BACK HURT ALL THE TIME

Mrs. Hill Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Removed The Cause.

Knoxville, Tenn.—"My back hurt me all the time, I was all run down, could not eat and my head bothered me, all caused by female trouble. I was three years with these troubles and doctors did me no good. Your medicine helped my sister so she advised me to take it. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the Liver Pills and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and now I am well, can eat heartily and work. I give you my thanks for your great medicines. You may publish my letter and I will tell everyone what your medicines did for me."—Mrs. PEARL HILL, 418 Jacksboro St., Knoxville, Tennessee.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you are ill do not drag along and continue to suffer day in and day out but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a woman's remedy for woman's ills.

COLLEGES ASK FOR MILLIONS

Nearly 75 Institutions of Learning in the Country Now Seek Funds.

LARGEST SUM IS $25,000,000

Northwestern Wants $10,000,000 for Buildings Alone—Higher Pay for Professors Promised by All Campaign Committees.

New York.—Nearly seventy-five colleges throughout the country are conducting campaigns for endowment funds to increase the pay of their professors and to provide new buildings and facilities. It is estimated that the total sought is more than $200,000,000.

Five of the largest institutions in the country—Harvard, Princeton, Cornell, Northwestern and New York university—are engaged in campaigns, and the total sought by these five universities alone is $70,700,000. Northwestern seeks $25,000,000. Harvard already has promises of $12,000,000, toward her desired fund of $15,250,000. Cornell's goal is $10,000,000. Princeton desires $14,000,000, and New York university has set $6,450,000 as her minimum in a campaign to be launched late this month.

Pittsburgh Wants $16,000,000.

Other large sums sought by some of the smaller colleges carry the total above $100,600,000 before the first ten campaigns are enumerated. Boston university also wants $10,000,000. The University of Pittsburgh intends to raise $16,000,000 in the next five years. Oberlin college of Ohio is to raise $5,285,000, and ten other colleges are campaigning for individual funds of $3,000,000 each.

Although Columbia university here has announced no plans for a campaign for funds, her president, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, has intimated that money might be sought for the completion of the institution's building programs. Two of Columbia's associated institutions, Barnard college and Teachers' college, are appealing for funds. Teachers' college seeks $3,000,000, $1,500,000 of which is to be used for a new library building, and the alumnae committee of Barnard asks $500,000 to complete the $1,000,000 endowment fund.

All of the large eastern colleges have committees at work in this city, and Hunter College for Women and New York university intend to push their campaign for funds in the guerrilla warfare way because most of their graduates live in the city. Hunter college is seeking $150,000 for an alumnae hall, and is running its campaign as part of the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of its foundation. Organizations of graduates of the various colleges have been requested to subscribe certain quotas, and the campaign has been carried directly to the purse of each graduate.

Varying Amounts Sought.

Sums sought by the smaller and specialized institutions range down from the $8,000,000 sought by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to the $10,000,000 to be raised by Fordham university of this city for a memorial to its graduates who perished in the war. Joining, too, in the campaigns are some of the women's colleges, including Mount Holyoke, Bryn Mawr and Smith college. Phillips Exeter academy and Andover academy also are on the list.

Three of the institutions that had planned elaborate campaigns for large endowment funds received large sums under the will of Henry C. Frick. To Princeton was left $10,000,000. Harvard received $5,000,000, and $5,000,000 also was bequeathed to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Massachusetts "Tech" also has received in its campaign promises of large sums from T. Coleman Dupont on condition that specific additional sums be subscribed by others during the campaign.

By far the largest sum is sought by Northwestern university in Chicago. Her goal is $25,000,000, including $10,000,000 for new buildings and an endowment fund for their maintenance. Intended expansion of work is to be covered by a fund of $11,000,000, and the remaining $4,000,000 is to be used in carrying on the present curriculums. According to information furnished to the Vanderbilt Alumnus the publication of the graduates of Vanderbilt university, the scale of professors' pay at Northwestern also will be increased.

SAYS LAWSUITS ARE CHEAP

New York Judge Denies Charge That Poor Do Not Receive Justice.

New York.—The assertion that the poor man does not receive justice in court, made recently in a report of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, was contradicted by Judge Frederick E. Crane of the court of appeals. Speaking before the women members of the Kings County Republican club, he declared that "the chief litigation in our courts is today conducted by the poor, or persons of moderate means, and at no time and in no country have the rights and remedies of the law been so easily procured."

"Nowhere in the world is litigation so cheap or redress for wrong so readily afforded to the poor," Judge Crane said. "Any law office of standing can furnish instances of litigation conducted without charge for services rendered because of the condition of the parties."

School of Fish in Tender.

Ossawatomie, Kan.—Water and fuel famines develop strange occurrences in railroading and occasionally require strenuous incidents to discover them. The which is by way of saying that J. E. Sturges, boilermaker foreman at the roundhouse here, discovered a school of small minnows in the tender of engine No. 125 the other day. The tender was brought into the shop for repairs after colliding with a coal car at Lane. It is certain the fish had been in the tender for several weeks and that many of them had been dead for some time.

ALASKA OFFERS ITS PULP

Forests Could Relieve Shortage, Says Governor Riggs.

Billions of Feet of Paper Wood Available for Manufacture Into Newsprint.

Seattle.—Alaska wants to throw open her millions of acres of national forests so that the billions of feet of paper wood of the northland can help relieve the pulp and newsprint famine, Gov. Thomas Riggs, Jr., of Alaska declared here recently.

Governor Riggs was here on his way from Juneau, capital of Alaska, to Washington, where he expected to help press pending legislation intended to remove restrictions and allow pulp manufacturers to go into the Tongass and Chugach reservations, the northern territory's two great reserves.

Pulp and paper men are anxious to go to Alaska and establish mills as great as these operated in British Columbia not far south of the Alaska boundary line, the governor asserted. Under the present laws the pulp makers cannot enter the reservations with any certainty that they will be allowed to stay.

Alaska's great forests stretch over approximately 34,000 square miles, an area nearly equal in size to the state of Indiana, according to estimates made by government officials.

Several hundred million feet of good pulp wood, including western yellow pine, hemlock, Sitka spruce, white fir and lodgepole pine, are on the forest reserves alone.

The Tongass reserve, in southeastern Alaska, is especially adapted to the manufacture of pulp and paper, forestry officials have reported. There is plenty of water power, ocean harbors open the year around, timber skirting the water and weather similar to that of the Puget sound.

The governor intends to ask Washington to restore the reserves to the national domain or to open them to the pulp industry.

RED-HAIRED GIRLS ADMIRED

Few Old Maids Among Titian Types, Says Noted British Anthropologist.

London.—"Have you noticed that there are very few red-haired old maids?" said a noted anthropologist. "Red-haired people are of a very high order of intelligence. Consequently red-haired girls have many admirers and marry young."

His opinion was expressed relative to the statement of a cinema producer that brunettes are cleverer than blondes. Several scientists agreed generally that both men and women of dark complexion are quick-witted and imaginative, while the great majority of fair people are more hard-headed, but a little slower in mental response.

FEAR OF YANKEE SLANG

British Afraid Youth of Land Will Be Corrupted.

Film Subtitles Seen as Menace to Vaunted English Purity of Speech.

London.—England is apprehensive lest the vocabularies of her youth become corrupted through incursions of American frequency with which resort is made to "Yankee talk" by British song and play writers seeking to enliven their productions. Bands and orchestras throughout the country, when playing popular music, play American selections almost exclusively. American songs monopolize the English musical hall and musical comedy stage.

It is the sub-title of the American moving-picture film which, it is feared, constitutes the most menacing threat of vaunted English purity of speech.

"The child at the pictures is picking up a new language from the slangy American films," says a critic in a contribution to the London Daily News headed "The Vulgar Tongue."

"I visited two picture theaters today for the express purpose of collecting slang phrases and of noticing the effect of the new language on the child as well as on the adult. What the villain said to the hero when the latter started to argue with him was 'Cut out that dope,' and a hundred piping voices repeated the injunction. The comic man announced his marriage to the belle of Lumbertown by saying, 'I'm hitched.'

"Of course, the American child can comprehend these things much better than the British child, who is quite unfamiliar with such phrases. Imagine a child going home to mother and asking the meaning of 'fly cop.' We may admire the terseness of the phrase 'forget it,' but does the subtitle 'The Bun's Gone Daffy' convey anything to a theater full of cockneys?

"In another picture a man trafficked secretly with Indians, exchanging bottles of 'fire water' for beaver skins was sub-titled 'The Bootlegger.'"

Leather Money as Soles for Paper Shoes in Austria

Fractional metal currency disappeared some time ago in the Tyrol region of Austria and the authorities instructed a big leather factory to stamp out little pieces of scrap leather for local requirements. This served business requirements in Mattighofen and other sections until the people discovered it was cheaper to use the leather money as soling for their paper shoes than to buy the leather soles.

EXCELLENT TASTE IN YOUNG GIRLS' FROCKS

THE professional designers of children's clothes have put this country at the head of the procession in their line of business. Their products rank with those of the maker of tailored suits and shoes; at least no country outclasses us in these articles; comparisons show that we excel in them; keeping in mind the essentials of good taste, our designers have revealed inexhaustible ingenuity in making practical as well as picturesque things for children of all ages, from babyhood up.

For girls from nine to fifteen there are frocks that make one wonder that these years were ever designated "the difficult age." It takes the cultivated sense of the professional to fashion clothes that make us forget these terms and professionals succeed in doing just this. They translate and emphasize whatever of charm nature has bestowed upon the growing child at any age—and they make frocks that have their own charm to lend to young wearers.

For the sake of economy many mothers make their children's outfits at home. They need not be worried in the matter of designing these clothes; all they need do is buy materials and patterns and copy what professionals have placed in the shops and pictured in the magazines.

In the picture above there is shown a plain chambray dress for a girl from eight to thirteen, or there about, which is above criticism. Tucks in cross-bar and straight lines, and small pearl buttons serve to decorate it and it has a small collar of white organdie. One cannot do better than to copy it exactly, for with these simple means its designer has made a masterpiece.

Something New in Silk Frocks

JUST how much and just how little one requires in the way of new clothes for the coming summer is a matter that must be decided by each individual for herself. Women feel that they are being "held up" on the prices of some things and, even when quite able to pay for anything they want, they object to playing into the hands of profiteers. Therefore many women, especially among those who have always had money and who understand values, are leaving it to the newly prosperous to buy extravagantly rich and high-priced apparel, contenting themselves with simpler and less costly things. They are selecting practical frocks that will serve a variety of purposes and buying only what they actually need—which is more or less—according to circumstances. Lovely washable dresses of fine cottons, that will continue to look fresh as long as they last, simple taffeta frocks, durable satins and reliable woolens, attract them.

Every woman knows how practical a pretty taffeta frock is and that she will not grow tired of one that has style as its chief asset. Here is one that possesses these virtues. In the picture something new in silk dresses is shown in a black taffeta with pipings, facings, collar and vest in white taffeta, white pearl buttons and simulated buttonholes of white soutache braid. Over a plain and rather short underskirt, an overgarment with short kimono sleeves, faced back with white taffeta, hangs straight down from the shoulders or appears to. The chances are that it is tacked in a few plaits at the waistline under the taffeta sash. The design could not be much simpler, but it is new and full of snap. The dress would be pretty in dark blue and tan or beige might take the place of white in its development.

Many Hair Ornaments.

A lot of importance is attached in Paris just now to evening hair ornaments. The hair is dressed rather elaborately, drawn back tightly in front, but brought forward over the ears in as simple a line as possible, and the waving is loose and natural. Two tendencies are noticeable, one toward a low coiffure, the hair rolled and massed on the nape of the neck, the other tending to a high coiffure, the mass of the hair being brought up to the top of the head, often in a big roll. Twists and material, strings of pearls, feathers and aigrettes ornament the different coiffures.

Housewife's Smock.

Smocks are a great convenience for the housewife. They can really be used as aprons. Slipped over the afternoon dress or suit skirt and blouse they form a good protection and can be worn to the dinner table where an apron could not. Made of cotton crepe they are easily laundered and will not fade.

What Neighbors Say

Alexandria, Va.—"For many years I have suffered with stomach trouble and indigestion; my liver would become inactive and sluggish. These ailments have given me a great deal of distress and sorry. Just recently was advised to take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets and I find them excellent. They act on the liver and regulate the bowels and they have given me more real relief from my ailments than any medicine I have ever taken."—Mrs. Emma Posey, 114 N. West St.

The Family Tonic

Petersburg, Va.—"Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been my family tonic and builder for several years. I consider it the most reliable tonic on the market, and I keep it in my home all the time ready for use. The 'Pleasant Pellets' find most satisfactory also when any of my family complains of sluggish liver and constipation. I have also taken the 'Favorite Prescription' during motherhood and my health was perfect all the while. I can truthfully say that 'Favorite Prescription' lessens one's suffering, and it is always a pleasure to me to recommend the 'Prescription' to expectant mothers, as well as Dr. Pierce's other remedies, to those who need such medicines."—Mrs. I. H. Hamilton, 916 Hinton St.

Blood-Diseases

Alexandria, Va.—"Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has done wonders for members of my family. When my daughter was about two years old she broke out on her arms with eczema; the doctor called it 'baby eczema.' They were a mass of sores and when the bandages were removed would bleed. I had medicine from the doctor but it did not help her. He said she would have it every year, especially in springtime. At last I began giving her the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and one bottle completely cured her and she has never had any return or sign of it since. I have also given it in cases of bronchitis and it was always very quick in giving relief.—Mrs. J. W. King, 1207 Prince St.
