POETRY.

CAPTAIN PLASH'S ADDRESS TO HIS WHISKERS.

Blest allies in the cause of love!
Strong holders of a lady's troth!
Oh! can I so ungrateful prove,
As to exterminate ye both?
No—no, I'd rather snuff the moon,
I'd rather eat a cockatrice,
I'd rather swallow a balloon,
Or pulverize the aretic ice—
My Whiskers!

But, Delia vows that I must doff
'Such hideous things: they're contraband!'
Or else she'll turn her hero off;
And give another the command.
Had I a squad of twenty men,
With vizors on, just such as ye,
I'd subjugate the world, and then
Myriads of queens should flock to see
My Whiskers!

Oh! let her lead me with a halter
Or bid me gouge a Pacha's eye;
Or storm the rock Gibraltar,
Or drink the briny ocean dry.
For her I'll set the Grecians free,
For her untie the Gordian noose:
For her I'll rake infinity,
But no—I cannot—cannot lose
My Whiskers!

Attention! then, my noblest part,
Form column of attack and dress;
The bastion front is Delia's heart,
The prize her smile of tenderness.
And who, in such a glorious strife,
Would ground his arms, and beat retreat?
No maid that longs to be a wife,
But what, with thee I'll gladly meet—
My Whiskers!

ALLEN-A-DALE.

From the Philadelphia Evening Post.

Messrs. Editors—As long life is the desire of all who live, and as many persons shorten their days, for the want of a few simple rules, the following, by Sir R. Philips, if attended to, would, I think, contribute greatly to this desideratum.

1. Rise early, and never sit up late.
2. Wash the whole body every morning with cold water, by means of a large sponge, and rub it dry with a rough towel; or scrub the whole body for ten or fifteen minutes with flesh brushes.
3. Drink water generally, and avoid excess of spirits, wine and fermented liquors.
4. Keep the body open by aperient pills.
5. Sleep in a room which has free access to the open air.
6. Keep the head cool, by washing it when necessary with cold water, and abate feverish and inflammatory symptoms when they arise, by persevering stillness.
7. Correct symptoms of plethora and indigestion, by eating and drinking less per diem for a few days.
8. Never eat a hearty supper, especially of animal food; and drink wine, spirits and beer, if these are necessary, only at dinner.

To those who are of sedentary habits, nothing will conduce so much to a free and healthy circulation, as rubbing the body every morning with fine salt; it produces a delightful glow, and is attended with agreeable sensations.

Two clergymen named Adam and Low, applied for a living, which was promised to the one who could select the best text. The following Sunday Mr. Low ascended the pulpit, and prefaced his sermon with—'Adam where art thou?' This was much approved; but the next Sunday Mr. Adam preached, and chose for his text—'Low, here am I,' which answer was so apposite the living was presented to him.

'Why do you not pay me that six and eight-pence, Mr. Mulrooney?' said an attorney to an Irishman. Who replied, 'Why, faith, because I do not owe that same.' 'Not owe it me, yes you do; it's for the opinion you had of me.' That's a good one indeed, rejoined Pat, 'when I never had any opinion of you in all my life.'

From the Boston Galaxy.

CLEARING OUT.—Some little excitement was produced in our city a few days since by the failure of an English goods-dealer in Washington street, by the name of Vincett. He had been doing business extensively in the retail line, and made a dash among the respectables. When it was ascertained that he had stopped payment, his store was opened by one of his creditors. The shelves appeared to be well stored with drapery and mercery, and hosiery, and the desponding creditor began to feel quite elated with the prospect before him. On examination, it appeared that every supposed package of dry goods was but a package of some worthless trumpery, nicely arranged on shelves to make up a show. One of the disconsolate, shaved by this shaver brought us down one of these sham packages as a specimen. It represents a bundle of stockings, and contains only saw-dust. Mr Vincett is an emigrant from the fast anchored isle, and has probably returned to one of the "three glorious kingdoms" to publish his travels in the United States. We look with some anxiety for the review of his book in the Quarterly of Mr. Gifford.

Land for Sale.

The subscriber offers at private sale on accommodating terms, two farms situated in Caroline county, one of these farms is at this time occupied by Mrs. Hester Prichard as a tenant and is handsomely situated on Choptank River about one mile below Dover Bridge, containing 500 acres, with a full proportion of valuable timber: the soil is believed to be equal to any in the neighbourhood. The other farm contains about 400 acres, situated within two miles of Hog Island landing, adjoining the lands of Messrs. Chezum and Fleharty, and is occupied by Mr. Thomas Rease. This farm is also well timbered and is supposed to be better adapted to the growth of wheat than the most of the adjacent lands. A further description of the above property is deemed unnecessary, as those who are desirous of purchasing will no doubt examine for themselves.

THE IMPORTED HUNTER

EMPEROR

Has arrived, agreeably to previous notice,—and will stand at Easton on Tuesdays and Wednesdays, at the Trappe on Saturdays—the residue of the time, at the Stable of the Subscriber, during the season—Terms—$20 the spring's chance—$10 the single leap—which, however, will be discharged by the payment of $12 in the former case, and $5 in the latter, by the 20th of September—Insurance $20—the groom will be entitled to 50 cents in each case—It is hardly necessary to say any thing in behalf of this fine animal—his own appearance, and that of his progeny, are sufficient recommendations—and the great certainty of obtaining foals from him, is universally admitted.

Gentlemen from a distance, will be accommodated, with good pasturage, and grain if required, on moderate terms—and the utmost care and attention will be paid to the mares. There is no probability, that this horse will ever be here again, he is already disposed of—I would, therefore, advise my friends to apply in time, to avoid disappointment.

NS. GOLDSBOROUGH.

N. B. No mare will be considered insured, without an express agreement to that effect.

Talbot county, April 2
