MORALS RELIGION AND COMMON SENSE

SEVEN WAYS OF GIVING

1. The Careless Way—To give something to every cause that is presented without inquiring into its merits.
2. The Impulsive Way—To give from impulse—as much and as often as love and pity and sensibility prompt.
3. The Lazy Way—To make a special offer to earn money for benevolent objects by fairs, festivals, etc.
4. The Self-Denying Way—To save cost of luxuries and apply them to purposes of religion and charity. This may lead to asceticism and self-complaisance.
5. The Systematic Way—To lay aside as an offering to God a definite portion of our gains—one-tenth, one-fifth, one-third, or one-half. This is adapted to all, whether rich or poor, and gifts would be largely increased were it practiced.
6. The Equal Way—To give to God and the needy just as much as we spend ourselves, balancing our personal expenditures by our gifts.
7. The Heroic Way—To limit our own expenditures to a certain sum, and give away all the rest of our income.

Eastern Shore Happenings

Georgetown, Del., April 26—James A. Carey, 65, well known contractor and builder, this city, died last night following a short illness of complications.

He was a member of Franklin Lodge No. 12, Royal Arch Masons; Union Lodge No. 3, I. O. O. F.; and Nanticoke Tribe No. 12, I. O. R. M.

Mr. Carey is survived by his widow, Mrs. Katherine Carey, a son, Ollie Landreth Carey, Nassau, and a daughter, Mrs. John Short, of Elm City, N. C.

Cambridge, April 23—James Christopher and his two small children this morning escaped from their blazing dwelling by going out on a porch roof, whence they were taken by ladder.

The house was badly damaged by the fire, which apparently started in the kitchen. The Rescue Fire Company confined the blaze to the lower floor.

Salisbury, April 23—Fire across the street nearly broke up the vaudeville bill at the Arcade Theater last night as a packed house started for the exits.

The concrete building of the City Hand Laundry was almost completely gutted by the flames, which are thought to have originated in sawdust and shavings in the boiler room. Virtually all clothing, collected weekly by the laundry from several Eastern Shore towns, was ruined .Automobile trucks in an annex were driven to safety.

The laundry was owned by W. Arthur Kennerly, former Salisbury Mayor, and associates. The loss was estimated at $30,000 and the owners carried only a small amount of insurance, it was said.

Dover, Del., April 23—The first move toward solving the many incendiary fire mysteries at Hartley, Del., took place today when William Gullett, 55, was brought here for examination by Deputy State's Attorney-General Willey. Gullett was quizzed as to certain statements he is alleged to have made, one of which was that for $2,000 he would see that the fires at Hartley would be stopped. While admitting that he made such a statement, he could give no reason or name any one who had told him to say such a thing.

Late this afternoon Gullett was examined by Dr. Joseph M. McDaniel, as to his mental condition, who said he found him with a low degree of mentality. Gullett will be kept here until further investigations are made.

Governer Robinson and his Secretary of State visited Hartley to secure, if possible, any further clues as to the origin of the fires, a cessation, however, existing since Monday night.

Chestertown, April 26—Dr. Paul Emerson Titsworth, president of Washington College, is the author of a play to be produced by the Freshman class of the college early in May. The play is entitled "The Professor Stubs His Toe," and is said to possess an interesting plot. Dr. Titsworth is the author of a number of short plays of much merit. The leading characters in the new play include Misses Marjorie Sard, Margaret Cooper, Louise Startt, Estelle Nickel and John Alderson, Marion Cross, William Wills and Jerome Frampton.

Georgetown, Del., April 23—Despite the fact that Tuesday was the coldest April 20 recorded in lower Dlaware for the past half century, and peach, plum, cherry and some variety of apple trees are in full bloom, orchardists hold out hope that all of the late varieties of fruit have not been killed by the cold.

The thermometer dropped so low that ice formed more than quarter an inch thick, which is an unusual weather condition for this late in the spring.

An examination of the fruit buds by many of the growers discloses that many were killed, but farmers are optimistic and state that under favorable weather conditions from now on there will be some late peaches.

While the exact extent of the damage by the freeze is not known, growers claim that there was one thing which probably prevented a total destruction of the late peach crop and that was the fact that the buds were dry.

The orchardists state that most any kind of fruit can withstand a lot of cold weather if the buds are free from moisture. Cold northeast rains during former years have been known to greatly injure apple and peach crops.

The strawberry crop, which annually brings in hundreds of thousands of dollars to lower Delaware farmers from the New York, Buffalo, Erie, Philadelphia, Chester and Baltimore markets, is believed to be safe, as there are but few of the fields which show signs of blossoms.
