MRS. REIFENSTEIN, AGED 67, GAINS 25 POUNDS

Declares She Would Like To Put a Bottle Of Tanlac In The Hands Of Every Sick Man, Woman and Child In This Country — Never Saw Its Equal.

MRS. EMMA REIFENSTEIN, 337 Webster Ave., Syracuse, N. Y.

"I am sixty-seven years of age, but in all my experience I have never known a medicine like Tanlac. Think of it! At my age to gain twenty-five pounds in weight, but that is just what I have done," said Mrs. Emma Reifenstein, of No. 337 Webster avenue, Syracuse, N. Y.

"If I had it in my power," she continued, "I would put a bottle of Tanlac in the home of every sick man, woman and child in this country, for I know what this wonderful medicine would do for them. For almost two years I was almost a nervous wreck. I did not dare to leave the house or even go up town unless my husband went with me. I was afraid to even cross the street and had a feeling of dread all of the time.

"My stomach was weak and easily upset. For days at a time I would go without solid food. I could not rest at night to do any good and felt tired and worn out all of the time. Some days I could hardly drag myself across the room and was so weak and miserable I was ready to give up.

"My health is fine now and I eat anything I want and never have a touch of indigestion. I have never slept better than I do now. My recovery is the talk of our neighborhood, as it was generally believed I could not last but a few weeks longer. This grand medicine has brought me health and happiness and I just can't say enough in its praise."

Mr. J. Reifenstein, in commenting on his wife's statement, said: "Yes, her recovery has been a happy surprise to us all. A few weeks ago I had no idea she would be able to pull through, but now she is in better health than I have ever seen her and the credit is due to Tanlac. We have been married fifty-two years today and I don't believe I have ever seen her looking any better."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.—Adv.

Blood Is the Sap of Life; Keep It Pure

You grow by good blood as a tree grows by sap. Rich blood, robust man. Good sap, sturdy tree. Keep the blood healthy and wholesome; poor, impoverished blood cannot nourish the body or remove the waste as nature intended.

When your blood is impure, itching, flaming skin eruptions often break out, and your body gets run down and weak—easy prey for disease. To be safe, keep the circulation wholesome.

For this S.S.S., the famous vegetable blood remedy your druggist keeps, is excellent. Start enriching your blood with S.S.S. today, and write about your condition to Chief Medical Advisor, 838 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

THUS SINCE WORLD BEGAN MEN WEAR BENEDICT RINGS

As Philosophers Have Said, Devious Are the Ways to the Heart of a Maid.

According to New York Jeweler, the Custom Has Become Common, at Least In That City.

Lo! there was once an artistic maiden who did things cleverly and wore bobbed hair and smocks. Her art was really very bad, nor the maiden unaware of it. She had three suitors and she was sore perplexed until one day suitor No. 1 said, "I shall be frank. Your art is very bad, but I love you." She dismissed him.

Suitor No. 2 said. "Your art is very good."

The maiden said to him, "Prithee, sir, do you not agree with me that in places it is a bit—er—crude?"

He answered the maiden. "Now that you speak of it. I agree with you that in places it is a bit—er—crude." And she cast him forth from her father's threshold.

Suitor No. 3 spoke unto the maiden in this wise: "Your art is perfect. It delights my soul. It is true art, without flaw. I love you."

The maiden knew in her heart that her lover lied and she straightaway married him.—Ruth O'Hanlon in Life.

Easily Explained.

She—"I shall never forget how crazy you looked when you proposed to me?" He—"I was crazy."

Clearly Defined.

First Critic—"What is your attitude toward those impressionists?" Second Critic—"Oh, I'm a suppressionist."

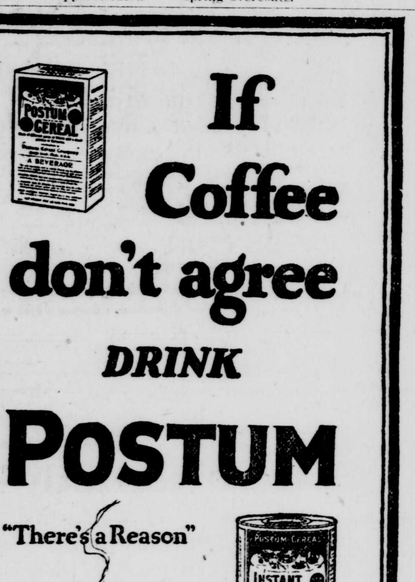

"There is certainly a grave misapprehension concerning men's wedding rings which I think should be cleared up at once," said a Broadway jeweler, according to the New York Sun. "I have found that people have a feeling that unless a man wears a wedding ring fashioned something like that worn by the woman, then something is wrong. In fact, I have learned that most people do not even know a man is married when he wears any kind of ring other than a wedding ring on his fourth finger, left hand.

"But that's a fact. Where the types of rings worn by brides are somewhat similar a man may wear anything from a signet to a real wedding ring on his left hand and still be in perfect propriety. As a matter of fact, most men dislike the plain wedding ring and prefer something like a signet. Brides aren't letting their husbands off without equality in rings as much as anything else nowadays and the bridegrooms are wearing all kinds to satisfy their wives' desire in the matter."

The Higher Education.

Ruined Churches to Be Restored

Ancient Cathedrals, Damaged During Mexican Revolutions, Will Be Rehabilitated.

MANY USED AS BARRACKS

Unusual Fascination of Mexican Churches Lies in Their Mixed Architecture—Treasures Taken by Sacrilegious Vandals.

Monterey, Mex.—Restoration of the church properties to the Catholic clergy by the Mexican government is to be followed by a general rehabilitation of many edifices which were badly damaged during the long period of revolutions. In many instances magnificent churches were used as barracks by soldiers. Gold and silver ornaments, rare paintings and other things of value were stolen by sacrilegious vandals and probably will never be recovered.

One of the things that impresses the visitor to Mexico most strongly is the number and beauty of the churches of the country, writes a Monterey correspondent of the New York Sun. In mining camps, villages, haciendas, at every place, in fact, where there is human habitation, a church may be found. Some of the older buildings erected in the early days of Spanish control are in ruins, but many remain intact and are still in use.

It has been said that the unusual fascination of Mexican churches lies in their mixed architecture, the Christian spire, the Moorish dome, the Indian facades, the Saracenic coloring and, added to this, the fact that the workmen employed by the Spanish artists and architects were Indians, who left the impress of their own peculiar handiwork in these ancient buildings.

A Remarkable Church.

One of the most beautiful and remarkable of the early Mexican churches is the one in the little mining village of Valenciana, in the mountains of Guanajuato. This church was erected in 1765 at a cost of more than $1,000,000 by the count of Valenciana, who at that time was said to be the richest man in the world.

On the top of the hill on which the village is built stands the big church. Surrounding it and built into the hill are apartments which were formerly used as a convent and fortress, but which are now occupied as stores and dwellings. Near by has been erected a monument to the man who erected the edifice. The narrow pathway to the church leads to a broad flight of steps into the old churchyard, brightly colored flowers and vine-hung trellises.

Entrance into the church is made through exquisitely carved doors set in richly ornamented walls. To the right is the sacristy, where are kept the magnificent baptismal font, surmounted by a halo and a dove, all of gold; the vestments of gold embroidered on rich cloth of satin and velvet in brilliant colors, numerous images of the saints, the virgin used in the various calendar celebrations and an immense crucifix. These are all kept in large closets which are readily opened for the inspection of visitors.

Certain Rare Paintings.

In the church proper is a magnificent altar of immense size and remarkable beauty, richly ornamented with elaborate fretwork and exquisite carving. The pulpit is entirely of inlaid mosaics of curious pattern. Large, gold-framed mirrors and rare paintings adorn the walls. Many of the paintings depict scenes from the life of Christ and the lives of the saints. One of the handsomest of the portraits is that of San Cayetano, patron saint of Guanajuato. Along the sides are to be found old wardrobes of chests and a set of antique drawing room furniture of rosewood and mahogany of rare and wonderful design, imported from Spain.

One of the most interesting features of the church is the miracle chapel, where there is an altar of unusual beauty and richness. In this room are hung many small artificial arms, legs, hearts and other members of the body, with inscriptions attesting the miracles performed by the Virgin, who, it is believed by the devout folk of the community, dwells there. The Virgin's image, under a glass case, is adorned with a priceless set of pearls, including necklace, earrings and bracelets.

32,000 Acres in Wheat Farm

Walla Walla, Wash.—Henry Vincent, the big Eureka Flat wheat grower, who harvested 12,000 acres last year, has increased his holdings until this spring he has a wheat farm of 32,000 acres. This is believed to be the largest farm in the Northwest. The entire acreage is practically devoted to wheat. All the seeding has been done and where the fall planting was finished before the rainy season in November the fields are green.

During the seeding of this great tract of land 39 drills and 42 harrows, kept up with five steam ploughs, each with a capacity of 60 acres per day.

Employs Large Force.

To properly manage his great agricultural project Vincent maintains a large force of men and women. There are also 600 mules and horses, and during the harvesting season he hires enough outside to make a total of from 450 to 500 spans. Last season 250 men and women and 30 boys worked for two months on this great farm, harvesting and marketing the grain.

This year's harvest, should the crop be a normal one, will be handled by five combined harvester threshers, ten headers and four separators. A new departure will be the use for the first time of a steam propelled combine with a 30-foot cut and a combine propelled with gasoline tractor which has an 18-foot cut. These two machines have a combined capacity of cutting and threshing 75 to 90 acres of ripened wheat per day.

The great difficulty with heavy tractors in the wheat section is with the rolling nature of the land. Wheat is planted on steep hills where horses and mules can be driven but where the heavy machinery slides and tips.

To care for his wheat last year Vincent used 250,000 new jute bags for which he paid 17 cents each. This year he has ordered a new supply of cotton ones from Georgia.

Another large wheat farm near here is that of Ben Grote, who has seeded to wheat 10,000 acres. John Webb has a 9,000-acre field of wheat and there is another of 7,000 acres near Toledo. In what is known as the Big Bend country there are numerous wheat farmers who plant from 1,500 to 3,000 acres each year to grain.

An unfortunate feature of the growing of wheat in this way is that the land is being rapidly depleted of its fertility. There is need of a system of diversified planting to save the land from utter barrenness. For nearly fifteen years many of these big farms have been growing wheat every year. Some wise farmers let their farms lie fallow every other year, thinking they get an increased crop enough to pay for the idle season.

Pictures Go by Wire

Norwegian Inventor Can Reproduce Photos or Writing.

Claims Picture or Message Can Be Transmitted Accurately Over Practically Unlimited Distance.

Christiania, Norway.—Herwood Peterson, a chief engineer in the government telegraph service, has invented a wire and cable system by which it is possible to transfer a picture or a message in original handwriting over practically unlimited distance. The device was recently publicly tested here between two 600-mile points and was reported successful.

Contrary to the present telegraph system, Mr. Peterson used an alternating electric current, allowing a strictly synchronous work of the sending and the receiving apparatus, a higher speed and an enormous saving of operating costs.

The system, it is claimed, also makes it possible to transmit double the number of words compared with any other telegraphic system now used, and it operates automatically from the moment the telegram, picture or drawing is received by the operator until it is received at the place of delivery. No new wires or cables are necessary.

The manuscript to be transferred is placed on a metallic cylinder—somewhat resembling an original wax phonograph cylinder—covered with a photographic film and exposed to a strong arc light.

The manuscript is copied on the cylinder film, developed and cromographically etched into the metal.

The cylinder is then placed on the sending apparatus, to which is transmitted an electric current going to the receiving apparatus. When the cylinder rotates a needle moves on it, touching every point on the cylinder. Whenever it touches the copied letters of the manuscript it causes a short circuit, which is transmitted to the receiving apparatus with its photographic paper on which the copy is reproduced.

Killed Dog Holding Woman.

Chicago, Ill.—Mrs. Abel Levitus has been in the hospital suffering from the bite of a bulldog which clung to her leg for more than five minutes while attempts by men to loosen the animal's grasp were unavailing. The dog was finally shot as it clung to her. Mrs. Levitus was in a North side hotel lobby when the dog came in and grabbed her by the ankle. Men beat the animal with chairs, but to no avail. The proprietor procured a gun and shot him dead.

Paris.—An interesting patriotic ceremony occurred here recently when the first distribution was made of a legacy written many years ago by a French Alsatian, who in his will left a grant to be distributed among five soldiers who especially distinguished themselves in the great war that was to restore Alsace-Lorraine to France.

The name of the Alsatian was Metzger. He died in 1902, but felt so sure of the restoration of the lost provinces that he gave in trust to the town of St. Germain the five legacies, each of 800 francs. Each of the five men who received the gift had the Medaille Militaire and the Legion of Honor. Two of them still are in the army, one is an upholsterer and two are now farmers.

Hungary Boasts Coin Value

Crowns Are Now Worth Two and One-Half Times Austrian Money—Finances Becoming Better.

Budapest.—As a result of the overhauling of its finances, the Hungarian government has made the crown worth two ane one-half Austrian crowns.

This increase in the value of the Hungarian crown has had a peculiar sequel, according to Kolman Hegedus, minister of finance.

"It is now profitable," he said, "for some scoundrels in Switzerland to counterfeit our stamp and imprint it on the untamped bills of the Austro-Hungarian bank."

"Hungary," continued the finance minister, "has ceased to issue banknotes without funds to back them, and this week is witnessing the rehabilitation of the country's finances. In this month, for the first time in many years, the expenditures have been covered by the revenue. The monthly deficit last year was about 800,000,000 crowns.

All the Same to Goat.

Cottonwood Falls, Kan.—What is believed to set an unbroken precedent for an assault on an officer of the law occurred at a public sale on the Cal Prendergast farm southeast of this city when Justice Sherman Knowland was bowled over by a billy goat. Justice Knowland is active on his feet, and made good his escape before the attack could be repeated.

Monkey Delays Traffic.

Youngstown, O.—"Rescuers" worked for an hour the other night to recapture a monkey which escaped from its crate at a railroad station here and making a sightseeing tour of the business district, climbed to the roof of a theater. Men with ladders finally captured the animal and ended the traffic jam on the street below.

BROUGHT BACK OLD TIMES

Familiar Phrase Touched Responsive Chord In the Breast of Former War Comrades.

A jostling, heaving crowd was struggling for the few vacant places on the last bus home. A tired-looking conductor, wearing on his breast the 1915 ribbon, regulated the rush.

"Full up!" he cried at length, effectually barring further progress to a sturdy built young man who had swung himself on to the platform.

The latter stepped off reluctantly, exclaiming, "San Fairy Ann." The conductor turned quickly and laughed, and the demobilized soldiers on the bus who recognized the barbarous but familiar perversion of "Ca ne fait rien," laughed with him. "Come on," he said, and the man jumped on the moving bus with a smile of understanding in his eyes.

PASSED WITH FLYING COLORS

Captain Recognized Prospective Marine Engineer as a Man After His Own Heart.

They are so close in some parts of Scotland that the lakes can't get enough water, and have to go dry.

A visitor tells the story of a Scotsman, a prospective marine engineer, who was being examined by the captain.

The skipper asked a number of difficult questions in order to confuse the applicant, but the latter was always ready with an answer.

Finally, in a tone of deepest concern, the captain asked:

"Now, suppose the water in your injector was working properly, your boiler check was not stuck, or your pipes clogged, but you were not getting any water in your boilers, what would you do?"

The engineer looked puzzled for a moment, unable fully to grasp the situation; then, with a knowing smile on his face, he answered:

"I'd go up on deck and see whether there was any water in the lake."

"You'll do," said the captain.—Chicago Daily News.
