WHEN PEP PETERS OUT.

My dog was dead, my note was due.
My wife had gone to mother.
Life seemed to me just one dam thing,
The last one worse than 'tother.

My car broke down, my gas gave out,
The darn thing had a cough.
I broke my arm and skinned my knee,
In trying to start her off.

My nerve was gone, my folks were sick,
I couldn't get no booze.
Luck played on me some low down tricks,
In crap games I would lose.

But all at once a chap came by,
With stuff you call GASTINE.
I bought a box for old tin Liz,
She ran just like a Queen.

My wife came back, the note was paid,
The Doctor fetched in twins.
I won at craps, I felt so good,
I had the silly grins.

Boys take this tip, I give it free,
This GASTINE stuff is fine.
It saves your temper, time and coin,
Go buy a box like mine.

PLAYED FEW "SAFETY SHOTS"

Men Who Have Won Success in Life's Game Satisfied With Nothing but Victory.

Walter Hagen, the golfer, says: "Never play for a safety, but always try for the cup."

Kings in other trades as well as in golf have found that it pays to "try for the cup," remarks "Girard" in the Philadelphia Press.

Safety shots are often careless shots in business as in play.

Rockefeller played six hole out in the oil world and he made a par and then some.

Morgan hammered the ball straight for the flag and it flew above every bunker and sand pit in the financial world.

Col. "Tom" Scott had no safety shots in his bag when dreaming out the Pennsylvania road system, nor did Franklin B. Gowen when he made his master stroke in buying the Reading's coal lands.

Theodore N. Vail, the telephone giant, never minced his game nor resorted to a half shot to save his face. He went out with the long stroke and came home to the final shot with a record card to his credit.

The big-league teams play to win the game, not to win a compromise or tie the other team.

The great merchant nails his flag to the mast, says "damn the torpedoes," and shoots straight at his target.

So in business as on the links the adage should be: "Hold your head still and play for the cup."

PICK EMPLOYEES WITH CARE

Modern Business Men No Longer Rely on the "Hit-or-Miss" Method of Selection.

There was a time when picking employees was a hit-and-miss job, a trial-and-error matter which few employers believed could be corrected. This is the day of doing things right and the modern employer is now selecting his associates, from the office boy to the man highest up, with as much care as he would launch on an entirely new business venture. William Marvin Jackson, director of the Personnel Development service, writes:

"If employees are carefully selected, with an eye to their real adaptability and fitness for the work to be done, it goes without question that they are much more likely to take an interest in their work, and hence, the business itself. If they are interested, they will get along well with their fellows and co-operate with their superiors. All of which means that they will grow, and there is no satisfaction for the employee greater than that which accompanies the knowledge that he is getting somewhere. Patting him on the back may make him feel good, and paying him a good salary may make him work harder. But giving him a new job and bigger job will alone make him supremely happy, will alone make him work with complete abandon, with thorough-going enthusiasm."—Forbes Magazine.

No Doubt Who Was Boss.

Sometimes it is easy to see, even before a couple is married, just which one is going to be the boss of the household. Recently a big, robust woman stepped into the office of Register of Deeds Adler Johnson. "Is this where I get a license?" she asked.

"What kind of a license?" asked Adler.

"A marriage license," said the woman.

"No, we don't handle them," said Adler. "Go to the first door down the hall on your right."

"I knew at first that this wasn't the place," said the big woman, with an air of disgust; "that's what I told him." Thereupon she stepped into the hall, and when the door opened Adler could see a little man waiting outside.

It was evident that the woman had usurped command and was going to take charge of the marriage license business, not to mention, of course, the honeymoon and all the rest of the alliance.—Fort Scott (Kan.) Tribune.

Australian Rabbits Selling Fast.

Rabbits have been doing great damage in the grazing districts of Australia, and strenuous efforts to eradicate them has resulted in the killing of a vast number of these animals. Some 100,000 bodies are now in cold storage awaiting shipment to England. The embargo on the export of rabbit skins was removed in December last, and the boom in rabbit skin prices has produced remarkable competition in slaughtering the pest. The ruling average price paid to trappers for skins is now $1.82 per pound, and the demand for skins by the United States and European markets is so great that it cannot be satisfied, and it is thought that prices will go still higher. Experienced trappers are making up to $97 per week for the skins alone.

Wanted a Quantity.

Helen's mother came from a large family and Helen loved to visit her grandma's house, as there were always so many young uncles and aunts to play with. One day, after returning from one of her visits, Helen was taken to the bedroom and was shown a tiny new baby sister. Helen did not seem to be at all enthusiastic, and her father, surprised at her lack of interest, asked:

"Well, what do you think of your new baby sister?"

Helen replied: "Hm! Only one? Why didn't you get a real many, like grandma has?"

Sat Down Hard, Too.

The Englishman—The sun never sets on British territory.

The American—No; but the Goddess of Columbia did it twice, though.

Had No Voice

First Vocal Teacher—Are you cultivating Miss Gotrox's voice?

Second Vocal Teacher—No; her imagination.

Too Much.

De Sapp—Do you think that Miss Clever was having fun with me?

De Soft—Well, old chap, give me the details.

De Sapp—You see, I had my bull terrier with me. And I said to her, "That dog knows as much as I do." And she said, "Don't you think $4.50 was too much to pay for him?"

Between Actors.

First Actor—I had a quarrel with the manager this morning and threatened to leave the company.

Second Actor—Wasn't there any one to take your part?

First Actor—Yes, my understudy. That is why I didn't leave.

She'd Be Ill.

"What is the meaning of the verb 'to purchase'?"

"Don't know, ma'am."

"Well, now, if your papa gave your mamma $50 to buy a new hat and dress what would she do?"

"Send me after the doctor, ma'am."

Great Idea.

Ernest—I've got a splendid system for preventing these numerous fatal accidents caused by deer hunters shooting each other.

Edith—What is it?

Ernest—Let only one man hunt at a time.

Pure Fiction Mostly.

"I see Sellem, the traveling salesman, has written a novel."

"I didn't know he had imagination enough for that!"

"Tut-tut. He's been making out expense accounts for 15 years."

Other People's Money.

"I knew that man when he didn't have a dollar he could call his own."

"Yes. He has gotten more nerve about calling things his own than he used to have."

His Rival.

Friend—You have been engaged for the last two years, and can well afford to marry. Why don't you do it?

Mr. Kissem (gloomily): I am waiting for her pet dog to die.

SHE WAS TROUBLED.

Mrs. A.—Are you troubled much in your neighborhood with borrowing.

Mrs. T.—Yes, a good deal. My neighbors never seem to have a thing I want.

Robust.

Cupid is a healthy pet,
As rugged as of old.
He wears no clothes whatever. Yet
He never catches cold.

Far From Divine.

Cholly—I understand your sister plays the piano divinely.

Freddie—Well, not if you can judge by de language de neighbors use when she plays.

A Profitable Benefit.

First Actor—How did your benefit come out, old man?

Second Actor—First rate. After I'd paid the expenses I found I was three laurel wreaths to the good.

Light on a Dark Subject.

Counsel—It was pitch dark, you admit. Then how could you see the prisoner, I would like to know?

Witness—Oh, very easily. Don't you observe that he is lantern-jawed.

Record Was Known.

"I have something I want to say to you alone."

"How can you say it to me alone when you've said it to every girl you know already?"

A Guess.

School Teacher—Tommy, what is the feminine corresponding to the masculine "stag"?

Tommy (whose mother is a society leader)—Afternoon tea, ma'am.

Universal training in good manners for children from six to seventy, would meet with general approval also.

Good Reason.

"Let's get away from this stupid affair. It is enough to bore one to death."

"I'm sorry, but I can't go. I'm the host."

Proof of It.

"Officer, how did you know this man was really drunk?"

"Because, your honor, I saw he was full of alcoholic content."

The Reason.

"I came within an ace of winning the game."

"Then why didn't you?"

"Because the other fellow had the ace."

LOOKING TO SOUTH PACIFIC

White Men Planning Complete Possession of Fertile Islands of That Far-Away Ocean.

With Europe a seething mass of unrest and discontent and uncertainty, your Britisher is looking to the islands of the South Pacific, already owned by the empire, as the next place to go—and to exploit, to use the expression of a lot of people who do not know the meaning of the word. Already corporations are being formed to colonize the islands, and beautiful word pictures of the advantages of a residence upon them are being painted.

The truth is, for some years the white man has been gradually getting a foothold in the region. The delightful pictures which one sees of the natives, gives a little idea of what is really to be seen in the country. They are not the wild, naked people roaming at large, eating each other and the missionaries. Rubber plantations, coconut groves, phosphate mines and other industries are operated by Europeans. And schools and churches are encountered on every hand, with the honk of the horn of the automobile heard in the shade of the palms.

The white man will not reach the end of his road until there is no more country to be settled up, and there are still vast areas to be brought under his domain. In Africa, and upon the islands of the sea, he is setting his foot and clearing up the jungles and conquering the pests and becoming acclimated. But the end is not yet; there is still much to be done, and the chances are that the next few years will see an exodus to these far-away places where a beginning has already been made.—Columbus Dispatch.

MADE HIT WITH RECITATION

Prince's Speech Consisted of Verses From the Koran, but Audience Didn't Know It.

It is interesting to recall that during the recent European tour of Prince Feisal of the new kingdom of Syria, his memory of the Koranic verses stood him in good stead. In London, at a dinner in the Guildhall, the prince, who was the guest of honor, and who knew little French and less English, was called upon to reply to the toast of his health. Beside him sat his friend and mentor, Colonel Lawrence, Oxford professor and oriental scholar, to whom he whispered as he rose to acknowledge the lord mayor's speech. Colonel Lawrence nodded his assent, and the prince addressed his audience in flowing Arabic periods, winning appreciation and applause.

When the guest of honor had resumed his seat, Colonel Lawrence, as his interpreter, rose to express in English the prince's sentiments of gratitude for his reception, and to voice his devotion to the principles of democracy and allied solidarity. It was not until many days had gone by that Colonel Lawrence allowed it to be known among his friends that what the prince had whispered to him was: "I'll recite the verses from the Koran about the cow."

Thus did the diplomatic professor deceive the unwitting ears of his Guildhall friends.—Munsey's Magazine.

Country's Motive Energy.

The gauge of a nation's industrial might is the amount of motive energy which it can command for the manifold fields of production and the essential contributory activities. We have maintained our supremacy in manufactured output very largely because of the vast amount of power which we could call into service, Robert G. Skerrett wrote in the Scientific American. Modern nations expend far more energy than the combined muscular ability of their population and beasts of burden. The margin is covered by the employment of mechanical energy in the form of power. To accomplish the work done annually in the United States, would require the labor of 3,000,000,000 hard-working slaves. The use of power gives to each man, woman and child in this country the service equivalent of thirty servants.

Why Orchids Were Caged.

Visitors to the flower show held recently in the Royal Horticultural hall at Westminster, England, were surprised to find a number of rare orchids confined, like so many wild animals in the zoo, within a heavy wire cage. It was explained that as the flowers represented a new addition to the orchid family, the grower was naturally anxious that his fellow dealers should not share his triumph. Had it not been for the cage, an unscrupulous competitor might have stolen some of the powdery pollen from the blooms, and used it to fertilize plants of his own. Normally adhering to the bodies of visiting insects, the pollen might easily have adhered to the tip of the thief's finger.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Along with religious jazz music we presumably get the rag-time dirge.

Something Learned.

Appearances deceitful are
We've come to understand—
One cannot judge of a cigar
By the gold upon the band.

Its Shade.

"Did you see where some man in Georgia says he can raise green cotton?"

"Oh, I guess that is a highly colored version."

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.
