Buying Liberties For Keeps

The whole list of Liberty bonds may now be bought way in War Savings Stamps. The stamps were bought below par with a view of having them paid at par at maturity. So now the Libety bonds may be bought far below par and if they are held to maturity the holder will get one hundred cents on the dollar. Take the Fourth Liberty 4¼s which are selling below 84. An invesment of say $840 now will in 1938 bring a payment of $1.000 and in addition the bond will pay annually $42 50 as interest and if this interest is deposited when the cupons are clipped so that it will be compounded there will be another $1.000 accumulated by the time the Liberty bond matures Some parents are making an invesment of this kind for very young children so that by the time they reach the age of 21 years they will have $2,000 of capital availablel which grew out of an investment of $840 by the parents. If the heads of 22,000,000 families in the United States would adopt this course the question of the public absorbing the funded debt would be solved. –Frank D. McLain, financial editor in the Philadelphia press.

BIG NEW YORK AUTHOR PRAISES TELEPHONE GIRLS' BRAVERY

Maryland Telephone Operator Wearing Her "Head Set"

"I was asked a few days ago about the temperament of telephone operators," says Sherman Rogers, author and editor, "and I answered the query by saying that I had married an exchange girl, and that after two years of married life I had never seen her flustered in the slightest degree. I couldn't give them any better recommendation than by vigorously asserting that if I had to do it over again I would certainly pick a telephone operator for my better half."

Mr. Rogers would find more than eighteen hundred young women employed as telephone operators in the state of Maryland, a wide choice from which to pick a wife if he cared to do so again.

The matter of temperament is one which the Chesapeake and Potomac telephone company studies carefully The training of the telephone operator is one which subjects mind and body to beneficial discipline; and long years of experience has proven that the young women of the switchboard are equal to any emergency. Clippings from newspapers all over the country show that when telephone girls are called upon to face emergencies they show heroism easily comparable with that quality of bravery for which governments confer special decorations and "crosses" in war time.

Telephone girls have been the means of saving thousands of lives and millions of dollars in property in time of flood, fire and other disaster. Operatives in factories have been warned of fire; dwellers in valleys have been called up by the hundreds, to learn that a dam has broken. In hotel fires, telephone girls have stuck through to the end calling up each guest to avert a holocaust.

It takes about one year to produce a thoroughly efficient telephone operator. Painstaking schooling is a part of the preliminary work. Any telephone official or operator can vouch for the statement that a large part of the training is in teaching the beginner to be efficient, and above all to keep her temper in spite of the thoughtless criticism which is sometimes levelled at her from the other end of the line.

Taxpayers Meeting

A meeting of sereral hundred taxpayers of the county was held in the Court house, Denton, Tuesday of last week for the purpose of considering an initial Budget which the Board of Education had prepared looking forward to the various expenditures for school purposes the coming year.

The Budget contained and estimate of $8000 on account of fuel—the increase of $1000 being due to the higher cost of coal and wood.

The sum or $6000 was outlined for repairs to buildings and equipment, including the painting and putting in order of many of out rural schools.

An additional amount was asked for janitors wages in order that some provision might be made for a person to tend to the fires and sweep the rooms in the rural schools as is done in the town schools.

Owing to the new school law requiring salaries of teachers to be increased, $90000 was asked for salaries for white teachers and $11000 for colored teachers.

Of the amount lined for teachers salaries the State will really make a provision for about $45000.

The above items together with the remainder of the Budget to be presented, $40000 more than last year—a part of which will come from the State.

The meeting was a very enthusiastic one, several heavy taxpayers making the point that none of the items were too great, while some of them were too small.

The following resolution was presented and adopted by the persons present: We, the assembled taxpayers and patrons of the public schools of Caroline County, after a discussion based on the several items of school Budget as presented by the School Board of this County, do hereby record ouaselves as being in sympathy and agreement with the same, and respectfully ask that the County Commissioners of Caroline Count make a levy for schools as presented in the Budget.

The outlook for a record crop of peas is good in Caroline county. This is the best money crop grown here when the season is right. Strawberry growers have already started shipping the fruit and the prices are good.

L. B. Towers & Bros., have decided to advance the contract price of tomatoes for the coming season to $30 per ton or 50 cents per basket. It is understood that all tomatoes contracted for are to be first-class in every respect.

WOMEN TAKING TO MONOCLE

Single Eyeglass Rapidly Becoming Popular Among the Smart Set in English Society.

Two fashionably dressed women were seen in Regent street the other day, each wearing a monocle screwed into the right eye. According to a member of a well-known firm of opticians the wearing of the single eyeglass is becoming popular among women in society.

"We have had several orders for monocles from women recently," he said. "In every case there was genuine trouble with one eye only. Rather than wear pince-nez fitted with one plain glass for the good eye, they preferred monocles as being the least disfigurement. They all chose those fitted with gold rims as being the most comfortable and the easiest to keep in the eye. They take cords also, for it requires the confidence born of long experience to wear a monocle without a guard.

"After all, why should the monocle be a masculine glass only? It is a mistake for some people to regard it as only a facial decoration for dudes and politicians. Where only one eye is defective a superfluous glass is a nuisance.

The monocle lends distinction to the right kind of face. It best suits people with sharpeut features. It is about time that the monocle came into its own."—London Globe.

DRAW MILLIONS FROM LAND

Immense Wealth Accruing to Fortunate Property Owners in the City of London, England.

The most elaborate and the largest map in the world is the "valuation" map of the city of London, which was some twenty years in the making, and which is more than thirty feet wide and twenty feet from top to bottom. The map is of the metropolitan district of London, embracing an area of 115 square miles, and every house, shop and piece of property in that area is shown. Nearly 40.000 separate estates are listed.

Some curious and interesting facts about London landlords are shown by the great map. The wealthiest estate is that of the duke of Westminster. 400 acres, with a rent roll of $15,000,-000 per year. This is not by any means the largest estate in London, however, though its location makes it the most valuable. In South London is one estate which covers four square miles, and there are several exceeding two square miles. Lord Howard de Walden's estate brings in rents to the amount of $10,000,000 per annum, and the 250 acres belonging to the duke of Bedford rent for $10,500,000 per year. Lord Northampton, the duke of Norfolk; Lord Portman and Earl Cadogan each own around 200 acres of city property, and their rents run from about $5,000,000 to $8,000,000 per year each. Not a bad idea to let a city like London grow up around one's farm.

Another Slap at "Mere Man."

"Marriage is a desperate thing," said John Selden way back in the sixteenth century, and now it looks as if we of the twentieth century were doing our bit to make it still more desperate. A begowned dignitary over in Newark has decided (and unfortunately his decisions have legal weight) that the lesser portion of the marriage contract has no right to compensation for work performed in odd jobs around the house on his wife's property, such as carpentering and painting the fence, or washing the dishes, or getting up to warm the baby's milk when it begins to squall at 3 a. m.

These things must be done free. He ought to be glad to do them. And if the wife isn't able to persuade him of this the court will undertake to assist her.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Best of Reasons.

The cartoonist who, the other day, pictured "Wonder What a Prince Thinks About?" probably wasn't far wrong when he showed his subject rather bored with what he had to go through. Apropos, the story is told of a young prince of the Orient making many friends on the steamer which bore him to England, so that at the conclusion of the voyage these friends arranged a dinner in his honor in London. It was a smart affair and a fashionable company, but the prince did not put in an appearance.

The following morning the chairman of the committee asked him why he hadn't shown up. "I wasn't hungry," the prince answered simply and calmly.—Boston Transcript.

New Floor Machine.

Interchangeable brushes and pads supplied with a light-weight scrubbing machine for household use, make it possible to convert the device into a hardwood-floor polisher within a few seconds. As described and pictured in Popular Mechanics Magazine, the attachments are rotated by a motor, which is mounted on two rubber-tired wheels.

The Kind.

"I see where music has been recommended as medical treatment to the doctors."

"But suppose one were called to cure a brainstorm?"

"He might try a jazz band."

Very Acceptable Just Now.

"Pa, what is elastic currency?"

"The kind that would come in very handy just now to stretch over the holiday season."

Many O'Briens.

A soldier named John J. O'Brien, writing to the war risk bureau about his insurance, failed to give his serial number or policy number, but said the papers would be easy to identify as his wife's name was Mary A. O'Brien. A search through the bureau files disclosed the names of 175 John J. O'Briens, and each of an even 50 of them had a wife named Mary A. O'Brien.

MUCH LIKE WESTERN CITY

Tiflis, Capital of New Georgian Republic, by No Means Typical of the East.

Mr. Melville Chater, recording impressions in the National Geographic Magazine, admits that he was surprised when he arrived in Tiflis, capital of the new Georgian republic. He had expected a city more suggestive of the East, as the Western mind pictures it; but the Golovinsky prospekt, the main thoroughfare through the heart of the city, stretched before him, "as handsome a bit of modern metropolitanism as can be found anywhere," and its restaurants, shops, opera, and what used to be the viceregal palace but which now flies the standard of the new nation, suggested at once the French adjective "chic." More than that, this new capital was brilliant with uniforms, Russian, Georgian, Armenian, British, and most picturesque of all, the Caucasian costume, with its broad-shouldered, wash-waisted coat, high, heelless boots, and astrakhan cap. One marveled at the load of weapons that completed it; a sword rattling and clanking with the wearer's martial stride, a brace of pistols, a pair of daggers, and a collection of what looked like enormous fountain pens hung across the Caucasian bosom, but which turned out to be hollow tubes intended to be loaded with powder and shot. One must add stiff mustaches and a close-shaven skull to picture this Georgian in all his glory on the Golovinsky prospekt of his national capital. Clothing for civilians is scarce and expensive in Tiflis, but the cast-off uniforms of military officers are for sale, and many a citizen in need of a new suit had bought himself an old uniform.

ARE RETURNING TO FARMS

Not Many of Uncle Sam's Fighters Have Succumbed to the Lure of the City.

Of America's mighty war forces of more than 4,500,000 men, 1,200,000, it is estimated, came from farms. Records in the bureau of war-risk insurance in Washington indicate that these farm-bred or farm-raised boys carried government life insurance amounting to over $10,000,000,000.

During the earlier demobilization it was so difficult to keep track of the discharged service men that it seemed as though a very large proportion of them did not return to their former addresses or homes. So many of the service men who had come from the farms seemed to be listening to the call of the city that it was feared more than one-half of them were not going back to the farms. Later the tide of migration set in toward the country, and now it is believed that the loss in man power to the farms, as the result of former service men settling elsewhere, may not be more than 500,000.

Dead Towns Awaken.

Dead towns of the West are coming to life as a result of the silver boom. There were towns in Colorado and Nevada and Arizona, which, under the influence of silver in those days after the Civil war, burst into wild, rich life that has no parallel in history.

Clouds of dust are rising along the trails that lead across sagebrush plains. The mining engineer, present-day successor of the prospector and his burro, is astir in the silver country.

They are going back to the old shafts that yielded wealth when silver was above a dollar. With the advance in mining processes in the last four decades the chances of profits are many times multiplied.

Keeps Windows Free From Frost.

In these days, when Jack Frost is busy drawing pictures on the windows, many beautiful works appear over night, but when he completely covers the glass, he is not so welcome. The Russians have a very effective way of preventing the obscuring of the windows by frost. In Russia the walls of the buildings are very thick, and double windows are fitted to the houses, set about 18 inches apart. The window sill between the outer and inner windows is decorated with bright green moss, and hidden there is a dish filled with calcium chloride, which absorbs all the moisture and thus effectually prevents the formation of ice during the long, cold winter.

Varying Colors of Diamonds.

Each of the five mines owned and worked by the great De Beers company in the Kimberley district produces diamonds with well-marked characteristics. The rich Kimberley mine yields a good percentage of white and many yellow stones. Dutoitspan mine is famed for its large yellow diamonds. At Bultfontein small white and spotted stones are common. From the Wesselton mine come many beautiful deep orange colored diamonds, while the De Beers mine shows a good percentage of tinted yellow and brown stones. The Premier mine (Transvaal) yields a large number of "off-colored" stones. The Cullinan diamond was of exceptional purity From the Jagersfontein mine in the Orange Free State the famous bluish white stones are derived. The diamonds found in German Southwest Africa are small and yellowish in color

Win Fight on Yellow Fever.

In 1916 the Rockefeller foundation sent a sanitary commission to Ecuador for the purpose of arranging with the Ecuadorian government to take the responsibility of eradicating yellow fever from Guayaquil. The proposal was accepted June 10, 1918, when a celebrated bacteriologist arrived and began his work. He succeeded in discovering the germ which causes yellow fever, his investigations promising to produce not only a preventive, but also a cure for this malady.

Farming Fish.

The International Association of Game, Fish and Conservationist Commissioners, at their recent convention in Louisville, pledged themselves to use every influence possible toward stimulation of a nation-wide movement looking to the construction of fish ponds upon farms in which desirable species of game and food fishes, especially the basses and the sunfishes, can be propagated for recreation and for food, at a comparatively small expense when contrasted with the vast benefits which will result therefrom.

Fifty-Nine Degrees Below Zero.

Fifty-nine degrees below zero was registered in some parts of the Adirondacks last winter around the first of the year, according to weather bureau statistics. Better (or worse) than that was done by Jack Frost in Sweden, where the temperature registered 70.6 below zero. And in some parts of Alaska thermometers are absolutely useless, the best of them freezing up and refusing to tell how cold it is. In the dead of winter, in the interior of Alaska, pure alcohol freezes into solid blocks of ice, as does kerosene.—Exchange.
