Prof. E. G. Hardesty, Superintendent of Schools for Sussex county, and about twenty business men of Georgetown passed through Denton on Monday on their way to Ridgely to inspect the Agricultural School building at that place. A representative of the UNION talked with Prof. Hardesty at the Brick Hotel where the party took dinner, and he stated that he was advocating a similar school for Sussex county, and Ridgely being the nearest point where a building of the kind required could be seen they drove over in automobiles to look it over.

Isaiah Clark who ownes a small farm just north of town and who has relatives in Pennsylvania has again been committed to jail for disturbing the peace. About a year ago Clark lost his mind and became a nuisance around town. He was locked up, but later was given his freedom with the understanding that he should go to his relatives in Pennsylvania. He arranged his business here and left the County but returned a few weeks ago and has again been making trouble by walking into the homes of persons in town who are perfect stangers to him. For several years he was a miner in Alaska and his present affliction may come from the hardships suffered there.

Many people of our town remember little Ben, then a schoolboy, and sympathize most deeply with the bereaved widow who has in a very short time lost her husband and three children.

A Tribute of Respect.

At the October meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the M. P. Church, the following resolutions of respect were passed on the death of Mrs. Margaret Sommerlotte:

WHEREAS, God, in His wise Providence, has removed from our Society our friend, Mrs. Margaret Sommerlotte, we desire, as a Society, to record our appreciation of the sweetness and piety of her life and to place upon the minutes of this Society and convey to her family this testimonial of her faithfulness as a member and friend of our Society. Sister Sommerlotte was one of God's good women—a faithful follower of Christ. While her stay with us was short she will be missed in our meetings and her memory will be cherished. We wish to extend to the bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy and prayers.

Chautauqua Tickets as Christmas Gifts.

Chautauqua guarantors are trying a novel scheme for the disposal of Chautauqua Season Tickets this year. They have a supply of tickets printed in attractive colors with the greetings of the season. These are offered for sale by a number of the local stores who graciously extend their services towards the disposal of them.

The idea is to present them to friends as gifts of the season. As the tickets are good at more than 100 Chautauquas operated by the Chautauqua Association of Pennsylvania, they are appropriate gifts to send to friends living in or near any Chautauqua town.

A striking coincide connected with the issuing of these tickets is that a man from Mt. Holly, N. J., first suggested that Chautauqua Season Tickets would make attractive Christmas gifts.

Another novel ticket will appear next summer when a special Traveling Man's Ticket will be issued for the convenience of Traveling Salesmen who cannot stop to take in all the sessions of a Chautauqua at one town but who finds he will strike a number of Chautauqua towns during the summer.

For Children There is Nothing Better

A cough medicine for children must help their coughs and colds without bad effects on their little stomachs and bowels. Foley's Honey and Tar exactly fills this need. No opiates, no sour stomach, no constipation follows its use. Stuffy colds, wheezy breathing, coughs and croup are all quickly helped. Sold by C. H. Redden, Denton Md., and A. L. Duffey, Hillsboro Md.

Opportunity for Mary-Del Farmers.

A new door of opportunity has been opened to the farmers of the Maryland-Delaware Peninsula by the discovery of fall-bearing berries. With the constantly increasing demand for fruit in the near-by cities, the fall-bearing berry seems to have been developed at the psychological moment for success. The growers of small fruits have astonished even themselves by the development, this mild autamn, of fall strawberries. While it is generally admitted that among fall strawberries there is a prevailing superiority of appearance over taste, of brilliancy and color over quality and flavor, yet there has been discovered one real, delightful strawberry—the Progressive. If the Progressive can be grown as is now proposed, the admiring public will soon see that this is no "second" in the strawberry display. Then comes along the St. Regis raspberry. It is hard for old farmers to realize that here is a beautiful and luscious and red raspberry that bears fruit continuously from June to November, barring October frosts. Here is a berry with all the color and flavor qualities of the old standard, Miller's Red raspberry, and yet bringing forth fruit weeks and months after the Miller's Red variety have been exhausted until the following spring.

The Farmers Train.

As mentioned in the UNION last week the Farmer's train will begin its tour next Monday, and will be at Marydel at 12.30 and at Ridgely at 2.25. On Tuesday, December 9th, it will be at Preston at 8.35 in the morning and Rhodesdale at 10.20. On Friday, December 12th, it will be at Hickman at 11.57, Hobbs, 1.33, and Denton, 3.06. On Saturday, December 13th, the train will be at Federalsburg at 8.30 in the morning. Much that is of interest to farmers and truckers will be talked about by men who are experts. Those to accompany the train are:

Representing the Maryland Agricultural College—Dr. Harry J. Patterson, president and director of Experiment Station; Dr. Richard S. Hill, director of Farmers' Institutes, Henry C. Whiteford, farmer and canner; E. Ingram Oswald, horticulturist and poultryman; W. F. Allen, trucker and nurseryman; H. C. Mrs. Orrie Nichols of Hurlock and children spent Sunday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. William Wrightson.

Farmer Kills Desperado.

After terrorizing rural Newcastle county, just outside of Wilmington, for two months by his lawless acts in attacking defenseless women, the career of James Davis, a negro desperado, came to an end Saturday night Nov. 22, at Price's Corner, one mile from the State's prison.

The negro was shot and killed on the same road where George White, colored killed Helen S. Bishop, daughter of Rev. A. E. Bishop, at that time superintendent of the Ferris Reform School for which he was burned at the stake by a mob.

Davis had eluded capture six weeks despite a diligent search by the authorities and armed residents of the vicinity where he held forth. Six weeks ago he attacked and cut the throat of Mrs. Mary Elliott, and feeling ran high. She recovered. Saturday night Davis assaulted Alice Hilton, colored, who was alone in her home, with her three children, he husband having gone to the car with visitors.

Ellsworth Longland, a white farmer and contractor returning home from a gunning trip, heard the woman's cries, and running to the house shot Davis as he ran down the road.

Hilton also heard his wife's cries a quarter of a mile away and hurried back. He sent another load of shot into the body of the prostrate man.

The timely arrival of Coroner Springer prevented the burning of the negro's body by a crowd which collected. Longland and Hilton were taken into custody but were released the next day.

Nervous and Sick Headaches

Torpid liver, constipated bowels and disordered stomach are the causes of these headaches. Take Dr. King's New Life Pills, you will be surprised how quickly you will get relief. They stimulate the different organs to do their work properly. No better regulator for liver and boweis. Take 25c. and invest in a box to-day. At all druggists or by mail. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia and St. Louis.

Tickets Easily Redeemed.

To make it as convenient as possible for passengers to redeem unused railroad tickets, the Pennsylvania Railroad has established a rule which provides that the return portion of an excursion ticket may be redeemed at the ticket office at which it was bought, if presented by the original purchaser.

Until recently, if one wished to redeem any Pennsylvania Railroad ticket, it was necessary to forward it to the General Passenger Agent at Philadelphia, with attendant delay. On August 7th the company announced that, to make it more convenient for passengers to redeem rail road tickets, it had established a rule that a wholly unused ticket might be redeemed by the original purchaser at the office at which it was bought. Now this privilege will be extended to passengers holding unused return portions of excursion tickets.

Old Sandtown School.

On the 22nd of November a reunion of the pupils of 1848 and 49, was held at the old Sandtown school. As quite a number of our readers remember many of these pupils and some perhaps were students there we take the liberty to clip from the Dover Index a report of some of the interesting features of the occasion.

The day was delightful, warm sunshine, balmy atmosphere, a model of early May. About 11 o'clock they began to arrive in carriages and automobiles and on foot, until at noon there were 9 large autos and the grounds filled with carriages. About 150 persons were present. Among those from a distance were C. D. Evans and T. H. Dill, of Columbus, O., Mrs. Jennie Harrod, of Morrow Co., O.; Mr. and Mrs. William Macklem, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dill, of Easton, Md., Craig Smith, Peter Clark, Denton, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. John Dill, Mrs. Luther Dill, Mrs. Watson Gruwell, Greensboro, Md.; Henry and Nathan Clark, Henderson, Md.; James Longfellow, wife and family and Mary Ellen Jump, Eliz A. Bullock, Harrington; James Slaughter, and wife, Woodside; William Andrew Dill, wife and family and Mr. Peters, Viola; Eben Hughes, wife and family, Mrs. Cooper Gruwell, Mrs. Lizzie Gruwell and others, of Felton; John C. Dill and family, Mrs. Claud Draper and others, of Willow Grove, and others unknown to the writer.

The time was spent until the noon hour in personal greetings and renewing acquaintances of 40 and 50 years ago.

It was suggested that those present assemble in the church where "Nearer My God to Thee" was sung and all stood and repeated the Lord's Prayer.

T. H. Dill, of Columbus, Ohio, one of the scholars of '48 and '49, spoke stating that the meeting probably had no parallel in the history of the country, when so many of a school, after a sparation of more than 60 years were permitted to meet together under such favorable circumstances and he read a letter from the teacher, Rev. Thomas Harwood, of Albuquerque, New Mexico, as follows.

My Dear Sir, Brother, Friend and Student of long ago:

I promised to write you a few lines for your approaching reunion of the students of the Sandtown School of the long ago, well, 1848-49.

I taught six weeks before the winter school began. I was not quite 19 when I began to teach your school. I taught a little more than one year I boarded at Joel Clements. It was a pleasant home for me. At my last visit in 1910, I went to the place where the old school house stood. What sad but pleasant memories.

"What memories floated along that day,
And the trickling tear came stealing on its way."

I went up to the place where I boarded. The kind people let me go up to the room where I used to sleep. I also went to the private burying ground where rest the remains of Father and Mother Clements, John Connelly, a playmate, and others.

Well, how I would like to be with you at your reunion. What a grand time you will have. At my visit, above named I had just returned from Atlantic City, where I had been elected Chaplain-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic. Chaplain of almost a quarter of a million of the old soldiers. But, great as the honor was, I am not sure but that I would rather have the honor and the pleasure of being with you in your little school union on the old historic ground where I began my first work than to have marched with 20,000 of the "boys in blue" and cheered by 200,000 men, women and children. But many of my old students have gone on before me to the better land and the rest of us will soon go. * * * *

I wish you would ask those students of the long ago whether I ever punished any of them. I presume I did, for I remember the switches were very near, and it was thought in those early days that the teacher had to use the rod, really whether the scholar deserved it or not. They used to say; "The teacher couldn't whip the scholars, they turned him out, wouldn't keep him."

I remember I had a rule in school that no scholar would be allowed to use any profane or indecent language either at, or coming to or returning from school; neither to use any intoxicating liquor or tobacco. A few of the fathers raised objection to that rule, claiming the teacher had no authority over them, only while at the school, but the mothers liked it and stood by the teacher, saying it helped them to enforce the same rule. I will say now, as long ago as that was, 64 or 65 years ago, I had less trouble to enforce that rule then than I have had to enforce it with our Mexicans here in New Mexico, or American boys for that matter. * * * * *

I often played ball, ran foot races with the boys, jumped fences, cutches, etc. Just across the line it was the boast of the Maryland boys that we did not let any little darky boy or even a Delaware boy get away with us at anything. But in a foot-race with Alexander Frazier one day he outstripped me so far that I was ashamed of myself and could get even with him only by telling him that if my legs were as long as his he couldn't beat me.

I taught five years in Delaware, one winter in Indiana, 5 in Michigan, where, in 1855, I preached my first sermon, 1 year in teaching and land surveying in Minnesota, thence back into Wisconsin in the conference; thence 3 years in the gallant 25th Wisconsin Regiment as soldier and chaplain; then at the close of the war back in the ministry in Wisconsin, thence to New Mexico, by request of Bishop Ames, where I have remained until this present time, making 44 years the 16th of October last, when on the following Sabbath preached in Spanish, my 44 year in New Mexico, 84th in age and 58th in the ministry. *

Albuquerque, New Mexico.

ECHOES FROM EASTON

Easton Happenings Always Interest Our Readers.

After reading of so many people in our town who have been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills, the question naturally arises: "Is this medicine equally successful in our neighboring towns?" The generous statement of this Easton resident leaves no room for doubt on this point.

Herbert O. Gale, 115 Locust St., Easton, Md., says:

"At my work I am often called upon to do heavy lifting and this brought on pains in my back. For days after doing any lifting, my back was very painful. I had faith in Doan's Kidney Pills from the many endorsements I had heard people give them, and I began using them. They relieved me quickly. My former words of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills still hold good. I am always ready to say that this remedy cured me of kidney complaint."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents, Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name--Doan's—and take no other.

The Telephone Girl.

The telephone girl sits still in her chair
And listens to voices from everywhere.
She knows all the gossip, she knows all the news,
She knows who is happy and who has the blues;
She knows all our sorrows, she knows all our joys,
She knows all the girls who are "chasing the boys."
She knows all our troubles, she knows of our strife,
She knows every man who talks mean to his wife;
She knows every time we are out with the boss,
She knows the excuses that each fellow employs.
If the telephone girl told half that she knows,
It would turn all our friends into bitterest foes;
She would sow a small whirlwind that would soon be a gale,
Ingulf us in trouble and land us in jail.
She would start forth a story which, gaining in force,
Would cause our wives to sue for divorce.
She could get all our churches mixed up in a fight,
And turn our bright days into sorrowing night;
In fact she could keep the whole town in a stew,
If she told but one-tenth of the things that she knew.
Say, kid, but doesn't it make your head whirl
When you think what you owe to the telephone girl?
