DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY MEETINGS.

Pursuant to resolutions passed by the Democratic State Central Committee at its meeting held in Baltimore City on the 16th of June last,

Notice is hereby given to the Democratic conservative voters of Caroline county to assemble in their respective districts on Saturday, the 30th day of September instant at the usual voting places in said districts, and select five delegates to represent the several election districts of Caroline county in convention, to be held at Denton on Tuesday, the 3d day of October next, for the purpose of choosing three delegates to represent Caroline county in the Congressional Convention that meets at Easton on Thursday, October 5th next, to nominate a candidate for Congress for the first Congressional District of Maryland, and also for the purpose of choosing at the same time and place three delegates to represent Caroline county in the Judicial Convention that meets at Chestertown on Wednesday, the 11th day of October next, to nominate three candidates for Judges of the Second Judicial Circuit of Maryland.

PHILIP W. DOWNES,
GEO. H. MOORE,
DR. H. F. WILLIS,
State Central Com. for Caroline Co.

GOV. HAMILTON is again reported to be at his home at Hagerstown, quite ill.

MR. BLAINE in speaking of the administration of Arthur, the other day at Chicago, remarked, "I wish it well, poor thing!"

ALL persons who have not yet been re-registered this year, and who fail to apply for registration on either Monday or Tuesday of next week, will lose their vote this fall.

LET MEN BE SENT to represent Caroline county in the coming Judicial and Congressional nominating conventions who will represent the best sentiment of the Democratic party in the county.

IF THE CONVENTION to meet in Denton next Tuesday shall be marked in its deliberations by a freedom from personal aims and individual interests and mastery, that will be a long step toward placing the Democratic party of Caroline county in shape for future work.

MAJOR PHIPPS, the genial gentleman who stole the roof and several other articles of an equally portable nature from the Philadelphia Almshouse, has been captured. Philadelphia is very gleeful over it, but nobody has beed able to discover where he pawned that roof-tree yet.

As the small-pox is prevelent in Baltimore and other places, everybody should provide against it by vaccination. Teachers, we believe, are required to exclude all children from the public schools who have not been vaccinated within a reasonable time. The teachers should strictly observe this requirement.

WHILE all over the State the approaching judicial elections are exercising the people, down in the lower counties of the Eastern Shore of Maryland they are silent on the judge question, there being none to elect this fall. In that district the judges were elected the same time they were all over the State, but since that time two of them successors have been appointed and since elected by the people.

WE are again reminded of the wide circle of British possessions around the globe. We hear of rejoicing over the British victory in Egypt from Quebec to Winnipeg and Vancouver, from Halifax to Jamaica and Belize, from Hong Kong to Calcutta, Bombay, and Aden, from Kyprus to Malta, Gibraltar, and northward to the Shetland Islands, and from Melbourne to Cape Town. Verily the fame of a victorious British soldier fills the wide world, both the dry land and the seas thereof.

THE Democratic State central committee of Maryland, which met in Baltimore in May last, ordered the primaries to be held throughout the State on the 27th of September, but in a number of the counties this order was disregarded, and the primaries were held last week. Tuesday county conventions for the selection of congressional delegates were held in Wicomico, Somerset, and Dorchester counties and one or two of these counties also selected delegates to the judicial convention. In three of the four counties Hon. George W. Covington was warmly endorsed for re-election to Congress from the first district. Ours are delayed until to-day.

JAY GOULD wants to educate public opinion, as well as control the stock markets. He aims at nothing less than the control of the Associated Press. It is now understood that Mr. Gould has control of three of the seven journals which compose the Associated Press—the Tribune, World, and Mail and Express. Fears are now entertained that he has finally secured control that staunch and uncompromising journal the Sun. If Gould should succeed in controlling the Associated Press, and the fact should be known to the public, it would not be a misfortune at all. He could give coloring to the news furnished to suit his speculations, but everybody would soon know the news had been "doctored" by the greedy monopolist, and Gould would derive just about as much benefit from his news as a politician does who sets up a paper as his organ. Gould wants a gigantic organ, but his scheme is as easily seen through as that of the professional politician who disgusts all thinking men with the tune ground out by hire.

THE New York Democracy is once again a united party, all organizations in New York city having been given representation in the State Convention at Syracuse last week. Whether this reunion is a genuine and hearty one, will only be known after the ballots are counted next November. It is to be hoped that the wrangling factions have at last realized the folly of their quarrels and that hereafter they will be found working together harmoniously for victory. The nomination of Mayor Cleveland, of Buffalo, for Governor, is generally regarded as a very strong one. He is a man of undoubted integrity and ability, and very popular in western New York. He was not the favorite of any faction, but from the beginning of his candidacy received the support of them all.

The Primaries.

There never was any thing plainer than that if any combination of office-seekers shall undertake to lay hands on the primaries and nominate themselves or their tools, no fear of consequences, we are persuaded, will prevent such combination from coming to grief. The outcome of the primaries to be held to-day is to be the election of delegates to the judicial and congressional conventions, but the candidates who may go into the field under their choice will be respected not one bit more than the means which brought them forward. Honest delegates will make good nominations, and dishonest delegates bad nominations.

Now, to speak plainly, we believe that primary meetings have correctly become known as a device to commit the voters to bad nominations, instead of being a system for securing good ones. It is idle to deny that this is literally the truth, and it must consequently be plain that the citizen who does his own honest voting, has but the single remedy of refusing to be thus committed. This far all Democrats are right in "bolting." The process of poisoning or muddying the political springs has been found unprofitable and is going out of fashion, since it is definitely understood that people will not drink the water. Upon this point the determination of even the most decided party men, who are outside of the managing cabals, and have no personal purposes to serve, is resolute and definite.

The above is the dark side of the present political situation hereabout. The bright side is much pleasanter to contemplate, and we only refer to the dark side for fear the above condition of public opinion is not as fully realized as it should be. If the nominations soon to be made shall reflect the choice of the majority of the Democratic party, no fear as to their final election by the people.

So far as public sentiment upon any subject can be gathered from its almost unanimous expression in the community, and the nearly unanimous reports of the press, the people want Congressman Covington and Judges Robinson, Wickes and Stump retained in their present places. While these gentlemen are capable and fit, they are not the only ones whose capacity is equal to the offices named. But the sentiment of the masses of the party point to them as the nominees who should go into the field, and we sincerely trust that the success of the party may not be put in peril by any vain attempt of interested individuals or combinations to resist the inevitable.

Let Congressman Covington and Judges Robinson, Wickes, and Stump be renominated, and their election is assured.

State Political Notes.

—"The Independent American Party" of Baltimore claims to have 12,303 names on its rolls.

—Congressman Covington seems to have things "solid" for renomination, as the boys would say.

—A recent article in the Easton Ledger nominating Mr. William McKenney, of Queen Anne county, as the next Democratic candidate for Governor, has called forth several echoes from the State press.

—Greensborough Free Press: The writer was in Easton on Tuesday and had a little opportunity of learning some facts about Col. Mullikin, the recently nominated Republican candidate for Congress. The colonel belongs to the most extreme and proscriptive class of the party. He was one of the men who took part in the disfranchisement of Democrats in 1864 and endeavored to drive them from the polls. His creed seems to be "party" even to the exclusion of Constitution and laws, if they stand in the way of party success. A prominent Republican remarked that his election was a forlorn hope. Strange how soon the feelings of an "unanimous convention" undergo a change!

In the Superior Court of Baltimore city last Tuesday Judge Gilmor, in the case of Armstrong, Cator & Co. vs. Emma McClanahan, decided that an attachment on original process will lie under the act the act of 1882, chapter 265, against a married woman carrying on a business as a feme sole, and that attachment, under Section 23 of Article 51, Rev. Code, will lie against a married woman so carrying on business for debts contracted prior to the act of 1882, notwithstanding the repeal of said section by that of 1882, as the act of 1882 applied only to debts contracted after its passage. To deprive a creditor of the only remedy given for the collection of his debt would be virtually to destroy the debt itself, and a legislative act that would undertake to do this would be in violation of the prohibition in the constitution of the United States of any act violating the obligation of contracts.

The local editor of the Springfield (Mass) Republican, Mr. J. H. Mabbitt, says: "We have used St. Jacobs Oil in our family for rheumatism, and found it to be a first-class thing."—Boston Herald.

An Independent View.

Albany Special to the Boston Herald.

Grover Cleveland, a man until to-day almost unknown outside of the city of Buffalo, will be the next Governor of New York. He will defeat Charles J. Folger, who for twenty-five years has been one of the most prominent and respected citizens of the State. For once the Democrats have made the utmost of their opportunity; they have presented a man who will poll the entire strength of his own party and draw thousands of votes from the Republicans. The full extent and stubbornness of the anti-Arthur sentiment is just beginning to be understood. From all sections come reports that the so-called Garfield men, who compose at least one-third, if not one-half, of the Republican voters, will either stay away from the polls or else support the Democratic ticket. They say they are disgusted and indignant at the ultra-Stalwart policy of the President, and they hope that Arther will be condemned this fall by the loss of New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts. After that triple blast they say he may be made to understand that the members of the party who were sent into political exile by the bullet of an assassin have not lost their convictions or their power of retaliation. Were Secretary Folger not the choice of the Administration, had he not been thrust upon the party by such methods as prevailed at Saratoga, he would, to say the least have an even chance of success. As matters stand Folger will be ruthlessly knifed, because of the cause which he represents, and because of the methods by which he was forced into the field. The convention in Syracuse was as remarkable for its unexpected sagacity as was the Saratoga convention for its unexpected rashness. It was a keen piece of political management to fight upon a comparatively unknown man, and a young man. It was especially shrewd to pick out a Democrat who has proved so acceptable to independent Republican sentiment that he was elected Mayor of a Republican municipality by 6,000 majority.

BADLY MIXED.—That republican politics in Pennsylvania are badly mixed is illustrated in the announcement that the Hons. George Lear and Thomas M. Marshall will address a meeting of the independent republicans at Chambersburg Wednesday evening of next week. Mr. Lear presided over the convention which nominated General Beaver, the stalwart republican candidate for Governor, and Mr. Marshall was the nominee of the same convention for for Congressman at large, but declined, not being willing to give a quasi-indorsement to Senator Don Cameron's bossism by remaining on the stalwart ticket.

STATE NEWS.

—Dorchester county is to have a $13,-845 jail.

—Jno. T. Moore, a leading business man of Centreville, died recently of consumption.

—A movement is on foot far an inter-State industrial exhibition in Baltimore in 1884.

—The entries for the stakes to be run at the fall meeting of the Maryland Jockey Club at Pimlico the last week in Octobor indicate splendid sport for the racing week.

—A gang of bank robbers struck Baltimore the other day. and last Monday morning made a successful haul of twelve second mortgage coupon bonds of the Columbia and Greenville Railroad Co., of the value of $1,000 each, from the cashier's room of the Bank of Baltimore.

—The Anne Arundel Advertiser is responsible for the following: "Mr. G. S. Chestnut used rye straw in packing ice in his ice house. Some rye grains that were scattered and fell between the cakes of ice he finds sprouted, and now, as he is using the ice, he finds the roots, in some cases four inches long, have permeated cakes of ice as solid apparently as glass. The roots, in their icy soil, are alive and the rye is growing."

—Justice Robinson, of Easton, discovered in his office a curious instance of what a spider can do. A cowsucker snake a foot long had secreted himself under an old sofa where a large spider had a web. The spider had succeded in entangling the snake, and when discovered half of his body was raised from the floor.

Literary.

"What Women Should Know" is a book for and about women, written by Mrs. E. B. Duffey, and published by the Fireside Publishing Company, 20 North Seventh Street, Philadelphia. It is a book which should be possessed by every mother in the land. There seems to be nothing to suggest to make the instructions of the book more thorough, comprehensive and adapted to the every-day use of all women, in every station in life.

"Domestic Economy," a new book containing numerous valuable receipts is a large and well arranged volume on cookery collected by Mrs. Col. R. C. Hollyday, and published by John Murphy & Co., Baltimore. Mrs. Hollyday has been collecting and testing receipts for the past twenty years, and has fortunately secured through her extensive family connections, most of the choice receipts of the old families of Maryland and Virginia. Her collection has long been esteemed the most valuable in the State, and her friends for years have been importuning her to publish them. She has at last yielded to their wish and the book may now be obtained from bookstores or the publishers.

HEROES OF THE PLAINS.

In American history there are no more interesting figures than the heroes of the border. Bold, dashing, adventurous and patriotic; loyal to friends, to country and to the interests of society, their work was singularly effective in the advancement of western civilization. With seeming recklessness, their efforts were in the interest of law and order, and the people owe them a debt of gratitude they do not forget. Their page in history is as facinating as it is honorable, and there is a peculiar pleasure in reading the narrative of their wonderful exploits. Among those whose careers are singularly adventurous, are Kit Carson, Wild Bill, Buffalo Bill, Capt. Paynes, Texas Jack, California Joe, Capt. Jack and others, whose achievements have made them justly and widely famous. They have a warm place in the hearts of the people, and a prominent one in their admiration. It is appropriate that their achievements should be recorded, and we note with pleasure the forthcoming of a new book from the press of D. N. Thompson & Co., New York and St. Louis, called the "Heroes of the Plains," covering the ground of border history. It is profusely illustrated with 100 engravings and 16 colored lithograph plates. It is sold by subscription through canvassing agents and presents an opportunity to agents to make money especially inviting. We advertise it in another column.

HUBBARD'S
Standard Phosphate.

Acknowledged The Wheat Fertilizer of the Country.

The gratifying results that have been obtained from the use of our Standard for the last 10 years, as well as the present crop, seemed to be crowned with larger yields than ever. All goes to prove to us beyond a doubt that we have not failed in the great object we had in view, and that to make our goods a profit to our customers. The value of a Super-Phosphate largely depends upon the way and manner the combination of material are applied together, which by our scientific process we are enabled to guarantee quality, uniformity and condition, as will be seen by analysis below.

PROF. P. B. WILSON.

The question has been asked us, how can we afford to sell our goods showing by analysis a cash value of $40 and over for $35 per ton. To which we answer, by producing the largest amount of Soluble matter from the materials that is capable of being produced. If, from the same materials we only produced half the amount of soluble matter, we would only get half the value. This being the only correct guide for the farmer in selecting his fertilizer, we would suggest that other manufacturers who are selling in the county to publish their analysis, and show to the buyer the value of their goods. We hold all the original copies of our analysis which can be seen at our office. Our stock is heavy, several hundred ton, and in the best of order for drilling. We hope our patrons will send in their orders early, as we have but one time of settlement and that at the close of the season, and beside s give them goods in better order and avoid disappointment.
