THIS HOARD WOULD HAVE DOUBLED IN VALUE—

Deposited in this bank at 4 per cent interest, the hoarded money which has been lying idle for years would have doubled in value instead of merely accumulating dust and cobwebs.

Happily not many persons today actually hoard money with the belief that it is safe from theft or accident.

Money need not be buried in old walls or cellars to be hoarded. It is hoarded money if it is idle money, useless money.

The safest way to make your money work for you and the community is to deposit it in the bank, where it is safe, draws interest, and helps build up the local community, thus enhancing the value of your property.

Our officails are business executives and can help to make your money work more profitably for you. Consult them without obligation.

The flare that begins at the knee is extremely popular, especially for the dressy fall coats made of rich fabrics and trimmed with fur.

If you have left over meat try using it in this way. Chop and season it well and spread on three-inch squares of pastry. Moisten with a little milk or gravy, roll up like a jelly roll, pinching the ends together tightly and bake in quick oven for luncheon.

Potatoes will cook more quickly if they are allowed to stand in hot water for fifteen minutes before baking.

Ox blood necklaces in a lightweight wood with a satiny finish are among the new ornaments. They originated in Czecho- Slovakia and are arresting in their beauty.

After wavering for a while, amber has decided to remain in the mode. Carnelian and malachite are perhaps, a bit more chic because more new, but amber in all its forms and colorings remains a favorite.

Paint may be removed from wash goods by soaking in kerosene oil for half an hour, then squeezing out and washing as usual.

The quality of the butter used in the preparation of vegatables and eggs should be of the very finest.

Tiny bouquets of French flowers or fancy belts are worn with suits and as the fall comes on, the fur neckpiece is added. This need not be the inevitable fox, but may be a choker or mole, ermine, caracule or any short short haired fur.

Occasionally the bustle bow slides round to one side. It then becomes a big flat ornament, plastered across the hip and standing out several inches beyond the wearer, both in back and in front.

A natural flower at the waistline emphasizes the turquoise blue of a velvet frock trimmed with ermine.

A new cigarette case is of camphor wood, heavily laquered in dull red. In shape it copies one of the small treasure chests of the Chinese mandarin and it is ornamented with a long gold tassel.

The latest fans have a gracefully lopsided appearance. They are big swirls of uncurled ostrich feathers, the season's blues being especially employed, and the swirl tends twards the right hand side.

Fur this season is used not only on the edges of coats, but raised above a wide band or embroidery or braiding.

A youthful looking young girl's dress is made with three flounces each having two rows of braid on them.

One fitting for the vanity caseis a small bottle, no doubt, for medecine. It is in the lapis namel so popular now and hardly larger than one of the old fashioned watches our grandfathers carried.

Black velvet dresses frequently have double skirts and a facinating glimpse of purple and silver or some other rich combination is glimpsed through a split front.

Muffs are to be carried again this winter, according to the latest information from Paris. The barrel and pillow type will predominate.

"Clean out that strainer in your vacuum tank"

A CAR had just been towed in. It took the Fleet Boss only a moment, with his long, practical experience, to find the trouble. Motor would gradually die down and stop. If they waited a minute it would run again, but only for a few seconds. Most every driver has to have it clog up once with dirt to know there is a vacuum tank strainer in his "gas" line. Experience locates the unusual things, as well as the obvious.

Long years of refining and study have shown us a thousand and one practical things about motor oils that couldn't be learned in any other way. You give your motor the benefit of it when you use Polarine regularly. The reasonably-priced, quality oil, developed by experience to meet all requirements.
