Sunshine and Health.

Without the sun our globe would be a frozen mass immersed in utter darkness.—But the sun is more than light for the eye, and heat for man and beast, and every living thing. It is an exhaustible reservoir of health-giving energy, which it incessantly pours fourth to man through ninety-three millions of miles of space.

Everybody knows the fact that plants will not thrive in the dark, however complete all the other conditions of growth.—When placed in the window they turn all their leaves to the light, and climbers at a little distance from the window, will leave their supports and stretch out straight towards the sunshine.

It is not so generally known that human beings thrive only in the sunshine, though the wonderful medical power of sunshine was known to the ancients, and is now recognized by all our best physicians.—What that mysterious influence is which the sunshine exerts on the plants to cause them to turn their leaves towards it, and thus drink in a fuller measure of life, and to force even the climbing plant to break away from its twining nature, the wisest cannot tell us. Equally mysterious, but equally real, is the invigorating power of sunshine on human beings. Without it men pine; all morbid tendencies are strengthened, and in a multitude of cases are developed into actual diseases otherwise contracted become liable to a fatal termination.

"What proportion of these crippled patients recover?' asked a visitor at one of the New York hospitals of Dr. Griscom, who had been connected with it for twenty years. "Nearly all on the sunny side of the hospital recover,' he replied, "while many on the shady side linger along till gangrene sets in, when death comes to their relief.' A similar fact is true universally.

We make some practical suggestions.

1. Get sun-baths as often as possible, sick or well.

2. Let the living-rooms and sleeping-rooms of the house be on the sunny side. We add sleeping-rooms, though we use them in the dark, for the sunshine acts as a disinfectant besides giving an invigorating power to the air that fills them.

3. Don't shut out the sunshine because it fades a choice carpet. A new one now and then won't cost as much as doctor's bills,—to say nothing about loss in business and by death.

4. Take the sunny side of the street (except in sultry weather) in going back and forth to business.

5. Let mothers see that their babies get a double portion of sunshine, and make sure that their nursery-maids, when drawing them out in their carriages, don't take the shady side of the street for their own special comfort.

6. Be sure that the sick have a room which the sun enters daily.

The Loaf of Bread.

In a time of famine, a rich man allowed twenty of the poorest children in the town to come to his house, and said to them,—"In this basket there is a loaf of bread for each of you. Take it, and come again at the same hour every day, till God send better times.'

The children pounced upon the basket struggled and fought over the bread, because each wished to have the largest and best loaf; and then they went away without a word of thanks to their friend.

But Francesca, little girl meanly though neatly dressed, stood at a distance, and gratefully took the loaf that was left in the basket, which was the smallest; then she kissed the good mans hand, and went quietly home.

The next day the children were just as naughty and ill-behaved; and this time there was left for poor Francesca a loaf hardly half as large as the others. But when she reached home, and her mother cut the bread, there fell out a number of new pieces of silver. The mother was frightened and said, "Take back the money this moment; for it is certainly in the bread by mistake.' Francesca took it back.

But the kind man said, "It is no mistake, my good child: I had the money baked in the smallest loaf in order to reward you. Be always as contented and yielding as you now are. He who is contented with the smallest loaf, rather than quarrel for the largest, will receive abundant blessings.'—Children's Prize.

"By their Works ye shall Know Them."

The Irishman who thought the druggist stingy because the emetic was so small, is only surpassed in his parsimonious drollery by those who persistently adhere to the use of those nauseating, disgusting large and drastic pills, while Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets, which are sugar-coated, and little larger than mustard seeds, will, by their steady and gentle action on the liver, correct all torpidity, thus permanently overcoming constipation. In South America they have almost entirely superseded all other pills, and are relied on fully by the people, and often used as a preventative of the various affections of the stomach, liver, and bowels, so prevalent in that climate. Pierce's Pocket Memorandum Books are given away at drug-stores.

SMYRNA, Aroostook Co., Maine, Nov. 6.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D.:

Dear Sir—I write to inform you that I have used your Pellets for some time, and find them to be the best medicine that I ever used. I have also used your Favorite Prescription in my family with entire satisfaction. I have seen your People's Common Sense Medical Adviser and I think it is the best thing that I have ever seen.

Yours truly, C. SHERMAN.

A REAL ROMANCE OF SLAVERY.—There was a strange but happy meeting of father and son, after 26 years of separation, at Providence, R. I., a few days since. The father, John Purnell, was formerly a slave in Maryland, but when the boy was two years old, father, mother and child were sold to different masters, and heard from each other no more. The boy about a year ago, drifted to Newport, and as a Baptist exhorter went to Providence to hold meetings from house to house among his race. At one of them the father saw and recognized his son, and the two now hope to find the mother.

To the Sick.

A great many are now suffering with cold, coughs, and other ailments, which, if not promptly attended to, may result in an incurable disease. For all diseases of the throat, breast and lungs, bronchial or asthmatic affections, DR. SWAYNE'S COMPOUND SYRUP OF WILD CHERRY is a pleasant and certain cure. The oldest and best remedy. It promotes expectoration, and removes all diseased matter which obstructs the lungs, the ulceration is healed, and the sufferer restored to perfect health. It is nourishing and strengthening, and for disturbed rest at night, its use will give sweet repose. If the bowels are costive, or liver disordered, take at first a few doses of Swayne's Tar and Sarsaparilla Pills, which will evacuate the bowels, and is of vital importance, relieve the congested liver, and remove all billiousness. Then follow with Swayne's Wild Cherry Syrup, and health, strength and happiness is sure to be the result.

SAVED HIS LIFE.

A Remarkable Cure

Was that of Edward H. Hamson, Engineer at George Sweeny's Pottery, 1334 Ridge Avenue, Philadelphia. He had a violent cough, night sweats, sore throat, great weakness, spit at different times a pint of blood, gave up all hope of recovery Through the use of "Dr. Swayne's Wild Cherry Syrup" became a sound and hearty man, and remains so to this day, although over twenty years have elapsed since he was cured.

☞ We are permitted to refer to the following gentlemen who have experienced great benefit, and used "Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry" in their family for many years.

1877 THE SUN, BALTIMORE, MD. 1877

The Sun, from the geographical position occupied by Baltimore and its proximity to the National Capital, presents unusual advantages to all classes of readers, not only in the city of its publication, but in the surrounding States. It is emphatically a newspaper, and its reputation has been built up by the acknowledged excellence and variety of its news, both local and general. From its fairness and impartiality in discussing public questions, its circulation extends among men of all political parties, and has become, from the thoroughness of its information on all current subjects engaging popular attention, the favorite paper of the people. Everything worthy of special notice or record in the State of Maryland, the District of Columbia, and the States adjacent, will be found from day to day in a compact and readable form in its columns. During the session of Congress it gives special attention to the subjects under discussion, the introduction of important bills, and the pith of the debates. Its special correspondence embraces not only daily but letters and telegrams from Washington, but covers all the most prominent points in the Union, from San Fransisco to New York, and the Eastern cities beyond. Its foreign news is the very latest received from day to day by cable. In its Commercial and Financial Departments the utmost pains are taken to secure perfect accuracy in the quotations, the fluctuations in all classes of public securities being carefully noted.
