SYBILLINE ORACLES.

Extracted from an old edition of Merlin's Prophecies, supposed to have been written about a thousand years ago; imprinted at London by John Hawkins, in the year 1530. For an account of this extremely valuable and scarce book, vide Swift's works, vol. 3, p. 214, ed. 1766.

I.

When the savage is meek and mild,
The frantic mother shall stab her child.

II.

When the cock shall woo the dove,
The mother, the child shall cease to love.

III.

When men, like moles, work under ground,
The lion a virgin true shall wound.

IV.

When the dove and cock the lion shall fight,
The lion shall crouch beneath their might.

V.

When the cock shall guard the eagle's nest,
The stars shall rise all in the west.

VI.

When ships above the clouds shall sail,
The lion's strength shall surely fail.

VII.

When Neptune's back, with stripes is red,
The sickly lion shall hide his head.

VIII.

When seven and six shall make but one,
The lion's might shall be undone.

SOLUTION.

Verse 1st.—The settlement of America by a civilized nation is very clearly alluded to in the first line. The frantic mother is Britain—America the child.

Verse 2d.—The cock is France, the dove America—Columbia: their union is the epocha when America shall cease to love Britain; for so I understand the prophecy, in which there is manifestly an equivoque; which is one of the most striking characteristics of the ancient oracles.

Verse 3d.—The seige of Yorktown, where approaches were carried on by working in the earth. In the second line there is another equivoque. We are told by Mr. Addison in his Spectator that a lion will not hurt a true maid:—this at first seems contradicted by the Prophecy: but it will be found, that at the epocha referred to, the virgin, or Virginia (as all North America was then called in Europe shall wound the lion, viz: Britain, which shows the precise time when the oracle should be accomplished.

Verse 4th—Alludes to the alliance between France and America; before whose might Great Britain crouched.

Verse 5th—This certainly refers to the period when France (the cock) guarded the home of Americans (the eagle's nest,) and assisted the States (the stars) to attain their independence—that is, to rise in the western hemisphere.

Verse 6th—It is very remarkable that the properties of inflammable air by which balloons first traversed, the upper regions, were then first discovered, and they are here evidently called ships.

Verse 7th—When America's navy covers the sea with red stripes, Britain's will be humbled.

Verse 8th—The thirteenth States first confederated.
