Suit Against the Georgeanna.

A suit for $500 damages against the owners of the steamer Georgeanna, was entered by the late stewardess, Matilda Groome, in the U. S. Court, Baltimore, last week, for injuries she sustained by falling down the steps on the boat.

Steamboat Rumors.

The Dorchester and Delaware Railroad will not go into the hands of its new purchasers until the sale is ratified by the court, to meet in April next. [illegible]efinite arrangements have been made for the steamboat line between Cambridge and Baltimore, which, it is supposed, will be established in connection with the railroad.

A Tailor's Theft.

Mr. W. L. Birmingham, who carried on the tailoring business in Greensborough about two years ago and who was afterward employed by Elliott & Bro. of Centreville, was arraigned before a justice charged with robbing that firm of clothing to a large amount. Birmingham was lodged in jail to answer at the May term of court. There is much sympathy for Birmingham as he is near fifty years of age and has a family dependant upon him for support.

Weather Clerks.

One of our humorous exchanges says: "Between Wiggins and Vennor, the two weathr clerks, we may look out for some 'whip-saw' weatherthiswinter. While one is pulling at a blizzard the other is hauling away at a thaw, so that people won't know whether to set out cabbage plants or blanket the cow, and they are just as liable as not to haul the North Pole down to this country and set it up for a monument, and at the same time import a hot wave and the yellow fever."

Our Next Election.

At the next election the following State and county officers will be elected: Governor, Attorney-General, and Comptroller of the Treasury. The two former are elected for four and the latter for two years. County officers to be elected at the same time are two members of the House of Delegates for two years; three county commissioners for two years; three judges of the Orphans' Court for four years; State's Attorney for four years; Sheriff for two years and county Surveyor for two years.

Co Operative Insurance.

This form of insurance is growing more popular as its practical workings become known. It is the cheapest and most reliable form of securing benefits. We call attention to the advertisement in another column, of the "Sun Mutual Aid Society of Baltimore City." This is a home institution and has no agencies outside of Delaware, Maryland and Virginia. The society has had but nine deaths and one disability assessments, — all have been paid. During 1882 the Society paid $5,579.78 benefits, at a cost to the deceased members of only $140.61. It admits both sexes on equal terms. Persons desiring to become members are invited to apply to the editors of this paper.

Templeville and Vicinity.

TEMPLEVILE, Jan. 24.

—A negro woman, whose husband died of small-pox in Wilmington, Del., a few days since, made her way on the train to Marydel, and is now domiciled with a negro man named Abe Goldsborough, about two miles from this place and not far from Mt. Zion Meeting House, a neighborhood thickly populated by colored people. It is said she brought a quantity of clothing with her, and it is presumable that a portion of them may carry the contagion and thus endanger the safety of the entire community. The authorities should take cognizance of this case and, as far as possible, isolate.

—I regret that I have to record the retirement of Mr. William Perkins from the mercantile business in this place. By his affability and courtesy, Mr. Perkins has endeared himself to a large circle of friends here and elsewhere, and his retirement from public business is a source of regret to all who have transacted any business with him. May he enjoy a long and tranquil life, is the wish of all his friends.

—Mr Nathaniel Bowen and Miss Ella Davis were united in marriage a few days since. They have the warmest wishes of all for their future prosperity and happiness.

—There is very little sickness in this vicinity at present; a Mr. Kersey, a small farmer residing near our village, being the only case of serious illness.

—Snow has nearly disappeared from the roads, and traveling is very rough. Business is rather dull, owing, partly, to the condition of the roads.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine.

The February number is promptly on our table, with its usual manifold attractions—literary and artistic. Among the prominent articles are: "Whisperers," by Editor, Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage; a continuation of De Leon's "The American Pilgrim in Palestine," one of the most interesting magazine articles we have ever read; a continuation also of "Religious Denominations in the United States—What is Congregationalism?" by Rev. Dr. Tarbox; Alfreton Hervey treats of Beethoven, one of the "Sacred Musicians of the Ninth Century," etc., etc. In the department of fiction "Justice Warren's Daughter" and "Weighed and Wanting" are continued and Julia H. Thayer, Helen W. Pierson, Mrs. Alexander and other popular writers contribute short stories, sketches, essays, etc. There are some excellent poems, many of them beautifully illustrated, and in the Home Pulpit is a characteristic sermon by Dr. Talmage, "Hospitality." We can only refer generally to the abundance of good things in this number, which is elaborately embellished. Single copies 25 cents; $3 a year postpaid. Address, Mrs. Frank Leslie, Publisher, 53 55 and 57 Park Place, New York.

Willis—Braly.

The marriage ceremony of Mr. Chas. F. Willis, a popular young gentleman and an active merchant of Denton, and Miss Bettie R. Braly, an accomplished and attractive young lady of Hagerstown, Md., was performed in the latter place at the M. E. church, on Wednesday last, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Dr. Dashiell. The church chancel was handsomely trimmed with flowers, and a large and fashionable audience had assembled to witness the nuptials. After the ceremony at the church, a brief reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, where numerous friends called. From relatives and friends in Hagerstown, Mrs. Willis was the recipient of many valuable presents, including the substantial gift of $1,000. The bridal party started for Denton the same afternoon, reaching Wilmington, Del., in the evening and arriving home the next day, and taking up their abode at the residence of Mr. Matthew Chilton. Here a large number had been invited to a reception given the happy couple on Thursday evening, and there were present about one hundred, being the elite of Denton and vicinity and many from neighboring towns. The occasion brought together one of the most notable social gatherings that have ever assembled in this vicinity. There were present Misses Elma Hopkins and Hattie Murphy, and John Straughn and L. R. Hooper, Easton; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hopkins, Mrs. R. M. Hopkins and Miss Mollie Postlewaite, and others, Centreville; Misses Mollie Draine, Sallie Whurrette and Katie Whurrette, Cambridge. The gifts, which were displayed tastefully on a table, were the subject of much admiration. They numbered over fifty, including a silver waiter, pitcher and goblet; two hanndsome bronze clocks; two pairs silver napkin rings, two silver cake baskets, sugar bowl and cream pitcher of Bohemian glass set in silver, and very many similar costly articles, too numerous to mention or use either. The table was artistically trimmed and loaded with confections, etc. One of the prettiest, if not the most durable, ornamental articles on the table was an ice vase, frozen and fashioned by Mr. J. K. Shannahan, the Easton ice manufacturer. This vase was filled with orange ambrosia. It had been frozen around a beautiful bouquet of flowers, which stood on the base and reached half way to the top. This curious device had embossed letters on it reading, "May your sorrows melt as ice."

Martin Beachamp's Death.

A hundred or more men assembled in the court room in Denton on Tuesday last, the most of them being the jury of inquest and witnesses summoned at the instance of Magistrate Lockerman to inquire into the cause of Martin Beachamp's death. The vicinity of Concord, where Beachamp died very suddenly on December 31st, has been full of rumors that he was foully dealt with, but those on whom the suspicion rests claim that the charges are only made out of spite and enmity from their accusers.

State's Attorney Bryant suggested at the beginning of the testimony that the witnesses should retire to another room and be called to the stand one at a time, so that none should hear what the others testified to. Dr. Wm. H. Downes, who was one of the attending surgeons employed on the remains of the deceased, was the first to testify. He removed the stomach of Beachamp and delivered it to Prof. Tonry of Baltimore, as directed by the State's Attorney. He also removed at a later examination of the remains the liver, kidneys, and spleen and delivered them to Prof. Tonry. The witness said that from his own observation of the intestines he was of the opinion that Beachamp died from poison administered in the stomach.

Messrs. M. S. Mutchler and G. M. Russum at this stage of the examination were announced as counsel for the suspected parties, and Mr. Mutchler asked that they be permitted to cross-examine witnesses. Mr. Bryant yielded and the witness in answer to a question from the counsel for the defense, as to why he thought the deceased had taken poison into his stomach, said: "We found all the vital organs in a perfectly sound condition with the exception of the stomach; from which and the reports of the manner in which Bechamp died, I am of the opinion that he came to his death from poison."

Dr. J. W. Hignutt assisted in the post-mortem examination. He testified in substance the same as Dr. Downes with reference to the dead man's stomach. He made two visits to the house after the death. Mrs. Beachamp seemed in great distress and said if her husband had been poisoned somebody else had given it to him. She told him (Dr. Hignutt) that her husband had been sick the day before the fatal attack, but recovered and the next morning went out to feed the stock, but did not do so and came into the house again being too sick to remain outside. Sitting down in the kitchen, he was handed a cup of coffee, which he drank. Dr. Hignutt continued to describe how the dead man looked, saying that when he saw him on the second day deceased's lips were purple. On that day the inquest was held, Mrs. Beachamp said she was opposed to the proceeding, and she had nervous fits. After the inquest was over Dr. Hignutt saw James Ahearn in the kitchen with the woman.

Thomas L. Lewis was next called. He lived a scanty half-mile from the deceased's house; went over there on the morning of the death; found Beachamp lying flat of his back on a bed; looked as if dying; was snatching and jerking in his limbs and his eyes darting about. Beachamp spoke to witness and said, "I want you to stay with me till I die." He said these attacks came on by spells. He continued to jerk and caught witness by the wrists andheld him until death released the grip. Witness had heard some talk about poison. Mrs. Beachamp told him that she was afraid people would accuse her of poisoning her husband. James Ahearn came to the house, without being sent for. Witness opposed holding an inquest, and Mrs. Beachamp opposed it before he did, and it was on account of her and her friends that he had urged the abandonment of the proposed inquest. Witness saw Ahearn about the yard and in and out of the house.

Homer Fleetwood was the next name called. There was no answer.

Sheriff Cohee testified that he had summoned Fleetwood to appear in this case. The sheriff found him at the home of Mrs. Beachamp, of whom he is an adopted child ten years old. She objected to the lad's appearing before the jury of inquest, but she finally said he should be present.

Two others, Edward Moore and Chas. Lewis, testified to seeing Beachamp on the road the day before he died. The hearing was adjourned until to-day.

Minor Matters.

Richard Smith, a negro nearly grown known in town as "Koot," was convicted of assault and battery on Saturday last before Magistrate Hutson and sentenced to the house of correction for three months. Charles Pritchett, a small white boy, was the one assaulted.

—Dr. Teacle reports that spontaneous cow-pox has broken out in a herd of thorough-bred Alderney cattle in Baltimore county, which will be used for vaccination. Vaccine from this sourse will be better than the vaccine already employed.

—About 600 diamond back terrapins have been captured near Winchester, Queen Anne county, this season. The capturing of terrapins proves quite a business in those sections where they abound, and some hunters are said to have made over $20 per day.

—The large attendance of pupils at the Academy has rendered it necessary to organize a third school and employ an additional teacher. Mrs. Emerick received the appointment.

—Rev. G. W. Ridgely, after whom the pretty little village of that name in this county is called, is 85 years old and as healthy and vigorous apparently as a man of fifty years.

—The ice crop is now an assured success. During the week many houses were filled, though the ice was slightly mixed with snow, it was about 3½ inches in thickness.

—Mr. William C. Satterfield recently sold eikhteen head of Caroline's brag beef cattle to a Dover butcher. They dressed from 1,000 to 1,600 pounds each.

—For the past week there has developed much interest in the protracted meeting at the M. E. Church, and a score or more have professed conversion.

—Messrs. Starkey, administrators, will sell very large and valuable lot of farming implements, live stock, etc. See advertisement.

—The "ups and downs of life" have been very forcibly illustrated during the last few weeks on our slippery sidewalks.

—As the season advances the usual number of candidates for political position commence to button-hole voters.

—Mr. Harry Emory, of Queen Anne county, is engaged in making rural sketces for the Philadelphia Continent.

Frank B. Macatee, of Harford county, last year raised 18,000 pounds of Glesner tobacco on ten acres of land.

—The postponed term of the circuit court for Caroline county has been again deferred until next Monday.

—Skating has been enjoyed by many of the young folks for several days, but the snow will put an end to the fun.

—It is probable after the first of next July postage on letters will be reduced from 3 cents to 2.

—The January moon was full on Tuesday of this week.

—Sleighing and surprise parties are now in order.

—We are to have a new five-cent piece.

—More of the beautiful snow.

GET THE BEST

THE PHILADELPHIA TIMES

The people generally get that which they make a market far. They demanded better newspapers, and within the last few years journalism has made rapid strikes. The Times, which, from the day of its first issue, took place in the front rank of progressive journalism, has kept along at the double-quick step, and at this time is a better newspaper than ever. It is a journal that never sleeps and takes a holiday. As there are 365 days, so there 365 issues of The Times in a year. The week-day edition of The Times is of four pages, being in a form suitable for the busy man or busy woman. The Sunday edition, of eight pages, contains a great deal of the best miscellany as well as all the news. The editorial strength of The Times need not be dwelt upon—the fact that it is quoted more than any other paper in America is sufficient evidence of its excellence in that direction. Nor need the typographical superiority be more than mentioned, for it is widely known as 'the hansomest paper in the country.'

THE PHILADELPHIA WEEKLY TIMES

Covers a distinct field. Into the Weekly goes the cream of the daily issues and at the same time it contains matter specially adapted to the wants of readers in every part of America. It circulates, as a first-class family journal, in every State and Territory, and it has subscribers in every part of the world. The leading feature of the Weekly is the "Annals of the War." This department embrrces chapters of unwritten history, contributed by prominents of actor the War of the Rebellion, and it has become a recognized depository of such maaters whether from Northern or Southern sources. The Annals will be kept fully up to the high standard of former years.
