BIG AMERICANS WANTED

"There was nothing about him of the small Amreican," said President of George Washington, thus coining a new phrase which provides a standard by which we may measure public men and policies. Coolidge paid this tribute to the breadth of Washington's mind: "No man clung more tenaciously to what he believed was right nor was prepared to make greater secrifices in its support. But he viewed the right as a universal principle, to be applied not only to himself but to others, not only to his own state but to the nation, not only to his own countrymen but to foreigners."

He set a straight and narrow standard for our statesmen who feel inclined to exploit national or international problems for their personal aggrandizment, and thus brand themselves as "small Americans."

Too many of us seek laws for the special privilege and enrichment of our own states or sections of the country, lacking capacity to see that the greatness of Our Country arises from the common interest of all its people.

Washington stands as the greatest American because he renounced the glory of a kingly crown to build a free republic on principles so sound and broad that we can stand before the world as an example for other nations and help the world establish higher ideals for all humanity whenever there is opportunity.—The Manufacturer.

NO—DON'T LET THEM SEE IT!

No, whatever we do, we must not permit the public school generation to see the Bible. We must not permit them to see or hear anything concerning the practice of prayer.

We may still permit the President to take his oath of office on the Holy Bible.

We may still permit the United States Senate to open every session with prayer by a chaplain paid by the Government.

We may still permit the House of Representatives to open every session with prayer by a chaplain paid by the Government.

We may still permit our ships at sea the services of naval chaplains who read the Bible to the sailors and marines, and pray in their hearing, and are paid by the Government.

We may still permit the Government to appoint and pay chaplains for our army posts at home and abroad, and maintain an army chaplain's school for the preparation and training of men who read the Bible and pray for and with the United States soldier.

The National Republican Convention may still open its daily sessions with prayer.

The Democratic National Convention may still open its daily sessions with prayer, yea, though the Convention run for three stormy weeks.

Our separate States may provide chaplains for the prisons and penitentiaries, whose business it is to read the Bible and pray with and for the unfortunate.

But the ten or fifteen future Presidents who are now in our public schools—

The future Senators, Representatives, party leaders, officials who are now by the thousands in our public schools—

We must keep the Bible from them!

We must keep the knowledge of prayer from them!

We are permitted a Christian form of Government, but we are forced to maintain a pagan public school!

Every President of the United States to date has been reared in a school that was opened by Bible reading and Prayer.

Why not our future Presidents also?

It is a question hammering for an answer from the conscience of the American people.—The Dearborn Independent.

After organizing by selecting Harry A. Roe secretary and Joseph M. Short, assistant secretary, proceeded at once upon the duties imposed upon us, endeavoring to perform the same in an impartial manner.

As we bring our work to a close we find we have examined fifty-four witnesses, considered twenty-four presentments, found eighteen true bills of indictment.

The charge to the Jury by his Honor Judge Keating, calling our attention to Malfeasance in office of public officials, also to violating the narcotic act was duly considered by the Jury, but no evidence of violations of either of these offences has been presented to us.

The body views with alarm the reports of growing tendency of boys to petty thievng, as these volations of the law will lead to serious results for both boys and their parents, this body prays the Honorable Court (if they deem it proper in their Judgement) to issue a warning to the public of this very serious condition and thereby try to remedy it.

We wish to extend our thanks to the Court, Clerk of the Court, Sheriff, State's Attorney, and all other officers for their courtesy to our many demands.

Respectfully Submitted,
FRANKLIN P. MEDFORD
