Spring Visitors are Here

Some of our friends who have been wintering in the south have arrived for the coming spring and summer. They have evidently heard of the summer-like weather we have enjoyed recently, and have decided to disregard the warning of the groundhog, of 6 weeks of winter weather still ahead. We refer to Mr. and Mrs. Robin R. Breast, who were seen the early part of the week in Mrs. Stone's yard at the end of South Third Street. Mrs. Stone saw them and heard them singing several times.

Another reminder of the summer, which is fast approaching, was the thunder storm on Tuesday morning.
