Luck and Lack

Messages to Seekers of Success

Don't trust to luck. Luck is untrustworthy. Systematic, scientific striving for any goal is far more likely to bring you success than any mere faith in your success.

Just as changing a single letter changes "Luck" to "Lack," so will the reverses of a single day change plenty to want. But you can insure yourself against this by building your success on the habit of saving.

Save and Win

Be well dressed. Make friends. Increase your influence in your community. Enjoy the respect of all your associates.

These things do not come to those who trust to luck for them. Systematic saving will win them for you. Systematic saving will accumulate for you a small fortune that can safely and readily be expanded to a large one.

HUNT TREASURE SHIP

Another Search Started for Sunken Spanish Galleon.

Florida Adventurers Dig Ocean's Bottom for Pirate Ship and Stolen Doubloons.

Miami, Fla.—Another search for treasure-trove—a sunken Spanish galleon laden with stolen doubloons—has begun on the Atlantic coast of Florida, between Deerfield and Boca Ratone.

Romance has lured this time a group of adventurous men of Deerfield and thereabouts to dig in the ocean's bottom for the buccaneers' pirate ship, which tradition says had hauled too close to the treacherous shores when pursued. A syndicate formed for the search has begun operations where the galleon is supposed to have sunk in the sands.

This is only one of the many such adventures off the south Florida coast which in the old days, before the advent of lighthouses, was the scene of many wrecks. Treasure seekers have brought in a few ancient hulls which had been deeply buried in sand, some dating back five or six centuries. But so far no ship thus recovered has yielded anything except ancient wood. One prospector is said to have spent two fortunes near Stuart before quitting the romantic game.

Fulford, 11 miles north of Miami, has been the scene of many searches. Tradition has it that a pirate ship escaped pursuers by sailing up a creek near Fulford where the crew celebrated by getting drunk.

Seminole Indians boarded the vessel and massacred the crew, except one, the story runs, and the escaped pirate succeeded in rescuing the ship's treasure chest filled with gold which he buried near by, making a diagram of the spot. Unable to return, the pirate is said to have given the diagram to a friend.

This has been used by several searching parties, equipped with every kind of a gold finder, but they failed to locate the treasure.

A native, living near by, says the spot is haunted and that even now the ghosts of the pirates howl and groan when one nears it.

He says no one is ever going to get the treasure as the ghosts "carry on something terrible when you get close to it, and there is no telling what they would do if they got their hands on it. Anything might happen in that terrible place."

20 CENTS DAY HAITIAN WAGE

But Many of the Natives Live in Houses Built of Mahogany at That.

Port au Prince.—There is no high labor market in Haiti.

The man working by the day gets one gourde, which is 20 cents, and sometimes a gourde and a half. Cooks are to be had without advertising. Most of them earn $1.50 a week, and in addition get 6 cents a day on which to feed themselves and their flock. You do not have to include carfare in the weekly wage down here.

At some points in the interior wages for cooks are even lower. Many of them live in mahogany houses, at that.

Haiti's population is estimated around 2,500,000. Ninety-seven per cent of these people are classed as illiterate, which may account for the size of the pay envelope.

North Carolina Mule Routed Dairy Invader

A terrific racket in the barn of A. Johnson, a farmer, of near Raleigh, N. C., announced that a milk thief had met his Waterloo at the business end of a farm mule.

Johnson had planted the mule in the stall of a cow which the thief had been milking at night. When the farmer reached the barn, shotgun in hand, he found a battered milk pail, a wrecked milking stool, a hat, a self-satisfied mule, but no thief.

WARNINGS FOR NIGHT TRAFFIC

Philadelphia to Install System of Flashlight Danger Signals at Street Intersections.

Philadelphia.—Flashlight danger signals are to be placed at street intersections in this city as additional safeguards against night accidents, it was announced by the electrical bureau.

Red and green lenses with powerful incandescent lamps inclosed in an iron case and suspended from poles or from extended arms are to be used. The system will be so arranged that the red and green will flash alternately at intervals of a few seconds. They will be placed so that they may be observed from all traffic directions and at considerable distances.

The signals are intended only as a warning to drivers that they are approaching a dangerous intersection.

Public Baths for Dogs in Germany.

Berlin.—Public baths for dogs are a feature of the municipal arrangements at Hamburg, Germany. There are heated cages for drying the dogs after bathing. Many dogs call unattended at regular hours every week, scratch at the door, and have their bath.

Blaming America for European armaments is a hint how far a mind can go once it hits the oblique.

A lady who bought a pair of shoes found a $1,500 diamond brooch in them. Maybe the high prices are to be explained on the assumption that the manufacturers have been lining shoes with jewels.

AND CUPID FLED, SHRIEKING

Truly, as Many Have Averred, Romance Today Has Fallen From Its Once High Estate.

They were young and it was evening, and the moon was shining. And they were young.

He was facing her, silhouetted against the silvery light of the moon. Every line of his stalwart, manly figure stood plainly outlined before her.

He looked into her lovely dark eyes. Their liquid depths fascinated him, enthralled him.

He leaned forward.

"Darling, I love you!" he breathed passionately into her tiny ear.

She gazed at him passively.

"You are beautiful, wonderful, lovely!" he cried, as the moonlight illuminated her classic features.

Her glance rested upon him as he stood out clearly in the pale light.

"Will you marry me, be my wife?" he asked, with bated breath and eyes shining. Hidden fires glowed in their burning depths.

And still her gaze was upon him.

He leaned forward a little farther, waiting for her answer, eagerly, fearfully.

"Will you marry me, precious one?" he asked again, his burning glance upon her scarlet lips.

She opened her mouth to speak. Pearly teeth gleamed in the silvery light.

"Ah! You are going to say 'yes,'" he muttered, passionately, taking hold of her tiny, lily-like hands. "You are going to say something."

He leaned closer, his head outlined clearly against the pale moonlight.

"I was going to say, why don't you wear a rubber band around your head, to train your ears not to stick out?"

(The end of a perfect evening.)—Detroit Free Press.

GREAT ACTRESS KISSED POET

Sarah Bernhardt Made Her Meeting With Longfellow an Event to Be Remembered.

When Sarah Bernhardt came to America in the seventies sculpture was her "side line." As soon as she arrived in Boston she expressed a desire to do the bust of Longfellow, says the Christian Science Monitor. Longfellow, however, though not insensible of the honor, declined. He said that he was about to leave for Portland, Me., and feared that Mme. Bernhardt would have departed before his return. Then, to mitigate the curtness of his refusal, he asked the tragedienne to his home, inviting William Dean Howells and Oliver Wendell Holmes to meet her.

They became very amiable toward one another, and Longfellow, who spoke excellent French, praised Mme. Bernhardt's performance of "Phedre," telling her she surpassed the great Rachel, whom he had seen 50 years earlier. The actress, not to be outdone, told the poet how much she enjoyed reading "Hiawatha," which she pronounced Hee-a-vatere.

Evidently the affair of the sculptured bust did not rankle, for on her departure, as the poet and his other guests were escorting her to her carriage, she turned about suddenly, impulsively threw her arms about Longfellow's neck and, kissed him on the cheek, said: "Vous etes adorable."

Kidnap Chinese From Legation.

Kang-Shih-to, formerly treasurer of the Anfu club, who since the recent downfall of that alleged pro-Japanese organization has been in hiding in the Russian legation and for whose arrest a reward of $10,000 was offered by the Chinese government, has just been the victim of a coup on the part of Chinese servants employed in the legation, according to a dispatch from Peking, China. They entered Kang's bedroom in the early hours of the morning, bound him, wrapped him in a bed quilt and hoisted him over the legation wall. Accomplices delivered him into the hands of the squad of gendarmes which had been waiting for weeks for an opportunity to capture him and other refugees supposed to have hidden in foreign legations.

Woman's Latest Venture.

An engineering factory, organized, controlled, and managed by women, who also execute the orders at the lathe and in the foundry—that is the latest enterprise of the "weaker sex." It is one which deserves every success.

At the head of the firm, called Atalanta, Ltd., is Lady Parsons, the wife of the famous engineer and inventor of the steam turbine. The factory was started in the Midlands by 20 women ex-war workers. Good orders have already been secured, and Lady Parsons is convinced that these pioneer women engineers will be successful.

"There is nothing," she says, "that a woman cannot do when she tries."—London Times.

How Lightning Kills.

Numbers of cases of death by lightning have failed to reveal any direct effect of the passage of an electric current through the human body. The evidence indicates that death was caused entirely by shock. The result is psychological rather than physical, the shock inducing heart failure or other organic disturbances.

Sometimes strokes have been fatal to a mother although the child in her arms was unharmed. Persons under the influence of a drug or intoxicated seem to escape. This seems to indicate that the psychological element is an important consideration.—Popular Science Monthly.

Perhaps the Bolshevists think that as they have lived without about everything else they can get along without money, too. Lots of people outside of Russia pull through with very little.

From Prague we hear: "A crowd tried to storm the German opera, where 'Tosca' was being sung." Musically, at least, the war is over.

The Story the Return Mail Tells

AFTER all it is not the quantity of printed matter which is mailed, neither is it necessarily the expense of the job, nor the elaborate manner in which it is printed—IT IS RETURNS ALONE THAT COUNT.

¶ The return mail tells the story of the success or failure of a piece of printed advertising.

¶ There is but one way to make the results of the return mail a certainty—and that is by CO-OPERATION between the Printer and his client.

¶ A frank discussion of your problem—the application of our experience, and we are positive that your message will receive the attention that it merits from those to whom it is addressed.

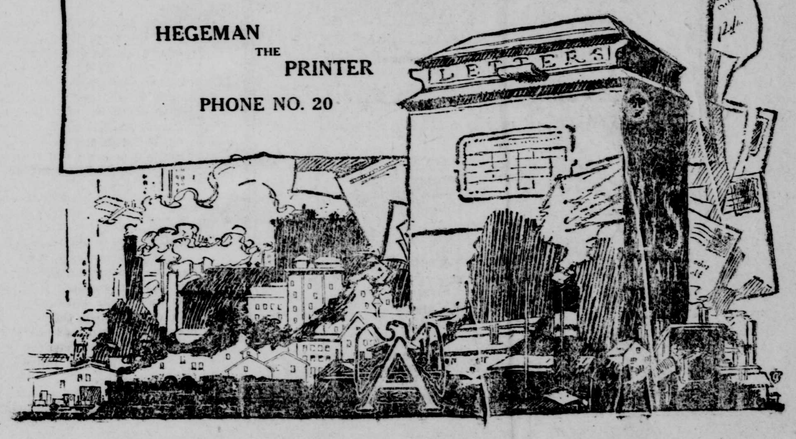

The head of a large business concern in New York was told a few weeks ago that in his office a 50c all-rag bond was being used for memorandum forms and a "cheap" 16c sulphite or woodpulp bond for letterheads sent to clients. In many business houses there is probably a waste of this sort.

¶ Economy in printing may mean the expenditure of more or less money according to the results desired, but economy is best practiced in the matter of mechanical treatment in accordance with your Printer's suggestions.

Call on us and let us help you to arrange your supplies of printed stationery, Etc.
