NEW PERFECTION
OIL COOK STOVE

The Long Blue Chimney—the famous feature of the New Perfection—keeps the cooking pan away from the flame for very good reasons. The chimney provides just the space needde to allow every drop of the kerosene to burn up into clean, intense heat. None is wasted as soot or smoke. And picture the housewife's relief to be rid of these disagreeable things.

At the same time, the Long Blue Chimney makes a strong draught—sends the heat, quivering - hot, up against the cooking pan. It hits the bottom of the cooking utensil with full force, and starts immediate operations upon the food inside.

THE BUSINESS OF MEN

Fred Dale Wood is one of the widest traveled, and best informed men before the public. He has lectured in every territorial possession and state of the Union but one, and everywhere he has made friends in great numbers by his engaging personality and the power of his message.

Beginning as a 50 cents-a-day brick layer he has worked himself up from the so-called depths to the heights by dint of perseverance and native ability. He studied law and was admitted to the bar, and has been prominent in political life in Nevada, his home state, while he enjoys a wide acquaintance with public men of prominence throughout the nation.

This broad gauge experience makes him well fitted to present his interpretation of the causes and cures for our present economic and social unrest which he does so eloquently in his lecture—"The Business of Men."

Senator Weller on Committee

Senator Weller has been appointed one of the members of a joint committee of the Senate and House of Representatives to investigate and report to Congress on the subject of establishing a system of Short Time Rural Credits in the United States, and to recommend to Congress such legislation as may be deemed practicable and desirable. This joint committee has been created by an Act of Congress. It consists of members of the Banking and Currency and Agricultural Committees of the House and of the Senate. Senator Weller is one of the three members selected from the Senate Committee on Banking and the Chairman of which Committee, Senator McLean, of Connecticut, will be Chairman of the joint committee.

This joint committee is authorized to have hearings and take such other measures as it may deem necessary in recommending legislation on this subject.

JUNIOR HOLIDAYS

For the children from six to sixty we have reserved the last afternoon, and this year we have prepared a program that is sure to be called "the best yet."

First will come the new pageant, "Junior Holidays," by the boys and girls themselves. This pageant was written especially for the Swarthmore Chautauquas for the 1921 season. Bertha Smith Titus, who helped write last year's successful pageant, "A Mother Goose Party," is the author of "Junior Holidays." Her pageant was chosen by the judges as the best of a large number entered in the annunl contest.

The children will have been rehearsing the various parts of this, "their play" during the preceding days, and their mothers and daddies will rightly vote it the best number of the week. Modesty will prevent the juvnile actors saying this, but surely they will remember it longest, the pageant and the other wonderful doings of Junior Chautauqua and Children's Afternoon.

Junior Chautauqua's just grand,
Believe me, you'll learn it.
If you haven't a dollar,
Get busy and earn it.

Junior tickets admit to all programs; morning, afternoon and evening.

HAVE YOUR CARTOON?

You will want to see how Woodman the cartoonist makes the cartoons found on the last page of the program. You will be interested in what some other Chautauqua audiences have said: Almond, N. Y., folks said: "Woodman's entertainment was unique in character and was highly appreciated by the audience. His witticisms were spicy and original, and his recitations of Riley portrayed the author himself."

At Memphis, Mich., the comment was: "His character sketches and impersonations of Roosevelt and Joe Cannon were clever and brought loud applause. Other rapid and humorous cartoons helped make the evening's entertainment a huge success. The 'Ole Swimming Hole' and 'Good Night' drawings were unique and displayed Mr. Woodman's wonderful originality."

Ned Woodman is a cartoonist of national reputation, both from his newspaper contributions and from his Lyceum and Chautauqua successes. Originality is the keynote of his work. His idas and cartoons are "different." He will close your Chautauqua week with an exceptionally strong program.

THE HOOP JUGGLER

The talkative hoop juggling jester, John Mangels, in a program of fun, is another big feature of Children's Afternoon. He can make these hoops behave like children before Christmas or a birthday. You will think he has invisible strings tied to them or that they are bewitched and he is the magician holding some occult power over their movements.

But he is none too funny for this Children's Afternoon. It is our intention to make this program one that the children will remember for days and weeks to come. We advise all the boys and girls to remember that if they have Junior Chautauqua tickets they are admitted not only to Junior Chautauqua in the mornings, but to this great Children's Afternoon program which is alone worth the price of their season ticket, and in addition the Junior ticket admits to all the other programs of the entire wek. Boys and girls, get busy; if ever a bargain was offered, it is offerred to you.
