A Graftless Circus.

What is there about a circus that thrills the blood of a healthy person? What is it that makes you restless and stand up on your toes when you hear the band coming up the street playing that music with a swing and vigor only heard in a circus band? You say circuses are all alike and when you have seen one you have seen them all, but still you will walk fast—or even run—right in the heat of the day in order not to miss one bit of the fascinating street parade and then when the caleiope has passed you will rush over to the return street and push several children out of the way to see it again. Think it over. Why do you do it? Then you will go to the show "just to take the children" or possibly because "Your girl insisted on going and you did not wish to displease her." It's alright to "alibi" yourself—almost everybody has done it time and time again.

Does not the flash and glare and ginger have a lot to do with your enthusiasm for a circus? Don't you like the scintilating brilliancy and and gaudiness of the ensemble? Sure you do and even if you do wear a modest suit and boast of being conservative, you secretly admire and envy the man who has nerve to wear a red necktie and Shepard's plaid suit. Let's all be human when the Downie and Wheeler shows are here and let ourselves loose and have the time of our lives. Circuses do not come often and they are not expensive. This show is a clean entertainment and free from graft and tricks. Meet us in front of the elephants when the Downie and Wheeler shows come and we will all throw trouble to the winds and peanuts to the elephants.

Tariff Pointers.

Having thrown off all duty on the great agricultural products of the North and West, these Southern Tariff makers keep duties on rice and peanuts, products are exclusively Southern.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The proposal to remove the duty on sugar involves the infliction upon the Western States of losses greater than are to be measured by the destruction of their rapidly-growing beet sugar industry.—Denver Republican.

Senator Carton, of New Mexico, declares that the Tariff will deal a blow to the sheep industry which will extinguish it, so far as small producers are concerned. Senator Catron represents a sheep-growing State and he must, at least, be credited with voicing the belief of his constituents.—Buffalo Express.

At the present time the Eastern refineries are utilizing less than half the productive capacity of their plants, and it will be a simple matter for them to deal a death blow to the domestic production of sugar as they will have the assurance of an absolute monopoly as soon as the domestic industry is annihilated.—Ogden City (Utah) Examiner.

293,725 Baskets of Peaches.

Delaware peach industry gives promise of being restored to its former value. For a number of years the "yellows" have ravaged the trees and caused the majority of peach crops to be failures, Delaware railroad officials, however, have given out statistics showing that the total Delaware shipments so far this season amount to 293,725 baskets. About 100,000 more baskets have been shipped by boat to Baltimore and Philadelphia.

This years's cantaloupe yield is also proving to be heavy. Railroad shipments already aggregate 575,-653 carriers.

Duffey, Hillsboro Md., and C. H. Redden, Denton Md.

A HOT CAMPAIGN.

As might have been expected the campaign of abuse and vituperation inaugurated by the so-called progressive Democrats now threatens a disruption of the party in the city and states. Sight is being lost of the fact that a general election is to follow the primary and that the bitter feeling aroused by the attacks must react on those responsible therefor. The only explanation for this suicidal policy is that those now engaged in befouling their own nest have no hopes of nominating their candidate and that they are paving the way for the defeat of the organization. This, it is believed is the plan of the opposition leaders, as now outlined. Should they unexpectedly succeed in winning out in the primaries, they expect, with the aid of the national administration, or those who represent it, to whip their former opponents into line after having sidetracked the organization leaders.

The latest onslaught is that made by Congressman Frank O. Smith, who makes the direct charge that Chairman Murray Vandiver used his office to elect Thomas Parran and to defeat Smith, because as Smith puts it, Parran was a clever fellow, who had helped Vandiver when the needed assistance. There is no mincing of words.

Just why Smith should have waited until now to have filed his charges is not quite clear, unless it is part of the program of the "progressives" to put the state organization down and out and give to Lee and his associates control. The same methods are being pursued in the city, where the local Democratic organization is the target. Here the party leaders are charged with every crime in the calendar with the exception of murder. And "everybody's doing it" including the candidates. Where and how the latter are to derive any benefit from such campaigning none of the politicians can tell.

Vandiver denies absolutely the truth of the charges prefered by Smith. He decleres he gave Parran no assistance whatever. On the contrary, he says, he used every means to have Smith elected. Parran also denies he received any aid from Vandiver. Indeed he declares he had no intercourse with the Democratic chairman in the past year. Vandiver says he will make reply to Smith's charges by next Monday and prove he is no traitor to his party.

There is an impression in political circles that Smith's charges were inspired by men higher up, who are after Vandiver's head, and that the broadside was prepared some time ago. This was deemed an auspicious time to fire and hence the attack.

Until the factional fight now raging among Democrats begun the Republicans were not very sanguine of winning at this election. They had just emerged from a conflict which left them pretty well used up, but now they feel very much encouraged and are more than hopeful of electing their ticket. The situation is improving every day and it is expected by the time the election is held the Republicans will be as united as the Democrats are now divided and disorganized.—Baltimore American.
