Conditions in Talbot County are very bad at present. Scarlet fever and measles are prevalent that the schools have been ordered closed. As mauy as four or five cases of scarlet fever have been reported from one family, but the children are the main sufferers from the measles.

We sent quite a number of subscsiption bills to our subscribers last week, and we hope to hear from them soon. This money is due us, and while it would not be much to the subscriber it would mean a great deal to us. So pay up, and start 1920 by being square with the printer.

Senator Harrison introduced the road bill prepared by the Governor and which provides for rural post roads lateral roads and the extension of the State road system. This provides for a loan amounting to $3.000,000 makes it in cumbent on the counties to contribute toward construction.

In view of the bad weather conditions for the taking of samples of soil for the lime requirement test, the Experimental Station advises that an extension of the time has been made. The County Agent will, therefore, be glad to receive soil samples any time during the next two weeks.

According to the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the use of tobacco among women during 1919 increased to an alarming extent. The board has made an earnest appeal to women to refrain from the use of tobacco in the name of the country's welfre.

Hearings on two important bills will be held at Annapolis this week. On Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock the race track bill was discussed, and on Thursday at the same hour the good roads proposition was given a public hearing. Practically everybody is interested in these bills, and the hearings will, no doubt, be largely attended.

One of the wolves said to have escaped from the Washington Zoo was shot and killed Saturday afternoon by Edward S. Griffith, of near Glen-Burnie, Anne Arundel county. Mr. Griffith's attention was called to the animal as it was crossing his place about three miles south of Glen Burnie. Members of his family saw the wolf from a window.

Many of the Chinese names are of a "flowery" character. The Chinese minister at Washington for many years was Wu Ting-fang, a name which signifies "fragrant place." The name of minister to England at the same time was Lo Feng-lo, meaning "a rich harvest." The regular name for a girl baby's "My thousand ounces of Gold."

Surgeons operating on a woman suffering from stomach trouble in a Baltimore hospital last Saturday, removed a remarkable collection of hardware, including iron staples, bits of wire, garter buckles, pins, nails, etc. The total number of metal and other undigestible matter was 1290. The patient is reported on the way to recovery.

Governor Ritchie not only made allowance for the Annapolis Claiborne ferry, but in $28,000 for the peninsula ferry, which plans to operate between Baltimore and Love point. The allowance is based upon the average cost of maintaining a mile of State road, as the State treats the ferries as connecting links between the roads on Eastern and Western shores.

James H. Mitchell, 76 years old, a retired farmer of Greensboro, died at his home Thursday Feb 19, after a long illness. He is survived by three sons, E. W. Mitchell, of Wilmington; J. W. Mitchell, of Philadelphia, and John H. Mitchell, Greensboro. The funeral was held at his home at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Burial took place at Greensboro cemetery.

Senator Orlando Harrison will ask the Maryland Legislature for $50,000 with which to repair the public property at Ocean City which was damaged by the recent storm. On the ground that Ocean City is the only ocean resort in the State it is thought that no trouble will be experienced in getting the amount. Salisbury and cities near the resort are most interested in the project.

A pretty home wedding took place at the home of Dr. Luther Swiggett Conwell at high noon February 12 when his niece, Miss Elizabeth Jackson Hollis, of Camden, Del., became the bride of Henry Weaver, one of our most popular young farmers. The cermony was preformed by Dr. Alfred Smith, a former pastor of Camden. After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding dinner was served.

The concrete stack at the plant of the Helvetia Milk Condensing Co. Greensboro, was completed last week. The new stack is 126 feet and 6 inches high, 10 feet at base and 5 feet in diameter at top. The panelled work and flanged top gives it a fine appearance. The panel work which extends about 10 feet down from the top, is painted black while the rest of the stack is painted white. This is the largest stack in this section of the Eastern Shore.

Miss Elizabeth Henry Goldsborough, daughter of Mrs. Mary and the late John A. Goldsborough and Lieut. Chaplain G. Hicks, U. S. M. C., were married Sunday, Feb. 15 at 1 o'clock. Rev. W. D. Gould Jr., Rector of Christ P. E. Church officiated. Because of the recent death of the bride groom's mother and the bride's father only the immediate families witnessed the cermony. Lieut. Hicks is a grand son of the late Governor Hicks and is stationed at Quantico, Va. After their wedding journey Mr. and Mrs. Hicks will make their home at Fredericksburg, Va.

State Game Warden LeCompte has issued a statement of the work of the department of the Conservation Commission having to do with the protectson of game and fish in which it is shown that the State-wide hunters' license creates the sole fund for the State Game department. No appropriation is made for it out of the general treasury. Of the 48 States in the Union, 45 have departments for the protection and propagation of game and fish with like support. Warden LeCompte refers to the State Game farm recently acquired and now being developed to supply birds for restocking the coveys of the State, and emphasizes the fact that only by the combined efforts of all the counties can the system of paid wardens and of propagation continue to be made effective.

Mrs. Rebecca Ellen Cohee, widow of George Cohee, died Thursday evening, February 19, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. B. Collison, near Ruthsburg, Queen Anne's county, aged 77 years. The death resulted from only a few days of double pneumonia. Funeral services were held Saturday at 3 p. m. Rev. Roy Musser officiating. Interment took place in Greensboro cemetery.

Schools throughout the Fifth Federal Reserve District have practically completed plans for the observance of National Thrift Stamp week, March 1-6. An effort will be made to have every school boy and girl, who has not already done so, start the saving habit with the purchase of a twenty-five cent Thrift Stamp at some time during the week. Children who have already enrolled as savers will be encouraged to stick another stamp on their Thrift Cards in order to make a hundred per cent showing. There are now nearly nine thousand school savings societies in the district.

The Easton National Bank has the unique record of having had in its service three men who served the bank a longer period than have any other bank officials in Maryland. The late Richard Thomas was in the employ of the bank 57 years, 53 of which he was the cashier. Robert B. Dixon, who retired last year as president, has served the bank as director and president for exactly 50 years, while Henry Hollyday, who retired as cashier last month, had been with the bank for 44 years, 13 of which he was cashier. Next to Mr. Hollyday, Judge Adkins holds the longest record of service as director, he having been elected on the death of his father, about 30 years ago.

Chas. F. Hutchinson Dead

Mr. Charles F. Hutchinscn, formerly of this county died at his home in Baltimore on Monday last, March 1st, age 77 years. Interment will take place at Denton cemetery on Friday afternoon. Mr. Hutchinson was a member of the First Maryland regiment during the Civil War and was in the service nearly four years.

Goldsbosough Given Medal

A bronze medal, in application of his work du ring the war, has been presented to former governor Phillips Lee Goldsborough by the organization of which former President William H. Taft is a member.

The medal, known as the Liberty Service Medal, is about two inches in diameter, suitably inscribed front and back, and is given to civilizans who rendered signal service in carrying on the work behind the fighting men.

Governor Goldsborough was a zealous worker in raising funds for Liberty Loans, Thrift and War Savings campaigns, Red Cross work and other war activities.

The Caroline Civil List

Governor Ritchie on Thursday of last week made the following appointments:

Justices of the Peace—Edgar McKnatt, Henderson; Robert R. Shull, Greensboro; William J. Rickards, Denton; E. Lloyd Fooks, Preston; Thomas F. Cox, Federalsburg; Robert S. Nichols, Federalsburg; James E. Hicks, Hillsboro; Henry Wilkinson, Ridgely; Thomas J. Daffin, Sr., American Corner.

Notaries Public—J. Frank Lane, Goldsboro; L. Irving Jones, Greensboro; John D. Davis, Ridgely; G. Lawrence Wilson, Hillsboro; Elizabeth MacDonald, Denton; W. S. Crouse, Denton; Charles B. Harrison, Preston; John N. Wright, Jr., Federalsburg; Wilmer S. Noble, Federalsburg.

Supervisors of Elections—John K. Lynch, Ridgely, and Everett H. Gale, Hillsboro, Democrats; Harry B. Mason, Denton, Republican.

Jesse L. Wells Murdered

Instantly killed by a load of shot which entered the base of his brain and came out through the left eye, Jesse L. Wells, a prominent farmer and former treasurer of Sussex county, Delaware was murdered by his demented wife last Saturday night, Feb. 21, who is about 60 years old, retired to his room for the night in company with his wife, while his son and his wife, and his daughter and her husband, who lived with them, also had retired to their rooms.

They had barely fallen asleep when a shot was heard and Mrs. Wells came crying out of the room. The children ran into the room and found their father in his nightclothes lying in a pool of blood. The gun which had been fired, was on the floor by the side of the bed, still smoking, while a poker lay beside it. The hair at the back of his head was burned, so closely had the gun barrel been held, and death had resulted insatly.

Mrs. Wells lost her reason some years ago but had not become violent. The family had preferred keeping her with them to having her sent to an institution.

After the inquest the remains of the dead man were buried Monday afternoon at Line M. E. church.

Orphans' Court

Judges West, Harper and Shawn were present in the Orphan's Court Tuesday.

In the absence of the court, the Register of Wills on application, granted letters of administration, on the personal estate of Clinton T. Wyatt. Bond filed and approved. William I. Norris and Fredinard Baynard were named as appraisers.

T. Alan Goldsborough, administrator of Sarah E. Thornton, deceased, filed his distribution account, which was approved.

The last will and testament of Alexander Noble, deceased, was duly proved and admitted to probate, Dr. John W. Payne being named as executor in the will. Bond filed and approved. Notice to creditors was ordered. S. E. Dougless and Walter M. Wright were named as appraisers.

Elwood C. Orrell, administrator of Martha H. Orrell, deceased, filed first and final account of administration and distribution, which were approved by the Court.

On petition of Frances L. Wooley, by her attorney T. Alan Goldsborough, to revoke the probate of the alleged will of Catherine Shane, late of Caroline county, deceased, the Court ordered that Tuesday March 2nd, at 10 o'clock a. m., be set as the time and day to review to probate proceedings, and ordered the Register of Wills to notify the heirs.

Lawmakers Now on the Last Lap of the Session

When the Senate and House re-assembled on Monday last they will enter upon the second half of the legislative session, as 47 of its 90 days will have elapsed.

The calendars of both Senate and House are clear. In fact, if members were anxious to get rid of their task they could rush business and end the session in two weeks. Contrary to conditions usually prevailing at this stage of each session the steel safes in the several committes rooms are not clogged with bills for the simple reason that the rush of bills has been smaller than for a decade. The total number introduced in the two houses is not greatly in excess of 350, as against over 500 at the same period during former sessions. The budget, the Public Service and other commissions are preforming duties which formerly fell to the Legislature. There are but few concrete propositions before the General Assembly. In fact, the Senate or House are more or less debating societies with academic bills as their subjects.

The State appropriation bills, which embody the pledges of the Democratic party in the last campaign, are well under way.

Governor Ritchie's Merit System Bill, which has passed the House, will probably pass the Senate this week. The bills amending the State banking will probably pass.

American Legion Post Formed in Caroline County

A number of the representative young men of the County who served during the recent world war met in Denton on February 23rd, and with the permission of the State and National Headquarters formally formed a branch post of the American Legion which is to be known as "Caroline Post No. 1." At the meeting the following officers were elected:

Dr. P. R. Fisher, Post Commander; Eugene G. Anderson, Vice Post Commander; Wesley E. Thawley, Post Adjutant; Calvert C. Merriken, Post Finance officer; Winfield Nichols, Post Historian; Henry T. HollingsworthPost Publicity officer. ThePost Commander then appointed a committee to draft by-laws. It was decided that a general meeting should be held in the courthouse in Denton to which all persons interested in the movement, especially ex-service men will be invited and an effort made to secure their membership, but owing to the condition of the roads it was thought best not to hold the general meeting until about April 1st, a speaker from National Headquarters being available about that time.

The men of Caroline County played an important part in the recent conflict which terminated so successfully for us, and since severing relations with their respective units such a spirit of commradeship and Fraternal regard has developed among those who served that it is mutually felt they should again come together in an effort to establish an organization for the preservation of that spirit. Let every man who saw service keep this in mind and when the day of the general meeting has been set, let him once more rally to the colors lending his presence and assistance in prepetuating the noble tenets and purposes fostered by the American Legion.

At the first indications of illness remaln in the house and send for a doctor.

Keep regular hours and get lots of sleep.

GOV. LOWDEN REAL FRIEND OF FARMER

Record in Offices Proves His Interest in Measures to Benefit Agriculture

MANAGES HIS OWN FARM

Illinois Governor Is Cotton Planter, Stock Raiser and General Farmer —Fosters Bills to Make Rural Life More Attractive.

Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, one of the leading candidates for the Republican nomination for president, is a practical and successful farmer. Born on a farm near Sunrise, Minn., of sturdy American parentage, he moved to Hardin county, Iowa, when he was 7 years old, where he worked his way through school later by teaching. When he came to Chicago, he purchased a large farm near Oregon, Ill., which he now calls his home.

This farm is one of the finest in Illinois. In addition to this he owns and operates two cotton plantations in Arkansas and has extensive stock breeding interests in Texas. Although he has been successful as a teacher, lawyer, business man and statesman, Lowden prefers to be known as a farmer. He has a way of succeeding in everything he undertakes and his experience as a farmer is no exception to this rule.

The governor's interest in farming has at no time been more forcibly shown than during the four years he has governed Illinois. In his inaugural address he laid out a broad policy which he has consistently followed for fostering every phase of agriculture. He said, on taking office:

"Agriculture is our most important industry. It is the source of our greatness. Its continued success is the condition of any permanent prosperity within our borders. The conservation movement must concern itself with the soil, for even our brief history shows that fertile fields may become abandoned farms through other causes than lack of rainfall. The raising of live stock seems necessary if we are to preserve the fertility of the soil. We should foster this industry in every way we can.

"We should encourage co-operative farming. Wherever you find agriculture in its highest state you find that co-operation has made its greatest advance."

One of the most notable measures taken by Gov. Lowden to foster agriculture was the civil administrative code. This act consolidated in the state department of agriculture various commissions and bureaus, created from time to time to aid the farming interests. The efficiency of administration was vastly enhanced by this centralization of responsibility, and the benefits to the rural population have been increasingly evident during the two years since the code was adopted.

Moreover, through Gov. Lowden's active interest, a number of bills have been put through the legislature directly bearing on the farmer's lot. These include the bill for establishing a tenancy commission, for regulating commission merchants, the pure seed law, the revised dog law, compensation for the slaughter of tubercular cattle, appropriation of $125,000 for a limestone plant, appropriation for a live stock biological laboratory, establishing a veterinary college, and regulating the spread of plant disease.

The governor likes not only farms but farmers. In a speech recently he said:

"In these troublesome times I often wish I were governor of a state whose only citizens were farmers. The farmer is the greatest stabilizer in the country and if it were not for our 6,000,000 farmers I would despair of the future of America."

LAST LINCOLN PALLBEARER LOOKS TO LOWDEN TO LEAD

Simeon W. King, Friend of Emancipator, Expects Illinoisan's Record to Make Him Party Choice.

Simeon W. King, active in Illinois Republican politics for 70 years and the last surviving pallbearer who officiated at the funeral services for Abraham Lincoln held in Chicago, has declared his intention of supporting Governor Frank O. Lowden for president.

"I have voted for every Republican president since Lincoln and I expect to cast my ballot for Lowden next November," said Mr. King. "I have known Frank Lowden for thirty years, and he is just the type of man the country needs for president in this crisis of the country's history. He is able, honest, progressive, experienced and efficient. I remember when he first came to Chicago as a poor young man to study law. I saw him admitted to the bar and later enter public life and rise to fame, and I feel proud of his great success.

"He has proven the best governor Illinois has ever had, and we have had some great executives in the history of the state.

Flu Preventatives

Eat plenty—but don't, overeat.

Keep body, particularly the hands, clean.

Take plenty of out-door exercise.

Avoid catching cold.

Admit outdoor air to sleeping apartment but don't sleep in a draught.

Don't mingle with crowds of people in poorly ventilated rooms.

Cash Prizes to Be Given

For the best posters drawn by school children emphasizing the thrift idea the War Loan Organization of this district will give cash prizes amounting to more than one hundred dollars, according to an announcement just made. The rules of the contest, which closes March 31, have been sent to school principals and teachers throughout the district with the request that they be posted on bullentin boards and in other conspicuous places.

All pupils of all public and private schools in this district may enter the contest. Students of universities, colleges, business colleges, institutes and normal schools may not take part, the announcement says.

Six prizes will be awarded in this State. All the schools will be divided into two classes: Those in citles with a population of more than 8,000, according to the 1910 census, will be known as Class A Schools. The others will be class B Schools. In each class three prizes will be given —$5, $2.50 and $1. Also in each class two grand prizes for the Fifth Federal Reserve District will be awarded, these being $10 each.

In addition to the cash prizes the winners will receive personal letters of congratulation signed by the director of the War Loan Organization and the governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of this district.

All posters submitted must emphasize the value of saving and the advantage of investing in Thrift and War Savings Stamps. The posters may be made in any manner desired. No contestant may enter more than two posters. Anyone who desires copies of the printed rules can get them by writing to the War Loan Organization at Richmond, Va.
