THE GOLDEN SIDE.

If we would only stop to take it; And many a tone from the better land,

The grass is green and the flowers are for food. Though the winter storm prevaileth.

Better to hope though the clouds hang And to keep the eyes still lifted; For the sweet blue sky will soon peep through, When the ominous clouds are rifted! There was never a night without a day, Or an evening without a morning; And the darkest hour, as the proverb

Is the hour before the dawning.

There is many a gem in the path of life, approached and mingled with them. That is richer far than the jeweled looking up the great steeple, which tow-
