A Wild, Open-Air Life.

Postmaster General Burleson said at a San Francisco luncheon, apropos of a political dispute:

"Our opponents put up a very warm but very unsatisfactory defense. They remind me of the chorus girl.

"A young divine met in Broadway a chorus girl from his home town. In the course of their conversation the divine said:

"'You like the city best, Lalage, but I love a wild, free, open-air life.'

"'And don't I too?' the chorus girl protested hotly. 'Every evening after the show I get my supper on a roof garden.'"

SOMETHING JOB NEVER DID

Possibly an Experience Like Mr. Brown's Would Have Shattered His Reputation for Patience.

Filled with pride, Mr. and Mrs. Brown started out for a drive in their new motor car. Mrs. Brown was hoping the neighbors were watching, but her husband was too busy steering to hope about anything.

Alack! Before they reached the end of the road the car stopped, and stayed that way with a mule-like persistency. Mr. Brown tried every lever and handle in turn. Then he got down from his seat and began to investigate.

Presently he lay down and crawled underneath the car until only his number nines were left visible. In a few moments the car gave a sudden jolt and then stopped, and a terrible flow of language, more forcible than polite, became audible.

"Oh, John," exclaimed the wife, in horrified tones, "don't swear so! Have patience, like Job did."

"Job," shrieked Mr. Brown, in a stifled voice. "Job would have sworn, too, if he'd been underneath this beastly car with his mustache caught in a cogwheel."

Same Thing.

Franklin D'Olier, the head of the American Legion said at a banquet in Philadelphia:

"Two doughboys were exchanging war memories the other day.

"'I was never much stuck on myself,' said the first doughboy, 'but, all the same, I brought a cross back with me from over there. Did you bring back a cross, Bill?'

"The second doughboy puffed thoughtfully on his pipe.

"'Well,' he said, 'I brought back a French wife.'"

Little boats must keep the shore, large ships may venture more.

Complications.

"What was the trouble with your singing society?"

"It was a fine society," replied Jud Tunkins, "but the singing was hard to regulate. The wealthy and influential members we depended on to keep it going all happened to have poor voices."

Visitor Bound to Notify Big-Game Hunter That He Would Not Accompany Him.

He was a big-game hunter and he had inserted an advertisement in a morning paper asking if any man would accompany him to central Africa to shoot lions, rhinos, hippos, etc., the said companion to bear half the cost of the expedition.

Late that night or, rather, at 2 o'clock the next morning, his household was awakened by a violent ringing of the front-door bell and a man was admitted who, to put it mildly, appeared to have been wining.

"Look here," explained the visitor, "I read your 'vertisement this mornin' and I was bound to come to you."

"Well?" queried the hunter, "it's a bit late to talk business, but will you accompany me?"

"'Company you?" retorted the visitor. "No, shir. I called to tell you I'd shee you hanged first."

"That will be all right, Gladys," replied George, "you can continue wanting it after we are married."

COMFORTABLE MOTOR CAR OUTFIT

Dr. Alan Foster, Mrs. Foster, and the little Fosters, have shown Washington perhaps the most complete and comfy motor car camping outfit which ever toured through the national capital. The Fosters live in Dallas, Tex., and spent three weeks coming to Washington by way of Kansas City, St. Louis and Cincinnati. They expect to reach Yellowstone park by closing time in September via Niagara Falls, Chicago, Portland, Ore., and Los Angeles. Their previous touring experience, which has been extensive, has been in Mexico. Kitchen utensils which telescope into the largest one, a phonograph, two electric fans, an electric light plant, fed by two 8-volt batteries, water and gas tanks, camp stools and folding furniture are some of the things which are packed and unpacked at each stop.

PROPER WAY TO "BREAK IN" CAR

It Should Be Carefully Handled and Lubricated for the First 500 Miles.

GIVE RADIATOR ATTENTION

Examine Storage Battery to See if Properly Charged and Full of Distilled Water—First Learn How to Stop Auto.

When your new car is delivered, remember that all working parts are new, fitted very tightly, and should be handled slowly until the car is run several hundred miles. It is advisable to drive slowly and carefully for the first 500 miles, giving such parts as motor bearings, pistons and various other parts fitted tightly a chance to wear in somewhat. See that your car has been gone over thoroughly for oil and grease; particularly the motor, transmission, rear axle and all grease cups.

Flush Out Radiator.

The radiator should be flushed out and filled with clean water, as sediments of solder or other foreign matter sometimes remain in new radiators and may work into water pump or other working parts, causing damage.

Have the storage battery examined to note that same is properly charged and full enough of distilled water. Often new cars remain in storage before delivery is made, which would cause battery to run low from standing. If battery is used in this weakened condition it often happens the entire battery is ruined.

Don't let the man who is teaching you how to drive your new car go until he has explained carefully all of the necessary functions of its operation and care. The spark lever is mounted on the steering wheel for a purpose. Learn to use it properly. Shifting of gears and the release of the clutch must also be known to operate your car correctly.

Learn How to Stop.

Don't forget to become thoroughly acquainted with the brakes, as it is more important to know how to stop than it is to know how to run.

After you have driven a new car about 200 or 300 miles, it should be gone over and all bolts and nuts tested to see that they are secured and tight. Thereafter your car should have such inspection about every 1,000 miles.

Your new car should not be kept in a barn or stable and exposed to fumes, etc. Remember, while the car is still new the varnish is soft, or still green, and if exposed to such unfavorable conditions will turn dull. Mud should not be allowed to remain on a new car, for a new car will show spots more quickly than an old car.

Road and traffic rules are all-important. Don't fail to post yourself on them. Your dealer will gladly inform you.

One of the most essential points in the proper upkeep of a new car is how to keep it oiled and greased. Study the chart of lubrication, which is furnished with all makes of automobiles, and be sure to follow instructions. This alone will avoid the payment of big repair bills.

USE YOUR OLD INNER TUBES

Those Which Have Passed Usefulness May Be Put to Service by Strengthening New One.

An old inner tube, which has passed its usefulness as such, may still be made to render some service. Slit it open around its inner side and place it over the new tube, in which location it acts as a sort of inner lining and strengthens the new tube.

It May Save Trouble.

Don't fail to examine electric connections, gasoline and oil lines and bolts and nuts occasionally, and see that everything is intact.

Plug Should Not Be Moved.

A spark plug should not be removed or taken apart unless it is giving trouble, or thought to be giving trouble.

Use Best Lubricators.

Use the best grades of oil, graphite and grease.

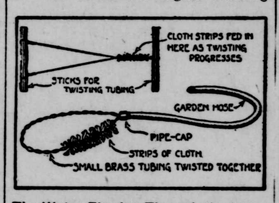

TO MAKE AUTOMOBILE CAR WASHING EASIER

Homemade Brush Will Be Found to Be of Much Help.

Device Screws to End of Hose and Washes Surface of Car With Steady Supply of Water—Good Cleaning Medium.

Here is a homemade brush that will be of much help when washing the car. It screws to the end of the hose, and washes the surface of the automobile with a steady supply of fresh water. This brush consists of two lengths of small copper or brass tubing such as is used for gas installations, a supply of old rags, and a pipe cap to fit the end of the hose.

Tear the rags into strips an inch or so wide. Secure the lengths of tubing to a support as shown and the two other ends to a short stick a few inches apart. Then with the tubing held taut the stick is revolved slowly, twisting the two tubes together, the rags being fed between the tubes as they are twisted so that a quantity of cloth strips is securely held in place. This process is continued until about a 20-inch length of the tubing has been twisted. The ends are then cut off with a file and, after bending into a loop, inserted through a hole drilled in the pipe cap, and soldered there, the ends of the tubing projecting enough to avoid danger of getting filled with solder.

The Water Flowing Through the Holes of the Tubing Into the Rags Makes an Excellent Cleaning Medium.

The brush is completed by drilling very small holes through the tubing alternately every inch or so, so that the water when turned on will be forced out and along the mass of cloth strips.—Popular Science Monthly.

Grease cups should be thoroughly cleaned and kept constantly filled with good grease.

Do not neglect the lubrication of the spring shackles. Rust often clogs up the small vents and keeps out the oil.

It is well to inclose the electric wires at the points where they are held to the iron frame with rubber tubing.

Automobile tires are wrapped in paper by the manufacturer because tire makers know that sunlight and air sap the strength of rubber.

* * *

When oversize tires are to be used, the car owner should be certain that there is enough clearance between all the tires and the nearest parts of the car.

* * *

The fact that 25 per cent of the power of a motorcar is lost by friction makes motorists who know this realize how important it is that a motorcar should be properly lubricated.

Statistics prove that a tire good for an average of 6,000 miles when it leaves the factory will lose approximately 2,000 miles of life by being carried, unprotected, as a spare for one year.

Do not forget in reassembling after a repair to replace all the cotter pins or retaining wires in the crown nuts in the transmission case or differential housing.

Coughing in the carburetor followed by sharp explosions in the muffler indicates a wrong adjustment of the auxiliary air valve.

If there is a constant dripping of gasoline from the carburetor, the float valve mechanism is not operating as it should.

Stock Raising in WESTERN CANADA is as profitable as grain growing. Successes as wonderful as those from growing wheat, oats, barley, and flax have been made in raising Horses, Cattle, Sheep and Hogs. JUST GAVE UP SUFFERED SO Weakness, Pains and Other Troubles Had Discouraged This Arkansas Lady.—She Took Cardui, Found It Helpful. Got Well!

Harrisburg, Ark.—After serious symptoms had become apparent, Mrs. Belle Wilkerson, of Route 1, this place, says she "got worse and worse."

"I wasn't able to stand on my feet and had to go to bed," she explains. The . . . grew worse, and for about three weeks nothing seemed to do me any good. I grew so weak and nervous and could not sleep. I began to have pain in the lower part of my body, and all across my back. There was a great deal of soreness and pain in my left side . . . I just gave up, for I suffered so. I grew discouraged and thought I was not going to get well.

"My head not only ached, but would feel so light and dizzy . . . I decided then I would take Cardui, as I read of how many women it had benefited, and some whose case was like mine. When I began Cardui, just after a few doses, I noticed a change. I slept better at night . . . and felt like I could eat something. I got up and began to do the work in the house and yard, and after three or four bottles of Cardui I was well."

HOLY CITY AS IT IS TODAY

Redeemed but Waiting to Be Clothed in Raiment That Is But Her Just Due.

It is well, as we leave the gentle allurement of flowers in the Garden of Gethsemane and turn toward the city, that our hearts have first been filled with serene joy, writes William D. McCracken in Asia magazine. We regard the fearfully tried city with something of the compassion that the Master felt for it. Seventeen times destroyed—bitterly hated—anxiously sought—how desperate a history since Nebuchadnezzar captured it more than twenty-five centuries ago. And only the othr day, it seems, at Christmas time in 1917, Jerusalem was captured again, this time by its friends, the British, after an agreement with the Turks that the city itself should not be bombarded. There was some fighting on the Mount of Olives, and reconnoitering airplanes dropped a bomb or two in and about the Garden of Gethsemane. But Jerusalem had been captured for the last time, and the last offensive was devoid of evil.

Redeemed today, but in her nakedness, Jerusalem waits to be clothed. She has as yet no grace, no covering for her ugly wounds. Some day her sides will glisten with the brightness of a heavenly radiance; she will be washed and anointed like a bride waiting for the bridegroom.

Hopelessly Out of Fashion.

Despite his shabby clothing and empty pockets, it was evident that he had seen better days.

A sympathetic soul began to chat with him, anxious to hear his story. Over a—er—cup of cocoa he told his tale.

"Yes," he said, "I've been quite a personage in my time; in fact, the cynosure of all eyes."

His auditor waited in silence for an explanation.

"I was the tattooed man in the circus," he went on.

"And how did you lose your job?" he was asked.

"Public went crazy on moving pictures," he said, "and mine wouldn't budge!"

ADMITTED HE WAS LOSER

Convivial Gentleman Preferred to Buy His Wine Rather Than Comply With Wife's Request.

Three men about town had a very good day at the races. Each vowed that he would go home and cheerfully obey the first request that his wife made him. A bottle of wine depended upon the result.

The following night they compared notes.

"My wife told me, as I slipped on the cat's saucer, to break all the china in the house, so I did," said No. 1.

"I happened accidentally to sit on the piano," said No. 2, and my wife suggested that I should utterly ruin it, so that instrument will be heard no more."

Then No. 3 spoke. "I went for the top step that was not there and fell full length," he explained, "and my wife remarked that she would be pleased to see me break my neck."

"And—?" queried his companions, breathlessly.

"Oh, I am paying."
