The Emblem of
LIBERTY AND HUMANITY

A "red" representative in England says the soviets cannot be beat, and it is generally conceded that they can't in some respects.

Prices of potatoes and sugar are coming down, but whether Senator Harding or Governor Cox will receive the credit is not clear.

Every time a case of disorderly conduct arises in Europe somebody pessimistically suggests that the trouble will go on and on until it reaches America.

The United States army has given official recognition to singing as a factor in warfare. The most deadly implement in use up to that time had been gas.

There are, strange to say, some men whose only interest in the November election day is centered in the hope that the weather may be fine enough to permit of golf.

If China, as she hints she will, goes into the Anglo-Japan pact, England will be in the very midst of the yellow peril and will surely have to mind her peace and queues.

Room for Much Better Understanding Between Americans and British.

By ROBERT A. GARDNER, Chicago, Amateur Golfer.

The uppermost subject in my mind since my return is the need of a much better understanding between the majority of the people in the two countries. No, I won't say that. Rather I will say a better understanding in each country of the other country. The British and Americans must stand close to one another and I firmly believe that they will. I know that there is a certain class over there that is anti-American, just as we have an anti-British class over here. But from what I saw over there that class is not composed of the thinking people in any sense of the word, nor do I think that they are in control. From the very moment that we set foot on their soil they did everything in their power to make us feel that we were the guests of the nation. Everywhere we went we were entertained and made to feel at home—at Muirfield, St. Andrews and London.

The thing that made the strongest impression on me was their sportsmanship. It is apparent in their every act. Not only on the field of play but in their home life, and they even carry it to their business. The spirit of merciless competition that is everywhere on this side of the Atlantic is totally lacking over there. No matter what it costs them they always play fair. Not just for the sake of playing fair, but because it never seems to occur to them to act otherwise.

All the way through I met with the utmost cordiality and sportsmanship. And it occurred to me that this summer's invasion of our different athletes was doing a whole lot to clear up misconceptions between the two nations. They have created a country-wide interest in both the games and the Americans. I want to say again that I grew to have a very sincere feeling for the Englishman as I saw him in his own country. If I may be permitted, I will fall back on a bit of American slang, and say that I surely found them "regular guys."

Fundamental Difference Between Two Schools Concerning Human Body.

By MRS. H. A. L. FISHER, Wife of British Minister of Education.

Councilor Donald Clark of Tonbridge objected to mixed bathing on esthetic grounds. He did not think that the damsels of Tonbridge looked their best in bathing attire, and he feared lest the oversensitive youths of the city, beholding the maidens damp and disheveled, would, in consequence, abjure matrimony.

No doubt there are many people who only admire the human form when it is furthest removed from nature. But, after all, they do not represent the best or the most prominent view. It is not really on esthetic grounds that opposition to mixed bathing is based. This plea, it is to be feared, is mainly camouflage. The fundamental difference of opinion is between those who believe, no doubt sincerely, that the human body is something which should be concealed and mentioned with adequate reserve, and those who regard it as beautiful and glorious in itself.

Closely, indeed, inseparably, allied to the first of these is the view that makes sex a shameful thing, to be referred to only in whispers, to be kept from the knowledge of the young, a secret and a mystery compounded of allurement, danger, and scurrility. It is because this view of its modifications has so long prevailed that we still have to contend with our annual 40,000 illegitimate children, our young people with lives ruined through ignorance, our children marred before birth by the sins or follies of their parents.

We want them to have beautiful and healthy bodies and to take a wholesome pride in their health and beauty. To that end we want a great extension of facilities for physical training, for games, folk dancing, singing, open-air life, sports, and certainly for swimming—one of the most health-giving of all exercises. The old-fashioned view lingers, but it is passing, and most of us hail with joy this new era, in which young men and young women meet in healthy and open companionship, believing that the right marriages will be encouraged and firm foundations laid for the happiness and prosperity of the race.

Place for Every German of Education and Character Today Is Germany.

By PROF. FRANZ BOAS, Columbia University.

The place for every German today who has education and character is in Germany. The intellectual life of mankind demands that you do not leave your country in the lurch in her hour of need. At home you can work for and with people of like mind with yourself. Here you would meet at present, and in all probability for years to come, with a hostility which makes intellectual work impossible.

There was a time when every university student in Germany was quite willing to devote a year or so of his life to the army. Let him be just as willing at present to devote an equal amount of his time to industry. And in truth you should somehow introduce into your educational system a plan by which productive work such as farming and the trades could be given a place not merely in theory but in practice.

No, don't think of coming to America and don't advise your students to come! Stay in Germany.

MUSIC BIG AID TO MORALE

Engineer in Charge of Construction Work on Big Dam Has Found Idea Pays Well.

Music as an aid to morale is having a successful test among laborers employed on the construction of the million-dollar Barrett dam near San Diego, Cal., according to H. N. Savage, hydraulic engineer in charge of the construction of the dam. A special recreation hall, provided with a player-piano, phonograph, a steel guitar and other instruments, was built by Mr. Savage for the use of the workers.

"It has long been the custom on big projects to have clubs for the higher paid, technical men, but the common laboring class has been left to seek its own pleasure," said Mr. Savage. "But on this job," he continued, "I have looked after the latter class and let the 'higher ups' take care of themselves. It may be a reversal of things, but I am finding it working out in fine shape, for our labor turnover, even though we are located 43 miles from the city, is remarkably small, and I believe that music and the other entertainments which we furnish the men keep them contented on the job."

About 75 per cent of the men on the Barrett dam work are of Mexican origin, although American citizens, and they are very fond of music.

PRETTY ADDITION TO ROOM

Wandering Jew or Some Other Vine in Bowl of Water Is a Splendid Idea.

If you want to keep a large bowl or panful of water near a steam radiator or hot-air register to counteract the excessive dryness of the heat, try filling the bowl with the delicate green vine called Wandering Jew and place it on a table near a steam radiator, renewing the water frequently.

This vine will grow and spread beautifully in water and has the added advantage of not needing daily sun. It will do just as well in a dark corner, if that is where your radiator happens to be, with only an occasional visit to a sunny window, and at the same time it will light up that dark corner wonderfully. A few sprigs of the vine will spread rapidly and luxuriantly and will do away with the useless look that a plain bowlful of water always has. In addition to their decorative value, water bulbs are also a useful means of increasing humidity, but always choose the odorless ones.

Vessel for Submarine Research.

Details of a new submarine intended for ocean research work were given to the members of the Academy of Science by M. Laubeuf, its inventor, says a Paris correspondent of the London Express. Its length is 62 feet, its diameter 7 feet 6 inches, and it has a displacement of 50 tons. It can descend to a depth of 330 feet. Its accumulators and electric motors give it a speed of six knots on the surface and nearly five knots under water. It is equipped with portholes recalling those of the famous Nautilus created by Jules Verne. The inventor claims that the vessel can be used for various operations, such as the location of wrecks, the collection of marine specimens, soundings, the study of ocean currents, or sponge fishing. The cost of construction, which was estimated when the plans were first drawn up in 1907 at $38,000, is now placed at $120,000.

Poor Gondolas.

Business had prospered with Mr. Cashtalks. So much so that his wife found herself established in a large house with grounds—nothing so low as a garden!

One morning Mrs. Cashtalks sent for the gardener, of whom she was very proud.

"I've had a letter this morning from Mr. Cashtalks, John," she informed the man. "He is traveling in Italy, and says that while in Venice he bought two gondolas for the lake, which should arrive this week. So you must go to the store at once and get some food for them and build them a nest or something. I'm sure the poor things will be tired and hungry by the time they get here!"—Houston Post.

Poles Grateful to America.

Polish papers in the United States have recently published a resolution unanimously passed by the Polish diet expressing thanks "for the memory of future generations" to seven American organizations who "in the name of brotherly love have brought relief to the unfortunate without flinching before danger and difficulties." The seven organizations mentioned are the American Red Cross, American Relief Administration, Young Women's Christian association, Young Men's Christian association, Fund for European Children, American Commission for Fighting Typhoid and the Joint Distribution committee.

Perfectly Frank.

Aunt Nellie and her "beau" had taken her tiny niece, Ruth, to the park. They did everything they could to amuse her, even standing by (for almost an hour) the "slide of life," while Ruth made one slide after another. Finally auntie thought she could make a facetious remark. Of course it was intended to amuse the "beau."

"I believe I'll slide down next, Ruthie," she said.

Little Ruth observed her with great concern. Then she said earnestly: "You can't Aunt Nellie, you're too wide."

If Lenine's biggest bank account could be accurately located, his real political sympathies might be accurately ascertained.

Labor, prone to dispute, should ponder over the fact that where there is no work there are no disputes.

It's hard to keep up with a war around such places as Radzymin, Zegrezi, Volynski and Okuniew.
