We sent quite a number of subscsiption bills to our subscribers last week, and we hope to hear from them soon. This money is due us, and while it would not be much to the subscriber it would mean a great deal to us. So pay up, and start 1920 by being square with the printer.

Health conditions at Sudlersville have sufficiently improved as to enable the county health officer to lift the ban occasionally by the recent outbreak of flu. The order restoring normal business conditions was issued last Tuesday, March 16th, and the public schools were opened the following day. Church service has also been resumed.

"Pals First" will be shown at Parker's theatre to-morrow evening for the benefit of the high school baseball team. The admission will be 25 cents.

Every good day from now until the blosoms are out, if necessary, should be utilized in pruning fruit trees. Demonstrations have shown that the thinning out of surplus twigs and small branches will both increase the quantity and improve the quality of the fruit borne.

Fire of an unknown origin completely destroyed the basket storage house of A. B. Creadick, at Harrington, on Monday afternoon, March 15th, causing a loss of $20,000. The adjoining saw mill, lumber mill and ten nearby dwellings were saved through the efforts of the Harrington firemen.

Mr. John Webster died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Daniel LeCompete, of Secretary, on February 4th. He was about 79 years of age and had been in feeble health for some time. He is survived by his daughter and two sisters, Mrs. W. C. Wright and Mrs. Ella Charles, both of Hurlock.

Col. Oswald Tilghman celebrated quietly his 79th birthday Sunday, March 14th. He says he is feeling fine and certainly looks the picture of health. Charles Seymour, another old citizen, has reached his 80th year, his birthday also falling on that date. Those two veterans, on opposite sides during the civil war, have been lifelong residents of Talbot.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. C. Hegeman, of Salisbury, Md., were visitors in Denton on Thursday last. They are old and good friends of ours, the writer having known them quite a long time. Mr. H. is one of the best newspaper men on the Shore. He and his better half pronounced Denton one of the cleanest towns in the State. They may locate here in the near future. We hope so.

Apprehension, which is constantly growing, is felt at Ocean City over the continued widening and deepening of the inlet connecting the ocean and Sinnepuxent bay. This canal was started by the February storm, which caused such havoc there. At the start it was 8 feet deep and 50 yards wide. By erosion the inlet is now 20 feet deep and is nearly 300 yards wide. The erosion continues unchecked.

When fair weather finally comes Caroline county farmers will be unusually busy, for they have been long shut in. Much of the work usually done this time of the year has been neglected. But the labor problem is acute with farmers. High wages and the allurements of the city life have drawn from the country more men and women than it is either safe or desirable should have abanded rural homes:

Rev. Henry Davis, rector of Christ P. E. Church, Easton, who last year was granted a two months leave of absence to give him an opportunity to visit his old home in England, but who, owing to the World War. was prevented from going, expects to sail from New York for England the early part of May on board the steamshiy Saxonia. He will be accompanied by his wife and little daughter, Alice.

Yellott, Chairman of the Maryland Automobile Club, and others interested in the subject asking them to hold a conference in order that they may agree upon legislation by which the question of the use of the improved state roads by heavy tractors and threshing machines with cleated wheels may be regulated. Church, Easton, will retire from active ministerial work after the meeting of the annual conference of that domination in Washington next week and will return to his country home in Virginia. This action by him was caused by his having been in poor health.

For being disorderly on the W. B. & A. car between Camp Parole and Annapolis, and for using profanity, Herinman Spriggs, was arrested Saturday night upon the complaint of the conductor, by Officer Fine. Spriggs got on the car at Parole, and acted in a disorderly manner between that point and Annapolis. He had a hearing before Justice Welch, was found gullty, fine and costs amounting to $6.75, which he paid and was dismissed.

A well known sportsman says as far as he could ascertain, the birds and rabbits have survived the hard winter and indications are that there would be the usual amount of game when the season opens next fall. The present winter has been an exceedingly hard one and the writer was fearful lest game had suffered to a great extent. He says, while it is true some game died of exposure, the large majority survived the frigid weather.

Mr. Geo. Jefferson, who is in charge of the Ice Co. at Federalsburg, has been making some important changes in the plant. Instead of steam which has been used in the manufacture of ice, electricity has been installed. They are now able to make cakes of ice which weigh 300 pounds. Raw water will now be used in the manufacture of ice and in many minor details the plant has been brought up-to-date, and they will be able to give even better service than in the past.

Fred Bennett and his brother, John Bennett, Jr., have had remarkable suceess in catching muskrats during the present winter season. Since the trapping seaon started they have caught on their marsh of about 100 acres over 1000 muskrats. The hides of these animals have been selling at prices ranging between threee and four dollars each. According to the Bennett brothers their marsh apparently has as many rats on it now as when they started trapping in the winter.

The standing committee of the Diocese of Easton have decided to call a special convention for the election of a Bishop of the Diocese. The date set is the third Tuesday in April and the convention will be in Trinity Cathedral. Pressing needs, both spiritual and legal, make it necessary to call the convention at this time. It could not be at an earlier date due to the fact that the lay representatives of the parishes in the diocese are not elected until Easter Monday.

Several schooleouses will be offered for sale shortly by the School Board of Talbot county. Various sections of the county have expressed a desire to have rural schools consolidate into one big school, thus increasing the efficiency of the courses. There is a growing sentiment for further consolidation of schools, and it has been figured by the authorities that eventually the county can get along with 15 white schools in place of the 48 now standing. Of these only 41 are in use.

There was no long receiving line Tuesday evening, March 16th, at the large reception given by Governor Ritchie at the Government House to meet the members of the General Assembly. Guests were announced by the butler, and in the receiving party included the Governor, his mother, and the following other ladies: Mrs. Henry L Cabell, of Richmond, Va; Mrs E. Brooke Lee, wife of Major Lee, the State Comptroller; Mrs. A G. McIntosh, of Baltimore, and Mrs. Frank Mish.

Those persons who are accustomed to enjoying a fine shad dinner in the early spring will be sorry to learn that shad fishermen are predicting a late season for the succulent Chesapeake shad this year, because almost continuous winter weather and so much ice which must yet come from the upper stretches of the river are keeping the water unusually cold, with the result that shad, which are now basking in southern waters, are not expected to venture this far north until more moderate temperatures prevail.

Mr. A. Fletcher Sisk, county chairman of the Near East Relief campaign, has about completed the organization for the several districts of the county. Organiza tion in the following districts is already effected: Second. A. O. Smith, chairman; Third Mrs. Fred R. Owens; Fourth, H. B. Wright; Fifth, T. H. Chambers; Seventh, T. W. Jones. The county-wide campaign began on Monday last, and when the solicitor calls on you remember the coudition of the starving Armenians, and respond as your conscience dictates.

The annual meeting of the Annapolis and Anne Arundel County Chapter of the American Red Cross was held Wednesday afternoon, March 14, in the Red Cross rooms and resulted in the election of the following officers for the ensuing year:

Chairman—Ridgely P. Melvin.

Vice-Chairman—Mrs. Jos. R. Morrison.

Secretary—Eugene W. Iglehart.

Treasurer—Charles F. Lee.

The reports of the various officers were submitted, covering the different branches of the work. The reports are published elswhere.

In view of the troubles and disappointments of last year our farmers, common with farmers of many other sections, approach the work season with anxiety. A correspondent of the Philadelphia record, after discussing the very serious problems raised by the exodus from the country to the cities and the growing disinclination of Americans to take up farm life, offered the suggestion that the immigration law should be so amended as to compel all working foreigners coming to our shore to spend the first three years in America on a farm.

In general, the proper time to prune peach tree is during the dorman period, preferably in late winter or early spring before growth starts, except in regions where bleeding from wounds is likely to occur. In such regions it should probably be done in early winter. But conditions and the object of the pruning must be considered in each case. The fruit growers on new wood, and therefore after a tree has arrived at a bearing age it is important that it be trimmed so that as much new wood as possible will grow each year.

At Havre de Grace M. E. Church Wednesday March 17th, at 7.30 o'clock, Miss Muriel Ramsdell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Ramsdell, formerly of Denton, was married to Sergeant Reuben Charles Tell of Minneapolis, Minn., a member of 258th Aero Squadron, who is now stationed at the Aberdeen Proving Ground. Rev. H. D. Stewart, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony. Only the family and a few members of the squadron were present. The attendants were Miss Myra Ramsdell, a sister of the bride, and Sergent J. L. McKinsey, of Chicago. The bride wore a midnight blue travliug suite of trictotine and carried violets. A wedding breakfast followed the cermoney, the couple leaving thereafter for an automobile trip to Long Branch, N.J. to visit the bride's brother. Girl friends gave the bride a miscellaneous shower on Tuesday evening. Sergeant and Mrs. Tell will reside at 603 Green street, Havre de Grace, until his discharge in June.

Lowden Puts Through Illinois Waterway

One of the great achievements of Gov. Frank O. Lowden's administration in Illinois was the putting through of the Illinois waterways project which will cost $20,000,000 and provide water connection between the great lakes and the Mississippi River. The project has been discussed for more than twenty years and several previous state administrations have struggled in vain with this important problem. It remained for Governor Lowden to carry the great improvment through to success.

The last bar to the project was removed January 16, with the insuance of a permit by the secretary of war authorizing the state to proceed at once with the improvement. The beginning of actual construct-work is now but a matter of a few months and completion of the water link at last becomes a visible goal. Tremendous benefits will be realized by all classes of business interests in the Mississippi valley as the result of the opening of the water route.

For Release Upon Receipt

With full relization of its importance, the National Educational Association has turned over to the individual leaders in education of America the problem of instruction of thrift and savings in the schools. tA the recent meeting of the Department of Superintendence of the Association at Cleveland, a resolution was adopted which read: "Resolved that this Department recognize the importance of special emphasis of instruction in Thrift."

This section is along the lines recommended by the Savings Division of the Treasury Department, sponsor of the movement to make thrift, savings and safe investment a national habit in America. The Savings Division has deemed it wise not to fix an arbitrary method by which thrift should be brought home to the school children of the country, but has left the installation and selection of the machinery for changing the coming generations from "economic illiterates into financial independents" entirely in the hands of the leaders of American school thought.

"Man Without a Country"

You remember the story of "A Man Without a Country." Convicted of complicity with Aaron Burr in his projected rebellion, Phillip Nolan invoked a curse upon his country and exclaimed, "I wish I may never hear of the United States again!" Old Col. Morgan, who was holding the Court, was shocked and horrified. He called the Court into his private room and returned in fifteen minutes, —his face white as a ghost,—to say: "Prisoner, hear the sentence of the Court. The Court decides, subject to the approval of the President, that you never hear the name of the United States again." On the ship to which he was committed and to those to which he was transferred through a period of fifty-five years, no one was permitted to mention the name of his country to him or in his country to his presence. He never set foot again upon American soil, and when visitors came on board they were carefully instructed not to mention the name. Before the newspapers were handed him all references to the United States were cut out,—only the ghasty slashes were left to tell the story. Through all those years of drifting from sea to sea that process went on—the wish so thoughtlessly uttered raining its awful fullfiment upon his head,—never, never, never the music of that name upon his ears; never the glory of that name, United States, before his eye! But when the end came he exclaimed to the watcher at his bedside: "I know that I am dying. I cannot get home. Surely you will tell me something now! Stop, Stop! Do not speak till I say what I am sure you know, that there is not in this ship, there is not in America,—God bless her,—a more loyal man than I. There cannot be a man who loves the old flag as I do or prays for it as I do or hopes for it as I do!" He was a man without a country. God Grant that such fate may never be ours! Let us love and cherish and protect our country. Let us correct the mistakes and guide in the true development. Let us, today, think of America First,—of what America means, and of our loyalty and duty to America!
