ARMISTICE DAY COMES TO SOOTHE A RESTLESS WORLD

What could be more fitting than that the ultimatum, delivered by the Council of The League of Nations, commanding Bulgaria and Greece to withdraw their troops behind their national boards, and to cease hostilities forthwith, should have been formulated and delivered practically on the eve of Armistic Day? Time, which modulates the passions and provides a deeper back ground for mutual understanding, time which levels all things and lays the shepherd's crook beside the sceptre, has brought much of moral advancement to the world, but never has it given to us a happier augury than now when it turns the consideration of Armistice Day to one of softened joy in place of inspiration for the renewal of hatreds and continued bitterness of soul. It seems almost as if that great apostle of peace, dying practically discredited, had arisen in the spirit to stretch His arms over the peoples of the world in calm but forceful command that reason henceforth shall reign supreme. Men in our national congress may differ as to the wisdom of this great nation entering into the entangling alliances of the League; readers of ten thousand different views, but all will rejoice that renewed bloodshed on the field of battle, with its incident horror and human suffering has been checked, and muskets silenced by the influence of a great American.

As the years roll on that influence must grow in power, carrying in place of sadness, solace to those stricken souls whose dear ones went west for human freedom. No more need Armistice Day cause the eye to flash in memory of great wrong done. Rather may it now make the stricken soul pass from that pain that is almost pleasure in its sacrifice, to pleasure that is almost pain in its nobility.

TELL THE WORLD

Under no other government in the world have the masses of the people been given such equal opportunities as in America.

With 16,337,605 electric light and power customers, 15,000,000 automobiles, 14,000,000 telephones, 9,000,000 phonographs and 3,500,000 radios, 110,000,000 Americans enjoy more of these modern conveniences than the peoples of all other countries. What we consider necessities here are usually classed as luxuries by the rest of the world.

It is not just by chance that America has such things in the largest quantities for common use. It is here and here only that the individual enjoys the greatest freedom for developing ideas, energy, ambition and initiative. The result has been a growth unprecedented in the world's history. The best program yet offered by a Communist or Socialist leader not only fails to add in any manner to the advantages and freedom under which Americans have lived for some hundred and fifty years, but it acutally reduces in a large measure the liberties and protection guaranteed to rich and poor alike by our constitution.

Every citizen should appreciate these facts. We should present them whenever possible to counteract spurious proposals which, if not defeated, can undermine the strongest governmental structure which exists today.—The Manufacturer.
