When subscribers fail to receive the Journal re gularly, they will please notify the pub'ishers.

—A new sewing machine will be given to the person sending us the largest number of new, paying and permanent subscribers (exceeding twenty five) from either of the lower (4th or 5th) districts of the county during January.

The Journal—The New Year.

Another year has closed and we have entered upon 1883, the seventh year of the present management of THE JOURNAL. We feel under many obligations for the generous support accorded us and sincerely thankful for the bright prospect for continued prosperity. THE JOURNAL now has a larger number of subscribers than ever before, which is a gratifying evidence that our efforts are appreciated, thus enabling us from time to time to improve and add attractions to our paper. What we have already done in the way of improvement is the only promise we make of what we intend to do, and if the same liberal patronage is received in the future, our most sanguine hopes will be realized.

Another Sudden Death.

Martin Beachamp, about thirty years of age, a farmer who lived near Concord, met with a sudden death on Sunday last. He had been to the barnyard attending to his stock and returned to his house complaining of feeling unwell. His wife handed him a cup of coffee, which he drank, and then reeled and fell from the chair and died in a few minutes.

Mercantile Changes.

—Mr. E. W. Liden, late of Williams & Diden, commission merchants, Philadelphia, has engaged in store keeping at Andersontown.

—Mr. Thomas Kinnamon will in a few days enter the dry goods store of Mr. Jas. N. Smith, in Denton, as a partner. Mr. K. is favorably known in Denton, having been employed as a clerk where he now engages in partnership.

Religious Revivals.

The revivial services at Bethel M. P. church, Caroline circuit, began about six weeks ago, and have been progressing with unabated interest. There have been about 60 conversions and 30 accessions to that church.

—Revival services commenced in the Denton M. E. church last Tuesday evening. The preachers in charge, Revs. A. D. Davis and A. W. Holt, each made earnest addresses. Inclement weather has prevented a large attendance.

Sale of a Railroad.

A Cambridge, Md., dispatch dated Wednesday says: The Dorchester and Delaware railroad was sold at auction here to-day for $51,000 to R. H. Barcklay, representing the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore. Besides representatives of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore, A. Purvis & Son, of Philadelphia, Levi E. Travers and others were among the bidders. The road was withdrawn in September by the trustees at a bid gf $22,000 from the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore, and the sale postponed, as advertised.

Grange Officers for 1883.

Denton Grange P. of H. No. 47 met on December 27 and elected officers for the ensuing year, as follows: Master, Edward Saulsbury; Overseer, A. J. Wilson; Lecturer, J. White; Steward, Wm. E. Saulsbury; Chaplain, C. H. Shields; Treasurer, B. Kinnamon; Secretary, H. C. Fisher; Doorkeeper, J. R. Griffin; Pomona, Mrs. A. J. Wilson; Flora, Mrs. J. E. Wilson; Ceres, Mrs. J. R. Griffin; L. A. S., Mrs. J. White. The members are requested to be prompt in attendance at the next meeting which will be on the second Wednesday in January, at 1 o'clock, sharp, when the newly elected officers will be installed.

Travel to Baltimore.

Supt. I. N. Mills, of the Delaware division of the P. W. & B. R. R., made Denton a visit yesterday, prospecting with a view, it is said, to the improving of passenger travel between the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Baltimore. Mr. Mills last Wednesday purchased the Dorchester and Delaware road, and rumor says he proposes in a short time putting on a very fast steamboat to ply between this Shore and Maryland metropolis, the boat to leave Cambridge in the morning touching Oxford and the most important points and arrive in Baltimore before noon. This arrangement would have the advantage of being at the terminii of two railroads which would be feeders to the steamboat, and convenience peninsula travel to Baltimore. Mr. Mills will confer with President Ensign, of the Maryland Steamboat Company, in Baltimore to-day about the connection of the steamboats at the trains at Oxford and Cambridge.

Fish-Hatching in Maryland.

The very interesting process of hatching fish from eggs procured by the State fish commissioners is now in operation at the batching house in Druid Hill Park, Baltimore, and for those intested in fish culture the place is well worth a visit. There have been received thus far this season 100,000 white-fish eggs from Northville, Michigan, and 100,000 trout eggs from Chestertown, New Hampshire. A few of the trout are already hatched, and are swimming about in the tanks with the sac yet attached to them. The little fellows are very diminutive as yet, and can hardly be distinguished in the water. It is expected that the entire 100,000 eggs will be hatched out inside of two weeks. None of the white-fish are yet hatched. They can be seen, however—a little black speck—in the interior of their transparent sacs. Mr. Hughlett it also paying attention to about 300,000 trout eggs at Oakland, and Mr. Delawder has a like number in a little creek which empties in the Choptank river. These were placed in the creek as an experiment, the result of which is yet unknown. There are also remaining at the hatching house about seven hundred of the German carp ready for distribution.

Vennor for What He's Worth.

6th and 7th.—A milder term commence, with snow-falls in Northern and Western sections. Snow, sleet and and rain well to the Southward.

28th and 29th.—Mild weather probably sets in with general thaw and break up in Northern section, with wet snow-falls and rains.

30th and 31st.—Snow disappearing in many sections. Very mild, with rains in Western and Middle States.

The Oyster Question.

A letter from Oxford says that considerable alarm exists among the oyster tongers there on account of the scarcity of oysters. They are now beginning to realize that unless something is done by the next Legislature to pretect the natural oyster-beds, that it will only require a few more years of indiscriminate oyster catching to entirely clean up the oysters in the vicinity. Five years ago about 30 men constituted the number who were regularly engaged in tonging oysters; today they may be counted by the hundreds. From 1876 to 1880 the average catch of two men per day was about sixty bushels, which readily sold at Oxford at prices ranging from 20 cts. to 40 cts. per bushel. The average of two men this season will not exceed 25 bushels, and the weather up to this time has been unusually favorable. The price paid by packers for such oysters as are being caught now rarely ever exceed 25 cents per bushel, and this class of oysters was unsalable a few years ago. Oysters from the size of a 25-cent piece to that of a silver dollar are eagerly raked in by the tongers and readily sold to the packers, some as low as 16¼ cents per bushel. If these oysters were allowed to remain undisturbed for two years longer they would be three times as large and would command double the price.

What is doing the most damage to the oyster interests is the taking of oysters from our waters to the New England States by large vessels at a season of the year when the oyster is spawning. These vessels, chartered for the purpose, make their appearance in the oyster districts early in the spring, and buy from the tongers paying them as much and sometimes more than they realize for their oysters from the packers in the height of the season.

The Chesapeake Mill.

A new steam flouring and saw mill was put in operation on Kent Island recently, which promises to be a profitable investment for the owner as well as a great convenience to the community in which it is located. The following particulars of the starting and description ofthe mill were furnished by our reporter:

About 2 o'clock on Wednesday, Dec. 20, Messrs. Emerson & Evitts, the wide awake machinery and hardware men of Denton, Md., who furnished the whole outfit complete, including power, arrived at the mill. It was nearing co apletion under the supervision of Mr. A. L. Lash, a master millwright from Indianapolis, Ind., one of the employes of the Nordyke & Marmon Company of that city, builders of the flouring mill machinery; and about 8 o'clock in the evening, everything being completed and in readiness, Engineer Carman stood at the throttle of his engine waiting for the signal to start, and in a few moments Miller Roloson gave him the word go. The throttle was opened and in a few seconds the busy hum of swift moving machinery and the business-like puff, puff, puff of the engine enlivened the little village of Chesapeake, amid the enthusiasm of a large crowd of spectators who had been present several hours anxiously awaiting to see the macninery put in motion. The mill commenced at once turning out flour unsurpassed in quality at the rate of two barrels per hour, and corn meal at the rate of one hundred and fifty bushels per day.

A brief description of the mill is as follows: The flouring mill is a two run, one for wheat, the other for corn, with the latest improved cleaning and bolting machinery. Everything necessary to make it complete was manufactured by the Nordyke & Marmon Co., and sold by Emerson & Evitts, their Eastern Shore agent, through Col. Wm. Henry Legg, of Kent Island. It was set up ready for operation by Mr. A. L. Lash, of Indianapolis, an expert millwright, who has the reputation here, judging from his work on this mill and the great satisfaction his work has given both the agents for the sale of the machinery and the owner of the mill, is master of his trade and an honor to his employers. The saw mill is of the circular type and has a capacity of from 5,000 to 8,000 feet of lumber day, according to the way it is handled. The motive power of the mill is a 30-horse stationary engine, with 35-horse locomotive boiler of modern construction, which, with the saw mill, was built by the Geiser Mf . Co., of Waynesboro, Pa., and furnished by Emerson & Evitts, their general agents, who, with the assistance of Mr. Chas. O. Kline, an employe of the manufacturers, put in position and started the engine and saw mill two months ago. The whole outfit is first-class in every particular, and will be a standing monument to the credit of the makers, the agents and the millwrights and a profitable investment for the owner for years to come. The mill is owned and operated by Mr. John O. Phillips, a clever and enterprising gentleman, a native of Kent Island, who has in a very short time built up the village of Chesapeake, and is very popular throughout the Island and has a large circle of substantial friends He had been in the mercantile business, and by honesty, industry and fair dealing has won a competency for himself and the esteem and confidence of his neighbors. We predict for him a prosperous business at the Chesapeake Mills. He is the right man in the right place. Such an enterprise in this town would be a good investment for some of our capitalists as well as a great convenience to the public.

MINOR MATTERS.

—The school board meets Tuesday.

—Presiding Elder Todd occupied the pulpit in the M. E. church in Denton last Sunday morning last.

—Edward Dixon, son of J. A. Dixon, has entered for a special course in Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa.

—Mrs. James I. Lednum was the recipient of $500 as a Christmas present from her brother, Mr. Wm. T. Hignutt.

—Hon. J. M. and Mr. Chas. R. Wooters, of Talbot, were in town Tuesday. Also Edwin H. Brown and Lem. Dembracco, Esqrs., of Centreville.

—A large party of gentlemen and ladies assembled at the residence of Col. R. J. W. Garey, in Tuckahoe Neck, on Friday evening of last week, the occasion being a dance.

—The comptroller at Annapolis has made a distribution of the public school tax to white and colored schools, of which Caroline county gets $1,614,54 for white schools and $533.33 for colored schools.

—Choptank Conclave No. 28, Improved Order Heptosophs and Temple Lodge, No. 128, A. F. & A. M., of Denton, adopted resolutions of respect for the late Charles A. Dunning, who was a member of both organizations.

—New Year's Day was not observed in Denton as a general holiday. All of the stores were open and business conducted as on any other day of the week. Watch-meeting services were held in the M. E. Church Sunday night, conducted by Rev. A. D. Davis.

The Peninsula.

—The failure of G. L. Howell, proprietor of a cannery at Milford, is reported.

—The Dover Machine Works are engaged in supplying the can-makers of the Peninsula with oval dies.

—The Dorchester and Delaware railroad will again be offered for sale on Wednesday, January 3, at Cambridge, Md.

—The steamer Geo. Law has been withdrawn for the present from the route, She made her last trip on Saturday until further notice.

—Burglars entered the dwelling house of Mr. Wetzell, of Wyoming, Delaware, on Tuesday night last, chloroformed the family and carried off $200 worth of clothing, money and jewels.

—The Kent News, referring to the fact that one firm in this town, (Messrs. Elliot & Bro.) sold $1375 worth of goods in one day recently, says: "We guarantee that merchant knows the value of printers' ink." You are right, neighbor; that firm knows the value of printers' inkand so do all ourmerchants, and that is why business has so largely increased in this town in the past year or two.—Centreville Observer.

—The Dover Sentinel says: "T. Howard Wilson of Lebanon has the most valuable herd of Jersey cattle in Delaware. His cow Gem has a record of 14 pounds and 3 ounces of butter per week. Her last calf, which was a bull, he sold at five day old for $100. Last fall Mr. Wilson sent her on to Burham, in Connecticut, to be served by King Coffee of the Coomassie strain of cattle. Mr. Wilson has an offer of $600 for her calf when it is dropped, but he asks $800."

—Judge Wickes decided last week, and Judges Robinson and Stump concurred with the decision, that D. P. Cox and John Hall, who were convicted at the last October term of the Circuit Court and fined fifty dollars each and costs in three separate cases for selling whiskey illegally, and who were imprisoned for non-payment of the fines, could only be imprisoned for sixty days, the period prescribed by law for the non-payment of one fine, and not for three times sixty, or in proportion to the number of fines involved.

—Charcoal burning in Sussex county pays much better than converting the timber into wood. The former sells at 20 cents per bushel and the latter at $2.25 per cord. Townsend, the Angola charcoal burner, has made a Sussex fortune—$15,000 is the figure—in a few yaars, although the incidental expenses are comparatively heavy. The wood is charred from full cord length sticks. The coal is shipped north by rail. The average life of a "pit" or "mound" is three weeks, and the work, though exceedingly dirty, is very healthy to any one troubled with weak lungs, dyspepsia and kindred affections.

—A singular accident befell a young Sussex county girl, a Miss Evans, while she was riding with a gentleman near Georgetown, on Tuesday of last week. Behind the carriage in which she sat trotted a rather restive horse, which she was leading by a thin rein. Suddenly the horse reared and snatched off the thumb of her hand from the first joint. It was as smoothly and neatly amputated as if a surgeon had done the business. She picked up the amputated piece, coolly examined and wrapped it up and drove to Dr. Waples' office, who dressed the decapitated member. She went on to her destination after the doctor was through with her.

—The last grand jury of Dorchester county found six indictments against Dr. John Esgate, of cambridge, for violation of the local-option law, for Dorchester county, under sub-section 1, which compels physicians to write all prescriptions for liquors in ink, and to number, date and keep a record of them for the inspection of the State's attorney and the grand jury, and also only to write such prescription when persons actually require liquor, under a severe penalty. Col. Clement Sulivane is the counsel for Dr. Esgate; D. M. Henry, Jr., is State's attorney, and the cases were tried before Justice J. Henry Hooper. The doctor was found guilty in one case, from which decision Col. Sulivane appealed. He was acquitted in one case, and the other four will be tried by a jury.

Views on Local Option.

To the Editor of THE JOURNAL:

Of late Local Option has been gaining ground around us, and to my mind total prohibition is the best as the excise and liquor matters are carried on nowadays. Although the majority in a county have no right to rule over a minority in matters relating to the liberty of the subject which is a sacred thing, it is best and wisest for society that vile and drugged drinks of various descriptions be kept from being palmed off on them, and their money, health and character robbed by mean manufacturers, merchants, and politicians. Until the government can arrange matters so that all decent people can purchase wholesome beverages, such as beer, wine, and corn or other spirits at reasonable prices, I say let Local Option rule supreme.

In France all adulterated beverages are strictly prohibited by the authorities, but what is exported is let alone for dupes in this and other countries. Pure liquors and beer in our days are very scarce, so that only the rich can afford their exorbitant cost; hence we content ourselves with tea and coffee, &c., or throw away money on nothing short of trash flavored and disguised so ingeniously that the consumers cannot find it out until havoc breaks out in the system, the heart, lungs, kidneys, and brain being frequently fatally operated on.

Excise should see that only pure drinks are made, and then let them be retailed by responsible men in a respectable manner.

Not only Maryland, but other States have adopted Local Option of late-Thoughtful people are fast seeing the liquor swindle imposed upon them; hence mild wines are resorted to by thousands who bought and paid for—but did not receive—fine liquor.

ADVENTURES OF ABE LLOYD.—Abe Lloyd. colored, in whose abode it seems the small-box made its appearance in Easton, and who went with his wife to the pest house, re turned to Easton the week before Christmas, cured. During his absence, his household goods were confiscated and burned, an inventory being taken of them, so that compensation could be made. Abe complained greatly of the destruction, and said the accumulations of a life time had been swept away in a day.—It was not a very valuable accumulation, but it was the old fellow's all, and the destruction of the pestilence breeding things was necessary for the public good.

Abe has had several adventures during his life. One was a tragical one. Years ago he lived in Caroline county, and one dark night while walking on the highway a man in a buggy overtook him and invited Abe to ride with him. As Abe knew the man, he accepted and seated himself in the vehicle. Abe's friend, a white man, was drunk, and very soon cursed Abe for being a "nigger," and informed him he was going to kill him, drawing at the same time a formidable knife with which he went to work to cut off Able's head, and did make a fearful gash in Abe's throat and neck. The negro managed to slip from the buggy, and to crawl and conceal hinself in some bushes by the roadside. His assailaht got out of the buggy and sought for Abe to complete his work of cutting off his head, but was too drunk to find him. Abe bears now an ugly scar made by the drunken man's khife.—Easton Ledger.

GET THE BEST

THE PHILADELPHIA TIMES

The people generally get that which they make a market far. They demanded better newspapers, and within the last few years journalism has made rapid strikes. The Times, which, from the day of its first issue, took place in the front rank of progressive journalism, has kept along at the double-qu ick step, and at this time is a better newspaper than ever. It is a journal that never sleeps and takes a holiday. As there are 365 days, so there 365 issues of The Times in a year. The week-day edition of The Times is of four pages, being in a form suitable for the busy man or busy woman. The Sunday edition, of eight pages, contains a great deal of the best miscellany as well as all the news. The editorial strength of The Times need not be dwelt upon—the fact that it is quoted more than any other paper in America is sufficient evidence of its excellence in that direction. Nor need the typographical superiority be more than mentioned, for it is widely known as 'the hansomest paper in the country.'

THE PHILADELPHIA WEEKLY TIMES

Covers a distinct field. Into the Weekly goes the cream of the daily issues and at the same time it contains matter especially adapted to the wants of readers in every part of America. It circulates, as a first-class family journal, in every State and Territory, and it has subscribers in every part of the world. The leading feature of the Weekly is the "Annals of the War." This department embrrces chapters of unwritten history, contributed by prominents of actor the War of the Rebellion, and it has become a recognized depository of such maaters whether from Northern or Southern sources. The Annals will be kept fully up to the high standard of former years.

The above cut represents the

JAMES "TRIUMPH" GUN.

The demand for the James Breech-Loaders in 1881 was so great that we had great difficulty in filling all our orders. This means that Americans appreciate a good honest gun when they see it. Why pay a fancy price for a gun made by some old maker, when you can buy a beautiful James complete gun equally as good for half the money? Or why buy a gun upon which the maker is ashamed to put his own name, when a good, reliable James gun can be had at the same price? In American products we are agents for Colt, Parker, Harrington & Richardson, and Forehand & Wadsworth.
