SPECIAL NOTICE TO PATRONS.

The War Board has ordered all newspapers not to extend credit of over three months to subscribers; this means that any subscriber whose subscription is over due for a period of more than three months is to be discontinued, and all free copies must be omitted from the mailing list. So should any subscriber fail to receive the AMERICAN UNION after this week they will understand the reason. We sent bills to all subscribers recently and those who have failed to settle should do so at once in order that there may be no interruption in the weekly visits of the UNION to your homes. In the meantime, we ask all delinquents to remit at once. The shortage in news print paper is one of the reasons for the action of the War Board. Send in your subscription at once.

Sunday School Visitation.

A visitation of every Sunday School in Maryland is planned for Sunday, December first, in charge of the Secretary of the County Sunday School Association. The object is to arrange for a Christmas offering to help the sufferers in Armenia and Syria. The district secretaries and their assisting friends are asked to visit if possible every Sunday School during its session, and all pastors and superintendents are asked to give the visitor a welcome. Thousands of Armenians and other refugees are still dying of starvation, and millions of dollars are needed to feed and clothe and reinstate them for self-support. Miss Anna Wright of Preston is secretary for Caroline County.

John E. George Dead.

John E. George, Democratic leader in Queen Annes county and one of the most successful politicians in the State, died Monday night about 10 o'clock at his home in Sudlersville of intestinal trouble.

Mr. George first became active in politics in 1887. The old Keating and Brown factions were then in existence in Queen Annes county and Mr. George allied himself with the Keating clan. He developed into leader of the First District of the county and in 1891 went to Centreville as a member of the Board of County Commissioners. He was elected president and treasurer of the Levy Court and was thrice elected to this position, holding office for six consecutive years. In 1898 when Thomas Keating, Sr., had reached a stage of life where he was not as active as in former years, Mr. George took active control of the Democratic Conventon, and was from that time onward looked upon as county leader.

When the automobile law was passed Mr. George was appointed automobile commissioner for Maryland, being the first Marylander to occupy this position. His next office was assistant to the chairman of the Maryland State Roads Commission. At Annapolis last winter this position was legislated out of existence, so far as a salary was concerned. Mr. George continued the work, though, without compensation. When an attempt was made to hold an unauthorized session of the legislature last winter, because the minority felt it had been treated badly, Mr. George advised against it and insisted upon clean politics.

In business Mr. George was as successful as in politics.

He was founder and president of the Sudlersville Bank of Maryland and through his activity and unfailing energy the institution grew until now occupies second place in the list of Maryland state banks. He was also a director of the Centreville National Bank of Maryland.

Several years ago he engaged in the canning business and established six packing plants which he operated with two partners under the name of the Mar-Del Canning Company.

Fraternally he was a member of the Knights of Pythias and Patriotic Order Sons of America.

Community Exhibits Successful.

The Community Exhibit held at Preston and the County Exhibit at Denton exceeded all expectations. There were 76 competitors for prizes at Preston and 300 at Denton. The number of exhibits entered for prizes at Preston was 376, at Denton 1009. It has been estimated that the attendance at the Exhibit at Preston was about 650, at Denton 2000. The Red Cross at the Preston Exhibit made $48.92, at Denton $61.75. The United War Workers at Preston secured subscriptions amounting to $378.00. The success of these Exhibits was largely due to the hearty and enthusiastic cooperation of local organizations and people.

FURLOUGHS FOR SOLDIER FARMERS.

Mr. E. H. Brinkley, a Farm Labor Specialist from the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture called at the office the other day and informed me that furloughs for farm workers now in training camps in the U. S. would likely be granted from now on. It will probably take some time to demobilize all of the troops now in training camps. Up to the signing of the Armistice, very few furloughs for agriculture were granted. Every effort will be made to release agriculture workers now in training camps. Farmers who have sons or laborers now in training camps in the U. S. very likely will be able to secure their release immediately by filling out an application for furlough for agriculture having it approved by the Local Draft Board and the County Agent and forwarding it to the Commanding Officer of the Camp concerned.

Application blanks for furloughs for agriculture may be secured at either the Local Draft Board office or at the office of the County Agent.

County Agent.

Wood-Fuel Committees Urged.

To help meet the coal shortage the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture urges that wood-fuel committees should be at once reorganized in every community where they have been allowed to lapse, and appointed if none exist. They are needed to do many things, such as finding total fuel needs, whether the reserve is adequate, and, where wood fuel can be obtained, pointing out means of getting it ready for use organizing distribution and marketing. These committees will be very busy this winter, the Forest Service says, and will be able to perform good service for their communities in easing the blow of a fuel shortage.

Ain't it the Truth.

If you can explain how a man with a three foot pole can outtile an adversary with a ten foot pole you can tell how a producer in the United States under the existing scale of wages can compete with an alien adversary with half or less that scale, without putting a handicap on the foreigner. Otherwise you are wasting your conversation in defending the existing tariff law and pretending to believe that if it continues in effect there is not going to be either a heavy reduction in wages or a cessation of production. You can hate an employing producer all you like, and you can regulate and restrict and handicap him all you wish, but you cannot compel him to operate a factory or a farm at a loss, nor can the government itself produce at a loss without having someone to tax who is making a profit.—National Republican.

Babylon Has Again Fallen.

With the Kaiser's own son, Prince Adelbert, as leader of the "merry-makers," the drunken orgies of German sailors, and particularly the U-boat crews, whose headquarters were Bruges, grew so beastial and attained such proportions that even the Hun leaders became alarmed. "Enjoy Wine and Women While You Can." was one of the mottos under an indecent drawing on the wall of the rath-skeller in which this imperial profligate and his cronies indulged in their pastimes—the mildest of which were drinking bouts that began at 7 o'clock at night and ended when every man was helplessly drunk. Young Belgian women were "requisitioned" for these "entertainments." When, in their drunken revels, these degenerates finally set fire to and burned up buildings in which they were housed, they were not punished, but were merely sent aboard ship.

The Germans intended to retain the north of France permanently. But, then, the Americans came along.

President Wilson is certainly doing all he can to make the country safe for the Democratic party, but we respectfully refer him to the case of one William Hohenzollern, who was extreme in his efforts to make the world safe for the German autocracy. Autocracy is not likely to prove any more popular in America than it has proved on the other side of the pond.

Newspapers Must Collect Subscriptions In Advance

Latest Instructions From War Indnstries Board to Publishers of County Newspapers.

Under the latest instructions sent out by the War Industries Board to county newspaper publishers, the imperative demand is made that Section 2 of these instructions shall be strictly lived up to and all publishers will be forced to discontinue all subscriptions three months in arrears, from that date. Section 2 reads as follows:

"No publisher may conttnue subscriptions after three months after date of expirations, unless subscriptions are renewed and paid for."

Any newspaper failing to obey these instructions is likely to be penalized by having its distribution stopped through the mail. The editor of this paper will, therefore, be forced to discontinue all subscriptions which are in arrears three months, and which are not paid one year in advance promptly, as these instructions from the War Industries Board must be strictly lived up to by the publishers of this paper. We cannot do otherwise without jeopardizing the continuance of this publication, and this is fair and sufficient notice to all subscribers that their subscriptions must be paid in advance by December 1st, or their papers will be discontinued on that date.
