DENTON JOURNAL.

Published Weekly, Every Saturday Morning, by

MELVIN BROS.

Saturday Morning, April 11, 1885.

THE colored fiend Howard Cooper, who attempted last week an outrageous assault upon Miss Gray, of Baltimore county, near Towson, has been captured and lodged in jail.

Col. Downes for the Senate.

From the Centreville Observer.

The Democrats of Caroline, it is said, will probably nominate Col. Philip W. Downes for the State Senate. The colonel will make them a strong candidate, and as all factions have become united in that county, it is believed he can pull through and take the whole ticket with him by a good majority.

Strong Words From an Editor.

From the Denton Union.

Talk in Caroline is very cheap, especially with a few sore-heads and bummers in the Republican ranks.

* * * * * * * *

And they accuse us of being a "St. John organ." We would ask them if "rum and rowdyism constitutes true Republican principles?" If so, then we are not a "full-fledged" Republican.

In Death's Grasp.

The most illustrious living American lies in death's grasp, and all his countryman turn their thoughts and sympathies to the bedside of Gen. Grant. A strong man physically and intellectually he has been unable to withstand the attack of a dreadful disease, and the grim destroyer has, despite all that the highest medical skill could avail, laid his hand upon him. Gen. Grant's troubles have accumulated within less than a year. The failure of Grant and Ward was a terrible blow to him, and soon followed the discovery that a cancer had developed in his throat. The lion-hearted warrior who has often faced death on the battlefield and ordered tens of thousands of his countrymen into the deadly breach is grappling with his last enemy. He bears his sufferings with heroic endurance, and will go to his grave as becomes a man who has led armies and wielded the sceptre of State.

BRIBERY.

The Public Conscience Must be Aroused. The Law Against the Evil.

To the Editor of THE JOURNAL:

I am gratified that at last a champion of the ancient Greek order has stepped to the front to wage battle for or against the bribery of voters.

You remember that historical character who was so questionable a patriot, of such doubtful friendship that he was slain between the camps of the opposing armies, as neither knew to which side he belonged. So your correspondent, "Marque," is so for and so against bribery that we may as well call him, like his six hundred other brothers, "doubtful."

Now, Marque, be manly and desert your prototype and justify bribery or condemn it. Which shall it be?

What hope is there for an honorable, ambitious youth, in Caroline, to win his way to usefulness and fame in the service of his State when honor, courage and culture count for nothing; when one hundred and fifty dollars will make a change in political parties of one hundred and fifty votes; when cheek, nerve and a few half dollars will make at the primaries the most unpopular man successful and defeat the best man in the county "who stoops not to conquer?" What rights have the tax payers who suffer their offices of political power and trust to be sold to the highest bidder for cash? Do they not know that the men who buy them will sell them? Let us take up a few propositions and see if they are correct.—First. There are six hundred voters out of a voting population of 2832, who doubtless sell their suffrage for money. Second. There are forty men that are engaged in this buying—which makes each man handle fifteen voters. That is not a big showing for a "worker" on election day. Third. Public party sentiment encourages the bribery by furnishing the money, and making leaders of the men who are shaming the law, demoralizing the youth of the county, and increasing taxation threefold.

I will not in this connection do more than submit the above proposition. Let a candid public judge its truthfulness.

Marque is a little "too previous" if he concludes there is no remedy in the tribunal to which I have always referred, namely, the press and the people. Let the honest people of Caroline once become conscious that they have for years acquiesced in a gross wrong, and that this little play at election, which they regarded as harmless excitement, is more than an offence, but is a positive crime—and the remedy will come, not in the dove-like notes of moral suasion that Marque would pipe, but in the enforcement of the law: "If any candidate at an election to be held under the constitution of this State, or any other person whatever, at any time before or on the day of election give or bestow or directly or indirectly promise any gift or reward to secure any person's vote or ballot at any such election, every such person or candidate so offending shall on conviction be fined at the discretion of the court a sum not exceeding $500 and suffer such imprisonment as the court may adjudge not exceeding six months, and such other penalties as are prescribed by the constitution," &c.

When public attention shall become actively alive to this violated law, and public sentiment actively alive to its enforcement, then the public conscience will see that it is enforced. Till then bribery must continue its triumphant march in Caroline county—continue to place its tin crown of mocked suffrage upon the heads of its chosen champions—to the dishonor of the true royalty of manhood.

REFLEX.

M. P. Conference.

The fifty-seventh session of the Maryland Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church convened at Alexandria, Va., on Wednesday of last week. Rev. J. T. Murry, President of the Conference, called the body to order and conducted the opening exercises.

Rev. L. W. Bates read the memorial roll, containing the names of all the ministers who have died since the organization of the Conference. It was ordered that Wednesday evening be devoted to memorial services for the four ministers who had died during last year.

The President, Dr. Murray, read his annual report, giving in detail the condition of work of the church within the bounds of the Conference. About 1,500 persons have been taken into the church. The material improvements include the following: Accomac, new parsonage, $400; Alexandria, improvements, $265; Belair, new church, $3,800, debt $1,300; East Baltimore, paid on debt and improvements, $1,100; Broadway, on debt and improvements, $1,350; Caroline, new church, $2,150, on parsonage, $200; Campbell Church, Crumpton, new parsonage, $1,060, debt $180; Crotchor Ferry, improvements, $3,300; Easton, $700; Delta, $949; Norrisville, $900; Finksburg, $525; Howard, new church $950; Laurel, new church, $2,000, parsonage improvements, $1,700; Nuttin, new church, $750, parsonage $150; Pocomoke, new parsonage, $927; Quantico, new parsonage, $500, Pittsville, church furnished, $1,100; Stewartstown, new church, $1,800; Surry, new church, 1,000, debt $300; St. Luke's debt paid, $1,000; Union, subscription new church, $1,000; Pope's Creek, paid on Union Bridge Church, $1,485, parsonage $200; Westminster, $300; Washington Street, $225, Recapitulation: New churches, 6; parsonages, 5; moneys raised on building and other improvements, $36,227.

Rev. D. W. Bates offered a resolution that the Conference appoint a committee to wait on President Cleveland and inquire if it will be in accordance with his pleasure and convenience to receive a visit from the body, and if so to ascertain what day and hour will suit the President. The resolution was adopted, and the President appointed Rev. D. W. Bates and Dr. David Jones, a layman, as the committee. The conference visited the president on Saturday.

The discussion of the following resolutions, laid over from Saturday, was resumed Monday:

"Resolved, That the president shall not appoint a pastor to the same charge more than four years successively unless the conference shall authorize it by a two-thirds vote in each case.

"Resolved, That this standing rule shall not be changed except by resolution offered one year in advance and by a two-thirds vote of the conference."

On motion of Rev. J. J. Murray it was decided to consider the resolutions seriatim.

Rev. J. L. Mills moved to strike out of the first resolution "by a two-third vote," and the motion was carried by a vote of yeas 52, nays 15.

Mr. Mills, in support of the resolution, said the preachers ought to be removed by limit and it ought to be done by rule, so that all should stand upon an equal footing.

Rev. J. B. Jones said he was emphatically, naturally, constitutionally and adherently opposed to the itinerancy. [Laughter.] He wanted a home to settle down in and he wanted his children to have a home. God never did establish the itinerancy; it was a man named Griffith Jones. Mr. Wesley only adopted it; he did not originate it; he never originated anything. His theology was a borrowed one. If you have an itinerancy to make it efficient you must have a limit. What they wanted was the abolition of the itinerancy, and why not say what you want? He wanted a complete demolition of the itinerancy. [Applause.]

Rev. J. M. Yongling said he was a "confiscated Methodist Protestant." [Laughter.] and was in favor of abolishing the restrictive rule. When a man had remained at a place until he was no longer useful the conference could say to him, "Brother, we are going to move you, we are going to circulate you a little." [Laughter.]

Rev. W. T. Dumm did not expect to increase the brains of any one during conference, but they wanted ideas. [Laughter.] If he got a chance he would vote to take the appointing power out of the hands of the president.

Rev. L. W. Bates said he was in favor of the itinerancy—a bona fide itinerancy. The itinerancy has made them what they were.

Rev. J. J. Murray argued against the adoption of the resolution as not being needed. The resolution is not retroactive, and before it could go into effect there will be a meeting of the General Conference.

Rev. J. E. Maloy offered an amendment to strike out four years and insert three, which was lost by a decided vote.

A vote was then taken on the four year restrictive rule, and the yeas and nays being called it was rejected by a vote of yeas 52, nays 68.

Twenty-nine ministers and 23 laymen voted for the resolution, and 45 ministers and 23 laymen voted against it. The second resolution was then laid on the table.

The following are the appointments: Accomac, H. G. Cowart; Alexandria, C. B. Middleton; Amelia, S. C. Chrum; Anne Arundel, J. B. Jones; Baltimore, E. A. Warfield; Bedford, E. O. Ewing; Belair, T. D. PHILADELPHIA, April 6, 1885.

Have dress-cloths fallen? No; but three wonderful things have happened here. Cloths haven't fallen, we say, because there's no fall outside. Nowhere else are dollar ladies'-cloths sold for 75 cents; but we are selling tons of them—literally tons of them! Fifty different colors and mixtures; best dollar cloths. They haven't ceased to be dollar cloths; for they bring a dollar everywhere else, wherever they are. $4 50 for six yards.

Plaids of a similar cloth, dollar plaids for 75 cents; fifteen color-varieties, as pretty as any; not quite so wide, 50-inch. As unexpected as the ladies'-cloths.

Still another. Plaids and stripes and clouds and mixtures all in one; all these without pattern, law or order; twenty varieties, more perhaps; $1.25 for $1.

What makes these three events here peculiarly strange is that they happen only here. They are very big events. By far the biggest is the dollar ladies'-cloth for 75 cents.

Southeast from the center.

The coming black silk.—For a year or two the gros-grain weave has been losing favor. Cachemire on one side has clearly won the lead. Faille Française is coming on the other.

Faille Française isn't new. It has been edging its way into use for two or three years. It isn't as a novelty it's coming. It is going to take the place in a manner of gros-grain in the higher grades of silk.

Cachemire is the common weave of silk of lighter cord—so light that one hardly thinks of cord at all.

Faille Française has twice as heavy cord as gros-grain; and it has a distinguishing advantage over all the other weaves it comes in competition with, viz., it is tight, does not slip, can't be drawn or pushed apart on the warp.

We have at present five grades of Faille Française: $1.50, $1.75, $2, $2.50 and $3. Even the lowest grade deserves the best we say of it.

Southwest from the center.

A novelty in jerseys is a fleece-lined stockinet with a silk finish, trimmed with beads, good for both look and warmth. Of another sort are those that are nothing but beads and bangles.

There are cashmere jerseys with white vests, the vests elaborately ornamented with applique work. Others with embroidered polka dots. Prim-looking jerseys with standing collar and vest-piece literally covered with narrow braid put on edgewise in various designs, also trimmed with Hercules braid. Military jackets trimmed with straps of velvet and tinsel braid, pink, blue, black. All-silk jerseys, woven in one piece, cream, white, blue, black. All-wool jerseys as low as $1.25.

Ancient Classics FOR ENGLISH READERS—In the Elzevir Library. "This series of brief, condensed accounts of the great literary works of Greece and Rome has taken its place among the standard authorities. The books are admirably written and wholly adequate in their scholarship. For English readers who desire acquaintance with the great works of antiquity, these books may be recommended as the very best within reach.—The Christian Union, New York.

GUIZOT'S HISTORY OF FRANCE. With 426 Fine illustrations, Eight beautiful volumes, small octavo, cloth, gilt tops. Price reduced from $49.50 to $8.00, postage $1.20.

THE BEST. "This is the only complete American edition of this work, which is known as the best popular history of France."—Journal, Indianapolis, Ind.

MACAULAY'S Peer "Guizot is the Macaulay of the history of France. His narrative is full of emotion, like a quick stream; his characters rise before us as in the flesh; they are men and women, not historic lay figures. It is as charming as any romance. There is only one draw-back . . . it seems more like getting a present than making a purchase."—Dominion Churchman, Toronto.

CIPHERED OVER. "From the pen of a master. How Mr. Alden can give the eight volumes, and this on good paper, and clear type, including the multitude of illustrations, is a thing we have ciphered over, but we fail to understand it."—Christian Leader, Boston.
