Tell Me

Did you ever see:

A stone step?
A peanut stand?
A ginger snap?
A sardine box?
A sausage roll?
A day pass by?
A hair dye?
A house fly?
A brick walk?
A snake dance?
A night fall?
A mill run?
A rolling pin?
A bed tick?
A clock run?
A ink stand?
A chicken dressing?

Do shins have eyes when they go out to sea?

Are there springs in the ocean's bed?

Does the river lose its head?

Is a newspaper white when it's read?

Is a baker broke when he is making dough?

Is an undertaker's business dead?

If you ate a square meal would the corners hurt?

If a grass widower married a grass widow would their children be grasshoppers?

What sort of vegetable is a policeman's beat?

I asked her if I could see her home and she said she'd send me a picture of it.

Rotary Club for Centerville

Centreville, Md., March 10.—Plans for a Rotary Club are being laid by business ben headed by the County Superintendent of Schools, T. Gordon Bennett, who are interested in bringing the Rotary movement here. As an initial setp the governor of the thirty-fourth Rotary district, comprising Maryland, Washington, and certain portions bordering the Maryland line in Pennsylvania, has authorized Samuel E, Shannahan, of Easton, to make a survey and effect the organization of a Centreville club.

It is expected that within the next week a prospective list of between 15 and 20 Centreville business and professional men will be submitted to Mr. Shannahan. It is stated that if the desired number can be obtained the Easton Rotary Club will take steps to formally institute the organization.

SELF-DEPENDENCE

I don't mind havin' assistance when there's difficult jobs to do, —Me and my neighbors exchanges chores, which multiplies power by two. . . . Good gineralship will double teams when the sweat commences to roll—but a feller's religious conclusions must spring from his innard soul!

And, I never pine for advisers—in questions of politics. . . . I never indulge in compounds that's explosive as soon as they mix. . . . For I can detect an impostor the minnit I hear him bray—so I do my political thinkin' in my own, individual way.

There's virtue a-plenty in team-work, when emergencies may require, but — there's mighty little of "team-work" in follerin' a party liar. . . . It's safer to base yer jedgement on what the evidence shows, and to never let no political crook put his iron ring in yer nose!

"I Got Real Mad when I Lost My Setting Hen," writes Mrs. Hanna, N. J.

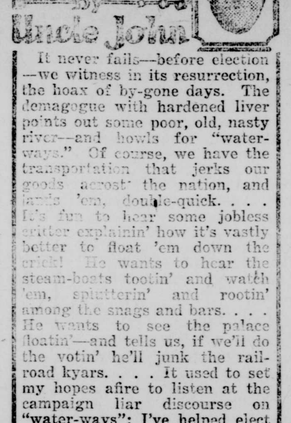

"When I went into our barn and found my best setter dead I got real mad. One package of Rat-Snap killed six big rats. Poultry raisers should use Rat-Snap." Comes in cakes, no mixing. No smell from dead rats. Three sizes, Price, 35c, 65c, $1.25. Sold and guaranteed by

Uncle John

It never fails—before election—we witness in its resurrection, the hoax of by-gone days. The demagogue with hardened liver points out some poor, old, nasty river—and howls for "waterways." Of course, we have the transportation that jerks our goods across the nation, and lands 'em, double-quick. . . . It's fun to hear some jobless quitter explainin' how it's vastly better to float 'em down the crick! He wants to hear the steam-boats tootin' and watch 'em, spluttering and rootin' among the snags and bars. . . . He wants to see the palace floatin'—and tells us, if we'll do the votin' he'll junk the railroad kyars. . . . It used to set my hopes afire to listen at the campaign liar discourse on "water-ways"; I've helped elect in admiration—to come at cheaper transportation, — but them was by-gone days! So now—I stand around and shiver, and view the same old, nasty river—the smug job-hunter's pet; I watch its slippery, sludgy movement, that never showed the least improvement, and—never will—you bet!

Murderer of Four

Frank McDowell, 20, of St. Petersburg, Fla., claims his subconscious mind prompted the murder by shooting of his mother and father this year and burning to death of his sisters in 1923.

The Teapot Shrug

Bascom Slemp, Secretary to the President, was happy as he came from the Senate committee grilling into Naval oil leases. Slemp said he advised Fall and McLean to "make a clean breast" when he saw them in Florida.
