MILK AND MEAT AS RIVALS

Rising Prices May Yet Force People to Turn to the Fluid to Sustain Life.

As the price of meat soars upward, many people are forced to be part-time vegetarians. Thus the old question, "Is meat essential to human well-being?" arises again. The committee on food and nutrition of the National Research council has issued an interesting report on the relative value of meat and milk.

Eighteen per cent of the protein and energy of grain used in feeding a cow goes into the milk, and is therefore recovered for human consumption; whereas only three and a half per cent is recovered in beef. As for the mineral elements in hay and grain, not much is stored in the tissues, but a great amount goes into milk.

Beef profiteers, beware! The hard-pressed public may decide to let milk take the place of beefsteak.—Popular Science Monthly.

GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER

A Marvelous Remedy for Indigestion.

Those who suffer from nervous dyspepsia, constipation, indigestion, torpid liver, dizziness, headaches, coming up of food, wind on stomach, palpitation and other indications of disorder in the digestive tract will find Green's August Flower a most effective and efficient assistant in the restoration of nature's functions and a return to health and happiness. There could be no better testimony of the value of this remedy for these troubles than the fact that its use for the last fifty-four years has extended into many thousands of households all over the civilized world and no indication of any failure has been obtained in all that time. Very desirable as a gentle laxative. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

PROVED TRUE TO HER WORD

Fair Autoist Had Said She Would Be Back Promptly, and It Was Even More So.

On one of my first excursions in our new car, writes a correspondent, I stopped at the grocery with my car parked with the back toward the store door. I gave my order and told the clerk that I would be back to get my things in a very few minutes.

As I stepped into the car, my best "beau" came down the street, and anxious to show him how well I could drive, I hurriedly threw into gear. I raced the engine and let the clutch out to get a quick pickup.

It proved to be a wonderful one, as I had thrown into reverse and found myself in the doorway of the grocery store. I had gone over the curbing and all, breaking the window as I bumped into the store.

The grocer hurried out, and when he saw who it was, "Well," he said, "you have proved yourself a woman of your word, but it will cost you the price of a new show window."

Naughty Fido.

Hortense had taken Fido to a party where several other doggies had been invited. Upon returning home mother asked how she had enjoyed the party. "Oh, pretty well," she answered, "but I was dreadfully ashamed of Fido. He kept on barking and barking, and wouldn't give any of the other doggies a chance to say a word!"

ASSERTS HYPO-COD IS BEST TONIC ON MARKET

Famous Analytical and Consulting Chemist Makes Statement.

The glowing tribute paid Earle's Hypo-Cod by Professor T. Bernard Tanner, M. Sc., P. D., the famous Philadelphia Analytical and Consulting Chemist, verifies what has previously been said by scores of other well-known experts.

In view of such unqualified indorsements, a copy of Professor Tanner's statement following, it is no wonder that leading druggists are everywhere indorsing and introducing Earle's Hypo-Cod in preference to other tonics.

"During the past several weeks I have had occasion to examine a number of preparations of Cod Liver Oil in various combinations. Among these preparations brought to my attention was Earle's Hypo-Cod and I feel it my duty to add my opinion to that of several of my friends and colleagues with reference to the merits of this tonic.

"In my opinion it is the best balanced Cod Liver Oil preparation on the market today and contains more of the active principles of Cod Liver Oil, deprived of the fatty, nauseating effects, than any other similar preparation. This combined with the quantity of Malt which is present in Hypo-Cod and the combined Hypo-Phosphites of Lime, Soda, Potash, Manganese, Iron, Quinine and Strychnine, make Hypo-Cod an ideal reconstructive tonic and tissue builder.

"The pleasant aromatic taste obtained by the use of Oils, which, in themselves, aid in the preparation being readily assimilated, which is not the case in preparations of Cod Liver Oil having a disagreeable taste.

"I believe you are doing a real service to humanity in manufacturing Earle's Hypo-Cod and congratulate you on developing such a splendid preparation." Signed, T. Bernard Tanner, M. Sc., P. D., Analytical and Consulting Chemist, Philadelphia, Pa.

Home Town Helps

PRAISE YOUR HOME TOWN

Unwise Policy to Let Visitor Go Away With Impression That Citizens Are Dissatisfied.

A well-known Washington writer, who has been traveling around the country, announces as an original discovery that if you want to be taken into the confidence of a city and given a private view of its closeted skeletons all you have to do is to praise it, and the citizen you happen to be talking to will at once point out its unpleasant features. Criticize the city, on the other hand, and every one will at once rise gallantly to its defense.

He illustrates his point by the case of Detroit. One reason, he says, why Detroit attracts so much tourist travel is that it advertises itself so pleasingly, and it really has a charm which is appreciated by none quite so much as by Detroit. The only way you can get anything but enthusiastic eulogy of the place, he says, is by yourself pretending a violent infatuation for it.

The writer in question has discovered nothing new and it is not impossible that he might find Indianapolis also an illustration of his theory, for its citizens are sometimes given to "knocking" when they talk about this city to visitors. They will mention some of its good features, but will offset them by calling attention to the things it does not, but should, possess. The visitor may notice these lacks by himself if left alone, but he may not, and it is poor judgment to bring them to his notice.

The old saying that the best foot should always be put forward is as applicable to a city as to an individual. The mother of a defective child endeavors to draw attention to his merits and away from his defects, and the policy is good as to a town. If fault must be found make it to persons as much interested as yourself in seeing improvement made. Let the stranger go his way with the feeling that the residents like their home city and are happy in it, and that, therefore, it must be a desirable city to dwell in. It is the best possible way to advertise a town and nothing is gained by deprecation of its merits. If a man can not honestly say a good word for the town he lives in he should go elsewhere.—Indianapolis Star.

JOY IN OWNING OWN HOME

Not the Least Factor Is the Ability to Have Things According to One's Own Ideas.

Among the genuine comforts of life is the sense of ownership of the house in which you live. For this reason, I have made it a practice to own my house whether I regarded it as a good investment or not. But it usually has been.

The delight that comes from not having a landlord to contend with, or worry about, cannot be lightly estimated. Perhaps you want things a little different in the house, and everybody has ideas of his own as to lighting, heating and plumbing and 40 other things. How comfortable to be able to go ahead and do with them as you like, instead of having to worry about the loss of whatever you put in, or of being compelled to restore property to the condition in which you found it.—Robert Lincoln O'Brien in Boston Herald.

Piratical Boniface.

Hon. Charles A. Enslow, a well-known Wisconsin lawyer, was recently making a trip from New Orleans to Washington. While in the smoking car of a Southern railway train he was talking about ambition.

"Yes, gentlemen," he said, "real ambition starts in childhood. And if we obey its impulses we not only attain to it, but we actually go far beyond it. Yes, our ambition is gratified beyond our wildest dreams."

"Yes, gentlemen," said a military-looking gentleman who was also a passenger. "I had in my childhood an ambition. I desired to become a pirate."

"Well" said Lawyer Enslow "you are pretty close to it are you not? I believe you are General Amer, manager of a hotel in New Orleans."

Prepared for Rain.

It was sprinkling one morning when I went shopping, so I carried an umbrella. I had to go to the basement of a department store, and when I had finished and had come upstairs I heard considerable tittering around me. Upon looking up I found myself to be the center of attention. Trying to discover the cause, I found I had raised my umbrella when I came up from the basement and was parading through the store perfectly unconscious of the comical spectacle I was making.—Chicago Tribune.

Benefits Under State Law.

Massachusetts has a law framed for the purpose of giving assurance to widows, orphans, and all unmarried persons who hold only $1,000 worth of property or under, whereby these persons are exempted from paying any tax to the state. As a result, a woman in Lowell, a mill operative, unmarried, who has an automobile in which she goes pleasure riding, is exempted from paying any tax on it because she says it is the only property she has, and its value is only $300.—Boston Globe.

Fire Test for Carpets.

An old way of testing carpets to see if it is a true Persian product is in vogue in Persia. A piece of red-hot charcoal is dropped upon it, which leaves a round singed spot. If the carpet is of the first quality the singed wool can be brushed off with the hand without leaving a trace of the burn discernible.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments; corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcels Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.

Owe Their Health To

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—overshadowing indeed is the success of this great medicine. Compared with it, all other medicines for women's ills seem to be experiments

Why is it so successful? Simply because of its sterling worth. For over forty years it has had no equal. Women for two generations have depended upon it with confidence.

Thousands of Their Letters are on our files, which prove these statements to be facts, not mere boasting.

Here Are Two Sample Letters:

Mother and Daughter Helped.

Middleburg, Pa.—"I am glad to state that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did me much good when I was 35 years old. I was run down with female trouble and was not able to do anything, could not walk for a year and could not work. I had treatment from a physician but did not gain. I read in the papers and books about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. The first few bottles gave me relief and I kept on using it until I got better and was able to do my work. The Vegetable Compound also regulated my daughter when she was 15 years old. I can recommend Vegetable Compound as the best medicine I have ever used."—Mrs. W. YERGER, R. 3, Box 21, Middleburg, Pa.

Fall River, Mass. — "Three years ago I gave birth to a little girl and after she was born I did not pick up well. I doctored for two months and my condition remained the same. One day one of your little books was left at my door and my husband suggested that I try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I started it immediately and I felt better and could eat better after the first bottle, and I continued taking it for some time. Last year I gave birth to a baby boy and had a much easier time as I took the Vegetable Compound for four months before baby came. On getting up I had no pains like I had before, and no dizziness, and in two weeks felt about as well as ever."—Mrs. THOMAS WILKINSON, 368 Columbia Street, Fall River, Mass.
