Thursday Morning October 18 1877.

THE Orphans' Court of Caroline county will meet on Tuesday, 23rd of October, 1877.

The Editor's Hash.

—New corn is selling in this market at 50 cents per bushel.

—The favor of our Federalsburg correspondent was received too late for this issue.

—The extra meetings at Pippin's M. E. Church is still in progress, well attended and promise good results.

—Our farmers are still engaged in wheat seeding. This week will about wind up the seeding of this crop.

—Mr. Wm. S. Ridgely lost a valuable horse on Sunday last, for which, a short time since, he refused $300.

—Thomas J. Reynolds, of Talbot county had a barn blown down and a horse and mule killed during the storm last week.

—Wild ducks, having spent their Summer at the North are about to return to their Southern home. They are numerous in the waters of the Chesapeake.

—On and after Wednesday the 24th inst., the draw will be off at Dover Bridge for repairs and travel will be interrupted for a week or ten days.

—Thomas Chapel, on Marydel Circuit, said to be the oldest Methodist Church in Delaware, has been rebuilt and will be rededicated sometime next month.

—Mr. H. Blackiston & Son have just received a large stock of new goods and are now busily engaged in opening for public inspection. Advertisement next week.

—Mr. J. W. Bryant of this place has been invited, and has coasented to deliver the opening address at the Bethlehem Agricultural Fair, to be held on the 31st inst.

—Oliver Dudley Goslin, aged 2 years, 3 months and 23 days, son of Thomas H. and Isabella Goslin, Linkwood, Dorchester county, Md., died of membranous croup, October 4th.

—William B. Wilmer, of Chestertown, Md., was stricken with paralysis on Tuesday afternoon and died at 5 P. M. He had twice represented Kent county in the Legislature.

—As spirituous liquors will injure men, so opium or morphia will harmfully effect the baby. Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup is the remedy for the baby. It is free from opium. Price 25 cents.

—A word to the wise. If you are troubled with a cough or cold, procure a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup at once. Its use may save you from severe sickness.—Your druggist keeps it. Price, 25 cents.

—A great revival, of unusual interest, is in progress at Hawkins' Church, Marydel Circuit. The Church and altar is crowded with earnest seekers and devout worshipers and the religious exercises are increasing in interest.

—The fashionable millinery bazaar of Mrs. M. S. Norris, is again attracting the throng of ladies who visit Easton in quest of millinery and fancy goods. She is constantly receiving heavy invoices from the cities; and the ladies are invited to the Grand Opening every Tuesday and Saturday. Read her advertisement in another column, and go see for yourselves.

—The statement in the Journal that neither Mr. Holmes or Mr. Hobbs, candidates on the People's ticket for county Commissioners, cannot read either writing or printing is without the semblance of truth. The admission that they can write their names is a flat contradiction of this statement. We have had business transactions with both gentlemen and know the statement to be untrue.

—It is proposed in Cecil county to test the sense of the people in regard to local option at the coming election by having the words "for local option" and "against local option" printed at the bottom of all tickets used on that occasion. This will afford to the people a fair mode of expressing their sentiments, and also to their delegates in the Legislature a safe foundation to base their action upon.

—Last Monday, about midnight, a terrific whirlwind passed over the farm of Mr. Mifflin Thomas, two and a half miles southwest of Chestertown. It entirely destroyed his dairy and striking a heavily built and strong shed, 91 feet long, it lifted it up and completely demolished it. The path of the whirlwind for a mile or more was marked by the destruction of fences, &c.

—A single Fields man in town last week run the correspondence of the Journal. He has four articles, neither of which for literary merit, would not do credit to a school boy. They were the jest and ridicule of all sensible men. Verily, he will never set the Choptank on fire by the brilliancy of his talents. It is the wail of agony over his dying friend and we hope the people will bear with his weakness.

—Last Thursday the Fields men held a political meeting at Harmony, in the fourth district. It was a poor affair—is so represented by some of those present—notwithstanding the great parade and show attempted on the part of the Ring. We learn about fifty persons were present, and while the whale spouted, but seventeen voters listened to his explanations of the charges against Ring rule in Caroline.—There was no enthusiasm and the whole thing was a tame and spiritless affair.

—Many a grand opportunity has been lost and many an effort which would have been a great achievement for the world's progress, has fallen worse than useless because of Indigestion. At times of such suffering, words have been uttered and actions done by those in awfully responsible positions, that have changed the current of history, for aught we know.—Health, without which one should not attempt more than average effort, is not found with indigestion, but can be possessed by all who will judiciously use Keller's Vegetable Life Drops, the greatest remedy for Indigestion yet discovered.

—Schooner for sale, for want of use.—The schooner John Lank, in good running order, is offered for sale very low.—Terms easy. Can be seen at Cambridge, Md. For particulars apply to T. C. Eaton, Cambridge, Dorchester Co., Md. [4t

—The Wilmington Daily Every Evening & Commercial commenced on Monday morning last a morning edition of that paper. This is something that has been needed in that city for some time past as the afternoon papers are not received or read until the day after publication in the lower part of the Peninsula. The Philadelphia and Baltimore papers are received all over the Peninsula the same day of publication. The morning edition of the Commercial will give it equal advantages with the morning dailies published in other cities. Send us the morning edition, Mr. E. E. & Commercial.

Ring Meeting at Marydel.

The Caroline county Ring, consisting of Fields, Downes & Co., held a meeting at Marydel on Saturday last. The speakers were Senator Daniel Fields, Mr. P. W. Downes and Mr. Mutchler. The latter gentleman's speech, we learn, was respectful, well timed and gentlemanly. The speeches of Messrs. Fields and Downes consisted of misrepresentations and abuse of Mr. Garey and the editor of the Union. We are not a candidate for any office, nor are we likely to be, and do not know why our name should be connected with the issues of the campaign. If the attack upon us is because we have poured grape and canister into the Ring and that has incurred their displeasure and caused them to spit their venom at us, they may continue to rant and splurge until they have exhausted their pent up wrath. It is Mr. Fields who is on trial—not us—and the people will render a righteous verdict on on the 6th of November next. We hope to have a summary of these speeches before our next issue and may have something more to say on this subject. It is a Daniel that is about to be brought to judgment—the other man the people of our county passed their judgment on him some years ago.

Rings—Remedies, and the People's Party.

Mr. Editor :—The correspondents of the Journal, all the way from Hillsboro' to Concord, seem phrensied with the idea that the Democratic party—County, State and Nation, is now in extremis, simply because the people have borne with Ring rule in Caroline county, till "forbearance has ceased to be a virtue." Be not alarmed my Democratic friends—don't take on so wildly—for the fall of the Fields faction here bodes no evil to the Democratic party. The overthrow of the chief of the Ring and his sattellites by the people, affects not Democratic principles or their advancement. It is but proclaiming at the ballot box, that the one man power is distasteful to the people and that the Ring rule has heretofore been endorsed, rather than "fly to evils we know not of." But now, the people, must break the Ring or the Ring will break them. Every one knows that there must be organization and unity of purpose in all parties, but there is this difference to be observed, that the motives that control that unity of purpose should ever be exerted in behalf of wise legislation and in strict obedience to the best interest of the people. The vox populi should never be disregarded, whilst on the other hand, when that unity of purpose is the advancement of the ambitious promptings of corrupt party leaders, for their personal aggrandizement, then the voice of the people is silenced in the clamor and cry of party and right after right and dollar after dollar of the citizen and tax payer is confiscated in the interest of greedy political tricksters, demagogues and office seekers. When nominations are forced upon parties, tell us how they are to be gotten rid of? Men tell you I am opposed to the repeated nomination of one man for a life time—I am opposed to the humiliating boast that one man carries the political power of Caroline county in his pocket—I believe the people ought to have some voice in saying who should be their rulers and yet these men rivet anew the chains of their political serfdom, by voting year after year for their same masters. All this they will tell you, saying nothing about the Russian soldiers of the three little Districts—nothing about that sham resignation—nothing about that secret convention in the face of the resolution of the County Central Committee, requiring the nominations to be made in public—nothing about that contemptible law which created the Board of Review—nothing about those extravagant appropriations for State printing and such like legislation. How by submitting to forced nominations can the people ever break the power of professional politicians and office seekers? Vote against such men and measures if you wish to condemn them. In New York and other cities the people, by their votes, successfully mined and counter-mined for the safety and security of their political liberty, and by the organization of "the people in the name of the people," overthrew a Ring rule that stole the "livery of Heaven to serve the Devil in." In the name of the people can these factions be broken and scattered, but in no other way. Endorse them by your vote and you make perpetual their power—beat them at the ballot box and they vanish never again to return. If, however, the people can be deluded to approve of the shams practiced upon them in the name of the Democratic party of Caroline county, why vote their continuance and say that from party prejudice you lack the manhood and moral courage to vindicate an independent suffrage, and that your only trust for the overthrow of Ring rule is that poetic justice will reach them in the fulfillment of these words:

"That there is some secret thunder;
Some hidden wrath,
To blast the wretch
Who owes his greatness
To his country's ruin."

Perhaps so. We will see.

A DEMOCRAT.

Mr. Fields' Banker.

A few days ago the writer was drawn into a discussion, respecting the probable chances of success of the Senatorial candidate in this county, with a well-informed and ardent supporter of Mr. Fields. My Democratic friend advanced various reasons why his favorite ought to, and, in his opinion, would win the fight; among which he cited his candidates superior ability as an orator and statesman—his tact and talent as a political organizer and leader—his easy and urbane manners in his intercourse with the masses in the middle and lower walks of life—his thorough qualification to fill, with honor and dignity, the exalted office of Senator, &c., &c.

"Besides," he remarked, with what he intended as convincing emphasis, "you know Mr. Fields is called 'the watch-dog of the treasury,' and the soubriquet was honestly earned too, and will help him among the large tax-payers.

I replied "that there was a period in Mr. Fields political history when the title of 'watch-dog of the treasury' might have been applied to him with some little show of significance; but having used, in the not very remote past, his official position as President of the Senate to saddle the treasury with the hire of his private secretary; and having used his personal influence as a partisan, to have a man appointed deputy folder in the House of Delegates, for whom he (the aforesaid watch-dog,) and one-half of the "Fish Commission" were security for, at least a part of the purchase money of certain real estate in the town of Denton; and that said deputy folder was present and ready for duty, had there been anything for him to do, just eighteen days during the session of the Legislature, but drew his per diem for the entire time—and did it manfully—and said per diem having been applied to the liquidation of the debt aforesaid, for which the Senator from Caroline and one-half of the 'Fish Commission' aforesaid, were legally bound by the judgment of the Circuit Court—that these raids having been made upon the treasury, with perhaps others that neither of us know anything about, I was inclined to the belief that the 'watch-dog' business would henceforward, be a failure."

The foregoing remarks caused my friend to turn red in the face, and he asked, with considerable bitterness of tone:

"Who started them Black Republican lies?" with an adjective before the black, more familiar to Democratic than Republican ears.

I replied that the journals and pay-rolls of the Senate and House of Delegates originated a part, a physician of Democratic proclivities was responsible for a part, and in regard to the eighteen days duty, the worthy deputy folder himself might be interrogated!

At this the Fields' friend became angry—it was very unreasonable in him, I think—but he got angry, and said "he did not care if Mr. Fields' private secretary was paid out of the State Treasury—he had a right to be thus paid—that the deputy folder had as much right to full pay as the members;" and finllay forgot his prudence. I thought, and asserted "that Mr. Fields would apply to the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, and get money enough to buy his seat in the Senate.

Now did this man's words mean anything, or were they the mere froth of an angry partisan, worsted in an argument? At the time and immediately after the conversation occurred, I thought but little of, nor cared but little for his angry vaporing; but upon more mature reflection, there seems to me to be something startling in the bare possibility that the man told the truth. If the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad has determined to send Mr. Fields to the Senate again, by the use of its money, there is but one way of preventing it, and that is, by thoroughly acquainting the voters of the county of the fact. There are surely enough men in Caroline county, not for sale, to defeat Mr. Fields, and the schemes of a soulless corporation. L. P.

For the Union.

Mr. Editor :—I see by your last week's issue that you have allowed your correspondent "Plebeian" to assert things in regard to Senator Fields and the Republicans of the fifth district which are not the truth. There was no arrangement entered into here on the part of Senator Fields with any Republican by which he was voted for by Republicans and Mr. Deweese marked off the Democrat ticket and the Republican candidate put in his stead.—There is no Republican in the district mean enough to enter into any such arrangement, nor do I think that Mr. Fields would be guilty of any such intrigues. The Senator is a Democrat of a Dyed in the wool variety, that stands for his party through War and rumors of Wars, going night and day for its success. Your correspondent failed to name the Republican that was put on in Mr. Deweese's place, and as there was no Republican on the ticket in this district except myself, I feel it due to the Senator, and also to myself, to denounce as false, any statement that there was any such arrangement entered into here. Why, my Dear Sir, I would rather that Mr. Fields' opponent in that canvass had been elected and all the rest of the ticket left out than for all the rest of the ticket to have been elected and he left cut. The Republicans that voted for Mr. Fields here were men that could not be controlled by us, even had we known at the time, who they were, nor do we suppose that Mr. Fields knew who the Democrats were that voted for the Republican candidate, else probably he might have tried his hand at controlling them otherwise. Mr. Fields led his State ticket but very few votes in this district, while Mr. Willis (if my memory serves me right,) lead his in all the remaining districts of the county, and it so happened that I am behind my State ticket in all the districts, save the fourth and the fifth. I have accused nobody of trading, nor should I have ever accused the Republican who voted for Mr. Deweese in Denton, and Mr. Dawson in Greensboro', of having traded me off, for I suppose that men usually vote as they want. If your correspondent, "Plebeian," would wait patiently, and let Senator Fields alone, he would have a place for him after awhile. The Senator has done better for the Democrats of Caroline than all the Democratic Senators that have preceded him. He has created office after office, and placed his Democratic friends in Caroline in them, with good rich salaries, some such offices as are unknown in the annals of law making.—Why he has only been in the Senate of Maryland for ten years, and he now has both branches of the Legislature largely officered from the county, and her distinguished Democratic sons filling a great man yof the offices of the State. Send him back again and again for the next twenty years and he will create by law, office after office, until they will reach in number, not less than twelve or fifteen hundred, and that will supply every Democrat in Caroline with a place and a nice salary. Wait patiently there is a good time coming Democrats.—

J. H. WILLIAMS.

"Pen Pictures."

Mr. Editor :—A writer in the last Journal, who signs himself "Workingman," and calls his piece "Pen Pictures," (althouge what he pictures, I am unable to see,) evidently wants to say something and he says it. He commences by speaking of Mr. Garey as a U. S. Marshal with "blue coat and brass buttons." He does not like the suit. Now, I cannot see what he has against a U. S. Marshall. He certainly does not mean that it is a dishonorable office, or that it disgraces a man to hold that office. One might infer that he was one of those who cursed the government and bawled so loud for Jeff Davis during the first of the war, and who afterwards had their headquarters in swamps and pine thickets, where they could cheer for their cause, (providing they were not too loud,) and who had a wholesome fear of the U. S. Marshals, as well as "blue coats and brass buttons." But there were others besides Mr. Garey who tyranized over them; two of them are now holding office in the Fields party. What about them? A Democratic speaker in Denton two years ago said, "let us draw a veil over the past." I think "Workingman" would do well to draw a veil, i. e., if he has one, if not he had better borrow one. Mr. Garey does not propose to blow up Mr. Fields—that has been done sufficiently now—but to compost him. He speaks of Mr. Garey as a land-lord; well if he ownes property, he acquired it, and it shows economy and shrewdness, both good qualities, and it is as good a plan as to marry it." Also he speaks of him as a State defaulter. Well, the least said about that the better for the Fields men, at least judging from the printed list in the last Journal. He lays great stress on Mr. Garey's outfit when the stranger met him, and of his being in his shirt sleeves. Now, Mr. "Workingman," if you are a workingman you certainly ought not to object to a farmer in his shirt sleeves and the answer he made to the stranger showed that he was not above speaking to a man on the road, like some other people are i. e., after the election. I guess that Mr. Fields never works hard enough to draw his coat, unless it is when defending the "Fish Commission" and "Board of Review." As "Workingman" has had his say I hope he is now resting in peace.

Our Preston Letter.

PRESTON, Oct. 16th 1877

The unusually large crops of wheat harvested by the farmers in this part of the county last summer, will cause them to increase the number of acres devoted to that cereal the present fall. The amount of commercial fertilizers and other manure that has been, and will be used in this neighborhood, on the wheat and grass crops is far beyond that of any preceding year; and so general has been the demand for artificial manures that the Baltimore markets have been drained of Phosphates of almost every brand. The local factories have not been able to fill their orders, owing to the unprecedented demand for bone meal and other constituents among the farmers, many of whom are buying the ingredients and making their own fertilizers. With the present magnificent corn crop—a favorable year for wheat, with fair prices for agricultural products, and the farmers of this locality can bid defiance to hard times.

Protracted meetings are in progress at Bethlehem, (Methodist Episcopal,) Hog Creek School-house, Southern Methodist, and Union Grove, (Methodist Pretestant,) churches. The congregations are large, and the preaching above the average.—Quite a revival is probable at Union Grove, and on Sunday night last, a regular old fashioned Methodist shout was kept up till a late hour. Several persons have already professed a change of heart, and the altar is nightly crowded with penitents. At Hog Creek School-house the conduct of some of the half grown men and boys, some of the latter of very tender years, is reprehensible in the extreme. The meeting at Bethlehem is progressing very favorably, though there is less cant and fewer uncouth antics than has been usual at that place.—There were two conversions on Sunday night last—both of them grown up and intelligent young ladies.

I was amused at some remarks of one of the "unterrified" this morning. They were characteristically democratic. He stopped me on the road, and after passing the usual compliments remarked:—

"Wilkinson give you fellows fits in the Journal last Saturday." I replied, "That I saw nothing remarkably striking in Mr. Wilkinson's production, except its total lack of point."

"Well," said he, continuing his remarks, "I couldn't see a d——d bit of sense in it myself; and for that reason concluded it was the biggist thing on record."

I drove on, and left him happy in the belief that Mr. W. is the champion "writist of the county. NORWOOD.

To the Public.

IN looking over the "Union" of July 26th, I find a notice forwarning all persons from paying any money due the firm of T. D. Case & Co. to myself. Feeling aggrieved, or that great injustice has been done me by this publication, I herewith transmit the facts, as the public may understand my position.—Some time in the year 1875, T. D. Case, J. B. Draper, J. T. Sangston and myself entered into a copartnership to transact the boating business, and at their request, I did take charge of the books of said firm, (T. D. Case & Co.) When this firm was dissolved, I proceeded to collect the bills and liquidate the debts of said firm, and applied out of my individual funds, seven hundred and fifty dollars, to assist in same, which amount is still due me. T. D. Case overdrew his account three hundred and two dollars and ten cents. After finding he could get no more of said funds he caused this notice, through malice, to appear, I conjecture, to injure me. As far as the old firm of Case & West is concerned, I will state that T. D. Case, some time ago, applied for the benefit of the Bankrupt law, and I as the only partner left, presume I have the privilege to close up the same, which I shall proceed to do in case of both the firms referred to.
