The building for the Atulia Creamery Company of Philadelphia in West Denton is in course of construction, and will be completed about the first of September. Large quantities of milk will be required at this plant, and our farmers will, no doubt, see that it is fully snuplied. Dairymen To Meet At Queen Anne.

A great many persons in every section of Talbot, Queen Anne and Caroline counties are talking about the Tri-County dairy rally, to be held at Queen Anne on August 8th, and planned to spend the day there. The program shows the largest assembly of speakers of national reputation of any meeting of an agricultural nature ever held on the peninsula, it is said, and certainly the farming public not only of the three counties but of the entire Eastern Shore should appreciate this to the extent of taking advantage of hearing what these people have to say. The dairy business is a good business for many. While this is an all day meeting, visitors will not need to bring luncheon necessarily unless they care to do so, for arrangements have been made to have sandwiches and coffee, as well as ice cream cones and cakes on sale on the grounds or in the high school building. Why not make this the occasion of a day's outing for the family and at the same time get some profitable farming and dairy advice? asks one of those interested in the meeting.

The Parcels Post Truck.

Route Agent E. F. Roberson, of the Post Office Department, who laid out the new motor truck mail route, arrived in Denton with the first mail truck Monday of last week, Mr. Roberson thinks the new service will be of much benefit to the people, particularly the farmers who have small shipments to make of choice fruits and other produce. Baltimore should be specially helped in trade for there is a very quick run to that city every evening.

The schedule of the motor truck route from Baltimore is as follows: Baltimore, 3 a. m.; Annapolis, 4.30; Claiborne, 5.30; Easton, 6 30; Bethlehem, 8; Preston, 8.15; Ellwood, 8.25; East New Market, (returning) 10.50; Hurlock, 11.05; Williamsburg, 11.40; American Corner, 12.05. p. m.; Williston, 12.35; Denton, 12.55. Are After Coal Prices.

A Congressional investigation into the coal situation will probably be made. Investigations have been proposed both in the Senate and the House and one inquiry will probably be made to serve the purpose of both bodies. Indications are that the proposed inquiry, if made, will have particular bearing on the price of coal paid by consumers.

Horses Must Be Shod.

Farmers of Kent and Sussex counties, Delaware, have received notice from officers of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals that they must have their horses shod if they are to use them on the new concrete or stone roads which have been or are about to be built in those counties.—Dover Index.

Why doesn't our Maryland Society get on the job, also.

"Ornate furnishings," a moralists informs us, " do not make a home." No not exactly, but he will, perhaps admit that they do make a home look a lot better.

Because in a newspaper interview he declared there were 1,000 speakeasies operating in Wilmington, Frank E. Haley, of the Law and Order Society, has been cited by the Board of Police Commissioners to appear at its meeting to produce evidence to substantiate his statements. "It will be time for Haley to show what he knows or shut up," declared William B. Megear, member of the commission, when Haley's interview was shown him.

Newspaper Man Passes Away.

Mr. R. W. Emerson, a well-known and highly esteemed citizen of Denton, died at his home on Third street, about nine o'clock on Sunday morning last, after a lingering illness, aged 66 years.

Mr. Emerson was a son of the late John H. Emerson, the found of the AMERICAN UNION. In 1867, he, in partnership with his brother, J. M. Emerson, edited and published the AMERICAN UNION. He had, in late years, been occasionally connected with this paper.

Mr. Emerson was well liked by those who know him intimately, and one would have to know him intimately to find out his real worth, for he was not one to make friends promiscously.

The town loses a good citizen, the Republican party a staunch supporter; the wife a tender and loving husband. Mr. Emerson is survived by his wife, who was Miss Mary Carter, of Greensboro, and one brother, Mr. J. Marion Emerson, owner and publisher of the Ansonia Sentinel, of Ansonia, Conn.

Mr. Emerson was a member of the M. E. Church here, and led a consistent Christian life.

To the bereaved widow we extend our deep sympathy.

Funeral services were held at the house at 2 o'clock Tuesday, and interment was in Greensboro cemetery.

Nice To Meet Shoremen.

State's Attorney Harry W. Nice, the Republican candidate for Governor, will be the guest of honor at a party gathering and luncheon to be held at Cambridge on Aug. 7. Congressman William N. Andrews,of the First district, who lives in Cambridge, will be the host.

Mr. Andrews said that invitations had been sent to between 400 and 500 leading Republicans of Dorchester county and the entire Shore to meet Mr. Nice. The gatherings will take place at Oakley Beach Hotel, in Cambridge, and luncheon will be served there in the evening.

The affair will start the campaign of the Republicans on the Eastern Shore. The first Republican elected Governor of Maryland after the Civil War, Lloyd Lowndes, was nominated in Cambridge, and the next Republican elected, Philips Lee Goldsboaough, lived in the town. In starting their Shore fight in Cambridge, the Republicans believe the omens will be good.

Takes Post As Financial Head.

Albert G. Towers, on Friday, August 1st, celebrated his forty-sixth birthday anniversary by resigning as Chairman of the Public Service Commission and assuming the presidency of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company.

Under New Management.

The Quaker City Daries, who have operated the Ridgely Milk Cooling Station for three or more years, have sold their plant here to the Ridgely Milk Association, who have leased the plant to the Kelley Lester Company, of Philadelphia, for a period of one year. The new company opened for business yesterday morning under very favorable and encouraging conditions, having 33 cans of milk as a starter.

For the past several months the Quaker City Daries have given the farmers very poor service, refusing milk on certain days of the week, and other things too numerous to mention. Finally the company closed down for repairs a week ago, and after many inquiries as to when the plant would be re-opened for business, no definite information could be had from them. The patrons, who were losing several hundred dollars daily called a meeting on Monday night, when it was decided that the company either had to operate its plants regularly or the patrons would refuse hereafter to bring their milk to them. A committee of three—Messrs. T. W. Jones, Milton Smith and Harry Holsinger—was appointed to wait on the Quaker City Daries at their office in Philadelphia in the interest of the local association. The committee soon brought about the necessary results to the satisfaction of all concerned. It is understood that the plant at Chapel, Talbot county, operated by the same company has suspended operations.

The Kelley-Lester Company is among the pioneer milk people of Philadelphia, and are coming here to stay. The company wants all the milk our farmers can produce, and it is now up to the patrons to give them more milk with the best test possible. The company operates the cooling station at Kenton Del.—Caroline Sun.

Police Want That $600.

The Baltimore Police Board is waiting now to see what will happen next about the collection of its bill of nearly $600 from Talbot county for expenses incurred during the trial,escape and recapture of Isaiah Fountain (colord), who was convicted of criminal assault at Easton some months ago. The Board has twice asked for payment of the bill but has heard nothing from the Talbot county offical.

About 30 policemen were sent to Easton in automobiles during the uproar over the Fountain case, and this charge and their hotel bills ran up a sizeable sum. The Board asked State's Attorney Butler about it, and when he failed to reply wrote a letter requesting payment, When no reply to this was received the matter was put up to Attorney General Ritchie, and he now has it under consideration.

Zone Postal Law O. K.

Some Big Newspapers and Magazines of National Circulation, are striving with might and main to overturn the law which provides postage rates for publications according to the distance. Theat is, the big magazines would like to return to the old plan which they had their output hauled all over the United States for practically nothing.

The old plan was a national scandal, and was the difficulty in the way of One-Cent Letter postage, the deficit runs yearly into the millions. Let the people continue to pay two-cent postage on letters, only that magazine men should continue to profit through having government transport their millions of tons annually across the continent without adequate charge therefor. Such is their policy.

It is the old plea "the people be damned." The carrying on a fast train of second-class postage matter at one cent per pound worked an enormous loss to government. Publishers endeavor to justify the deficit by asserting that their publications are of large educational value to the people. Granted. But even the grocer who supplies food to people that they may exist, does not ask government to transport his merchandise to market for a small percentage of cost.

If we are to treat the postal department as an institution serving the people at less than cost, let it be on the basis of universal low postage. Let all the people benefit. Cut the cost of carrying a letter to a cent. Do not back down on a measure that is compelling a few millionaire publishers to pay some larger proportion of the just due for carrying of merchandise.—Redlands Daily Facts, Redlands, Cal.

Clubs Increase Farm Contentment.

Ten to 50 per cent of farm boys who were dissatisfied are now content to stay on the farm, it is estimated by the county agents in the South, as a result of the club work which is supervised by the Department of Agriculture and the State colleges. Boys who belong to one of the agricultural clubs learn proper farming methods and have social good times. When once they become convinced that they can make as much or more money in the country as in town and have as good a time, the clerical position in the city loses its glamour.

The boy who has had little or no money of his own is enabled through club work to own personal property and to have a bank account. In Oklahoma 4,736 club boys own $6,963 of thrift stamps, 7,454 boys own $92,255 of baby bonds, 1,616 boys own $13,600 of Liberty bonds. The 13,809 Oikahoma club boys own war securities amounting to $112,818. Fifteen thousand boy club members in the State own bank accounts, club property, and war securities, totaling in value $247,18.606, $16 each. Many of these boys have neverhad a bank account.

August Victor Records.

Orchestras contribute importantly to the August output of the Victor Company. The Boston Symphony is represented by the sweeping dramatic last movement of Tschaikowsky's Symphony in F Minor. Gluck's Orpheus Ballet is played by the Philadelphia Orchestra and the Victor Herbert Orchestra plays Liszt's "Dream of Love" and a "Madame Butterfly" selection. Herbert has also the American Fantasie in two parts. Four famous violinists are heard. Heifetz is represented by an adaptation of Beethoven's "Ruins of Athena." Maud Powell plays "Tambourin" and "Petite Valse." Elman's offering is Weber's "Country Dance" and Haydn's "Menuett." Zimbalist contributes "Chant Negree." For those who are pleased by the old-time songs there is "Darling Nelly Gray," sung by Alma Gluck, with male quartet. "Love's Old Sweet Song" is offered by the Imperial Male Quartet. "Forsaken" is another offering by this body of singers. The Victor Mixed Chorus sings Songs of the Past, Henry Burr has "Jock O' Hazeldean" and "The Harp That Once Thro' Tara's Halls." Then there is Galli-Curci with a selection from "The Marriage of Figaro" and also with "In Sweetest Accents"from "lPuritani." "Thou Brilliant Bird," from "The Pearl of Brazil," is sung entrancingly by Mabel Garrison. A selection from "Iris" is sung by Martinelli. "Tommy Lad" and "When the Dew is Falling" are from John McCormack and "A Little Bit o' Honey" is sung by Evan Williams. Indeed the list is most attractive in every respect and one might instance De Gogorza's "Since Molly Went Away," or Sophie Braslau's "Bid Me Good-by" and "I'm Longin' fo' You." De Luca is splendid in a "Pastorale" and Clarence Whitehill is sonorous in "Nancy Lee." "The Two Grenadiers" is another of his offerings to command attention. The list likewise has the McCormack rendition of "The Star-Spangled Banner" and such a wealth of selections as will appeal to every taste. M. K. Newnam can secure any number you wish.

Largest Tobacco Crop in History.

The 1918 crop of Maryland tobacco is now being inspected at the State Tobacco Warehouses, Charles and Conway streets, Baltimore, and according to an official there it is one of the largest crops in the history of the tobacco industry in this State. Practically all this tobacco has been raised in Southern Maryland, coming from Anne Arundel, Prince George's Charles, Calvert and St. Mary's counties.

An extra force of inspectors has been working continuously at the warehouses. It is estimated the crop will total 19,000 hogsheads. After undergoing inspection and being stamped with the Government seals the tobacco will be shipped to all parts of the world.

The American Tobacco Company and the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, it was said, have placed big orders for Maryland tobacco. This is unusual, as these companies in the past got most of their goods farther South.

Most of the Maryland tobacco is shipped to Baltimore by steamers of the Patuxent river route, a little coming by other lines and by rail.

One of the inspectors said recently that, owing to the termination of the war, a large percentage of the tobacco will be shipped abroad. Some of it will go to Holland, France, Italy, Denmark, and some may go to Germany through Holland.

Caroline After Judgeship.

A dispatch from Denton to the Baltimore Sun Monday says;

Certificates of nomination of the three Democratic candidates for Chief Judge of the Second Circuit have all peen filed in the five counties, and the coming contest has become a matter of absorbing interest in the upper part of the Eastern Shore. It overshadows all other matters political now before the people.

The members of the Caroline county bar declared that T. Alan Goldsborough, Caroline's candidate, will sweep this county and carry two others overwhelmingly, basing this expectation on assurance they have received from the voters of the circuit themselves and various leaders. Workers for Caroline's candidate are pointing out that since 1788 Caroline county has had a judge for less than two years. On the other hand, Talbot has been represented on the bench for 53 years, and continuously for the last 22 years. Cecil county has been represented for 68 years.

An appeal to voters, prepared by the local bar and bearing 2,300 signatures,sets forth the fact that Caroline has had scarcely any representation in the circuit for 130 years and asks that this inequality be righted by the election of Mr.Goldsborough.

SUFFRAGE IS DEFEATED IN GEORGIA ASSEMBLY

Angered at President Wilson's Interference Denounce Him on Floor as Meddler

Atlanta, July 24.—The federal suffrage amendment was defeated overwhelmingly in both houses of the General Assembly today. Following a contest that has continued about two-thirds of the entire time since the session opened, the Senate finrlly brought the question to a vote at the morning session and killed it by a majority of thirty votes, the ballot being 39 for and 9 against refusing to ratify the amendment.

The House took up the bill at the opening of the session and disposed of it in short order, only four hours being consumed in the discussion.

The final vote on the amendment proposed by the committee against ratfication was 118 to 20, while the vote on adoption of the committee ndamemdnt was 126 to 34.

The Senate not only defeated the bill, but voted down an effort to have the question submitt to a vote of the people at the next white primary by a vote of 36 to127. Senator Rigsdale declared that if the bill passed "it would mean that the American race would be degraded aod wiped off the face of the earth when the women put on pants and entered politics.

The Legislature acted in opposition to Preident Wilson, who sent a telegram urging ratification of the amendment for the aske of "expediency," and also sent Willian J. Harris, the junior United States Senator from Georgia, to Atlanta to lobby for ratification or to see that the Legislature did not act at all. President Wilson's course angered the legislators and he was time and again denounced as a "meddler" during the debate. Senator Harris was denounced and described as a man who had gone to the Senate by virture of Wilson's endorsement when Georgia was raging with the war fever. So bitterly have legislators resented the President's course that it is said in the Capitol lobbies that he would have difficulty in carrying Georgia if he should again be a candidate.—New York Times.

Independence of the Miller.

The man with a mill clear of encumbrance is in independent position. There is no other business with the same capital invested that will show better returns. The majority of our moderate sized mills are in the country districts, and when one of these mills is sold a dwelling house generally goes with it. In other words the purchaser gets a home for his family nearly clear of cost. Nothing like this is true of any other business as far as we know, unless it is the country store, and in the case of the country store the whole family has at times joined in and helpd to run the business. Then again the country store keeper very often has to run a troublesome post office. If there is any other occupation that saows more satisfactory results to both the miller and his family on a reasonable investment of money, we do not know what that business is.—Miller's Review, Philadelphia, Pa.

Just Like "Lizzie."

That even a Ford will indulge in mischievous pranks was proven beyond the shadow of a doubt on Tuesday afternoon when Rev. Ibach,after overhauling and cleaning his machine and forgetting that he had left the oils which he had taken out standing beneath the machine, filled the tank and proceeded to find out just how "Lizzie" would appreciate the renovation and kind treatment. The spark proved to be good—so good that it not only ignited the charge within the engine, but that left standing beneath the machine, and for a time it looked as though a serious fire might occur but as the Rev. was equal to the emergency no serious damage was done.—Union Bridge Pilot.

Peach Cobbler.

Butter the outside of a teacup and invert in the center of an earthern pudding dish. Fill around with peaches, whole or sliced, sprinkle with sugar. Make a crust of 2 cups of flour, teaspoon baking power, a pinch of salt, 2 tablespoons butter rubbed in, 1 egg well beaten. Add ¾ cup milk and stir all together. Roll out and cover peaches. Bake ½ hour in hot oven. Invert on deep plate for serving. The cup will be full of delicous sirup, which may be used for sauce.

According to an announcement, 500 persons have ordered airplanes and are planning to fly. At this rate it will be necessary to formulate some traffic laws for the air.

Although grasshoppers are not usually noticed by the farmer until they have reached a considerable size, they begin to injure his crops immediately upon hatching from the egg. They should be detected and combated, therefore, while young and small, so that time, labor, and material, as well as crops, may be saved.
