MORALS RELIGION AND COMMON SENSE

THE VALUE OF TIME

There is no time to be lost. It was said of a certain Frenchman that "he lost an hour every morning and then spent the rest of the day trying to catch up with it." It is folly to persuade ourselves that we have more time than we need. God gives not one second too much—but He does give enough to fulfill His purpose. "Millions of money for a moment of time," cried Queen Elizabeth, at the last, after 60 years on the throne. Happy are they who realize the value of time before it is too late, and resolve to put out of life all that robs it of its value and usefulness, its permanence, stability and power.

For age and want, save while you may,
No morning sun lasts a whole day.—Benjamin Franklin.

Eastern Shore Happenings

Salisbury, Md., March 15—A big crowd in the Wicomico county court house today heard a sentence of ten years' imprisonment on Welter C. Ferris, 22 years old a farmer, who was charged with assaulting his sister-in-law, Elizabeth Butler, with intent to kill her. She is 18 years old.

Ferris pleaded guilty, though previously he had announced through his counsel that he would contest the case against him. No witnesses were called in the rtial, the court procedure being confined to argument between his attorney Claude Bailey, and State's Attorney F. Grant Goslee.

Judges Joseph L. Bailey and Robert F. Duer heard the case.

The charge against Ferris grew out of an automobile ride he took with Miss Butler last October 22. He asked her to leave town with him, it was alleged, but she refused. On the way back home, it was charged, he beat her into unconsciouness.

Miss Butler was carried to the Peninsula General Hospital unconscious with her skull fractured in seven places and her body bruised.

Young Ferris was arrested upon his appearence at the hospital and told authorities how the two had been attacked by hooded highwaymen and his companion badly beaten. He is said to have later made a full confession of the crime.

Miss Butler remained unconscious at the hospital for a week and failed to regain her speech for some ten days. She asserted that Ferris had assaulted her.

Easton, Md., March 15—The Euterpean Choral Society of Easton had as its guest Mrs George Hill MacLean, past president of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Mrs. MacLean offered criticisms and suggestions during the reeharsal of the selections for the spring concert. Later she addressed the members of the organization, after which an informal reception was held.

The chorus will sing at the State Federation of Women's Clubs, which will convene in Annapolis in April. Mrs. Cleveland Smith is the director.

Seaford, Del., March 11.—Seaford City Council organized by electing Capt. Harry M. Bell vice-president: Norris E. Marvel, secretary, and Charles W. Robinson, treasurer. After organizing the Council elected the following: Thomas N. Rawlins, H. Milton James and Earnest J. Hardesty, assesors; William B. Huston, tax collector; Huey W. Jackson, superintendent of water works and Elmer E. Conaway, chief engineer of power house.

Mayor Hastings appointed James K. Phillips, Sr., alderman; John E. Martin, chief of police, and J. Priestley Jackson, night watchman.

Salisbury, Md., March 10.,—Six persons were injured, one seriously tonight, when a crowded motor bus on Camden avenue was in a headon collision with an automobile and overturned upon the pavement.

Leonard Green, a passenger on the bus, sustained a broken leg and internal injuries. His condition was pronounced serious. The others injured are Emma Dannis, George Dashiells, Bernice Hopkins, Anna Waters, and Maggie Waters, the latter two Negresses.

Meyer A. Saltz, Crisfield merchant, operator of the automobile which shot suddtnly across the street and struck the bus, was arraigned before Justice Louder T. Hearne in the City Court and held in $500 bail on charges of reckless driving and operating an automobile while he was under the influence of liquor.

Chestertown, Md., March 12.—Two of Kent county's ldest and most prominent women died this morning, their ages totaling 168 years.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jervis, 89, died at the home of her son. Albert Jervis in Stillpond. She was a resident of that section of the county for many years and was long identified with church and community activities. She is survived by three sons, Albert and Oliver H. Jervis, of this county, and Edward C. Jervis of Chester, Pa., and two daughters, Mrs Sarah Jewell and Mrs Fannie Jewell of Kent.

Miss Ellen C. Smith, 79, died at the home of her brothers, Adams and Percy Smith, near Rockhall. The surviving members of this well-known family consist of five brothers and two sisters. They are among the largest landowners in the lower section of the county.

Salisbury, Md., March 12.—A tale of drunken debauchery and vandalism in which men and women are supposed to have participated Wednesday night at the Old Spring Hill Church, five miles from this place, was told today by the Rev. W. W. Webster and vestrymen of the church.

It was the second time in three weeks that such a scene has been enacted there, they said.

A clergyman passing the church yesterday noticed the doors standing open and with one of the vestrymen entered the edifice. A sight of destruction and desolation met their eyes.

Brass candle sticks had been taken from the altar cloth had been torn; wood that had been used by the vandals to furnish heat littered the floor; empty bottles and other debris were strewn about the floor, and the vestry room had been ransacked and church records promiscuously strewn about.

A reward has been offered for information regarding the identiy of the vandals.

Old Spring Hill Protestant Episcopal Church was erected in 1827 and was remodeled a few years ago, although the original lines were maintained. It is at the interesection of two main state highways leading west of Salisbury.

Work on Centerville's $50,000 National Guard Armory has progressed to the point where Contractor George E. Lane, after consultation with General Milton A. Reckord, announced yesterday that the cornerstone would be laid on Tuesday, March 23.

At the same time it also was learned that steps were being taken to make the occasion an important community event, with at least two outstanding features in connection with the contemplated program. They are:

Formal laying of the cornerstone by Centerville Lodge of Masons with complete Masonic ceremonies. Masonic officials and members from other sections will be expected.

An address by Governor Albert Ritchie, as titular commander-in-chief of the military forces of Maryland, who has been invited by Capt. Francis B. Carter and the town commissioners of Centreville.

Making the initial voyage late Friday at noon, steamboat service between Queenstown and Baltimore has been established by a new transportation company, operating as Dorsey & Cohee.

The handsome passenger and freight steamer steamer, "Ocean View", has been placed on the route and official schedules will be announced within the next few days.

Queenstown and Rock Hall will be the two Eastern Shore points touched by the new line, and the services will be devoted exclusively to passengers and freight. No automobiles will be carried.

The steamer originally was intended for the route between Washington and Philadelphia, but because of its immense size it could not negotiate some of the locks in the Chesapeake & Delaware Canal.

Dorsey & Cohee made a survey of traffic conditions on the bay, and finally concluded that the Queenstown-Rock Hall route afforded excellent development possibilities. The steamer "Ocean View" can make the trip from Queenstown to Baltimore in two hours and ten minutes and will probably leave each afternoon returning the following morning.

The Baltimore Wharf of the company is at Pier 4, Pratt Street.

"A toast fellers," exclaimed the hobo, lifting his tomato can. "Here's to de holidays! Bless de hull t'ree hundred an' sixty-five of 'em!"
