THREE YEARS AGO—AND NOW

There is scarcely a man in the whole country who has not said, probably more than once in the last two years, "If I only lived in Florida." By hundreds they have dug up the roots of their lives and transplanted them all to the state that leaped almost over night from obscurity to the most desirable spot in the whole country.

What did it? Did the soil, or the climate, or the productions change over night? They developed, to be sure, but they did not change from their original form. No, the wonderful influx of people and wealth into Florida can be explained in one word—ADVERTISING. Once more is proven the truth of "It Pays to Advertise." For Florida has been Florida for many years; just as much sparkling sea and shining sand; just as wonderful fruits and flowers; just as charming a climate. But nobody outside of Florida, and a few winter visitors knew it. Now EVERYBODY knows it.

We are standing today where Florida farmers and business men stood three years ago. We believe we have an even more desirable proposition in the Peninsula to offer possible investors. Our shores are just as suitable for summer resorts; our products, while not the same, are as necessary and as valuable; our land is even richer, our climate more equable for an all-year-round affair.

The opportunity has come to us to advertise our section as Florida was advertised. Suppose the Florida folks had not dared risk the issue—where would that state be today? Suppose we follow their example and tell the country about the Eastern Shore; about Caroline County; about Denton. We stand an even better chance, we believe, than Florida stood to reap in two or three years' time the benefits they have gained.

The question is before you, folks—what will you do with it? All the counties approached up to this time have swung along, even topping their quota. What will Caroline do? It is a chance of a life time. Let's fall in line with the rest and tell the world about Caroline County.

Resolutions of Respect

On Thanksgiving day, November 26, 1925, as the nation was offering gratitude to Almighty God for His many blessings, the community was shocked to hear of the sudden death by electricity of Russell J. Bell.

Whereas, in the Providence of God, our friend and brother has been suddenly called from us, we realize that in the death of Russell Bell, the Loyal Sons Bible Class of Denton M. P. Church has lost a fellow belovd, and one who was loyal and true. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we bow in submission to Almighty God, and while not understanding the mysteries of His Providence, yet we know He is never wrong, and "that all things work together for good to them that love God."

Resolved, Further, That as the death of Brother Bell has caused sorrow and grief to his loved ones, we commend them to the gracious love of our Heavenly Father, and extend also our prayers and sympathy in this dark hour.

Resolved also, That these resolutions be spread on the minutes of the Loyal Sons Bible Class and copies sent to the bereaved family and also the papers of Denton.

FEDERALSBURG ENTERTAINED CLUBS

has been judged as rendering the best music. A list of the songs to be used has been sent to Miss Florence E. Monk, Greensboro, and every woman expecting to attend is requested to learn the first two verses of these songs. She also stated that Mrs. Berry would appreciate messages from any who may get her radio talks on art which are being broadcast each alternate Tuesday beginning January 4 at 4:45 p. m. from station WEAF.

Mrs. John F. Sipple of Baltimore, president State Federation of Women's clubs who was scheduled to speak at this time could not be present and a letter of regret from her was read.

Miss Spafford in a brief talk described the work of the 4-H girls clubs which she is conducting in various parts of the county and showed the need for co-operation among the women in this work. She asked for a county committee to assist her. Referred to respective clubs.

Miss Virginia Harwood, superintendent of Elementary Education in Caroline county, addressed the body on the ever interesting subject, Books. Her talk was opened with a quotation inviting her audience to come read awhile, and the body immediately relaxed in full enjoyment to revel with her in books for all ages, "from all lands and peoples," by authors of all time. Miss Harwood gave aid to mothers by advising in the selection of children's reading, and by naming specific books and authors loved by children and found by test and experience to be good for them. She named editions of favorites, which are available at small expense and told where these may be secured. Though a most delicious lunch served by the hostess club was the next feature of the day it was with regret that the body suffered Miss Harwood to conclude her talk, and to allow the delightful visions from childhood and from other places and other climes which she had conjured up to fade into the background.

The afternoon session opened at 2 o'clock with a piano solo by Miss Grace Brown of Federalsburg, which was encored to which she most graciously responded.

Miss Miriam Everts, a chautauqua entertainer, who had been secured through the courtesy of Miss Caroline Redden, of Denton, delighted the audience with her readings. Facetious, humorous, and pathetic roles she assumed in turn and, were she a boy struggling in the throes of a first love; a hard-worked, mistreated Irish washer woman; a plaintive sick child; a lady of style and fashion viewing an art exhibit, without any appreciation in her soul but with much upon her lips; a king or a queen finding out the meaning of love, a French aristocrat condemned to death or his frivolous and erring wife; or a saleslady in a flower shop with the psychology of each of her customers at her finger tips she was equally good and equally charming.

The Federation sang Old Folks at Home with Mrs. Jefferson at the piano and Mr. Rudolph Willis accompanying with the violin.

The Greensboro Community Club through Mrs. F. P. Roe, invited the Federation to be their guests in May. This invitation was accepted by Mrs. Wilson in the name of the Federation.

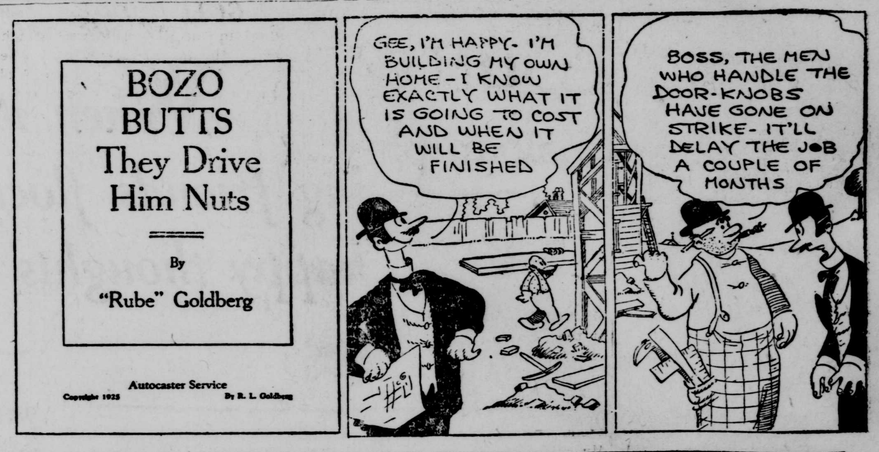

Mrs. H. H. Nuttle read resolutions of appreciation of the entertainment the Federation had received. God Be With You 'Til We Meet Again was sung, Mrs. Jefferson and Mr. Willis accompanying.

The first program of the Federation under the new president, Mrs. Wilson, was brought to a close and the members congratulated themselves that they had secured a presiding officer who could provide such a day of enjoyment and who could conduct the business of the organization with such ease and pleasantness. *

She Knew There Was Trouble

Old lady (standing on wharf)—What's all that noise out there on that ship?

Man standing near—Why they just dropped the anchor.

O. L.—I knew it! I knew it! I know that it would drop because it has been hanging out over the side for some time!
