Town and County News

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1913.

Often a man has a lot of good traits that you would never suspect if he did not tell you about them.

A growing scarcity of willow generally used for wooden shoes in Europe, is leading to an adoption of poplar.

The Men,s Bible Class of the M. P. Church will have a supper for members and their families on Friday evening.

Having decided to leave Denton, we are selling all trimmed hats at greatly reduced prices. I. J Mellivaine & Sister.

Mr. Harry Richardson has moved his stable and is making other improvements at his new home recentiy purchased on Second street.

Some people make a lot of noise in this world, but, whether they accomplish anything or not, they are better than dead men who make no noise.

Some Talbot farmers when seeding wheat are trying the plan of mixing a little alfalfa seed. The experiment is not costly and is well worth trying.

In the Queen Annes court last week Winnie Smith was acquitted of the charge of shooting Robert Whaley with intent to kill. Smith's plea was self-defense.

It is stated that if one grain of corn could be added to each ear there would be a revenue thus derived to pay for all the agricultural colleges now in operation; and if no seed were planted without being tested, our crops would be increased to an amount sufficient to pay the national debt every year.

Irving Cannon, a well known colored man of Seaford, having acquired enough to keep him in comfortable circumstances, has decided to move to Southern California to spend the remainder of his days. About a year ago he took a tour through the west and was much pleased with Southern California.

Birmingham, Ala., F. L. Willis, suffered greatly from asthma and bronchitis. He writes: "I got no relief until I took Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It entirely removed those choking sensations, and never failed to produce an easy and comfortable condition of that throat and lungs." Sold by C. H. Redden, Denton Md., and A. L. Duffey, Hillsboro Md.

If, perchance, a copy of this paper should fall into the hands of any who are in search of a new location, a place where you can live out your allotted number of years without the fear of pestilence or famine, we say, like one of old, "Come thou with us and we will do you good," with emphasis on the "do."

Mr Thomas Anthony about 45 years of age, drove to the home of Mr. T. F. Taylor, a friend, in Tuckahoe Neck, after driving aimlessly around a corn field drove over a corn shock and was thrown from his carriage. His friends went to his aid and being unable to get him up concluded he was intoxicated and wrapped him in a carriage blanket and went to dinner. When they returned they found him dead. The remains were brought to Moore's undertaking rooms Tuesday evening.

An accident at the new bridge on Saturday will probably delay the work and be a loss of money to the contractor. The large box or form inside of which the large middle pier was being built, bursted and a large lot of concrete fell into the river. The whole trouble is under water and it will be a serious job to make the necessary repairs. Travel over the temporary bridge was practically suspended on Sunday evening, the high tide raising the scow used as a draw so high above the bridge that it was impassable for teams and the water flooded the east approach so that pedestrians could not get to the bridge except with a team or boat.

Parade in Centreville.

Two thousand strong the children from the public schools of every section of Queen Anne's county marched on Thursday last through the streets of Centreville, giving their school and class yells. Prof. T. S. Luck, paincipal of the High School, was marshal of the parade and the divisions were led by the teachers of each school. The Centreville Cornet Band headed the procession.

A special train over the Pennsylvania Railroad brought eight coach loads of rural folk to take part in the opening of the two-day session of the second annual Queen Annes County School Fair. In addition, hundreds came in carriages and automobiles and Centreville was crowded. The interesting exhibits of cerals, vegetables, farm products, poultry, ets., drew them early to the $20,000 Centreville Primary School, in which the fair is housed. Rev. J. L. Nichols, president of the Fair Association, opened the fair with prayer.

Professor M. Bates Stephens, State Superintendent of schools, made an address, as did also Philander P. Claxton, United States Commissioner of Education.

Old Mill Property Sold.

In speaking of the sale of his mill property at Easton by Mr. George W. Wilson, the Easton Gazette says:

Fifty years ago this mill, and saw mill, which was near by, was owned by the late William T. Kelley, of Preston, then a prominent Quaker of Easton. It had previously been located at Easton Point and upon being rebuilt after a fire was known as "Phoenix" mill. This was about 1856. In 1865 Mr. Kelley sold the property to the late William Henry Wilson, of Denton, who owned and conducted the same until his death in 1893. Mr. W. H. Wilson was a remarkable man and genius, the like of whom Eastou has not seen since his day. In Denton Mr. Wilson, senior, conducted a foundry. He was an inventor of wide reputation. It was said he could repair anything from a watch to a steam engine. He added to the plant a foundry and machine shop and later a planing mill and sash factory at Easton. Mr. George M. Wilson, the youngest son succeeded the father in busiuess, in time building up a flour business.

Train Turns Turtle.

Three coaches of the Tuesday passenger train from Love Point, due here at 6.32, left the track a few hundred yards from Tuckahoe Station and were piled up on their sides along the track. The passengers were thrown about in the cars and most of them made their escape through windows. No one was seriously injured although some were badly cut by broken glass and bruised by falling.

The train left Downes on time and did not make a stop at Tuckrhoe. It is supposed to have been running about 30 miles an hour when the accident happened and almost immediately after passing Tuckahoe the passengers felt a jolt that was almost immediately followed by the overturning of the cars. There was no enbankment where the accident happened which probably accounts for the slight injury to the passengers. Spreading of the rails, it is thought, caused the train to leave the track. The engine and tender remained upon the track, the baggage car breaking loose from the engine.

A track was built around the wreck during the night and trains were running yesterday.

For Children There is Nothing Better

A cough medicine for children must help their coughs and colds without bad effects on their little stomachs and bowels. Foley's Honey and Tar exactly fills this need. No opiates, no sour stomach, no constipation follows its use. Stuffy colds, wheezy breathing, coughs and croup are all quickly helped. Sold by C. H. Redden, Denton Md., and A. L. Living Faster Than Wages Go Up.

The cost of living in the region of Kansas City has increased 59 per cent. in 10 years, while the wages of skilled workers have been augmented a fraction more than 26 per cent. according to conclusions reached by George A. Trayer, agent of the Department of Labor.

Mr. Trayer is now on his way to Washington to report after an extended survey of labor conditions and cost of living in this district. He said final reports on the investigations being made in 40 of the larger cities of the United States would be issued January 1.

"For the unskilled laborer," Mr. Trayer said, "there has been almost no change in wages, the supply being greater than the demand."

Discussing the causes of the advance in living, Mr. Trayer said:

"The common school has proven a factor in increasing the cost of living by teaching higher ideals until we cannot live as we did several years ago. What was luxury 10 years ago now is necessity. In my State, Virginia, where the piano used to be considered a luxury, it now is regarded as a necessity.

"The 16-year-old daughter of a man earning $2.50 a day, if she has average ability, desires a piano. He must buy it for her on the installment plan."

No Wedding at Panama.

All this talk one hears about the wedding of the waters of the Atlantic and the Pacific in the Panama Canal sounds ridiculous to the man who knows just what the canal is. As a matter of fact, the only way the waters of the two oceans ever can get together at Panama will be for someone to carry a bucketful from each ocean and pour it out in Gatun Lake. The pacific comes no further across the Isthmus than Miraflores, which is only a few miles inland from the shore. Nor does the Atlantic go any further inland than Gatun, which also is only a few miles from the cost line. The other 35 miles of the canal is a big body of fresh water supplied by the Chagras River and other small streams. Between Gatun and Pedro Miguel, some 32 miles the surface of this water is 85 feet above the normal water level in the two oceans. All the water for locking ships is supplied by this lake.

HICKS FOR NOVEMBER.

The regular storm period, covering the first days of November bids fair to be a stormy period. It is central on the 4th coincident with the center of the Venus equinoctial period. As these storms travel eastward, from the 3rd to the 7th they will grow in intensity and extent until most parts of the country will feel their influence.

A reactionary storm period will bring a return of storm conditions—falling barometer, change to warmer, southerly winds, with probale thunder and rain.

A regular storm period involves the 14th to 19th, center being on the 16th. The moon is at extreme north declination on the 16th, which fact will tend to suppress the change to colder. Cold, frosty weather will spread southward after this period, giving an early smack of winter to States toward the Gulf from the 17th to the 20th.

A regular storm period covers the last week in November, having its astrological centre on the 27th. The barometer will fall, and other indications of brewing storms will appear westward by the 25th and 26th, but decided autumnal storms of rain and wind, turning to snow northward, will traverse the country from west to east on and touching the 27th, 28th and 29th.

Latest In Baseball.

Though Secretary John B. Foster, of the Giants, denies that Shafer and Herzog have any differences with the New York Club, the rumor, will not down that both Tilly and Charley are through with the Giants. Shafer, it is said, will not play any mote professional baseball, but will enter business in California. The same report has it that Herzog is flirting with the Federal League and may manage the Baltimore Club. With both Shafer and Herzog lost, Heine Zimmerman certainly would fit in well with the Giants.

Clad in a regalia that dazzled the eye, Charles Webb Murphy, the Beau Brummel of baseball and the president of the Chicago Cubs, was the cynosure of all eyes in the Hotel McAlpin, New York, a few nights ago. Cholly arrived in New York during the day preparatory to sailing for Europe Wednesday.

He had a secret conference with Charles H. Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn Club. What happened in the conference is not known. Murphy denied himself to all newspaper men and Mr. Ebbets declined to discuss the matter with the scribes.

"Are you going to represent Mr. Murphy at the National League meeting next month?" Ebbets was asked. "No," replied the Brooklyn President. "The Chicago Club, will be represented by Harry Ackerland." Ackerland it will be remembered, is the man who purchased the stock of the Chicago Club, owned by Frank Chance, when Chance transferred his allegiance to the New York Americans.

"Did you discuss the rumored Zimmerman deal with Mr. Murphy?" Ebbett was asked. "The subject was not brought up," Ebbets replied "In fact, no member of the Chicago Club ever approached me regarding any deal whereby Zimmerman would come to Brooklyn. We never have considered Zimmerman as a Brooklyn possibility."

Inasmuch as John B. Foster, the secretary of the Giants, declares that the New York Club had not been approached by the Chicago club, or the New York club itself proposed any deal wherein Zimmerman would come to the Giants, it looks as if Heine would not be seen in any New York or Brooklyn uniform next season, even if he does sever his relations with the Cubs.

On account of the frequent "spats" between Zimmerman and Manager Evers last season, and because of the dispositions of the two, it is thought that Heine may be traded to some other club before the barrier is raised next April. He would be a valuable man for either the Giants or the Superbas, and despite nothing has yet been done toward securing him it is not beyond the bound of probability that Heine may be recuited by one of the local National League teams.
