"THEM CHICKENS"
By W. A. S.

If I but owned "them chickens,"
I'll tell you what I'd do:
I'd fence them in with wire so close
That they could not get through.
I sure would keep "them chickens"
Where they could do no harm
To any neighbor I might have,
His garden or his farm.

I would not let "them chickens"
Go running out at large,
Tormenting other people,
And make them rave and charge.
And what is theremy brother,
Will cause a man to swear,
Like chickens in his garden
When they've no business there.

In all this world there's nothing
Your neighbor will not pardon
More quickly than your fat old hens
Scratching up his garden.
And, brother, if my neighbor
Should do as I might do,
He'd surely slay "them chickens"
And on them he would chew.

And could I blame him, brother,
If he should crack them through?
Would you not slap "them chickens"
If they should bother you?
The man who lets his chickens
Torment his foe or friends,
Has small regard for others,
And will lose out in the end.

So, brother, keep "them chickens"
Within your own back yard,
And treat your neighbors' feelings
With neighborly regard.

Why Mr. W. Windsor (R. I.) Put Up with Rats for Years

"Years ago I got some rat poison, which nearly killed our fine watch dog. We put up with rats until a friend told me about Rat-Snap. It surely kills rats, though house pets won't touch it." Rats dry up and leavesno smell. Prices, 35c, 65c, $1.25.
