the party. In Caroline County he is strong and his control of the Republican organization there is undisputed. His friends say his appointment would add strength to the commission and that he possesses the qualifications a member of the commission ought to have."

THE STATE PLATFORM

Following is the text of the State Platform recently prepared and adopted by the joint committee of Republicans and Progressives, and which will be submitted to the Republican State convention for ratification.

WHEREAS, during the presidential campaign of 1912 differences of opinion led to a split in the Republican party, the nomination of Republican and Progressive tickets and the defeat of both; and

WHEREAS it is self-evident that continued disunion between Republicans and Progressives will, by giving the Democratic party a continued overwhelming plurality at the polls, result in making this a one party state and subject it to all the evils which follow when one party has complete sway and is fearless of opposition; and

WHEREAS Republicans and Progressives of Maryland, looking toward the welfare and security of the people of this state, particularly, and of the whole country, generally, have been able to reach an honorable and acceptable agreement of reunion;

NOW, THEREFORE, We, Republicans and former Progressives of Maryland, in State mass-meeting assembled as Republicans, do adopt the following platform and earnestly appeal to all citizens of this state, without regard to previous political affiliation, to unite with us to promote the purposes and objects of our platform and to assist us in preventing the State of Maryland from degenerating into a one-party state; and we recommend the adoption of this platform by the Republican State Convention, to meet in September next.

We commend the administration of Governor Goldsborough and call particular attention to his efforts to raise the tone of administration throughout the state; to his appointment of the penal commission to investigate the Penitentiary resulting in much needed prison reforms; to his appointment of a commission to investigate the tax laws and report a more equitable revision of the same; to his endeavor to take the Agricultural College out of politics and make in a more efficient aid to the farmers of the state; to his efforts to unify the higher education and to apply to it and the primary education more enlightened methods of teaching and discipline; to his appointment of a commission to revise the election laws, and a commission to prepare a workingmen's compensation bill; to his signing a child labor act and the presidential preferential primary act; to the more faithful and progressive work done by the road commission under his leadership, and to his impartial enforcement of the laws.

NATIONAL QUESTIONS.

We favor a protective tariff sufficient to protect the products of American industries against the products of the industries of foreign countries, where the standard of living of the producer is on a lower plane than that of the producer in this country, but a protective tariff which is so adjusted as to prevent oppressive monopolies. To this end we favor a law providing for the appointment of a nonpartisan, scientific tariff commission, whose duty it shall be to thoroughly investigate industrial conditions at home and abroad, and, when required, report their finding to Congress. We condemn the Underwood Tariff Bill now pending before Congress as destructive of our home market, which as William McKinley said, is the best commercial asset of the American people.

We believe that an adequate army and navy is the best guarantee of peace; and in this connection we condemn the shortsighted and indifferent policy of the Democratic House of Representatives, which prevented the building of necessary battleships. We declare for the maintenance of the Monroe doctrine, and that no additional European and no Asiatic flag shall be planted in the Western World.

We believe that all the honorable means incident to diplomacy should first be exhausted to protect American citizens and their property, and that when these means fail to secure [illegible] then such other powers of the government should be invoked as may be necessary. We believe it is the urgent duty of the government at this time to firmly safeguard the lives and property of American citizens in Mexico, as well as those who dwell along our southwestern border.

We believe that the honest business man should be encouraged to invest his capital in legitimate business enterprises and that the laws regulating interstate commerce, in tended to prevent monopoly and harmful combinations, should be so plain that all business men may know exactly what may and what may not be legally done, to the end that legitimate business, freed from confusion, uncertainty and litigation, may continue normal development.

We hold it essential for the preservation of this republic in its integrity that all citizens, regardless of nationality, race, creed or station, should stand equal before the law. We further hold that the advancement of the best interests of the people make it the duty of the state to provide equal opportunity for all our youth without discrimination, to obtain a common school education.

We favor election and registration law which shall apply uniformly to the entire state. We declare that the ballot should be as short as practicable, as well as easy to understand and vote, and that in counting the votes the manifest intention of the voter should control. We favor the constitutional amendment to be submitted to the voters at the election in November of this year providing for a penalty for offering or giving a bribe to a voter, and removing the penalty for accepting one by the voter. We condemn the envelope system of voting, now in force in some of the counties, as making corruption in elections easy and its detection difficult.

FOR PEOPLE TO DECIDE.

We pledge ourselves to submit to the voters of this state for their determination a constitutional amendment granting to women the right to vote equally with men.

We pledge ourselves to submit to the voters of this state, for their determination, a constitutional amendment embodying the principles of the initiative and referendum.

We believe that the several counties, Baltimore City, and the other larger municiples of the state should be allowed, in the regulation of their local affairs, the largest possible liberty consistent with a strong, well-organized and effective state government; and we, therefore, favor for them a clearer delineation of administrative authority by such a plan as will avoid the mass of local laws passed bi-ennially by the legislature and will lead to greater uniformity of administration under general laws: and for this purpose we favor the appointment of a commission by the governor to devise a practical plan to carry it into effect.

We hold that experience has clearly shown that the following administrative reforms should be the subject of prompt legislation:

1—The simplification of our legal procedure.

2—The simplification of our legislative procedure.

3—The adoption of a uniform system of accounting by all public officers.

4—The payment of public officials for their services by fixed salaries, instead of out of the fees of their office, wherever such plan is practicable.

5—Changes in the assessment and taxation laws looking to uniformity and equity in the enforcement of tax levies.

HUMANE LEGISLATION.

We favor such legislation as will prevent injurious conditions of labor and the payment of wage below a living standard with the purpose of surrounding all wage earners, particularly women and children, with the sanitary and moral protection which is essential to normal human progress.

1. The fixing of minimum safety and health standard for the various hazardous industrial occupations.

2. Thorough prison reform, and the abolition of the convict contract labor system.

3. Fixing standards and methods of compensation for death by industrial accident and injury and trade diseases.

4. The rearrangement and enlargement of the Bureau of Statistics and Information, keeping its administration upon a nonpolitical basis, and a sufficiently large appropriation to enable this bureau to make the investigations of factory, labor and commercial conditions required by the law and to fully publish them.

CHANGES IN PARTY RULES.

We recommend the following changes in the rules of the Republican party:

1, That representation in national conventions should be based jointly on party voting strength and state representation in Congress.

3. That the right of each state to determine by law the qualification and manner of election of delegates and alternates to the national conventions shall be recognized.
