Forest Fire Does Much Damage

A fire which started Wednesday of last week in the woods north of town continued to burn till Sunday night, and, aside from doing thousands of dollars' worth of damage to growing timber, threatened the homes of Clarence Webb and Benjamin Mattheys. Especial effort was necessary to save these homes from destruction.

Arrangements have been made to lay a sewer on Bank Street extended. Tile for it has been placed on the street and an effort will be made to lay this before frost is in the ground.

Eight new dwellings have been erected in Federalsburg this year, but to relieve the cramped conditions of many residents, very many more are required.

Hallowe'en Hilarity

Hallowe'en, as it usually does, called forth numberless witches, goblins, elves and queer creatures which defy description. The damp weather Monday night, however, put something of a damper upon the street merriment, but indoors the fun progressed uninterrupted. Among the youthful social set, several parties took place. On Friday night a par-

Take a Tip From the Farmer

Those who have failed to catch the business cloud, may well profit by the first gleams of the silver lining in the farmer's example.

He is going ahead with his fall work, confidently facing the future.

This bank welcomes the opportunity to help the farmer. We admire his backbone.

SUPPLEMENT TO THE AMERICAN UNION

GOV. RITCHIE HERE FOR MASS MEETING

Shore—the garden spot of the earth, ad near to the Garden of Eden. I feel like apologizing when I realize I have interrupted the long continuity of governors who have come from this section, and I predict that the next Governor will come from the Eastern Shore."

He then thanked the voters of this section for their part in his election two years ago, and expressed a hope that Caroline County will support him still further by sending to the legislature helpers of the political party who will most aid him in the affairs of state. e said that the chief issues of the present campaign on which the two leading parties differ are summed p in the two questions of whether Baltimore shall have a larger representation at Annapolis or wwhether the present plans on foot fo rreducing the cost of living shall be given more prominence. This through the reduction of the state departments from eighty, the present number, to twenty.

He also advocated the application of sound business methods in conducting affairs of state, and further advised tha tthe election be held only every second year as an economic measure.

The governor appears to be a fair-minded man who believes in his own party and feels his responsibility.

At the conclusion of the governor's speech he was presented by the leaders of his party with a handsome bou-

DEMOCRATIC MEETING IN PALACE THEATRE

A fair-sized crowd attended the Democratic mass meeting held Wednesday afternoon in the Palace Theatre. Mrs. Gertrude B. Fuller, of Pittsburgh, Pa., addressed the meeting after an introductory speech by Congresman Goldsborough.

Mrs. Fuller spoke of Maryland as a border state, and of its consequent kinship to the south. She said that no other years of the history of the United States were comparable to the first six years of Wilson's administration. Only the blocking by the Republican Congress, and the lack of cooperation marred the remaining two years. Mentioning some of the achievements of the Wilson administration. Mrs. Fuller laid stress on the reduction of the high cost of living, through the revisioi of the tariff law, and i the enactment of the farm loan law and the Federal Reserve Act, as compared to the "kept-up cost" and the "kept-down wage" during the 40 preceding years of Republican administration. She advised the election of men who will support the governor in his work and asked the aid of the women, through the ballot, to advance the cause of Home Rule—as interpreted, of course, by Democrats.

In short, Mrs. Fuller made a very able address in the cause of the Democratic party.

Outbreak of Hog Cholera

Hog cholera has broken out on a number of Caroline County farms. Hog owners should take every precaution to prevent an infection of their herd and to keep close watch for any sick hogs.

Some of the things Dr. Atherton of the University of Maryland recommends are as follows:

1. Stay away from other peoples' hogs; keep people away from your hogs.
your premises for any purpose.
3. Keep your dog tied up; keep other dogs away.
4. Promptly burn or bury the car your premises.
5. See that other people do the same.
6. If a hog in your herd appears sick, lose no time in calling a competent person, veterinarian if possible, to examine it.
7. If evidence hf hog cholera is found in your herd, if there is or has been a possibility of exposure, lose no time in vaccinating.
8. Advise your neighbor of the above noted outbreak.
9. If you know of sick hogs in the county, notify your county agent.

For a time County Agents were permitted to treat hogs for cholera, however, there has been made a ruling which prevents them from so doing. It is possible for me to have a state veterinarian diagnose a case of sick hogs where cholera is suspected. If it proves to be cholera, owner to have a local veterinarian do the actual vaccinating.

The state veterinarian will recommend cautions to be taken against the possibility of a future outbreak. He will send out notices to neighboring hog owners warning them of the outbreak and suggesting means to prevent their herds from becoming infected.

Farmers suspecting hogs sick from cholera should notify me and I will see that they get the proper assistance.

W. COLLINS THOMAS,
County Agent.

New Business for Denton

GOOD MINSTREL SHOW HERE LAST THURSDAY

Darling and Brown Vaudeville Company appeared at the Palace Theatre last Thursday night before a big house, and proved all that it claimed to be. It was a big hit, full of comedy dances and songs.

A word about the company:

Mr. Walter Brown was ver yfunny with his laughing trombone.

Darling brothers proved to be very clever with their comedy dancing.

Mr. Elmer Darling was the hit of the show and a real comedian. He knew how to put over his comedy in first class style, and how to get a laugh out of his jokes. His dancing was good. Some of the steps that he did with such ease looked as though they would break the legs of an ordinary man. He is a very clever comedian and we prophesy that it will not be long before Broadway will add another burnt cork artist to its already long list.

Hallowe'en

The town streets were filled Monday night with a motley crowd of mysterious creatures, impossible of description or name. Even the rain failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the masqueraders, who made the night jolly with their nonsense.

Numerous parties were held aruond town, the biggest of which took place in the high school building, where the youngsters frolicke and laughed and ate until they were tired out.

MRS. LYDIA D. MANSHIP

Mrs. Lydia D. Manship, widow of the late Andrew Manship, died at her home here on Friday last at the age of 71 years. She had been sick for about ten days and she died of a complication of diseases. She is survived by three sons, Frank and William of this town, and Howard, of Cleveland, Ohio, and one brother, Robert Tinley. The funeral services were held at the Baptist Tabernacie on Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock, Mrs. Manship was a memer of the Baptist Church and her funeral was very largely attended.

Miss Anthony Entertained

Miss Anne nthony entertained a number of friends at cards on Saturday afternoon at her home urday afternoon from two till six at her home, in honor of Mrs. Robert Eddington of Federalsburg. Those present were the Mesdames Robert Eddington, Wiliam Neal, Arthur G. Croks and John Emerson, and the Misses Marjorie Todd, Katharine Stewart, Margaret Pastorfield, Emily Johnson and Mildred Nuttle, of Denton, and Miss Mary Tulle of Federalsburg.

Mr. Wilson is an experienced tire man, coming here from Smith and Horney, of Baltimore. He took possession of the business Wednesday and is ready for work.

TRAIN TO WAIT FOR FERRY
Change in Schedule Announced by B., C. and A. Railroad.

Easton, Md., Oct. 28.—Officials of the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway have notified Easton of a change in the schedule. Up to the present time the morning train has left Claiborne before the Annapolis ferry arrived, and as a consequence a large number of passengers have been left at Claiborne and had to either stay there or pay for transportation to points on the Shore by automobile.

A Telephone System Must Expand

THERE is no such thing as closing the capital account of a telephone system unless it proposes to go out of business. The telephone system that is not going forward is going backward.

Each new subscriber requires additional plant—a new telephone set, additional central office equipment, in most cases an additional line from the central office to the subscriber's premises.

But these additions cannot wait until the subscriber wants service. To do this would require that applicants wait sometimes for an indefinite period. We must anticipate the public's needs and always maintain a reserve plant—conduits, cables, switchboards, wires.

To meet the requirements for next year and the years to come the money for the extensions must be secured from the investors this year. Our earnings this year, then, will determine whether we can attract the new capital necessary to meet your requirements for service next year.
