CHAUTAUQUA

Tenth Anniversary Program 1912-1921

DENTON, JUNE 4-10

Tenth Anniversary Program 1912-1921

Have you been urged to contribute to the Near East? You'll want to hear about this part of the world then, and you'll find special interest in the Oriental Pageant given by Julius Caesar Nayphe.

Where are the lovers of children? And where are those who have the welfare of the country at heart? Let them all hear Dr. Geisel and get her ideas on how to work for the safety of both children and country.

"13—Unlucky for dirt!" This is probably the most laughable spot in the whole program. Unless you have mumps, and it hurts to laugh. Don't miss It Pays to Advertise.

From Fred Dale Wood, a brick layer, to a nationally known public speaker—that's a good broad jump. Perhaps some of our younger men, after hearing Fred Dale Wood in "The Business of Men" will be ready for a similar jump.

The Misses Grace and Frances Hoyt could wear service stripes, for they entertained the boys in France. What pleased the boys will certainly please us, don't you think?

Where is the man or woman who doesn't still find a sneaking little fun in the parade, or in watching the monkeys at the zoo, or any one of the pleasure so dear to the heart of a kiddie? John Mangel's performance with the hoops is primarily for the youngsters, but we'll venture to bet the older children will enjoy it as much as the younger ones.

Socialism—Bolshevism—Americanism. Which is the right solution of the problems which confront us? Surely Jacob H. Rubin, who has tried them al,, ought to be well-informed on the question. You will want to hear what he says on the fourth after-

MESSAGE OF CHAUTAUQUA

Come, come, people come!
This is the message we bring to you
Come, come, everyone come,
Fathers and Mothers and Children, too.

Come, come, people come,
See the tent door is now open wide,
Come, come, everyone come,
Plenty of room for you all inside.

CHAUTAUQUA

Remember when the dreamy Hawaiian music first made its appearance? You'll want to hear George W. Vierra, for he was the first to bring the real Hawaiian music to the United States.

We can't forget the kiddies. This is their week as well as ours. Half the fun of a thing is being in it, anyway, so they are going to have their afternoon in "Junior Holidays." Of course you'll want to see these youngsters perform.

You've heard a good deal of Mr. Lloyd George in the last seven years. Because of this, you will want to hear his com-patriot and official biographer, J. Hugh Edwards, M. P. His subject, "Wanted a New World," will surely appeal to every thoughful mind.

Get out your old song books and sing over "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls" and "The Heart Bowed Down." That will put you in the right spirit to hear "The Bohemian Girl." After the performance we have visions of a run on records at Mr. Newnam's, so you can keep these charming melodies with you all through the year.

Most people, on opening the evening paper, glance first at the cartoon. Every one likes cartoons. And so all will find the entertainment which Ned Woodman presents the last evening, especially interesting.

And now for the music lovers! Besides the opera, we have two sets of musicians, the Eekhoff-Colafemine Company, and the Howell Concert Trio. The former appears the first day, and w llipretnesT former appear the first day and will present soprano, tenor, flutest and pianist. The latter includes a contralto, baritone and a violinist. Both of these companies are established successes, and their appearance promises much thorough enjoyment.
