POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

To the Editor The American Union:

As an observer of local politics for over thirty years, the writer has seen many queer twists and turns in the political game; but the present Republican candidate for State Senator has made a new and unique record at twisting and turning.

Lawrence B. Towers, by virtue of his chairmanship of the Republican State Central Committee, is the official head of that party in this county, and, as the official head, right thinking people consider it his duty to try to elect the whole Republican ticket. Mr. Towers also is the Republican candidate for State Senator, though, for reasons that are dark, his card distributed some days ago announcing his candidacy, failed to state that he is the Republican candidate. In advancing his candidacy, Mr. Towers actually has been working against the whole Republican ticket, except himself. He has urged un-registered Democrats to get registered and vote —for Towers; he has sent, by automobile, Democratic voters long distances to get their transfers and register, in the hope they would vote for Towers; he has solicited Democratic voters who appeared indifferent to voting, to go to the polls and vote for Towers. The fact that these voters would vote against other Republican candidates was not considered by Mr. Towers. As candidate for Senator, he needs the votes, and, disregarding his obligation as Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, he ignores and indirectly works against other Republican candidates for the sake of votes for himself alone.

There are seven candidates, besides Mr. Towers, on the local Republican ticket, all considered self respecting, high toned gentlemen. How do these candidates and other Republicans of character and principle, regard this practice, which helps Mr. Towers at the expense of the Republican party and its other candidates? Mr. Towers' actions sustain the charge made some days ago, by "Old Time Republican" that Towers is for Towers alone. By pretenses and promises, he poses as a good fellow, ready to help others unselfishly, but he is working against his fellow candidates, (which a correct sense of honor would not let him do), whenever it is possible thereby to make a vote for himself alone.

WORK—A PLEASURE

The modern woman, the woman who thinks before she acts, is daily acquiring more rest and comfort through the great service of electricity. The drudgery of the past is forgotten in the pleasures of the living present and all because the home merchant gave consideration to the happiness of his patron.

MORAL—Home-buying is the basis of satisfaction and community prosperity.
