And for that the Respondents Answer seems at the Latter — End thereof to put the Matter of Dispute to the Judgment of the Court — whether the Respondent be Lyable to pay any part of the Legacy — Libelled for, the Libellants Agree to that Issue without any further Proceedings And Agree to Allow of so much of said Legacy as Can be made Appear to have been paid. Which Issue is Agreed to by the Libellee.

Whereupon the proceedings being read And the Allegations of both parties fully heard and Considered for that it seems to the Judges that the words in the Testator's Will Import that the whole Eight pounds should be paid at Once or such part thereof as the Ex should think the Legatee should have Occasion for according to the Emergency of her Circumstances And not to leave it in the Discretion of the Executor whether he would or would not pay the Legacy at All

Therefore it is Adjudged Ordered and Decreed by their Honours William Holland & Daniel Dulany Esq.rs Judges here this 12th Day of October Anno Domini 1722 that the Respondent pay the Libellants so much of the said Legacy as remains Due at the Rate of Eight pounds Stert. p Annum Amounting to Fifty Six pounds Stert Deducting what he has Already paid with Cost of Suit the Libellants Giving the Respondent if he shall require the same Security for returning a reasonable part of the Legacy to Satisfie the Debts of the Decd.
